The Foolhardy Deer

One dark winter night a turtle met a deer. "Hello, Mr. Turtle," the deer said greetingly.

"Hello," the turtle replied. "Where are you going?"

"Oh, I'm going to the swamp."

"The swamp! I wouldn't go there if I were you. They say there's a nocturnal animal out there."

"What of it," snorted the deer, "I can outrun anything."

So the foolhardy deer went on his way. Soon he was standing at the swamp's edge. Suddenly, the deer spun around in horror. Had he heard a noise from those bushes or was it his imagination? Anyway, he wasn't going to stay around long enough to find out. The deer started running as fast as his legs could carry him. But what happened? He wasn't moving! Then he realized why. He was caught in the quicksand. The more he struggled to get out, the more it pulled him under. In a few moments the bog had swallowed him up.

The Bear

Bears have sort of a dished-in face, rounded ears, a stub of a tail, and a very thick coat of fur. Bears are heavy-bodied animals, they are flat-footed with strong, curved claws. Their colors are white, black, brown, and cinnamon.

The bear will eat anything edible. Bears travel in family groups. The male leads, then the female followed by the cubs in single file.

The polar bear's enemies are Eskimos. Armed men are the enemies of other bears.

When a bear's enemies are near the bears growl loudly to scare them. Other times bears hide in their caves and other places.

Bears eat different kinds of food. They eat bird's eggs, fish, honey, fruit, and insects, such as termites and ants. Bears are called flesh-eaters.

Bears live in forests, woods and in the jungles. They are made to live in their environments.

When cubs are born, their eyes are closed. They have barely any fur. A polar bear's cub is about 1½ pounds. A 200 pound black bear has cubs about 6 ounces each.

There are many kinds of bears. There are Polar Bears, American Black Bears, Grizzly Bears, Alaskan and European Brown Bears, Sloth Bears, Spectacled Bears, Himalayan Bears, and Malayan Bears. Tropical Bears are now extinct.

Fable

High on a hill stood a beautiful mansion on a well-trimmed lawn. This serene night, particles of dust were blowing because of a slight nocturnal breeze. Brakes of a car screeched to a halt in the front of the house. The men inside were thieves, so they sneaked cautiously around to the back of the house. They took a ladder from the garage and shimmied through a window. Now inside, they were surprised to find nothing but cob webs and dirt. All of the men were agape at the appearance of the house. So the group went down into the cellar where they found nothing but rubble. The criminals left and the following day the ediface was razed.

Mrs. Rabbit's Cake

Not too long ago, there lived a family of rabbits. They were very cordial animals.

One day Mrs. Rabbit was going to make a cake. She decided to invite one of her neighbors over to help her. So she called up Mrs. Raccoon who said that she would be over in a few minutes with a new recipe. As Mrs. Raccoon was going over to Mrs. Rabbit's house, she met Mrs. Giraffe and Mrs. Monkey. She told them where she was going and they said they would accompany her.

When they arrived at Mrs. Rabbit's house they all went into the kitchen to help.

As Mrs. Rabbit began to make her cake, Mrs. Giraffe said, "No, that's not the way to make a cake," and Mrs. Monkey said, "Let me show her how." Before they knew it, they were in an argument. Mrs. Rabbit's kitchen was a mess.

Finally, they left, leaving Mrs. Rabbit with the untidy kitchen and the cake unmade. Mrs. Rabbit said to herself, "This is the last time I'll invite my neighbors over to help."

The moral of this story is: "Too many cooks spoil the Cake."

A Lean Fox

One day as a very lean fox named Tommy was walking down a path in the forest, he saw a much smaller fox devouring a rabbit. "A-A-H!" cried Tommy, "I am starving. I haven't eaten in weeks. I must have that!"

He lurked about trees, staying hidden, until he was in a good position to overtake the smaller animal. When he attacked, the overwhelmed fox fled leaving the rabbit behind. While Tommy was feasting on the rabbit, he saw two deer.

"Why should I be nibbling on a measly rabbit, when I have such an appetite," said the fox, "I should be feasting on deer this very minute".

He chased the deer for quite a while, only finding them much too fast. When he returned to where the rabbit was, it was gone.

Once upon a time there was a rabbit who traveled extensively.

One day this rabbit said to Mrs. Owl, "I have so many friends because I travel around."

The wise owl retorted curtly, "Yes, but how many do you really have?"

"Well, I have Bobby Bear... Oh no, he died. There is Donna Duck... No, she had a fight with me. The number of friends I have is innumerable," replied the rabbit sternly. And she walked away.

Later on in the day the rabbit spoke to Mrs. Owl again. He said, "You are right, you are right, I have no friends.

The Crow And The Rabbit

Once upon a time there was an old crow who lived in the deep forest. This old crow made his living by being a scavenger of the neighboring town's garbage pails. One night, as he was making his usual rounds, he swooped down upon an unsuspecting home owner and raided his garbage pail. Soon he was on his way home with the best haul he had ever taken. His catch included two pieces of bacon and a piece of sponge cake for desert.

When the old crow returned to his home he began to cook the bacon. All of a sudden Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit dropped in for a visit. Soon Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit were asking to help the old crow. In a matter of minutes, Mrs. Rabbit was telling everyone how to cook the two pieces of bacon. Meanwhile, the fire on the stove was burning the bacon to bits. Mr. Crow smelled the smoke and remembered that he had left the stove on. Because of Mrs. Rabbit's bossing the old crow was left with nothing but the sponge cake.

Fable

Roger Racoon, Sally Salamander, Billy Bear, and Oscar Otter asked Sammy Squirrel to come to their party. Sammy said he would ask his mother. Sam's mother, knowing those mischievious animals, replied, "No, not in a million years."

Sammy begged, "Ma, come on, we won't do anything."

But his mother paid no attention. Sammy came out and said that he couldn't go. All the animals started yelling, "Sammy is a baby; Sammy can't do anything; Sammy is a baby." Sammy clambered up the tree and started to cry. Ten minutes later a bulletin came over the radio that told of four animals who had been killed by fooling with a bridge. The animals that were drowned were Roger Racoon, Sally Salamander, Billy Bear, and Oscar Otter.

Msgr. John J. Allston To Celebrate Golden Anniversary Mass Sunday

Rt. Rev. John J. Allston, pastor of St. Joseph's Church since 1947, will celebrate a Solemn Mass of Thanksgiving Sunday at 11:30 a.m. in observance of his Golden Anniversary in the priesthood.

That evening at 6:30 p.m. parishioners and friends will honor Msgr. Allston at a dinner-dance at Immaculate Conception Parish Center in East Weymouth. Some 600 persons are expected to attend.

Concelebrants of the Mass with Msgr. Allston will be: Rt. Rev. John J. Twiss, pastor of St. Peter's at Lowell, formerly of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount; Rt. Rev. Edmund F. Hackett, pastor of Immaculate Conception Church in East Weymouth; former curates at St. Joseph's, Rev. Robert C. Bryson, Sacred Heart, Malden; Rev. Joseph T. Greer, St. Mark's, Dorchester, chairman of Msgr. Allston's 40th anniversary celebration; Rev. Francis J. Hardiman, St. Catherine's of Norwood.

Also, Rev. Alfred G. Hughes, spiritual director St. John's Seminary, Brighton; Rev. Joseph T. Sheehy, former assistant at St. Joseph's, now assistant chaplain at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton; Rev. James J. McCarthy and Rev. Robert D. Tyrrell, present assistants at St. Joseph's, and Rev. Paul H. Sweeney, pastor, St. Gregory's Church in Dorchester.

Rev. Sheehy will be homilist for the concelebrated mass, while Rev. Sweeney will be guest speaker at the evening dinner.

Msgr. Allston was born Oct. 28, 1895 in Roxbury. A graduate of Boston College and St. John's Seminary, he was ordained June 3, 1920 by Most Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, D.D., at Cathedral of the Holy Cross. His first assignment was at St. Bernard's Parish, West Newton. In March, 1927 he was assigned as an assistant to Msgr. John J. McGarry at St. Patrick's parish, Lowell.

In 1943 he was appointed by Cardinal Richard O'Connell to the pastorate of St. Michael's parish in Bedford where he was also chaplain of the Bedford Veterans Hospital.

On May 30, 1947, Msgr. Allston was appointed by Cardinal Richard J. Cushing as pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Quincy, where he has served for the last 23 years. He was elevated to domestic prelate in November, 1960.

Among his distinguished classmates at St. John's Seminary were Rt. Rev. George W. Casey, pastor of St. Brigid's Church in Lexington, a columnist for The Pilot, and Rt. Rev. Augustine C. Dalton, P.A., LL.D., pastor of St. Kevin's Church, Dorchester, Vice Chairman of Blue Cross and a member of State Advisory Public Health Commission.

First Parish Church To Be Represented At Seattle, Japan

United First Parish Church [Unitarian] will be represented this month and next at religious conferences in Seattle, Wash., and in Kyoto, Japan.

Mrs. Donald K. Mackay and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Offenbach will be official parish delegates to the General Assembly of the Unitarian Universalist churches in Seattle from June 29 to July 4. "The Dynamics of Diversity" is the conference theme.

Main issues to be debated will include continuing funding of the separatist Black Affairs Council, the introduction of proxy voting by local parishes and the question of biennial rather than annual meetings of the Assembly. Dr. Rollo May, American psychologist, will be a speaker.

Dr. Bradford E. Gale, minister of United First Parish Church, and Mrs. Gale will be representatives at the 21st World Congress of Religious Liberals in Japan, which will follow the national meeting in Seattle. Attending will be delegates from the Shinto and Buddhist religions as well as groups from free Christian churches of Germany, Switzerland, Holland, Denmark, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, the United States, Great Britain and South Africa.

En route, Dr. Gale will preach in Sidney, Australia.

Leading the American delegations will be Dr. Dana M. Greeley, former president of the American Unitarian Universalist Association, Dr. Max Kapp of the Department of Overseas Churches, and Rev. Ralph Helverson of First Parish in Cambridge.

Union Services Begin July 5 For Atlantic Churches

On July 5 and continuing through Aug. 2, Atlantic United Methodist Church and Memorial Congregational Church will hold union services at the Congregational Church with the Rev. Douglas M. MacIntosh preaching.

On Aug. 9 and continuing through Sept. 6, 9:30 a.m. services for the two churches will be at Atlantic United Methodist Church with Rev. Robert E. Bossdorf preaching.

Rev. McGuire Final Sermon Sunday

Rev. Franklin W. McGuire, interim pastor at Adams Shore United Methodist Community Church, since March 1, will preach his final sermon at the church at the 9:30 a.m. worship on Sunday.

Rev. McGuire, a Wellesley Hills resident, is a staff member of the Mystic Valley Mental Health Center at Lexington.

Rev. John Lurvey and his wife, Rev. Gwenevere Lurvey, new co-pastors at the church, will be introduced to members of the congregation at an informal coffee hour following the service.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

The 4th of July holiday is celebrated with no special religious significance. This lack of religious attachment is contrary to the customs, beliefs and behavior of our fore-fathers. In blunt language, some of them would turn over in their graves if they saw how we celebrate the holiday.

We owe gratitude to God for having placed our fore-fathers on earth at that particular time in history. They fought for human rights; for freedom against tyrannical rule. After they won the struggle, they considered victory NOT as rights won by them, but as God given privileges they were permitted to proudly participate in.

What sort of men were Washington, Adams, Madison, Franklin, Jay, Jefferson, Hamilton - and all the rest? Watch for the illustrations next week that answer the question. It will be interesting. Don't miss it. . .

From Boston Gas:

'Tanks For The Memories'

MEMENTO--The last of the Dorchester Gas Tank--the name plate--is presented to Hector T. McBournie of North Quincy, superintendent of plant facilities at Boston Gas, by J. Thomas Cathcart, executive vice president [left] and Claude F. Machen, president, at a "Tanks for the Memories Party" hosted by Boston Gas as a farewell to the Dorchester gas tank now being demolished. The old gray holder has been replaced by the modern white liquefied natural gas [LNG] tank.

Boston Gas bid a fond farewell to the old Dorchester gas tank--and a hearty fare-thee-well to the new LNG tank--at a recent "Tanks for the Memories Party".

A personaltiy in her own right, the old natural gas holder has been replaced by the company's liquefied natural gas [LNG] plant at Commercial Point in Dorchester.

The large gray tank, built in 1923, has been the object of some interesting and amusing conjecture over the years. It was believed by some that the tank rose and fell with the tide, while others thought it full when on the bottom and empty when at its peak.

Some of the facts of the old natural gas holder are as interesting as the fancy. During its 47-year history, the tank was painted nine times, using about 2,000 gallons of paint each time. The 18,000 to 20,000 gallons used over the years could paint a 1,000-mile-long center strip on a highway.

The tank was some 200 feet high, 273 feet, 4 inches in diameter, and could hold 10 million cubic feet of natural gas. The tank operated with five telescoping sections which would rise as more natural gas was put into storage. Inside the tank was an oil storage tank 44 feet, 7 inches high, 210 feet 6 inches in diameter and with a capacity of 10.8 million gallons of oil. This oil was used to manufacture gas before natural gas was brought to the Boston area by Boston Gas in 1953.

The old holder has now been replaced by the modern white liquefied natural gas [LNG] tank. The new tank and plant went into full operation in 1969, though the tank was used for storing LNG in 1968.

The new tank is one-sixth the size of the old holder--yet it holds 100 times the natural gas, in liquid form. Natural gas is liquefied by reducing the temperature to minus 260 F. In its liquid form the natural gas is reduced in volume 600 to 1.

"Though we bid a fond farewell to a part of the 'good old days,' " C. F. Machen, president of Boston Gas, said, "our new storage facilities will enable Boston Gas to meet the growing demands of Boston and the 31 other cities and towns we have served for nearly 150 years."

Tickets Ready For Chamber Outing

Tickets are now available for the 45th annual outing of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce to be held July 15th at the Weymouth Fair Grounds.

It is expected that the number of men attending this year will exceed the more than 400 who attended last year. This is due to the increase in number of companies which have decided to make the Chamber outing, their company outing, according to Ronald Frazier, chamber executive secretary.

Activities will include: horseshoes, cribbage, bocci, softball, volleyball, golf chipping, football throw, basketball free throw, nail driving and egg throwing.

The bake will feature: baked lobsters, barbecue chicken, baked corn on the cob, baked German frankfurts, sweet potatoes, chilled [illegible] steamed clams-drawn butter, potato chips, rolls and coffee.

Clam chowder will be served from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased at the Chamber or through one of the Committee members before July 10.

Serving on the committee with Chairman George Fay, are:

Daniel Barry, Joseph Biogotti, Henry Bosworth, Louis Cassani, David Coletti, Carter Caudle, Russell DiMattio, Dennis Donoghue, Bert Eckblom, John Gillis, Ellis Hughes, Joseph Kendrick, Gordon Lewis, Joseph McConville, Richard McCormick, Frank McNally, Frank Mills, Forrest I. Hendrie's Names DeCoste Vice-President

Joseph J. DeCoste has been promoted to Vice President of Administration and Finance of Hendrie's, Inc., Milton, manufacturers of ice cream and distributors of frozen foods.

DeCoste joined the company in 1963 as Treasurer of Hendrie's Frozen Foods, Inc. He had been previously employed as Controller of White Bros. Milk Co.

DeCoste and his wife, the former Mary Gillis of Quincy, live at 59 Needhamdale Rd., Needham.

YMCA Sailing Camp Opens At Mason's Point

The YMCA Sailing Camp at Mason's Point in Squantum for boys and girls 11 to 15 years of age opened Monday.

The boys' program will continue for three weeks, and the girls will will start July 13 for three weeks.

The sailing camp was started 17 years ago by Clifford O. Mason to teach boys "How to Sail", He continues to volunteer his services as director. The program has grown to include waterskiing, canoeing, swimming and boat safety.

The camp is limited to 35 campers each week. Membership includes milk, accident insurance, instructions in the handling of boats and sailing. There are now only a few vacancies left in the third week.

Registrations for girls are now being accepted.

Mason is being assisted by Henry Willman, Bruce Knowles and several former pupils of the camp.

Equipment includes 12 Sabot Sailboats, five Turnabouts, one new one used for instruction purposes, two canoes, one Hustler, one Boston Whaler used for safety boat and waterskiing.

At the conclusion of the camp the top six boys will compete for the D. King Trophy and the C. O. Mason Trophy.

The young Quincy Rangers soccer team will seek its fourth Commonwealth League win tonight at 6:30 when it meets the newest league member, Needham, at Quincy High field.

The Rangers lost for the second time to the much more experienced General Dynamics team, 7-2, Sunday.

GD, which had been a top title contender until recently, has been weakened by the loss of two standouts but still had too much for the Rangers.

Stan Rhodie, a fine Scottish player who had been leading the league in scoring until suffering an injury, scored twice for GD and was selected the game's outstanding player. McLaughlin and Haslin each had two goals for GD and Willie Bell one.

Bob Sylvia Opens Camelot Day Camp

Bob Sylvia, Quincy High hockey coach, began the second season of his Camelot Day Camp in Hanover on Monday. The camp will continue until Aug. 21.

Bob has an excellent staff of experienced personnel including his junior varsity hockey coach at Quincy, Jack Scanlan.

Keeping up with the times, Sylvia has included street hockey in this year's curriculum.

Other activities include Red Cross swimming in the camp's Olympic-sized pool, ice hockey at the Weymouth Skating Club, horse back riding, figure skating, baseball, tennis, remedial reading, softball, arts and crafts, basketball, archery and video tape instruction.

Open house is observed all day every Saturday and Sunday at the camp located at 192 Center Street, Hanover.

Veterans Resign

Laing, York Leave Big Coaching Holes

Two veteran coaches will be among the missing at North Quincy and Quincy High schools next season.

Bob Laing resigned as North's hockey coach after 18 years and George York gave up the Quincy cross country reins after many years of coaching.

Laing was one of the pioneers of hockey in this area and helped organize the old South Shore League.

He also helped found the defunct Met League and acted as its executive secretary for 11 years. North and Quincy played in that league until it disbanded last year when each entered the Greater Boston League.

"I've seen a lot of changes during the past 18 years," Bob said. "Of course, the biggest advance has been the advent of so many indoor rinks. We used to skate outdoors and had to make do with what we had. In the old South Shore League we used to play outdoors in East Bridgewater. Ken Hayes, our junior high coach, was my goalies for two years back then and he was a good one."

When Laing began coaching, he explained, it cost him $40 the first year. The Raiders made the Eastern Mass. tourney, the first of five North teams to make the post-season event, and he had to buy sticks.

"I made about $115 for coaching and had to spend $40 for sticks," he said.

"The biggest changes in the kids are that they are so much better skating-wise. They have more time to skate now with indoor ice and there are a lot of leagues in which they can play. That helps a lot. Also, the boys are bigger, you can tell that when you go to order uniforms.

"The sport has really progressed rapidly and it is going to progress a lot more. The greatest contribution in my time was the mandatory face masks for goalies. That's been the best change of all. I've seen kids get belted where they would have been hurt badly if they hadn't been wearing a mask."

Laing, whose teams have not fared too well in recent years, hopes to see an about-face.

"They must build up the junior high program and get more parents interested," he said. "Last year we had two junior high teams playing in the Greater Boston Freshman League and this was a step in the right direction. But there is one team in each junior high in all other sports and hockey has an awful lot of catching up to do."

Laing, a graduate of North in 1940 and Boston University, wishes his successor luck but said, "I hope whoever gets the job will be given time to get the program going, and, perhaps more important, the understanding of the situation that exists. As for myself, I'm very happy to have coached here and have some very pleasant memories. The kids have done very well."

Bob will stay on at North as an industrial arts teacher and faculty manager. He is a member of Mayor James McIntyre's rink committee which hopes to land a second rink for Quincy to go along with the Shea rink in West Quincy.

York coached cross country for many years but had trouble arousing interest in recent years.

"Two years ago I had so few boys report I had to go out recruiting," he said. "Last year there was a little more interest and I think the success of this spring's track team will help hike interest even more."

York's two best runners in the past few years were Pete Laing and Bobby Ciano, a brilliant sophomore during the past year. Each, incidentally, was outstanding for the spring track team which lost only to North Quincy in the final Greater Boston League meet.

Seek $1,700 To Send Retarded Quincy Youngsters To 'Olympics'

Quincy civic, social and fraternal organizations, along with residents, are being asked to help raise $1,700 to send children from the Happy Acres Day Camp to special Olympics for retarded children at Chicago in August.

On June 30 teenage volunteers at the camp will conduct a door-to-door candy sale to help sponsor these children. Past success of the camp has depended heavily on volunteers who give up a major portion of their summer to work on a one-to-one basis with individual campers.

Quincy Junior College, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Montclair Men's Club, Probus Club of Quincy, Morrisette Legion Post and the Jewish War Veterans are the first local organizations to sponsor Quincy retarded children on the trip, according to Earl E. Vermillion, Camp director.

The special Olympics program was founded two years ago by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. The first International Special Olympics was held in Chicago during the summer of 1968, and Regional Olympics were held in 1969. The New England Regional Special Olympics were held at Boston College in August, 1969.

Children at Happy Acres Day Camp took part in their first Olympics in 1968 after training for the competitive events. The first Quincy Special Olympics attracted 120 representatives from Quincy, Braintree, Hingham, Milton and Falmouth.

Quincy again sponsored the event in July, 1969, and in August, a Happy Acres Day Camp team of 30 children competed in the New England Regional Special Olympics. Ten Quincy youngsters won gold, silver or bronze medals, competing with more than 800 children in dashes, softball throw, standing broad and high jump.

Again facing a financial problem with transportation, local organizations are being asked to sponsor a child on this trip. The Kennedy Foundation will pay for all lodging, meals, entertainment, guides and chaperones, and transportation while in Chicago.

Organizations or individuals interested in contributing may call Mr. Vermillion at 479-8683, or reach him at Happy Acres Day Camp at Pageant Field, Southern Artery.

WHALE OF A BLUEFISH--Jay Johnson, 14-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Johnson of 137 Sea Ave., proudly displays 12-pound Bluefish he caught off Wollaston Beach Saturday. Jay is entering his catch in the annual fishing tournament conducted by Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club at Houghs Neck.

Junior Farm League All-Star Games, Family Picnic Saturday

The Quincy Junior Farm League all-star baseball games and family picnic will be held Saturday at Faxon Field number 1.

The all-star game for boys 8 and 9 years old will be played at nine, with the all-star game at 10:30 for 10-year olders. Races for all boys in the league will follow and then will come the picnic.

All players and members of their families are invited as guests of the league.

The 8 and 9 year old all-stars from the American League are:

National Leaguers are:

American League's 10-year old stars are:

National Leaguers are:

Registration Today, Friday For Boating-Sailing Program

Registration will be held today and tomorrow at Black's Creek boathouse for Quincy residents interested in the instructional boating and sailing program conducted annually by the Quincy Recreation Department.

In Quincy, with 27 miles of waterfront, the emphasis will continue to be on the importance of safe boating, according to James F. McCormick, Sr., Recreation Department chairman. There is a great need for peoples of all ages to acquire basic skills in this increasingly popular recreational activity, he said.

Boys and girls eight years of age and older must first pass a qualifying swimming test on one of the Recreation Department's 14 instructional swimming stations.

Recreation Director William F. Ryan has a fleet of 35 small boats, including 17 turnabouts, at the Black's Creek boathouse in Merrymount Park, where instructions will be given. They will be in use from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays starting today. Evening classes will be held for adults.

Joseph Daly, a recent Boston College graduate, will be supervisor of the program. Assisting him will be Mary-Jo Riley, Thomas Sweeney, Stephen Kenney, Cheryl Smith, Debbie Spanks and Dennis Brennan.

Life jackets provided by the Recreation Department must be worn at all times by those participating in the program. The beginning course includes boat nomenclature, knot tying, rowing, launching, docking. When these basic skills are mastered, participants may move on to the sail boat. Red Cross certificates are awarded those successfully completing each course.

In addition to early registration, interested persons may sign up throughout the season.

Last year this program received the National Gold Cup Award for boating safety, accepted by McCormick and Ryan at the New York Boat Show.

Whelton One-Hitter For Morrisette Win

Mark Whelton spun a one-hitter to lead Morrisette Legion to a 7-1 win over Milton Tuesday night.

The classy right hander fanned five and issued only two walks to give Morrisette its third victory of the young season.

Russ MacDonald was the big gun in the Morrisette attack with two doubles.

Morrisette, trailing 1-0, put the game away with a five-hit, five-run outburst in the third inning.

Sunday Morrisette walloped Walpole, 9-2, although being outhit, 9-5.

Walpole scored a run in the first but Morrisette bounced back with four in its half as Joe Marani singled and Russ MacDonald and Jack Alberti bunted safely to fill the bases. Pete Lucier singled Marani home, MacDonald and Alberti scored when Steve Sullivan reached on an error and two walks accounted for the final run.

Bobby Pettinelli pitched his second win but was relieved in the late innings by Paul Whelton. Lucier had two hits to pace the Morrisette attack.

Costa Shines In Hub Park Debut

Several Quincy players have starred in the Boston Park Baseball League through the years and another fine prospect, Frank Costa, recently made an auspicious debut.

Costa, a young southpaw who excelled for Charlie Bunker at North Quincy High and for Coach Doug Fleming last year for Quincy Legion, is in the Woolf Club's starting rotation following a fine three-inning stint on the first night he joined the team.

He held Supreme to one run and two hits in three innings to spark a tie and made an excellent impression on Manager Gerry McCarthy and the Woolf Club fans.

Bunker, a former Park League star himself who pitched minor league ball for the Red Sox until coming up with a sore arm which ended his pro career, sent Costa to the Woolf Club and is one of his biggest boosters.

This spring Costa pitched outstanding ball for Massassoit Community College.

"He has plenty of talent and you'll be hearing a lot about him in the future," McCarthy said. "About 30 kids came up from Quincy to watch him pitch his first game and he must be quite an athlete and quite a boy to attract so many kids his own age to the game."

Pete Varney, ace North Quincy athlete and Woolf's catcher, was also impressed.

"His style is fantastic," Pete said. "He throws very well and has good breaking stuff.

Furnace Brook Lists Tourney Winners

Results of the Ladies Tuesday Tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club are reported by Mrs. Anthony Spinello, chairman.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Mrs. Matthew Smith received gross and net respectively for the most 4's; Mrs. Michael Fallon, Mrs. George Doherty, Mrs. John Hackett and Mrs. Spinello tied for gross in most 5's, with Mrs. Richard Hoag and Mrs. Felix O'Connor tying for net.

Mrs. Thomas Mulroy received gross for most 6's; Mrs. Lou Cugini and Mrs. Alan Bartlett tied for net.

In Wednesday's mixed Scotch Foursome, with Mrs. Adolph Aimola, chairman; Mrs. George Hodges and Denny Morrissey, Miss Mae Butler and Matt Smith tied for low gross. Mrs. Matthew Smith and George Hodges, Mrs. Chandler Robbins and John Wilson, Mrs. Raymond McPeck and Mario Serafini, and Mrs. Dennis Morrissey and Joe Barranco, tied for low net. Mrs. Thomas Mulroy and Dolph Aimola, Mrs. Felix O'Connor and Joe DiFederico tied for second net.

Quincy Players Take Classic Tenpin Honors

The Massachusetts Classic Tenpin League concluded its first season Friday with several Quincy men sharing honors. Winning team was Holiday Magic Cosmetics, copping the top team price of $6,000.

The final standing for high individual game found Quincy's Ralph Marple and Tom Coleman tied with 279 games, they shared $140.

Starring for Sea 'n' Surf Restaurant team, with a 905 third game, were Jack Chase with 239 and Vin DeSantis with 214, both of Quincy. Marple and Tony Attardo of Quincy, were also cited for Rotary Liquor's final win in the series.

Coast Guard Boat Inspection At HN Reset For June 27

The motor boat inspection by Coast Guard Auxiliary scheduled for early June has been postponed to June 27 because of inclement weather.

Boats will be inspected from noon to 4 p.m., on trailers at Most Blessed Sacrament parking lot, and in the water at the Public Landing.

Members of the Houghs Neck Legion Post will assist the Coast Guard Auxiliary, and boats passing the inspection will be issued the Coast Guard Inspection Decal.

McGuire, Carlson To Play Soccer At Babson

Two outstanding members of the 1969 Quincy High soccer team, Jim McGuire and Bruce Carlson, will play at Babson College next fall.

Babson, always a soccer power, had an 11-2 record last fall and dropped a 1-0 decision to Eastern Connecticut in the opening round of the District 32 NAIA playoffs.

Steve Carrera Shines For Providence

Freshman Steve Carrera, former Quincy High batting standout, was a starting outfielder for the Providence College varsity baseball team this spring and enjoyed a fine season.

The ex-President slugger batted .250 and had two home runs as he joined several other freshmen on the varsity squad.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf, Pediatrician

Honduras: Friendly People, Dedicated Doctors

Last week I told you a little about a small developing country in Central America, Honduras. Why did I go there, you might ask? An urge, long smouldering, to try to be of some use in an area foreign to me where I might be needed!

The opportunity arose when an ad in a Pediatric Journal stated the need for assistance in Afghanistan or Tunisia. Here the "fickle finger of Fate" beckoned, but as so often happens, it grabbed the wrong place. The Care-Medico Office apologized for the ad and informed me that Care had teams in those lands but not for Pediatrics. Being caught, as the expression goes, with a seeming intent, altruistic but selfish, I had to inquire where it was that a need existed, Oh - Java or Honduras!

The former was too far and the latter I knew naught of - so, sure it was to be Honduras! Care-Medico took care of the diplomatic requirements and I took the necessary shots:- a small-pox vaccination was not necessary because I had taken one for Australia last fall, diphtheria and tetanus -- no pain; polio -- a breeze; but oh that typhoid [paratyphoid is no longer required]!

Instead of the healthy big slug in the arm, I, being chicken, took the teeny dose in the forearm. Teeny or not, what a jolt it gave me! As a matter of fact, there is still a large indurated area two months later to remind me of my trip as well as of the Navy days, an age ago, when typhoid originally knocked me for a loop!

Realy, one ought not to gripe too much when you realize the tremendous health advantage a person or a Nation gains by the eradication, by prevention, of the diseases so much of the world suffers today. Locally we have practically abolished typhoid, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, cholera, polio, measles, now german measles, soon chicken-pox, and have lessened T.B. - rheumatic fever, dysenteries through Public Health measures and educated hygiene. Just think, how often do you see spitting on the sidewalk or in public area? - A small but very important educational phenomenon, and darn esthetic too. Rat control as a health measure enhanced by proper building safe guards and garbage removal. One can never let up this battle of hygiene with bacteria or the agents spreading disease. I mentioned water and what a blessing we enjoy in Quincy, where, although we are chlorinated, you rarely taste it unless ice-cubes give you a hint. Just visit New York, Philadelphia or Chicago and you will be aware of it.

Now back to Honduras. A land of charming, friendly people governed by a democratic process, perhaps a little too militaristic, but where no president has been assassinated in over 100 years. The language is Spanish and take some advice, if you visit Central or South America, it will serve you well to learn the language, a delightful, expressive and peaceful tongue. If ever I return, it will be with fluency, believe me!

The Government is trying hard to establish better health care by setting up 14 National Hospitals distributed throughout the Nation. The Occidente Hospital in Santa Rosa is one such station, run by local physicians assigned largely according to their political affiliation. The doctors in this hospital were the equal in devotion to their practice as any in Quincy. Dedicated, thoughtful, discrete and cooperative. Most of them were educated at the only medical school in the country at Tegucigalpa - required to have five years of preparation. Each knew a bit of English. There was only one registered Honduran nurse, recently arrived, who now is supervisor. She also trained in the Capital and also in New Orleans and spoke English effectively.

Care was contracted by the Government to help establish functioning services about the hospital so that after a period of say six years when Care leaves, local personnel can carry on their respective duties. After two years of intensive instruction, the X-ray department no longer needs American help. Considerable tenacity, improvization and ingenuity is required to keep the out-dated X-ray machinery working.

A training school for nurse's aides has been so successful that the government is about to recognize the preparation given by certification or successful completion of the course and exams. It is to be appreciated that the nursing students have had only a grammar school preparation. The zeal and curiosity of these students along with naievete was reminiscent of our own training schools. Their preparation, lectures, demonstrations, and examination have been set up in Spanish by Miss Rose Desch of Chicago and our own B. U. and her Care associates. These nurses are from New York, Canada, Connecticut and Australia. The Obstetric portion is handled largely by mid-wives, trained in England, Australia and Honduras, each of whom are amazingly poised and proficient.

The team captain was Dr. Ralph Holt, a North Dakotan, and a very able pediatrician. Dr. Holt married a nurse who did much of the teaching because of her excellence in the language and training among the Spanish. Dr. Holt spoke and understood the native tongue, which helped me considerable to enjoy my stay. His function was to lecture, coordinate the program, manage materials and supplies and communicate with the headquarters in Tegucigalpa - and to keep a happy Care family in the midst of a foreign setting - not always an easy or palatable job.

Miss Karen Kelly helped set up a laboratory - busy in this tropical disease area, which was run efficiently, pleasantly and expertly. She had trained a nun, and several avid local young persons to do her proud and Dr. Russell Street himself would hire them after Miss Kelly's preparation.

It is about time that I paid tribute to Dr. Holt and every member of his team and staff. The love they exhibit in the dedicated pursuit of teaching, dispensing knowledge, assuaging tropical temperaments, welding public relations and serving mankind with an American spirit would do you all good. Their renumerative compensation is a pittance compared to the results accrued. Each of them has forsaken comfort and far more lucrative positions to live here - deprived of proper comforts and emotional outlet for two years. There was not one among the Care personnel [some were from the Peace Corps] who lacked sincerity and in my book deserved appropriate recognition.

You can rest assured that any donations to send to Care-Medico gives a return in appreciation by Hondurans and everywhere else that Care ministers that couldn't be touched by politicians. Remember Care-Medico in you annual donations!

I have a remarkable set of pictures for an amateur - if you wish to see them I'll oblige!

Brett Criticizes Platform

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has written David E. Harrison, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, that he "cannot subscribe to the Party Platform as adopted at the recent convention."

The Quincy Democrat accused the party of "inept" leadership at both state and national levels, and stated that he was "sad and disappointed" at the platform endorsing: Unilateral withdrawal of U. S. troops from Southeast Asia without parallel action by the opposing forces.

Elimination of penalties for drug use and abuse.

And "many more equally as distasteful."

Brett, a legislator for the past 12 years, did not attend the convention at which the platform was adopted, and expressed regret that the proposed platform was not placed before the delegates in advance.

Kathy Roberts Young GOP President

Kathy Roberts has been elected 1970-71 president of the Quincy Young Republican Club.

Gerry Earley will be vice president; Linda MacAuslan, secretary; and John Slomkowski, treasurer.

The group has adopted a Constitution and By-Laws.

Tuesday, July 7, members will have a pool party-barbecue at the home of one of the members. Persons interested in attending may call Donna Roberts of 29 Oval Rd. at 773-4974.

A successful garage sale was held June 13.

Our Savior Lawn Party Sunday

The Church of Our Savior will hold a lawn party Sunday at 5 p.m., for church members, friends and neighbors on the East Milton grounds.

This will be an opportunity to inspect improvements to church building and grounds.

On June 30, Mrs. Herbert Rackliff of 91 Antwerp St., Milton, will entertain members of St. Catherine's Guild and their friends at a cookout at her home.

Seek Quincy Homes For AFS Students

A bus with 44 AFS International Scholarship students who have traveled together for the past week will arrive at Quincy Vocational Technical School's parking area July 7.

They have spent a year as members of families and as students of high schools in Ohio and Iowa, and they are hoping to spend five days with Quincy families.

Volunteers have come forward with offers to provide homes for about half of the students, but more are needed, according to Mrs. Carmine D'Olimpio who is assisting with arrangements.

Quincy homes are needed, but only those persons who can give a little of themselves and spend time with the students should apply. Anyone interested in students from specific countries to stay in their homes for the five days should call Mr. and Mrs. D'Olimpio at 774-7874; Mrs. Dorothy Kelly at 479-0678; Mrs. Joseph Wine at 472-1498, or Mr. and Mrs. Weikko Haapanen at 773-1965.

Activities planned for the first two days of the teenagers' visit include a beach party at Merrymount Beach on July 8 from 1:30 to 6 p.m.; a variety show, open to the public, presented by the A.F.S.'ers on July 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Quincy YMCA.

The AFS passengers will convene at Wellesley College, one of four conference sites where approximately 700 AFS students will attend reorientation meetings, seminars and reunions. After the Quincy stop, the students will visit one more community before returning to their own countries.

Veteran thespians JAMES STEWART and HENRY FONDA combine close to a century of acting talent in the upcoming western-comedy " THE CHEYENNE SOCIAL CLUB. " GENE KELLY directs this motion picture which concerns the misadventures of an itinerant cowboy who inherits what turns out to be one of the freest and best "houses" in Cheyenne. SHIRLEY JONES co-stars as one of the household lovelies... ROCK HUDSON changes his image in the JULIE ANDREWS starred "DARLING LILI" . From the Mr. Nice Guy of the late 1950 and early 1960 DORIS DAY films, he makes a dramatic turn about face into a menacing heavy. Miss ANDREWS casts off her "MARY POPPINS" cloak in this one as she portrays a World War I vintage strip tease artist who just happens to be a double agent...

SIR LAURENCE OLIVIER was recently awarded another honor to his long illustrious career. Earlier in the month he was made a lifetime member of England's esteemed House of Lords... OLIVIER's next upcoming film is "THREE SISTERS" , which just wrapped up production at Shepperton, near London... America isn't the only country that has actors who have a hankering to plunge into politics. English actress DIANE HART challenged Prime Minister HAROLD WILSON in this year's elections... Shades of Women's Liberationism?... MARLO THOMAS, television's versatile "THAT GIRL" , doesn't quite make it in her first film "JENNY" . She is solely wasted in the role of an unwed pregnant mother. Her co-star ALAN ALDA, as the draft dodging, father-to-be on the make, is all too syrupy in an otherwise saccharin role... Art "JENNY" isn't, and entertainment it is even less...

In the same vein "WEDDING NIGHT" fares even less well as a film. The picture merely poses the question will she or won't she and if so when. The plot, if you can call it that, is about a girl who is hung up on having sex on her wedding night and puts off the inevitable for months. DENNIS WATERMAN and TESS WYATT are the featured actors in this hour and a half absurdity... The recently televised DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION gave one an interesting, if not frustrating closeup behind the facade of MASSACHUSETTS politics. What a betise spectacle! If that wasn't an indictment against Democracy in general and the Convention system in particular, what is?... JOHNNY CARSON continues to outdistance MERV GRIFFIN in the ratings war due more to the latter's ineptness as a night time host, then to the former's ability as an entertainer... What this corner finds most offensive is MERV's pretentious phoniness as he bounces onto the stage nightly. Doesn't he know how to walk?...

MICK JAGGER of the ROLLING STONES fame, makes an adequate acting debut in "NED KELLY" . This action filled drama is based on the true life exploits of a 19th century Australian outlaw by the same name, and captures all the high adventure of that wild era... LEE VAN CLEEF, the Mr. Ugly in "THE GOOD, THE BAD AND THE UGLY" , steals the picture away from former football great JIM BROWN in "EL CONDOR" . The story centers around the aforementioned two in their pursuit of a million in gold locked in a Spanish fortress. Directing is JOHN GUILLERMIN whose credits include "P.J." and "RAPTURE" ... "WOODSTOCK" continues to hold its' own at the CHERI. Thus far it has played before capacity houses at the SACK showcase for three months, and the way the crowds are hugging the turnstyles, it should be playing there well into the summer months...

WALTER BRENNAN returns to television next fall when he joins JOHN FORSYTHE in "TO ROME WITH LOVE" . He is one actor who has really been around. In 1936 he won his first Academy Award for his best supporting role in "COME AND GET IT" . The year 1938 saw him walk off with his second best supporting OSCAR for "KENTUCKY" . And BRENNAN did it again in 1940 with "THE WESTERNER" . With "THE WESTERNER" he became the first three-time OSCAR winner, and was the only one until KATHERINE HEPBURN matched him with three apiece in 1968... The spry septuagenarian should prove a valuable asset to his latest television outing, as he is one of the best and most highly respected character actors alive today...

A total of $2,300 in scholarships was awarded this year by the Quincy Education Association, announces Robert W. Garner, president of the 800-member group.

Miss Ilda DiMascio of Beechwood Knoll School, a former student in the Quincy School system, has served as chairman of the scholarship committee for several years.

Working with her are Miss Gayle MacDonald of John Hancock School; Mrs. Nancy Johnston of Wollaston School, Kenneth B. Rickson, coordinator of physical education and health; Carl Leone, coordinator of athletics; Charles Djerf of Sterling Junior High; Gerald Lyons of North Quincy High; and Ralph Frazier.

The 1970 Scholarships given by the QEA were:

The David Meaney Award in memory of the North Quincy High School teacher who died in November, donated by fellow teachers and his family and presented to North Quincy graduate, Stephen Jakub.

The Edward Holmes Scholarship, awarded to Robin Rosen of Quincy High. It was established by the Quincy High School class of '55 with money donated by classmates at the time of their reunion.

The Ernestine Campbell scholarship awarded to Judith Brusch. Funds for this scholarship for a former Quincy High School teacher were received from fellow teachers and friends.

The Albert Cochrane Scholarship, named for the former assistant superintendent of schools, was awarded to Joseph Orlando of North Quincy High School; while the David R. Ward Scholarship, named for Mr. Cochrane's grandson, went to Karen Schattgen of North Quincy.

The Constance Thayer Scholarship went to Constance Finn of North Quincy High School; the Katherine Kemp Scholarship to Sherryl Wine of Quincy.

The Munroe MacLean Scholarship Fund, named for the late director of physical education, was awarded this year to John Dempsey of Quincy High School.

Still other QEA Scholarships went to Richard Bernasconi of North and to Linda Kislowski, Joseph Brannan and Lawrence Chiano of Quincy High School.

Special Low Rate Protection

Flood Insurance Now Ready

SOMETHING OLD, etc.--Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee [former Kathy Mason] get ready to leave for reception in 1937 Packard following their marriage Sunday at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. The shiny Packard is more than 10 years older than the bride and groom. It is owned by Barry Stevens, the bride's cousin, who drives it to work every day.

Quincy homeowners now have the official go-ahead to purchase low-rate flood insurance under a federally subsidized program.

Letters are going out from Mayor James R. McIntyre's office to an estimated 1,000 owners of trouble area properties instructing them on how to obtain the insurance.

Quincy is the first city in the state to be approved for the program under which owners of single to four-family dwellings may obtain the financial flood protection at a rate of $4 to $5 per $1,000 coverage.

The insurance is also available for personal property and existing small business property at a slightly higher cost.

Mayor McIntyre urged all Quincy homeowners to take advantage of the insurance protection.

McIntyre and City Planning Director Geoffrey Davidson said the low-rate insurance can be obtained through local brokers or agents who sell casualty or property insurance.

Under the program, these brokers or agents write up the policies.

If the local brokers or agents have not yet heard of the program, they merely have to contact the Employer's Commercial Union Insurance Co., 40 Broad St., Boston.

That firm and George Patterson, have been designated by the Federal Flood Insurance Administration to serve as information agents for the Quincy area.

"Until now it had been impossible to get flood protection because the high insurance rates were prohibitive," Mayor McIntyre declared.

"Now our residents have the Traditional, Special Events Will Salute 'Fourth' Here

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

July 4th may not be what it used to be in Quincy -- first, no fireworks and now no bonfires -- but there will still be plenty of traditional events to liven the day throughout most of the city.

It looks like a three-day holiday for almost everyone. Some will have Friday off before the weekend, and some will stay home on Monday.

Schedule of Quincy activities and sponsors listed by the Quincy Park and Recreation Board through Richard J. Koch, executive secretary, includes:

Band concert at Fore River Field, 6 to 9 p.m., Ward 2 Civic Association.

Band concert by George F. Bryan VFW Post Band at Merrymount Beach, 7 p.m., followed by Miss Merrymount pageant, rock concert by "Ball", Merrymount Association.

July 4

Flag exercises, parade, field day, ice cream and tonic for children, theatrical performance, ballgame, guitarists, Wendall Moses Playground, 9 a.m. - 9 p.m., Squantum July 4th Committee.

Field day for children, father-sons ballgame, doll carriage, costume and bicycle parades, "Miss Houghs Neck" contest, scholarship presentations, LaBrecque Playground, Houghs Neck, noon to 7 p.m., Houghs Neck Community Council.

Children's Field day, parade, contests, Welcome Young Playground, North Quincy, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., North Quincy Association.

Children's Field Day, parade, contests, Fore River Playground, South Quincy, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Ward 2 Civic Association.

Children's Field Day, Faxon Park, South Quincy, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Adams Heights Men's Club.

Children's Field day, O'Rourke Playground, West Quincy, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Morrisette Legion Post. Band Concerty by Morrisette Legion Post at 7:30 p.m. on Post parking lot.

Children's Field Day, Lower Germantown Beach, 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., Germantown Shores Improvement Association.

Children's Field Day, flag-raising, parade, contests, Baker Beach Playground, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Baker Beach Association.

Children's Field Day, parade, swimming contests, Merrymount Beach, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., the Merrymount Association.

Block Party, Davis St., Wollaston, 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Kenneth Fallon To Head UCT

Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr. of Quincy will be installed as Supreme Counselor [International President] of the Order of United Commercial Travelers of America at the group's 83rd annual national convention at New Orleans, La., Sunday through July 9.

Mr. Fallon, vice-president in charge of sales for Radio Station WJDA and who lives at 857 Furnace Brook Parkway, will serve until July, 1971.

Twenty-four persons from Quincy will be among the more than 2,000 delegates, members and guests attending. Quincy and South Shore residents include:

Mr. and Mrs. Amos U. Bendinelli, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. King, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cripanuk, Dr. and Mrs. William P. Ridder, Herbert F. Cole, Michael Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Donald D Sass, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Romano, Mr. and Mrs. Willard M. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William A. O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert F. Eckblom, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Furness, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Asher.

Members of Mr. Fallon's family joining the Quincy delegation will include his son, Gregory, of Quincy; Mrs. Kenneth P. Fallon, Sr. of Hanson; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Tibbetts, Jr. of Duxbury, Mr. Fallon's daughter and son-in-law; Mr. and Mrs. Rowley A. Fallon of Glenview, Ill., Mr. Fallon's brother and sister-in-law; and Capt. and Mrs. Allan W. Josselyn of North Springfield, Va., his sister and her husband.

The Quincy delegation will represent Wollaston Council, Mr. Fallon's home Council where he served as Senior Counselor in 1948-49. A member of the United Commercial Travelers of

Finnish President To Be Invited To Visit Quincy

Mayor James R. McIntyre is inviting President Urho Kekkonen of Finland to visit Quincy this month.

President Kekkonen will make an official visit of the U. S. and is expected to fly to Fitchburg from Washington, D.C. July 25 to inspect the United Co-operative Summer Festival there.

"If President Kekkonen's visit to Fitchburg is firmed up I will invite him also to stop in Quincy," said Mayor McIntyre. "It wouldn't take him that far out of his way."

McIntyre said Quincy would be "extremely honored" to have President Kekkonen visit Quincy.

"We have a large Finnish population in Quincy of which we are proud. They have helped make Quincy the great city it is," McIntyre declared.

"If President Kekkonen can visit here we will have an appropriate welcome for him and I know he will feel right at home."

Adams Shore Bonfire Pollution Casualty

The traditional night before the Fourth bonfire at Adams Shore will not be held this year--a casualty of the new anti-pollution law.

In years past, 60-foot structures of railroad beams, barrels and assorted flammable material lighted the skies for miles and burned until dawn as the community's prelude to a day of activity.

This year, will be a quiet one - nothing has been planned.

Congratulations On VFW Award From Montclair Men's Club

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Congratulations on your recent recognition by the state department Veterans of Foreign Wars as the recipient of it's First News Media Award presented to a weekly newspaper.

The honor is well deserved and may we, the members of the Montclair Men's Club, wish you continued success and the backing of all the citizens of Quincy.

Congratulations are also in order for Richard Lawler who was elected department commander. Dick who lives at 44 Harriet Ave. in Montclair, North Quincy, is an asset to our city and most certainly will uphold the traditions as leader of one of the finest organizations in our state and country.

Two Quincy Teachers At NEA Convention

Miss Jean M. Fossati and Mrs. Margaret O. King of the Quincy public schools are among 106 Massachusetts educators attending the 108th annual convention of the National Education Association in San Francisco from June 30 to July 6.

The convention is expected to deal with such issues as bussing of students, environmental education and drug usage.

Mrs. King is a former president of the Quincy Education Association.

Harold S. Crowley Appointed To Conservation Commission

Harold S. Crowley, Jr. of 3 Flagg St., has been appointed to the Quincy Conservation Commission by James R. McIntyre.

Crowley will fill the unexpired term of Morris Silverman who resigned. The term runs to the first Monday in February, 1972.

opportunity to obtain this financial protection at an extremely low cost. I urge them to take advantage of this program."

Quincy qualified for the program last week in a decision by HUD's Federal Insurance Administration. The city had applied in April.

Quincy is the first Massachusetts city to qualify. Swansea, a town, was the first community in the state to win approval.

McIntyre said the low rate insurance is part of his overall program to alleviate the problem of flooding.

He noted that earlier this week a legislative amendment by him was passed directing the MDC to provide necessary tide gates and flood control culverts in the vicinity of Quincy Shore Drive near Carlisle St., Bay State Rd., North St. and Commander Shea Blvd.

"This has been a very serious and aggravated condition for sometime," McIntyre said. "I put this amendment on to have the MDC do something about it because the Quincy Shore Drive area is its responsibility."

He reported that a $150,000 appropriation was also approved by the state for the widening of the culvert at Furnace Brook Parkway near Cedar St., another flood trouble area.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Honduras - - Continued

In these days of world unrest, uncertainty, crazy mixed-up emotions, bitterness, strife and pollution, we still ought to take deep breaths and relax. We must never, however, lose sight of the fact that we can regress in our battle with nature's assaults. Professor Babcock once made the statement that if a city like Quincy were to be a ghost town, within a very short time wild animals would be inhabiting the streets.

Yet only a six hours flight time from here the people have to fight starvation and the illnesses we so rarely see here today. While in Honduras, in 24 days, I saw two old and two new cases of polio. As far as I know, no Sabin or Salk Vaccine is given or is available in that area.

A 16-year-old boy had tetanus with all the signs and symptoms - convulsing for days - happily he made a full recovery. Remember that we have had a high mortality in America, but do not see the disease very often because of our toxoid.

A banana-snake, called the Fer de lance, bit a woman from the hills who came in several days later - result - gangrene of both legs with emergency amputation -- recovered.

Worms! Practically everybody has worms in Central America! Round worms [called Ascaris] these look like those with which we fish; whip worms, [Giardia] and hook worms and from food - tape worms. Occasionally children get intestinal obstruction due to the bunching of worms, even the size of a tennis ball, requiring surgery. The bowel is opened, the ball of worms is evacuated, the wound is closed and they recover. The treatment of most of the tropical worms is easily done in a couple of days. [Our pin-worm is far more resistant to treatment]. It is routine to examine the feces of every patient admitted to the Occidente Hospital.

In Honduras the equivalent of Kwashiokor - the nutritional disease displayed graphically during the Biaffran War - is called SPI - referring to a nutritional disease due to a deficiency of many food stuffs but mainly protein. Small children are most commonly hit but interestingly the disease arises a few months after breast feeding is discontinued and is worse in the spring after the burning of the fields. Cows' milk is not easily available in the country where dairy products are not abundant. Care-Medico provides skimmed milk powder especially for the school children.

If a malnourished child gets a GI upset with vomiting and diarrhea with no fluid intake and is kept home for days you can well imagine how sick he would be by the time he reaches the hospital. Truly in desperate condition. Realize too, there are no telephones!

Add to this the acceptance of hardship with its attendant philosophy of "Que Sera Sera". The absence of manifest grief is difficult to accept by a gringo where every human life is valued and every effort is made for survival. It was gratifying to see a slow but definite improvement and recovery by most of the SPI admissions. The treatment consisted of a balanced nutritional diet with vitamins - correction by transfusion of anemias I never dreamed possible [of 1-2 grams of hgb]. Then removal of the worms expeditiously. Tapping of the abdomen in those with distended bellies due to fluid - removing two to three quarts of clear liquid many times a week.

The stoical behavior of the children and their ability to remain quiet in one spot for hours is a discipline interesting to observe. However the limited space of their abodes requires this behavior. I have a picture of 13 children sitting on a small mat for two hours with no wandering or muttering or speaking. A toy is something most of these kids have never had.

Not all the admissions in the Pediatric Wards recovered. Some of the tiny infants were beyond help and despite heroic measures they succumbed. There were eight deaths during my short stay. The expression of the dry-eyed parents is quoted as "No valle pena" - "What good does it do to grieve".

There were a half dozen cases of measles with pneumonia in the wards - just separated at one end of the big room with no spread of the disease. These children were critically ill yet recovered.

The ability of the Nurses' Aids and Nuns to get into the smallest veins for intravenous therapy - and their pride in doing this work was something to behold and admire. I feel that all our nurses should be trained to do the same.

Scrofula or tuberculosis of the skin was another disease I hadn't seen for years. The Occidente Hospital has a tuberculosis sanitarium apart from the main body and well run. T.B. is quite prevalent in the country according to Dr. Chang, who was in charge of this problem.

The machete wounds among the adults were common. These attacks were more apt to occur on the week-end during the "guaro" [liquor] period. This lethal weapon, a machete, used expertly can decapitate one. So visualize the kinds of emergencies a doctor on the accident floor would see.

Diarrhoea often severe and bloody was seen most frequently and sometimes with a prolapsed rectum [rectum turned inside out]. The chemical imbalance, so beautifully regulated by our bodies, reached levels of distortion which would kill most of our infants and children, but promptly treated by the local physicians with proper intravenous management generally resulted in recovery - unless they came in too late.

Whom, can a farmer, miles from anyone, call in an emergency? What can he do without adequate food or medication? How can he reach or get to a hospital when, until only recently, he had no adequate roads?

Our gyros and helicopters would undoubtedly serve mankind, humanity and the Hondurans better than the need in a useless war.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The Groom's Family

Q. What do I, as mother of the groom do about the guest list? The wedding is several months away but I don't want to wait until the last minute and then perhaps forget someone.

A. I suggest you begin your guest list immmediately. Include anyone and every one you think would like to see your son married. As soon as the bride's parents decide the size of the wedding you will be told the number of guests you may invite. You must then pare down your list to the required number.

Print or type on individual index cards the exact way the envelopes are to be addressed and give these to the bride's mother as soon as requested. The biggest chore the bride and her mother have is writing the invitations and they will thank you many times over if they can copy the cards and not have to stop and look up addresses in the directory or call you and ask "what's Aunty Catherines last name?" or "In what city do the Smith's live?" etc.

Q: Who takes care of hotel reservations for the groom's family?

A. They take care of their own reservations. If the bride's family have the room and do not mind the extra confusion and work involved they could invite you to stay at their home. You, in return, would do as much as possible to lighten their load by helping wherever the need may be.

If you feel this is not enough to show your appreciation for their many kindnesses why not offer to give the rehearsal dinner? Since this would be in a restaurant your offer would have to be made early and unless you are familiar with the city you would have to rely on your son or the brides family for advice on reliable places for the party. You should then write for menus. When you make your decision notify the place selected of the day, hour, number of guests, and the menu. Be sure to send a deposit. When you get to the city check with the restaurant and make any necessary revisions.

Emblem Club Members Enjoy 'Mystery Ride'

Fifty-two members of the Quincy Emblem Club took part in their annual "mystery ride" on Friday.

First stop was at the home of Mrs. Bertha Cherubini, a past president, at 126 Presidents Lane, unable to take her annual trip with the group because of illness. She was presented with a bouquet of flowers and cards from the club.

Club members then rode to the home of Mrs. Marjorie Gibbons in Merrymount for cocktails and hor d'ouevres, then were taken to the Alamo in Abington for dinner and the evening.

Mrs. Thomas Shepherd was chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. William Whelan and Mrs. Frank Osborne.

Navy Wives Planning Summer Activities

Summer activities of the Navy Wives Clubs of America, Mayflower Chapter, are announced by Mrs. John W. Machold, president.

On July 12 members will visit the Whittaker Nursing Home in South Weymouth to renew acquaintances made there previously.

A pool party will be held July 23 at South Weymouth Naval Air Station Pool. Tickets may be purchased from club members.

The Club hayride is scheduled for Aug. 23 with tickets soon available from club members.

Also planned is a bus tour to points of interest around the Boston area, open to all dependents of Naval Base personnel.

Membership in the Navy Wives Clubs is open to wives of all active duty and retired enlisted personnel of the Navy, Coast Guard and Marines. Mrs. H. F. Blevins will provide information about the Mayflower Chapter.

Eligible members may join the group on the second and fourth Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. meeting in Room 2024 of the Tech. Training Building at NAS South Weymouth.

Historical Society Tea At Adams Birplaces

The Quincy Historical Society's annual tea, a tradition for many years, will take place July 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Adams Birthplaces on Franklin St.

Hostesses will be women of the Society's Board of Curators, and wives of men on the board, with Miss Vera Call as chairman.

Invited guests are members of Quincy City government associated with the Houses and their wives, and presidents or representatives of South Shore historical societies.

LaLeche League Second Summer Meeting July 7

The Quincy Chapter of LaLeche League will hold the second in a series of summer meetings July 7 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Peter Randall of 138 Faxon Rd., North Quincy.

"The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties" will be the subject, with Mrs. Donald Wilkinson of 17 Dale Ave. as moderator. Women interested in learning more about breastfeeding or the League are invited to these informal meetings, and babies are welcome.

The League is a non-sectarian, non-profit organization of mothers which offers encouragement and education to women wishing to breastfeed their babies. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Randall or Mrs. Wilkinson.

Poet's Corner

A True Love's Goodbye

You said good-bye, I didn't cry, you said this was the end
I trusted you, I believed in you,
I thought you were my friend.
Why did you hurt me like you did?
Why did you cause me so much pain?
I know that if you ever could, you'd do it over again.
You couldn't have cared if you hurt me that night,
You couldn't have cared at all.
My trouble was that I fell too hard and you didn't fall at all.
You really meant a lot to me and you know you always will,
But don't ask me to love you again
Because I don't think I could ever fill that bill.
You said that as friends we didn't have to part,
But how can you expect me to feel the same, when it's me who's got the broken heart!
I can't forgive you for all your lies or the trick you pulled on me,
But now you've got just what you want and now you remain Free.
I never had you take an oath or held you to any pledge.
I thought that this was what you wanted, but I was wrong and now I'm standing on the edge
Now it's over and all is finished, the pain remains, but the love has vanished,
I hope that now your heart is light, as I try to forget that terrible night,
So, I will leave you with these words and never again will I cry,
Just because my own true love turned around and said good-bye.

Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy.

Ways To Improve Your Outlook

ONE-PATTERN EFFECT—You don't have to tiptoe through these tulips—they're ever-blooming in this room planned for teen-age sisters. Cotton splashed with Siamese pink tulips and brilliant green leaves is teamed up with matching wallpaper for a room-widening effect. The fabric is laminated to fashionable window shades and made into matching curtains and fitted bed coverlets for a fresh, crisp look.

EYE-CATCHING—A bright floral-printed cotton upholstery fabric provides the color scheme and decorative impact for this contemporary living room. Custom-matching the window shade to the steel-based armchairs is a breeze with Stauffer's Tontine shade cloth. The fabric is ironed on to the adhesive shade cloth for a quick and permanent bonding. A draped swag finishes off the window treatment.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of July 3-10

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - You can expect welcome contribution to your budget as financial benefits begin to come in from your mate or children.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - If you must entertain at home this week, add a creative touch to the festivities and don't be too formal with arrangements.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Better take that trip and enjoy yourself before you take on additional responsibilities that seem to be coming your way.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Watch your spending, especially if you are entertaining at home. Money matters could get out of hand so keep things simple.

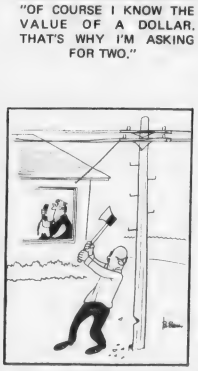
LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Sudden announcements of plans could run into opposition so keep things quiet for a while. A short trip can be enjoyable.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Read all documents with care-you may find a hidden meaning not to your liking. Organized group can activate career matters.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Contact with friends will make this a pleasurable week and could benefit your career as well as your social standing.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Some of you are immersed in new studies, some are traveling and others are just now straightening out their legal affairs.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - News may temporarily upset plans but should not keep you from relaxing over the weekend. You need this short vacation.



CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Don't go to extremes this week; take it slow and easy with new friends as some of them may seem a little strange to you.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Tighten up your purse strings and let the travelers come to you to partake of simple pleasures. Travel later this month.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Keep your plans flexible for the week as others are changeable and can interfere. Next week can bring boating pleasure.

It's In To Be Thin

Director, The Diet Workshop

Mini-Diets for Midi-Fashions...

I want to tell you right at the outset that I didn't lose all that weight to cover it up with a midi skirt! Put my vote right down as being anti-midi all the way.

But it's for sure that this is that year when you can't hide your waistline under a shift. Belts are in and figures are back. So, if you haven't done so before, you better start dieting in earnest. Sure, exercise can tone you up, but since it takes 72 miles of walking to lose a pound it's easier to subtract calories than it is to add exercise.

Fashion has dictated and it will be interesting to see if the women will follow. Personally, I intend to stick to my mini's until little children point at me in the streets giggling. How about you?

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Ave., Merrick, New York.

Veal/Cabbage Casserole

8 ounces Ground Veal
2 ounces Tomato Juice
1 Teaspoon Minced Onion
1 Head Cabbage
2 ounces Tomato Sauce
½ Teaspoon Garlic Salt
Dash Oregano
2 Ounces Fresh Carrots

Cook meat in teflon pan. Add tomato sauce and juice and seasonings and heat. Partially cook carrots. Place layer of cabbage and carrots in deep casserole. Cover with one-half of meat mixture. Place another layer of vegetables over, and then a layer of meat. Cover with foil and cook in 325 degree oven for one hour or until thoroughly cooked. 1 dinner serving of protein and limited vegetable.

Easy and Delicious

Festive Wedding Reception Punch

Wedding bells soon will be ringing and already brides-to-be are busy with wedding preparations. A wedding reception is as traditional as something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

Wedding receptions are happy, festive occasions that call for special refreshments—not necessarily foods that take complicated preparation, but party foods that can be served attractively.

Here's a delicious punch, just right for the happy event. It's a refreshment guests are sure to enjoy, and, best of all, it's a snap to prepare. This special punch is a combination of fruit juices sparked with the lively accent of The Uncola. To decorate, float lemon slices topped with a sprig of mint.

Wedding Reception Punch

1 (46-ounce) can pineapple juice
1 (46-ounce) can orange juice
3 ½ quarts The Uncola

Chill all ingredients. At serving time, combine fruit juices in a punch bowl. Slowly pour in The Uncola and add ice cubes. Makes 50 punch cup servings.

Arthur R. Curtis To Be Bethany Associate Minister

Arthur R. Curtis, for the past six months youth director of Bethany Congregational Church, will become associate minister of the church by vote of the congregation at a special June meeting.

Mr. Curtis will assume full-time duties as a member of the church staff on Aug. 1. When he has been ordained in the early fall, he will become associate minister sharing with Rev. John Banks in pastoral duties and educational responsibilities.

Mr. Curtis will receive his degree from Boston University School of Theology in August. His college training was at Eastern Nazarene College in Wollaston.

Eastern Nazarene College Starts Religious Courses

Eastern Nazarene College has instituted a series of three courses in religious education for churchmen.

The first course "Introduction to Religious Education" was taught by Joseph Rapalje during the past academic year. The course covers the history, philosophy and objectives of religious life, analysis of curriculum and modes of instructions at various age levels, and a survey of the numerous agencies of religious education in the life of the church.

Scheduled for next spring are "Christian Education of Children" and "Christian Education of Youth", to be offered in alternate years. The former considers problems of children, how children learn religious concepts, curriculum and methods. The second deals with problems of adolescence in relation to religion and ethics, church, church youth programs and youth leadership.

Gwen Knight Elected Women's Mission President

New officers of the Women's Mission group at Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., are headed by Gwen Knight.

Jean Knight is vice president; Pearl Gilmore, secretary; and Rachel Tusi, treasurer.

During May $632.26 was contributed to missions, including the regular monthly pledged support and donations for work in Brazil and Spanish literature.

St. Chrysostom's First Folk Mass

Junior and Senior members of youth groups at St. Chrysostom's participated in a recent Folk Mass, the first at the church.

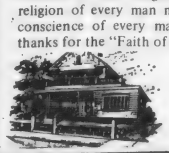
It is hoped it will become a monthly event starting in the fall.

Howard Dunk preached the sermon. Marilyn Fabrizio, Scott Gillespie and Scott Whittemore read parts of the service. Laurel Rice, Robert Fabrizio and David Ballum played guitar, along with Rev. Robin Smith, who directed the event.

Summer Schedule At Trinity Lutheran

The summer schedule of Sunday worship at 9:30 a.m. is in effect at Trinity Lutheran Church, 65 Roberts St., and will continue through August.

Rev. James Kimmell's topic on Sunday will be "We Dedicate Our Lives."



A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

In our 4th of July celebration we ought to thank God our fore-fathers were so deeply religious. Some of them could have made a name for themselves in the pulpit as well as in affairs of state.

For example, Washington wrote, "I am sure that there was never a people who had more reason to acknowledge a divine interposition in their affairs than those of the U.S." ... John Adams wrote, "I have been a church going animal for 76 years, from the cradle." ... Franklin wrote, "I believe in one God, Creator of the Universe" and it was he who moved, "That henceforth prayers imploring the assistance of Heaven be held in this Assembly every morning." Congress continues the practice to this day. Jefferson, during his trying days as President, began a writing, "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazaeth." It was later translated into 3 languages. Alexander Hamilton, just before his duel with Aaron Burr, wrote his wife, "The consolation of religion, my beloved, can alone support you; and these you have a right to enjoy. Fly to the bosom of God and be comforted."

These sort of men founded our nation with faith. They differed in their religious beliefs but they all agreed the religion of every man must be left to the conviction and conscience of every man. This is our heritage. Lets give thanks for the "Faith of our fathers - living still"...

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Concert, Field Events Ward 2 Highlights

An old fashioned band concert tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at Fore River Field by the 215th Army Band will start the Ward 2 Civic Association's gala 4th of July celebration.

Saturday field events will begin at Fore River Field at 10 a.m. and will include sack race, three-legged race, wheel barrow and dashes with awards for winners.

At 11 a.m. the doll carriage parade will take place at Fore River Clubhouse Parking Lot. There will be prizes, and winners will ride in a convertible during the parade.

Parade assembly is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. at Pond St., playground, to start at 1 p.m. The parade route will be from Pond St. to Washington St. left on Pray to Curtis Ave., left on Curtis and into Nevada Rd. to Fore River Field. Prizes will be awarded for costumes.

Final field events will begin at 2 p.m.

James DeCristofaro, projects chairman, is in charge of the program.

Costume Parade At Germantown

The Germantown Shores Improvement Association will open its annual July 4th observance with a 9 a.m. costume parade.

The parade will form in front of the Robert Slowe home at 49 Bicknell St., and proceed to the lower Germantown Beach off Prescott Terrace where prizes for costumes will be awarded.

Games, contests and races for all ages are planned, with a family cookout following.

In case of rain, all events will be held Sunday, July 5.

Officers of the association in charge of arrangements are Lawrence Petrilli, Jr., president; David Lavender, vice president. James Lydon, secretary; and Donald Sargent, treasurer.

Flags, Ice Cream, Parade 4th Features At Squantum

Patriotic exercises conducted by the Robert I. Nickerson Legion Post will take place at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, as an appropriate beginning to a program sponsored by the Squantum 4th committee.

There will be a flag raising ceremony at the Gilbert Memorial at Squantum center, with music by the Milton Legion Post Band. Wreaths will be placed by Nickerson Post members at the World War I stone on Bellevue Ave. and at the memorial. Flags will be distributed to children at the Wendall Moses Playground.

The annual parade will assemble starting at 9:30 a.m., with floats on Standish Ave. at Huckins Ave. The parade will begin at 10:30 a.m., and will include horribles, and individual and group entries numbering more than 200, with seven floats already registered.

March music will be by the Milton Legion Band, St. Peter's Band and St. Peter's Pebbles, the Golden Ray Seniors and Juniors. The line of march will be along Bellevue Rd. toward the water, Dorchester, Huckins, Standish, and Parke St. to the playground, where ice cream will be distributed to children.

Squantum Little Leaguers will hold a baseball game from 1 to 3 p.m.

At 3:30 p.m. the Neponset Valley Players will present "Androcles and the Lion."

The evening program at the playground will feature guitar music for teenagers.

The Squantum July 4th Committee is headed by Robert Connolly, with Ross Crane, cochairman; Mrs. Janet Hickey, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Sheridan, secretary; and Don Pound, in charge of collections.

Full Day Of Activities Saturday At Welcome Young Playground

"A day to remember" is promised by the North Quincy Associates whose July 4th celebration crowns a month-long effort by city officials, local businesses and residents to revive the traditional observance at Welcome Young Playground.

At 8 a.m. the traditional horrible's parade will be led by the Braintree Braves Drum and Bugle Corps, with a flag-raising ceremony following.

There will be free ice cream at 9 a.m., foot races at 10 a.m. and tonic following the races. A football throwing contest is set for 11 a.m.

Scheduled for 1 p.m. is a doll carriage parade, and at 2 p.m. the MDC K-9 Corps will put on a demonstration. At 2:30 p.m. there will again be ice cream and tonic, followed by a 3 p.m. bicycle parade. The boys and girls pie eating contest will take place at 4 p.m.

At 4:15 p.m. the Dutch Erickson Marathon, named for the originator of the North Quincy July 4th celebration, will be held. A 7:30 p.m. talent show will be followed by a block dance featuring the "Stone Column Band", a nine-piece band.

Heading the July 4th organizing committee are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, and Mr. and Mrs. William Egan.

Beauty Pageant, Band Concert Friday At Merrymount Beach

A 7 p.m. concert by the George F. Bryan VFW Band tomorrow [Friday] at Merrymount Beach will open the 47th annual holiday festivities of the Merrymount Association.

Simultaneously, judges will interview "Miss Merrymount" contestants at Our Lady of Good Counsel parish hall, and they will then ride in convertibles to Merrymount Beach where they will be introduced by Mrs. James Mulcahy, and the winner crowned by last year's queen. Mrs. Marion Sullivan is chairman of the pageant.

At 8:45 p.m. the rock and roll group "Ball" will play for teenagers.

Activities will resume Saturday at the beach at 9 a.m. when John Molloy will direct land sports. A pie-eating contest with Bernard Coleman in charge is scheduled for 10 a.m., and Arthur Boyle will direct swimming contests at 10:30 a.m.

The bugle will sound at 12:30 p.m. for parade assembly, scheduled for 1 p.m. at Merrymount School. There will be street group competition, doll carriages, decorated bicycles, and miscellaneous costumes, with prizes awarded in the different categories.

March music will be by St. Peter's Band, the Milton American Legion Band, and the Bryan VFW Post Band. Streets on the parade route include Agawam, Narragansett, Chickatabot, Norton, Algonquin, Sea, Samoset, Longwood, Moreland, Waban, Maypole, Squanto and Victoria Road, ending at Merrymount Beach where prizes will be awarded at 2:15 p.m.

Joseph I. Garity will introduce the program. Rev. Henry Nichols, assistant at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, will give the invocation. John M. Connolly, Merrymount Association president, will bring greetings and city and state officials will be introduced.

James Mulcahy heads the July 4th committee, assisted by Mrs. Mulcahy, John Molloy, Donald Murray, John McConville and Mrs. Marion Sullivan.

Association officers include Arthur Boyle, vice president; Marge Gibbons, treasurer; and Marilyn Flynn, secretary.

Stores Closed Saturday

Retail stores will be closed Saturday under the usual "Sunday type legal holiday" ruling, according to Bernard C. Moore of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Any business not normally open on a Sunday will have to close.

While all industry will close on Saturday, some firms are giving their employees Friday off, and others will be closed on Monday.

City employees will observe Monday as a holiday.

At the Quincy, Wollaston and North Quincy Post Offices, only special delivery mail will be delivered on Saturday, and there will be the regular holiday collections at mail boxes.

Monday, regular deliveries and hours will be in force.

Bryan Post Steak Bake Saturday

A charcoal broiled steak bake will be held by George F. Bryan VFW Post on July 4 at the Post Home, 24 Broad St., from 5:30 to 7 p.m. A dance will follow at 8 p.m. Tickets are available.

Fifteen paraplegic veterans from West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital will be guests of the Post.

James J. Mulloy, Jr., is Post Commander.

Flag Raising To Open HN 'Fourth' Activities

A flag-raising ceremony by the Houghs Neck Legion Post will open July 4th activities of the Houghs Neck Community Council at LaBrecque Field.

The ceremony is scheduled for 11:55 a.m. with Thomas Hurlebaus in charge.

A father-son softball game will take place at noon. Dave MacMillan will be manager for the sons; Francis [Shorty] Donovan, the fathers. Howard Back and Richard Brooks will be umpires.

Mrs. Elaine Bergstrom will have charge of a 1:30 p.m. doll carriage parade, 2 p.m. horrible's parade and 2:30 p.m. bicycle parade. Ice cream will be distributed by Frank McCauley.

Richard Brooks and John Bogan will supervise races and sports events for all age groups from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. An hour-long band concert will follow.

Presentation of 1970 scholarship awards and special awards will be held at 5:30 p.m.

The "Miss Teenage Houghs Neck" contest at 6 p.m. is open to girls 13 to 17 years.

Refreshments and games booths will be sponsored by the Sgt. Lawrence T. Grenham Youth Center boys and girls as well as the Community Council. Among those assisting will be Mrs. Sandra McCauley, Mrs. Frances Denvir, Mrs. Mary Forrester, Mrs. Kaye Gunning, Jack Nigro, Fred Kussman, Sam Tuttle, Jr., Dave Finlay, Jerry Keefe and Ray Keefe, Ernest Deveau, Robert Denvir and Bernard Tobin.

Horribles' Parade At Baker Beach

The Baker Beach Association will have a 9 a.m. horrible's parade Saturday starting at Grace Rd. and proceeding to Northfield and Brockton Ave., for a flag-raising ceremony at the Donald Moberg home.

Judging of costumes will take place there, while the parade will reform and continue to Baker Beach Playground on Palmer St. by way of Broady Ave.

Prizes will be awarded at the beach, with games and contests to follow.

Bernard J. MacAuley, president of Baker Beach Association, is chairman of July 4th activities. Other officers assisting are John Castarno, vice president; Fred Galanaro, treasurer; Kathy O'Rourke, secretary; and Ann Dooley, corresponding secretary.

Adams Heights Club Outing Saturday

The Adams Heights Men's Club will sponsor its annual outing for the children of South Quincy Saturday at Faxon Park, with events scheduled from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The contests and coin hunts will be held, and there will be refreshments for the children.

City officials will be introduced by Tom Nigrelli, president.

Adults, bringing picnic baskets, will join the children in the all-day family outing.

Monday Holiday For City Employees

Monday, July 6, will be a holiday for city employees.

City Hall, and the Thomas Crane Public Library and all of its branches will be closed.

The library and its branches will also be closed on Saturdays during July and August.

The city employees are being given Monday off by Mayor James R. McIntyre because the July 4th holiday falls on a Saturday, their regular day off.

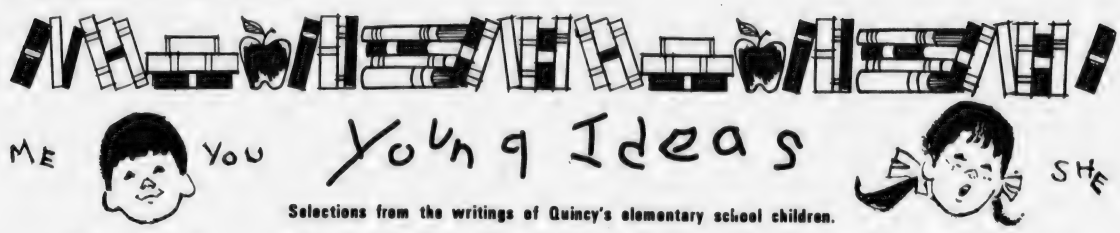
HEROIN IS HELL



Heroin deserves its fearful reputation. Its use is growing in epidemic proportions, especially in the larger cities. Last year in New York City alone, 900 deaths were attributed directly to heroin use. Its death certificates list children as young as 12.

The drug itself is dangerous enough - one overdose will kill - but even the side effects from dirty needles is serious, causing abscessed veins and hepatitis. Occasionally, users die before the needle leaves the skin. Medical authorities blame this instant death on the unknown additives used by vendors to add profitable bulk.

Doctors report that nearly 100 percent of all people who try it on any regular basis become hooked. Heroin's final indirect effect is crime perpetrated by users to support this costly habit which runs between 75 and 100 dollars a day. We must support all efforts to wipe it out.

The Rabbit Who Cried "Wolf"

One quiet day in the forest, all the animals were scurrying about doing their work, when Mr. Rabbit came running to the animals.

"My friends, I came to tell you about the man that is in the forest with a gun! You must hide!"

"Oh, no, a man with a gun," shouted the animals. "Let's hide!"

The animals were shrouded behind bushes and trees, except for Mr. Rabbit.

After a few minutes, Mr. Rabbit shouted a loud, "Bang, bang!"

Everyone was incensed at Mr. Rabbit and they wouldn't speak to him.

The next few days in the forest things were very quiet until Mr. Deer and Mr. Bear heard from Mr. Rabbit again. He was all out of breath.

"A boy is chasing me and he wants to take me home for a pet".

"Oh, Mr. Rabbit, would you please leave. Mr. Bear and I are talking".

"Aren't you going to help me?" exclaimed Mr. Rabbit.

"We're not going to brook your foolishness, Mr. Rabbit," Mr. Bear retorted angrily.

"But I'm not lying," he said, trembling.

He tried telling the other animals but they wouldn't listen either. Along came the boy who sneaked up behind Mr. Rabbit and grabbed him. The young lad took the bunny home but fortunately the boy's mother wouldn't let her son keep Mr. Rabbit.

As he was scampering homeward, he met Mrs. Squirrel to whom he related what had happened.

She uttered, "Well, you know the old saying, 'A liar will not be believed even when he speaks the truth'."

Walpole Agricultural School

When I am big I might go to the Walpole Agricultural School. And when I patted one of the cows he hit me in the face with his tail. I learned that sheep come in heards. And the thing on the rooster's head and it felt like lumpy rubber. I saw apple trees too. The things that the people feed the cows is just like wet grass. But the stuff is cut up grass and cut up corn and stuff.

The Scarey Sound

Once when I was in my house by myself. I heard a funny noise. It was very scarey. I was so scared I didn't want to check the house. I didn't find a thing. So I checked outside. Then I heard a different noise. It came from the front steps. So I checked them. It was my dog crying and pawing at the door.

Tricks

Once my uncle played a trick on me. He got a penny and told me to go in a room. He said to take my shoe off. When I looked in my shoe the penny was there. Once I played a trick on my sister. I got an egg and water and salt. I put a little bit of salt in the water. Then put the egg in, and the egg floated.

A Surprise For Mother

It was about two weeks before Mother's Day when Mrs. McHugh said, "Please bring a coffe can in". We all did. Then we made a sewing can. We brought some thread in and put in the can. After we decorated our can we brought it home for Mother's day. So that was a surprise for Mother!

Spring

Spring has sprung everywhere. And all birds are coming back to sing their lovely songs. All little flowers are waking up and popping out of the ground. With all the birds twittering and all the flowers smelling nice, we know it's spring, that wonderful thing!

Fable

One sunny day a camel was gayly walking through the jungle. He had been visiting it, to determine what a jungle was really like.

As he went upon his journey, he met Sir Lion, who remarked about Mr. Camel being in his jungle. Mr. Camel assumed that Sir Lion, did not want to be amiable and that he would be eliminated from his list of friends.

After meeting many other animals whom he tried to please, Mr. Camel decided that by dint of going to the store he could buy some food for Rattle Snake. When he arrived, Rattle Snake was floundering in the mud. Mr. Camel gave him some delicious food and tried to help by giving him a pillow on which to rest his body.

After thinking he had done his duty and pleased everyone, Mr. Camel went to where he was staying. About an hour later all his so-called friends came to tell Mr. Camel what he had done.

"You have almost made us forget how we used to live. We lived very happily ourselves before you arrived."

Mr. Camel realized that trying to please everyone at the same time would have him end up with nobody.

When-All

When the war ends in Vietnam, the world will be a better place to live. Happiness will guide the States. There are songs of peace and love, such as, "Aquarius", "What the World Needs Now", and a lot of others. These express the feelings of the young people towards the war in Vietnam.

"Aquarius" symbolizes a year far ahead of the year 1970. When peace guides the planets, I doubt man will still be on this planet, or any other.

"What the World Needs Now" sounds like a prayer. When there is no war, no crime, no weapons, there will BE PEACE FOR ALL!

Fable

Barbara was a Blue Bird. She was packing her belongings like wild fire for she was going to live with her loved one, Kurt, who was a Cardinal. As she dived down to collect some berries, her left wing was badly bruised and broken by a thorn. She had just enough strength to get back to her tree. There she called for her friend, the Black Bird. Barbara explained that she had broken her left wing and wouldn't be able to meet Kurt in Saint Louis. She petitioned her friend to fly there and meet him to explain everything that had happened. The Black Bird accepted the task for she was secretly in love with the Cardinal and planned to steal him away from Barbara.

Two weeks later Barbara heard that the Black Bird had been attacked by a hawk while going through the Grand Canyon.

The Hare And The Bear

Once there was a very gullible bear who had been cheated out of many an intended meal by the intended meal, namely, a hare, reknown for his intelligence.

One day the bear chased the hare to the edge of a chasm.

The hare lept across and grabbed a vine. He clambered up it to an overhang where he intended to get away again, but he was met with a solid wall of rock.

Thinking quickly, the hare lamented aloud, wailing, "Ah, alas and alack! I have no chance against you, Bear, so strong and brave, and I, so weak and small! You can surely climb the vine quicker than I and catch me. Oh! If only I wasn't running from such a large ferocious bear!"

The bear, who had hesitated before this, jumped at the vine, but his great weight dragged him down so that he only grabbed the frail tip.

As the vine started snapping, the hare, laughing, jumped across the crack and shouted down to the panic-stricken bear.

Fable

There was once a merchant who had a daughter. Now the daughter was an only child and she became very spoiled.

One day she thought the sun too bright for her eyes. So she purchased the most expensive sunglasses in the country. However, she thought here eyes too beautiful to hide behind sunglasses, so she merely carried them with her. Soon her eyes became so strained from the brilliance of the sun that she went blind.

Now, you would think that would make her discontinue her greediness. But no!

She decided that she wanted to learn how to ski. Her father bought her the best skiis he could find. She started skiing right away and since she was blind, she bumped into a tree and crippled her body forever.

She still wanted more.

She couldn't do much more so she just made the servants and maids lives miserable. Her voice became so hoarse that she couldn't speak.

Finally, she realized that she was far too greedy. But she realized too late. Because of her folly, she lived in desolate silence for the rest of her days.

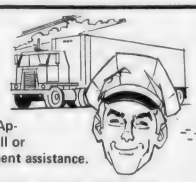
Teenagers Selling Candy To Aid Retarded Youngsters

One hundred teenage volunteers from Happy Acres Day Camp this week are conducting a 6 to 9 p.m. door-to-door sale of chocolate covered peppermint candy to provide transportation costs to Chicago for 15 children.

A goal of $1,700 has been set to meet the cost for retarded children from the camp who will take part in the Chicago International Special Olympics.

Charles Alongi Jr., fund raising chairman, said the teenage candy salesman will be driven to all areas of Quincy by playground leaders and supervisory staff. Happy Acres Day Camp staff and parents of volunteers. The candy will later be sold at industrial, business and shopping sites in the city.

Latest contribution to the youngsters has been from the new Quincy playground leaders who volunteered to purchase uniforms for them.



Persons interested in contributing toward the Chicago trip may contact Earl E. Vermillion, Day Camp Director, at Pagent Field or call 479-8683.

Shea Rink Programs Outlined To St. Moritz Association

Programs at the Shea Rink Recreational Center, one of four pilot projects in Quincy, were described by Barry Welch of the Quincy Recreation Department to members of the St. Moritz Association at their recent meeting.

Three councilors are on duty, with one or more to be added with salaries paid by a grant from the State's Youth Service Division, Welch said.

Quincy Recreation leaders are on duty daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for young children, and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 4 to 10 p.m. for junior high and high school students. Teenagers have decorated rooms at the rink, and a television set has been donated. Afternoon tennis, golf, archery, music and nature visits are scheduled for each week at the playground.

In addition, ceramics will be taught three days a week at the Gridley Bryant School, with different playgrounds selected for free lessons.

Welch commended the baseball program sponsored by the St. Moritz Association because of its emphasis on good sportsmanship, with all children having an equal opportunity to play.

Paul Kelly, zoning committee chairman, reported on a meeting of his committee with Pine Hill Corp. officers to discuss possible uses for a large tract of land in West Quincy. No decisions were made and another meeting is to be scheduled.

Denvir HN Council President

Robert F. Denvir of 111 Spring St. was elected president of the Houghs Neck Community Council for 1970-71 at Tuesday's meeting. He succeeds John B. Powers, elected to the executive board.

Other new officers are Gerard Keefe, vice president; Mrs. Holly Blanchard, treasurer; Mrs. Leo Kelly, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Wainwright, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Robert Kamb, William Mitchell, Jr., John Nigro and Samuel Tuttle, Jr., executive committee.

Following a request by Leo Kelly of the Sgt. Grenham Youth Center board of directors, the Houghs Neck Community Council voted to become official sponsors of the center.

A program on pollution was presented by Central Junior High School's SCORE group, who were accompanied by Vincent Moscardelli, assistant principal.

Morrisette Hopes To Keep Chances Alive

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, defending Zone 6 champion, received a rough blow to its title hopes Monday when it lost to league-leading Braintree, 6-4 but hopes to keep its flickering chances alive Friday night when it entertains Randolph at Adams Field.

Morrisette will play at Millis Sunday and next Wednesday at Braintree.

Monday's loss put the Morrisette record at 1-3, while Braintree leads the league at 7-1 and Weymouth is 6-1.

Russ McDonald, the first batter against Braintree standout Dick Blackwell, pounded out a long home run but the lanky hurler held the losers to three more hits while striking out 13.

Paul Whelton started for Morrisette but after working three innings tripped while scoring his team's third run and was taken to the hospital with what was feared to be a broken ankle. Anthony Knasas finished up.

The Morrisette hits were McDonald's homer, a double and single by John Alberti and a single by Whelton.

The rangy right-hander allowed five hits, while his mates collected six.

Morrisette scored once in the second when Pete Lucier reached on an error and Bobby Malvesti and Pettinelli singled. The winning run scored in the third when Kevin Ryan reached on an error, stole second and scored on Lucier's single. An insurance run came in the eighth when Malvesti singled, stole second and came home on McDonald's single.

Malvesti and McDonald had two hits apiece, Lucier and Pettinelli one each.

In its previous game Morrisette had bowed to Canton, 4-2, as the winners broke a 2-2 tie with a pair of runs in the third inning.

Two triples and a single gave Canton a 2-0 first inning lead but in the second Morrisette evened it when Steve Sullivan singled, John Stevens doubled and Malvesti tripled both home.

In the fourth inning Malvesti hit a long fly which seemed sure to score Ed Burke from third but a rifle throw from Pete Marinelli nipped him at the plate. A spectacular catch by Joe Buckley in right field stopped another Morrisette threat later.

Sullivan and Jim Walker did the Morrisette pitching and gave up seven hits. Sullivan fanned four and walked five.

Morrisette had five hits, two by Malvesti and one each by Alberti, Sullivan and Stevens.

Mele, Malzone Instructors For Sox Tryouts Here July 10

Three Red Sox scouts familiar to Quincy baseball fans will be among the instructors when the Sox and Record American-Advertiser hold the fourth in a series of tryouts at Quincy's Adams Field, July 10.

The tryouts, which start at 9 a.m., are under the supervision of Frank Malzone, recently voted the outstanding Sox third baseman of all time. Among those working with him will be Sam Mele of Quincy, former Sox star and Minnesota Twins manager and now a special scout for the Sox; Tommy McDonald, former yankee farmhand and also a Sox scout, and the veteran Jack Burns, former American League batting champion who starred for the late Jeppie Saunders' old Fore River teams. Others will be Pete Cerrone and veteran umpire Tony Nota.

Those selected by the staff as the best performers in the Quincy session will play for the Boston and New England all-star teams in a doubleheader at Fenway Park July 29. The top players in these games, picked by a board of judges including Sox owner Tom Yawkey and other Sox executives, will play in the tourney final at Fenway Aug. 3.

The outstanding player in that game will receive the Harry Agganis Trophy as the best N. E. sandlot player from Yawkey.

The Quincy tryouts are annually among the best-attended in the series conducted throughout New England.

Last year North Quincy's Gary McGrath, big right-handed pitcher, was among those selected but was unable to play in the Fenway Park games as he had already signed a contract with the Seattle Pilots, now the Milwaukee Brewers.

YMCA Still Accepting Day Camp Registrations

Registrations are still being accepted for the Quincy YMCA Day Camp Programs, for boys and girls ages eight through 12 years.

Day camps are held at the "Y" at 79 Coddington St. and include crafts, archery, sports, trips, games, nature and swim instructions.

The three two-week periods at Camp Clark for girls will be from July 7 through Aug. 13.

The four two-week periods at Kamp King for boys began June 29 and will continue through Aug. 21.

Further information on the "Y" Day Camp Program may be obtained by telephone 479-8500.

Shea Courts Skating Rink

Plans for construction of two tennis courts at the Shea Skating Rink have been approved by the Metropolitan District Commission, according to a letter received by Rep. Joseph E. Brett from John J. Beades, executive assistant to the Commission.

Meet Weymouth Tonight

Quincy Trying To 'Hit Where They Ain't'

Quincy Legion baseball coach Doug Fleming hopes his batters will start "hitting them where they ain't" when his team plays at Weymouth tonight in a Zone 6 contest.

Sunday Quincy will be home to Needham at Adams Field and Tuesday will host Franklin at Adams.

Quincy has been receiving fine pitching but the batters, although hitting the ball well, have failed to give the pitchers much support. It was the same story Sunday when Quincy fell before Dedham, 4-1.

After upsetting Morrisette in its second game, Quincy has lost four in a row, all low scoring games, to make its record a deceiving 1-5.

"We haven't been striking out much but the balls all seem to be hit right at someone," Fleming said. "Our pitching has been good and the pitchers deserve a better fate. If the ball will just start falling for us, we could do all right the rest of the way."

Sunday Quincy again outhit the opposition, as it has done in most games, but Dedham bunched its five hits off Bob Pastor while Quincy's six were well-scattered. Pastor struck out four and walked three before being relieved by Norm Walsh. It was the first pitching job by Pastor, the regular starting catcher.

Quincy received more good pitching but batters again failed to come through in the clutch and bowed to Milton, 3-1, although outhitting the winners, 5-4.

Quincy took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Mike McNally doubled and scored on an error and infield out. But that was all as Milton scored twice in the fifth and once in the sixth.

Walsh went all the way on the mound and did an excellent job, giving up only four hits, striking out eight and walking only one.

Two Milton runs scored on errors, spoiling Walsh's fine effort.

Monti had two hits, McNally, Walsh and Steve Gannon one apiece in a losing cause.

In its previous game Quincy had lost to Weymouth, 6-2, as Weymouth collected 13 hits off three pitchers while Quincy had only six off Larry Stohl. Quincy scored both runs in the fifth.

McNally had two hits, Flaherty, Jim Broderick, Bob Langley and Walsh one each.

Tourney Winners Listed At Furnace Brook

In the Sunday Mixed Scotch Four-Some, Mrs. Joyce Robbins and Mario Serafini had low gross; Mrs. John Eramo and Everett Bragdon, low net; Mrs. Harold Sager and John Donovan, second gross; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Spinello, second net.

Winners in a Medal Tournament of the Ladies Weekly Tuesday Tournament group at Furnace Brook Golf Club are announced by Mrs. Anthony Spinello, chairman.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico received low gross; Mrs. Adolph Aimola, low net; Mrs. Dennis Morrissey, second gross; Mrs. George Doherty, second net; Mrs. Paul O'Leary, third net; Mrs. John Eramo, fourth net; Mrs. Spinello, Mrs. Richard Hoag and Miss Marie Corayer, tied for fifth net.

Wednesday Nite Mixed Scotch Four-Somes, with Mrs. Aimola as chairman, saw Mrs. Thomas Mulroy and Dick Harrison with low gross; Mrs. Harrison and Ed O'Neill, low net.

Tied for second net were Mrs. Harold Sager and George Hodges, Mrs. Charles Kusser and Joe DiFederico. Mrs. Michael Fallon and Tony Spinello, Mrs. Patrick Baillie and Dick Corkin, Mrs. Eramo and John Donovan tied for third net.

Rich Menchi Named All-Star By New National Magazine

Rich Menchi, an all-scholastic end at Quincy High, has received national recognition.

The Quincy junior, rated by Coach Hank Conroy as one of the finest players he has coached, is one of 11 schoolboy stars from across the country named to the all-star squad of a new magazine being published in Dallas, Tex.

Menchi, a 6-3, 190-pound end, admitted he was surprised by the honor as he didn't know anybody from the magazine was watching him.

"This is a fine honor and a most deserving one for Rich," Conroy said. "I don't think there was a better end in the Greater Boston League last fall. He did a wonderful job for us all season long and I'm very happy to see him receive this national recognition."

Rich has been besieged with college offers from Boston College, Army, Navy, Columbia, Penn State, U. of Connecticut and U. of Massachusetts among those contacting him.

Rich, who still has another year at Quincy, also plays basketball and is a weight man for the track team.

The magazine won't make its first appearance before the public until Aug. 1 and will be sold mainly through the 7-11 chain of stores which are prominent throughout the south and have many stores in the local area.

Schenkel, one of the top college and pro sportscasters in the nation, formed the all-star squad with the help of a nation-wide staff.

"He received the help of a lot of people from all sections of the country in selecting the team," said Don Stooksberry, a spokesman for the Dallas firm publishing the magazine. "From the opinions he collected from all over the country, he selected his team."

The magazine is also selecting all-college and all-pro teams and is doing stories on drugs in relation to the athlete, exploitation of the athlete, etc.

Menchi will receive a medallion commemorating his selection to the national all-star squad.

ARE YOU A NO. 4½ or NO. 6

or....
ARE YOU A NO. 2 or NO. 5½?

Siesta Sleep Shops—the bedding specialists—have a recognized mattress firmness index, numbered from 2 through 6—No. 2 is the softest mattress, through No.6, the extra, extra firm mattress (we call it "extreme firmness"). You will find these numbered mattresses on display for you to discover the firmness most satisfying to your own personal comfort. Most manufacturers contradict themselves when they put "extra Firm" on one mattress and then "extra Firm" on another and it is much less firm.

So come to Siesta Sleep Shop. We have your number. No obligation to buy. Lie down and you'll quickly catch on-are you a #4½ or a #6?

Fate Of 1,500 Unknown

Red Cross Sponsors 'Write Hanoi' Campaign

An estimated 1,500 U. S. servicemen are being held prisoners or are missing in action in Southeast Asia.

Their families live with the uncertainty of their fate. Are they alive or dead? And, if they are alive how are they being treated?

Imagine, if you can, what it is like to be married to a man missing in action--not knowing whether you are a wife or a widow.

Or imagine a child not knowing what his father looks like or if he even has a father anymore.

Or imagine a father or mother raising a son and then being separated from him for years--without a single word.

How many of the 1,500 are prisoners? And how are they being treated? Only North Vietnam knows and it won't say.

A new "Write Hanoi" campaign is underway by the American Red Cross urging Americans to write to the President of North Vietnam expressing their indignation over that country's treatment of U. S. prisoners.

The Quincy Red Cross Chapter is sponsoring a "Write Hanoi" campaign on the local front.

"No matter what political views each individual American has about war, all are in agreement that something must be done about treatment of prisoners as set forth by the Geneva Convention," says Irving J. Boyes, chairman of the Quincy Red Cross Chapter.

He notes that the Geneva Convention agreement--to which North Vietnam is a signatory--calls for:

- --Prompt identification of prisoners.
- --Adequate diet and medical care.
- --Communications with other prisoners and their families at home.
- --Prompt repatriation if seriously sick or wounded.
- --Protection from abuse or reprisals.

--Free access to prisoners and their place of detention by such a neutral intermediary as the all-Swiss International Committee of the Red Cross.

Boyes urges that letters protesting the treatment of American servicement be sent to the following address:

Office of the President
Democratic Republic of Vietnam
Hanoi, North Vietnam

Airmail letters weighing one-half ounce or less should carry 25 cents in postage.

Don't under estimate the power of your letter.

The pen can still be mightier than the sword.

Send a letter to North Vietnam.

Right now hundreds of Americans are being held captive in North Vietnam.

A few prisoners have made it back. They talk about bamboo cages. Vicious beatings. Malnutrition. Humiliation.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing. And it's this silence that makes our appeal more urgent.

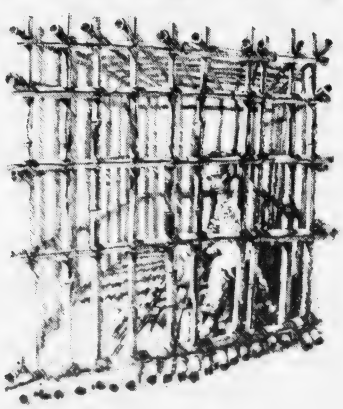
For the families at home, there is no word on who's alive. Who's dead. Or even who's being held. There is nothing. Except the anguish of not knowing.

Maybe you can change this. By writing to the one man who can change it: The President of North Vietnam.

Ask him to release the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and let the Red Cross inspect the prisons to insure proper medical treatment and living conditions.

Remind him that he is bound by the 1949 Geneva Convention which his country signed. And by the Istanbul resolution.

North Vietnamese leaders do care about American public opinion. And if they think they can gain something by bowing to it, they will.



But one letter won't do it. Or a thousand. Maybe it will take millions. So we've got to write now. All of us. And often.

Write a letter tonight. And send it to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

It'll cost you a quarter. But it might save a life.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS

15 Help Spruce Up Black's Creek

Black's Creek marshland, for two Saturday's received a beautifying "face-lifting" by 15 students working under the supervision of Bernard C. Moore of the Quincy Conservation Committee.

The students pulled out and helped load several trucks with assorted debris in the Fenno St. section of the marsh.

The next group cleanup, in which citizens of all ages are invited to participate, is scheduled for Sept. 12.

Students included Joel Devlin, Madeline Falcetta, Matthew Kenney, Michael Leith, Patricia Rugo, Bart Petracca, Cathy Ilacqua, Billy Kiley, Maureen McGrahan, Jay Williams, David Colletti, Daniel Kenney, Larry Lainge, Brenda Shore and Irene Yee.

Marshall Endorses Bill For Elder Affairs Office

Rep. Clifford H. Marshall [D-Quincy] at a hearing Tuesday before the Social Welfare Committee endorsed a bill which, if passed, will create an executive office of elder affairs headed by a cabinet level secretary.

The petition is a late bill filed by Speaker David Bartley, Rep. John Desmond of Lowell and Senate President Maurice Donahue.

Marshall, said that the Bureau of Aging should be taken away from the Department of Community Affairs and lifted to a full departmental status with complete autonomy. He declared:

"The Senior Citizens of the Commonwealth deserve a departmental unit that will concern itself only with their problems and help the senior citizens achieve independency when their rights and benefits are at stake," said Marshall.

"This bill will empower the Secretary of Elder Affairs to take over such matters as Old Age and Disability Assistance from the Welfare Department, inspection of nursing homes from the Public Health, and construction of housing for the elderly and transportation services for the elderly from the Department of Community Affairs."

On The Screen
By
Vincent Puleo

SUGAR RAY ROBINSON plays a policeman in his next film, "WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO ABOUT SKIPPER." The former boxing great of the 40's and 50's made his acting debut in a similar role a few years back in the FRANK SINATRA starred "THE DETECTIVE". In between screen assignments SUGAR RAY has been keeping himself busy with off-Broadway acting jobs... Show business is nothing new to the man whom many have called the best fighter pound for pound in the ring. Even while he was chasing ring riches and glory, ROBINSON was involved. Back around 1953 he debuted a song and dance act on the ED SULLIVAN SHOW... It would be a good idea if some enterprising producer were to bring his life story to the screen. ROBINSON'S recent autobiography was quite revealing as it gave one an indepth insight into the man behind the legend...

The wealthiest personality in Hollywood? BOB HOPE by several millions. A trade magazine, published this past month, estimated his total holdings in the vicinity of $700 million... Actor STUART WHITMAN placed a distant last on the "money" survey list with a meager $40 million... "AIRPORT", and "BONNIE and CLYDE" have two things in common, aside from being motion pictures. Both films were most unceremoniously panned by the majority of nation wide film critics; but were enthusiastically received and supported by the word of mouth praise of the public [who are after all the only real judges of a pictures' real worth]...

JANE FONDA continues her one-woman anti-war crusade with all the fervor and gusto of a 20th century Joan of Arc. The star of last season's surprise hit, "THEY SHOOT HORSES DON'T THEY?", is paying the price of free speech by drawing heavy fire from the Silent Majority whom feel that her liberal wordage is all too UN-American. Un-American? Who do they think they're kidding?

CHARLTON HESTON has two motion pictures now running concurrently in Boston. They are "BENEATH THE PLANET OF THE APES", which is a sequel to "PLANET OF THE APES", and "THE HAWAIIANS", a 19th century continuation of JAMES A. MICHENER'S epic best seller, "Hawaii". The sequel to "APES" doesn't leave one as satisfied as the original [do sequels ever?]... "THE HAWAIIANS" on the other hand is an excellent histriography of the white mans exploitation of the natives of that emerald island. HESTON gives one of the most powerful performances of his long career, and gets able support from co-stars GERALDINE CHAPLIN and JOHN PHILIP LAW... LAW is presently in the mountains of Peru starring along with PETER FONDA in a DENNIS HOPPER directed western which promises to go beyond the limits of violence as we know it to be... In his short career JOHN PHILIP has appeared in films with some heavy talent. This promising Hollywood rebel of the new school co-starred with JANE FONDA in "BARBARELLA", and had a supporting role as a confused soldier in the ROD STEIGER starred "THE SERGEANT"... As of this writing STEIGER is in Russia completing footage for his next film concerning the life of Napoleon...

"TOO LATE THE HERO" is one of the best action-war movies to be screened since "THE DIRTY DOZEN". Academy Award winner CLIFF ROBERTSON and British actor MICHAEL CAINE sustain their roles throughout with realistically grim determination... CLINT EASTWOOD, DON RICKLES and TELLY SAVALAS do their bit for peace in the war-comedy "KELLY'S HEROES". The story involves a group of men more involved with stealing gold boullion than killing Germans. Also in the talent-laden cast is DON SUTHERLAND... Can a bunch of mixed-up HELL'S ANGELS running wild up and down the Cambodian countryside on their motorcyles defeat the Viet Cong? Such is the bizaarly muddled plot of "THE LOSERS". This one is strictly for mixed-up adolescents as the film is just what the title infers it to be - a "LOSER"...

JACQUELINE BISSET does more than her share of bedhopping in "THE GRASSHOPPERS". Her compatriots in this nonsensical farce include JIM BROWN and JOSEPH COTTON... THE BROOKLYN BRIDGE supply the musical backdrop in this one... "MANNIX" continues to be one of the better presentations on television. Especially since the producers have gone more with a strong script, and eased off with the violence... As some of you may recall "MANNIX" was one of those shows of a few seasons back which drew considerable fire for its' misguided emphasis on the "over kill" aspect of violence that it utilized all too freely in the weekly scripts...

Not all actors find their calling in life at an early age. Such an individual is BURT LANCASTER, winner of the Best Actor Award in 1960 for his moving performance in "ELMER GANTRY". LANCASTER is considered somewhat of a Hollywood phenomenon. With an acting background of just three weeks in a Broadway flop that brought him considerably fine notices, he became a movie star with his first film, "THE KILLERS", which was made in 1946... And this at the age of 32, not in his 20's like a good many big stars... Unlike some thespians who all their life have a compulsive urge to perform, the flamboyant LANCASTER had a varied and colorful pre-film career before deciding acting was his forte... He was a circus athlete for five years; spent three years in the Army during World War II, and tried a variety of occupations, from boiler maker to department-store floorwalker before setting his sights on acting as a career...

'Other People Have Your Problem'

Frequently I am asked..."Did you ever hear of such a mess before?...Do other people get into such conditions as this?" The answers are usually "YES". While no two situations are exactly alike, our human problems tend to run in patterns. Symptoms of the underlying problem have a familiar ring. Your problem is probably the problem of many other people. Your dilemma is not unique.

Take the widow...lonely...feeling deprived of companionship...perhaps struggling to care for children on low income...there were 9,305,000 widows in the nation in 1968. There were also 2,142,000 widowers. If this is your problem you're not alone.

Take the state of unhappiness in marriage...some estimates say 75% of marriages are unhappy more than they are happy. The symptoms are physical and verbal abuse of each other...or deadly silence...unhealthy attitudes...unresolved conflict...inadequacy in sexual relationship. It is not true as someone wrote me recently that "if a couple is really in love there will be no sex problem." Love is not enough to make a happy marriage...it takes a liking of each other as well...a meeting of each other's needs...a lot of adjusting...a lot of sharing of feelings.

Take the three destroyers...fear...guilt...grief...about which Dr. Liebmann wrote so helpfully in "Peace of Mind." There are no statistics but not many people are completely free of these destroyers of our inner peace. You're not alone if you're afraid of people...nor if you feel guilty for going through your husband's brief case [you probably should feel guilty about it.] You're not alone in grieving for a son who has been killed in Vietnam...there are 43,000 other families who feel this grief...and 250,000 whose boys who have been maimed in this useless...damnable war. Your anger about it mixed with your grief for the loss of a son is an awful burden...but you're not alone.

Take the problem of involvement with a third party...commonly called "an affair". Again...no statistics but it is a problem Often it is a symptom of a home problem...lack of needs being met...a sort of running away without resolving...in many instances unsatisfactory...yet compelling because the situation with your partner is unfilling and intolerable.

Take the problem of having grown up without a father. It is a problem for many people. It leaves an adult woman without the experience of knowing how to relate to a man...leaves a man without a sense of manliness and not knowing how to treat a woman...often too much mother and therefore a mama's boy. Lots of you out there. You're not alone.

These are common problems...as adults we're struggling with life...too often not recognizing our childhood origin...nor the common bond with others with the same problems.

The first thing we need to avoid is feeling that we are martyrs...the "poor me" attitude will not solve any problem. Furthermore, avoid projecting blame. Recognize that my own inadequacy...my own poor judgment...or just the accidents of life [and death] have led me to where I am. Don't try to put a white hat on yourself and a black hat on your partner. Get yourself into a growing posture.

Radical changes are possible in life patterns at any age. Just because others are mired down in your same kind of problem doesn't mean that you need to settle down in the mire. Sieze the handles of life...take the risk which calls forth the latent qualities you haven't used before. You might even be an inspiration to otheres who have your problem.

10 A.M. Children's Program At Adams Shore

The children's program at the Adams Shore Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library will be held at 10 a.m. each day during the week of July 6, except Monday when the branch is closed. Story hour conducted by Mrs. Blanche Eckert is postponed to Wednesday.

Children are asked to bring library cards to the programs so that they may borrow books at that time. Many new books were added during the month of June, according to Miss Betty Santangelo, branch librarian.

Another new addition to the library is a machine which duplicates not only pages from books but most other items.

State Street Bank Transfers Land To City For $1

Mayor James R. McIntyre has sent thanks from the city to Trustees of the SSB Realty Trust for transferring, for $1, a 5,000 square foot-plus parcel of land adjacent to the new State Street South project in North Quincy.

The land, in effect, was deeded to the City free.

"We are particularly happy," said Mayor McIntyre, "that as a result of this conveyance, Harriet Ave. can now be built as part of the North Quincy Improvement Program with no charge to abutters, and that this action will insure North Quincy residents a substantial buffer zone between them and the complex at State Street South."

In a letter to the trustees, Mayor McIntyre said:

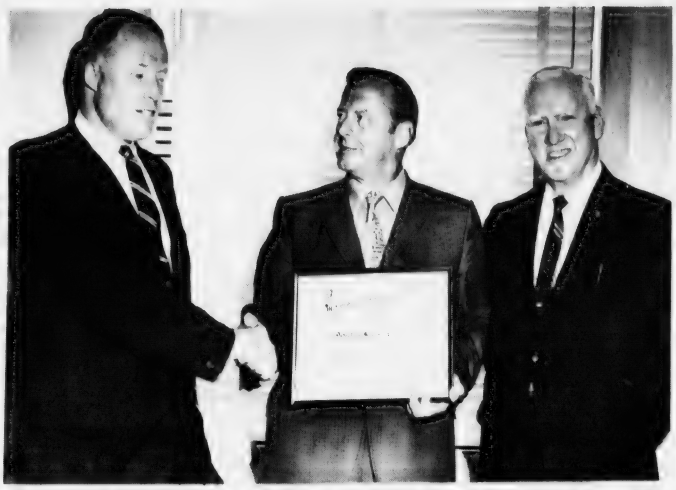
"Your conveyance evidences a genuine concern for the people of Quincy, and I hope that, in the coming development at State Street South, the State Street Bank and Trust Company will continue to hold the interests and well-being of Quincy and of her citizens in high regard."

$75,000 Grant Approved For Germantown Recreation

A grant of $75,000 has been awarded to Quincy by the Department of Housing and Urban Development for an open space land program, announces U. S. Rep. James A. Burke and Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

The application for federal assistance made by Mayor James R. McIntyre was approved by Richard M. Doherty, executive director of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council.

The proposed nine-acre project is located in lower Germantown. It will be developed into a Little League baseball field, swimming and picnic facilities with installation of slides, swings and other recreational equipment.



It includes acquisition of waterfront land and development of a beach on Weymouth Fore River near Weymouth Harbor.

Quincy League Members To Tour Boston Harbor

A boat trip study of the water quality and land use of Boston Harbor and its islands by the Quincy League of Women Voters and their friends is tentatively scheduled for July 9.

Some 20 women have indicated their interest in the study with a view to joining the Boston LWV in an ad hoc committee to take action on matters affecting Boston Harbor, according to Mrs. Douglas Randall who is planning the trip with the assistance of Mrs. Albert Benzaquin.

Laurence H. Mattie has offered the use of his boat for the day, and the group will leave from the Snug Harbor Marina at Quincy Point.

COMMENDED--MDC Detective Leo Q. Papile of Quincy receives congratulations from MDC Commissioner John W. Sears, and MDC Police Supt. William McCarthy, for playing a major role in solving the shooting of a fellow MDC officer and in clearing an innocent man arrested for the crime.

Quincy MDC Detective Cited

MDC Detective Leo Q. Papile of 85 Quincy Shore Drive is one of four MDC police officers to receive high departmental honors from MDC Commissioner John W. Sears.

The four worked around-the-clock to solve the shooting of MDC Officer Edward G. Sullivan of the Charles River Upper Division on Jan. 12, 1970. Their teamwork cleared an innocent suspect, resulted in the recovery of the gun used in the shooting and the arrest of three men, all subsequently indicted.

Early in the case the detectives had arrested a suspect who had been identified by an eyewitness. Not satisfied, however, they had the right man, the detectives pressed their investigation until evidence proved the man innocent.

City Gets $351,366 For Seven Vocational Projects

The sum of $351,366 for seven vocational projects of the Quincy Public Schools has been approved by the Division of Occupational Education of the State Department of Education.

Requests for the projects were initiated by Maurice J. Daly, assistant superintendent for Vocational-Technical Education. The money will be used to improve and extend vocational and occupational education in Quincy. Programs include:

●--Basic Vocational Program to provide education and activities at junior and senior high school level to acquaint students with appreciation of occupations to enhance vocational decisions. Guidance, evaluation and vocational preparation for large groups of students, as well as disadvantaged students, is included in the program.

●--A Cooperative Vocational Work-Study program to provide part-time employment for students who otherwise might normally leave school for financial or other reasons. It will also provide vocational education programs for disadvantaged students who might not benefit from full time vocational educational programs.

●--A Health Assistant Program, a new day school program for students in grades 11 and 12, in addition to the regular para-professional programs already operating in Vocational-Technical School. It will prepare young people for employment as health aides in hospitals, public health services and private medical offices. This will also be a preparatory program for students who might wish to enter the fields of practical nursing, surgical technology, dental assisting, or other para-professional occupations.

●--Library Aide, for junior and senior high school students intending to become aides to professional librarians. It will provide a basis for further education in specialized library science in education after high school

●--Commercial Art Display and Photography, an expansion of the Commercial Art Program conducted in Vocational-Technical School now. It will prepare high school students for employment in this field.

●--Curriculum Development, for continued support of curriculum efforts developed over the past five years, designed to prepare students for employment and in assisting them in making informed occupational choices.

The development and integration of these programs is a task of the Quincy Public Schools administration staff, Daly says, and work will begin so that several programs can be started this fall.

People's Day Rock Concert Sunday

A People's Day Rock Concert for people of all ages is planned for Sunday [July 12] from noon to 4 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Statium.

Admission to the event, sponsored by The People's Day Committee, is free.

"Ball", "Parallel", and "Dagmar" will be featured. All are volunteering their talents.

Funds for rental of the stadium for four hours and services of a policeman totalling $400 have been advanced by a group of teenagers, all of whom are now "broke", according to Pat Williams, their spokesman. It is hoped that a barrel for donations placed at the stadium entrance will help them recoup their money.

Purpose of the afternoon is "to get people together to have some fun and to enjoy the music," the People's Day Committee says.

The idea of having a free rock concert in Quincy was brought up last summer. This year a group of both young people and adults got together about a month ago and decided on action. The People's Day Committee, a non-profit organization was formed, and Sunday's concert is the result of their action.

Information may be obtained from Miss Williams of 25 Ames St., Joseph O'Jen, Roberta Rosen or Peter Singlerkis.

Robert Bell Presented Hugh Simpson Award

An additional scholarship awarded at North Quincy High School was the Hugh Simpson Memorial Scholarship award, presented to Robert W. Bell of the graduating class.

You Can Get Your Mail On Vacation

George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District, recommends the following guide lines to postal patrons to assure proper mail delivery during the vacation period:

Contact your letter carrier regarding the period of your absence. A change of address card may be obtained from the carrier or at your local post offices. Complete and return the change of address card at an early date, before going on vacation to provide the necessary information for the post office to correctly forward all mail during this period.

In providing forwarding summer addresses, the name of the post office through which mail is to be received must be furnished along with the correct Zip Code. Using the name of a resort or local area designation is not a sufficient address.

Following these few basic rules will not only deliver your mail correctly but would, Walker pointed out, prevent the possible loss of mail from the home receptacle and eliminate the accumulation of mail at homes, a sure sign of occupant absence to the potential house breaker.

Have a safe, happy vacation and help your post office to "Deliver the Mail".

Henry Smith To Graduate From U. Of Cincinnati

STATE OF THE STATE

by Governor Francis W. Sargent

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

This month we observe the 195th Anniversary of the Independence of our nation. These are indeed days of importance for America, for our Commonwealth. These are days of decision, days of destiny.

A better America tomorrow requires a sound America today. We must build on the foundations of our past, not the rubble of ruined institutions.

We cannot hope to achieve a better America by wrecking a troubled America.

Crisis and confrontation, as tools of change, can only result in repression and collision. And in this there are no winners.

America will not tolerate violence in these demanding days.

Democracy demands order and dialogue and reason.

We are caught up today in an urge for excellence. This hunger for quality is a blessing for all of us. It can be made real only if we are true to this, America's vital creative force.

Our problems are man-made, therefore they can be resolved by the will of man.

Ultimately, we will stand or fall on the answer to this question: Can we make the democratic process work effectively in America?

To find out the answer, we need order and justice. Then we need communication. And, finally, plain hard work.

To achieve our vision of a better America means better Americans are needed. The student, the parent, the worker, the elderly, all have a place and a role in the reshaping of this land.

Yet, however necessary the dialogue, wild-eyed rhetoric will get us no where. More than ever we do need dialogue and understanding. But we cannot hope to understand the problems before us if we cannot and will not understand one another.

Understanding is the key to true communication. I appeal for understanding among all our citizens. I appeal for moderation and an avoidance of the shrillness that drowns out the dialogue now essential.

All have a stake in the future of the nation and the Commonwealth. All have a right to speak of this future and of the problems we must overcome if we are to be blessed with its rewards.

I say all have a right to speak. But all should say something worth hearing. Most of us do have something worth saying. But it should be said with consideration, with conciliation.

No longer is there room for fiat, bellowed forth from whatever forum, accompanied by violence and threats of violence.

Lasting communication that will best insure the fulfillment of a better America and a better Commonwealth, will be that which is best reasoned, best articulated, best planned.

All of these ingredients are vital to America's future. They apply equally to the future of our Commonwealth. In the days and months ahead, much can be accomplished if only we can work in true harmony, with respect for one another.

We know where many of our problems are rooted. Now let us go forth and resolve them together.

> "We cannot hope to understand the problems before us if we cannot and will not understand one another."

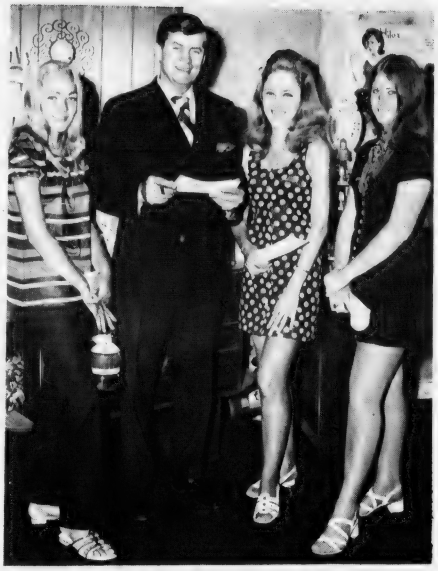
Parcel Post Size Limit Increased

The parcel post size limit has been increased to 78 inches in combined length and girth for most shipments between first-class post offices, Officer-in-Charge, George K. Walker, announces.



The weight limit for most parcenls sent from Boston to other first-class offices will remain at 40 pounds.

The weight and size limits on certain agricultural items as well as parcels sent to or from smaller offices, rural or star routes, military post offices, and all Alaskan and Hawaiian post offices stat at 70 pounds; with a combined length and girth of 100 inches, Walker said.

Public Law 89-593 authorized the postal service to increase, in five steps, the weight and size limits on shipments between larger cities. When the final step is taken July 1, 1971, the size limit for most shipments will be increased to 84 inches in length and girth.

In addition to providing service for larger parcels, the Post Office Department is building specialized facilities for handling parcel post and other bulk mail in a number of major transportation centers across the nation.

By providing separate facilities for letter mail and bulk items, the Department has found, parcels can be handled more quickly and more economically.

"MISS QUINCY BAY RACE WEEK"--Contestants Jean Howard of Vane St., Quincy, Sue Gibbons of Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy, and Sarah Murphy of Braintree sign up for competition with Charles B. Wood, of South Shore Beauty Supplies, chairman of the contest committee. The contest will be held July 17 as a feature of the Quincy "Sidewalk Bazaar", July 16, 17, 18.

Few Candidates File As Nomination Deadline Nears

With the deadline rapidly approaching, only a relatively few candidates had filed nomination papers in Quincy by mid-week for county office, state senator and representative.

Deadline for filing papers for county office, state representative and senate is 5 p.m., July 14, reminds City Clerk John M. Gillis.

Deadline for filing papers for state wide office and Congress is July 21, at 5 p.m.

Those who have filed so far include:

--Congressman James A. Burke, for re-election, 11th Congressional District.

--Kathleen Ryan Dacey of Milton, for Lieutenant Governor.

--Rep. Joseph E. Brett, for re-election.

--Francis X. Bellotti, of Quincy, for Governor.

--James A. Shannon, 22 Endicott St., for Register of Deeds.

--John P. Concannon, for re-election, Clerk of Courts.

--Rep. Arthur H. Tobin, for re-election.

--Kevin P. O'Connell, for Governor.

--Councillor J. Vincent Smyth, for representative.

--Patrick J. McDonough, Governor's Councillor, for re-election.

--Sen. James R. McIntyre, for re-election.

--Barry T. Hannon, Register of Deeds.

Squantum Honors Cliff Mason, Late Fr. Edward Sullivan

Cliff Mason of Mason's Point, 84 on July 3 and acclaimed Squantum's "outstanding citizen", headed up the annual July 4th parade as honorary chief marshal.

First prize for large floats was awarded the CYO of Star of the Sea Church for "Salute to Father Ed", circus performers in a tribute to the late Rev. Edward Sullivan, pastor and famed "circus priest".

Second and third awards went to Shoreham Street's "Snow White" entry and "The Flintstones", with Judy Badger in charge.

"The Flat Tires", a combo group from Knollwood Rd took the stake truck prize, while in miscellaneous floats, "The First Flag", designed by William Shalit was in first place. Other awards went to "The Flower Fairy", Mrs. Fields, and "U-SSR" designed by Mrs. Robert Harrow.

In the children's section of the parade, prizes went to Terry Kelly for "Mistress Mary", Joseph McGurl, Janet Fallon, Karl Nelson and Anthony Green, individual prizes.

In the "double's" category, "Capt. Hook and Crocodile" took first place for John and Karen Barrette. Other awards were received by Judy Stalker and Mary Damon, Kathleen Holland and Ann Marie Schofield, Kristin and Colleen Berger, Lynn Furtado and J. Mallett.

The Barbershop Quartet consisting of four Holland children and one Schofield received first prize in group competition. Other winners were Cathy and John Reney with Laura, Nancy and Danny Bishop, Jean Marie Teoples and Joan Coyne; B. Santino, J. Gori and K. Pratt; the Player children; and Donna Miller, Maria and Beth McGurl, Billy and Laurie Ryan.

Robert Connolly and Ross Crane were co-chairmen for the program; Mrs. Janet Hickey, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Sheridan, secretary; and Don Pound, in charge of collections.

A "Bread Wagon" collection during the parade topped by $100 the $500 goal set to meet expenses.

Miss Quincy Race Week Entry Deadline Saturday

Saturday is the deadline to enter the "Miss Quincy Bay Week" contest.

The crowning of the beauty contest winner will be a highlight of Quincy's "Sidewalk Bazaar" promotion July 16, 17 and 18.

South Shore area girls, unmarried and between the ages of 16 and 25, are eligible to enter the contest and to win the honor of reigning over Quincy Bay Race Week Aug. 5-9.

The winner will be selected July 17 in a contest to be held July 17 at 9:15 p.m. on a portable boardwalk in front of the Hancock Bank in downtown Quincy.

Applications may be obtained from the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce and from Charles B. Wood, South Shore Beauty Supply, 1612 Hancock St., chairman of the contest committee.

They are also available at Massachusetts Bay Yacht clubs and at stores and business firms participating in the "Sidewalk Bazaar" promotion.

A photo should accompany the application. If the applicant has no photo, arrangements will be made to have one taken.

44 AFS Students In Quincy Visit

Tuesday 44 AFS International Scholarship students arrived at Quincy Voc-Tech School's parking area for a five-day visit with Quincy families.

A home was offered for each student, reports Carmine D'Olimpio who is helping with accomodations, and all but three are in Quincy.

Yesterday the Merrymount Association provided use of its beach for a swim party, and last night the teenagers presented a variety show at the Quincy YMCA, open to the public.

Today [Thursday] and Saturday the students will go to Wellesley College to evaluate their year in the United States -- to discuss what they liked, what they didn't like.

Sunday the group will leave for home, some by way of Washington, D.C., others from Florida.

Three Schools Visual Subject At London

Activities at Adams School, Quincy Vocational-Technical School and the Quincy School will be featured in photographs and slides at an International-Visual Aids Conference in London the third week in July.

David Smeeton, correspondent for the British Broadcasting Corporation, requested information from Quincy Schools Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon on the Quincy Public Schools for a presentation he will make at the conference. Smeeton visited the Quincy Schools in 1968.

Materials reflecting education in Quincy were prepared by Arthur Gillis, acting director of Library Services, and forwarded to the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Pauline Colton Receives 300 Pounds Clothing For Needy

"More than enough and more than I expected," says VISTA volunteer Pauline Colton of the supply of used clothing left for her by Quincy residents at the Houghs Neck Fire Station.

Close to 300 pounds of clothing for children and their parents were packed into eight pliable plastic "leaf bags" and loaded into her 1963 sedan for the return trip on Monday to Cincinnati, Ohio.

The 22-year old girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Colton of 79 Lenox St., asked help for underprivileged children and adults in the Over-the-Rhine section of Cincinnati where she now lives and works for VISTA.

Here Comes The Bride

Invitations

One of the longest and most involved subjects in regards to weddings is the invitation. In todays' column I will give you general information and if you have any questions write to me in care of the Quincy Sun.

Do get the best paper you can afford. Ivory is the most formal. There are several different types of print which your stationer will show you. Select one that is easily read in black ink. Engraving can be very expensive. If it is beyond your budget use engraveofect. As the word indicates it gives the effect of engraving and few people can tell the difference but your pocketbook will know the difference.

Then addressing the envelopes, again use black ink. Write carefully and clearly. With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. do not use abreviations. You may use a return address written neatly on the upper left corner or back flap. This was once tabu by leading authorities but is now accepted as correct.

All invitations come with two envelopes. The larger one has a gummed flap and is addressed with the full name and address. The slightly smaller one is the inside envelope and is addressed Mr. and Mrs. Doe, omitting first name and address. If other members of the family are to be invited and are under age their first names are added below. Never use the phrase "and family".

May I deviate a bit here and say to guests, if your children's names are not on the inner envelope then they are not invited. I am sure the bride and her family mean no offense by excluding them but the line has to be drawn someplace and a wedding is really an adult affair.

Now, back to invitations.

The invitation is folded once with wording on outside. Reception and respond cards are inserted in center fold. The invitation and cards are then inserted into INSIDE envelope with the fold down and page one facing the back of envelope.

Insert the INSIDE envelope with the name facing the back of OUTSIDE envelope and seal. Place your stamp neatly in position and they are ready to mail.

Do start this task as early as possible, writing a few each day. Checking addresses and spellings can become a chore, especially if left to the last minute. Mail three to four weeks before wedding date.

Pray World

By
Margaret DeAngelo

Dear Lord, please give this land of ours
An everlasting peace -
Where men will trust each other
And Greed and Hatred cease.

Give to every man a garden,
A true mate by his side.
Some noisy, happy children,
A home where love abides.

Let each man have a reason
To plan for each new day.
Help him to pray together
In a most peaceful way.

And Lord, in this great time of need -
Please let our men be free,
To work each day in one accord
And keep their faith in THEE.

The Wind

How free the wind is as I often wish to be
The way it whistles through leaves of trees and plays tenderly with the hair of a young child while running through a field of clover.
It carries the clouds along the skies and takes them from one place to another.
It brings peace of mind to someone who is bewildered by the world that surrounds him.
Just by listening to the wind, you'll find that it whispers answers to your questions
Free, Free as the Wind.
Perhaps someday I will be as Free as the wind to go my own way,
And not become bewildered by the world that surrounds me.
Yes, Free as the wind perhaps, some day.

Raspberry Appetizers For Brunch

As refreshing and bright as spring, these sparkling Raspberry Breakfast Appetizers take honors at a morning brunch.

Jewel-like raspberries, just barely defrosted, are nestled in halves of delicately flavored canned pears. The combined raspberry and pear syrups are highlighted with lime juice and white wine. Thin slices of lime and sprigs of mint or watercress add a pretty garnish.

Frozen raspberries have an enticing fresh flavor that adds a special touch to glistening salads and sumptuous desserts. The selection of only the very choice Northwest-grown raspberries and excellent freezing techniques guarantee a superior product throughout the year.

Raspberry Breakfast Appetizers

2 (10 oz.) packages frozen raspberries
1 (1 lb.) can Bartlett pears
⅓ cup white wine
2 tablespoons lime juice
Lime slices
Sprigs of watercress or mint

Thaw raspberries until barely defrosted. Drain, reserving syrup. Drain pears, reserving ½ cup syrup. Place pear halves in 6 individual serving dishes. Spoon raspberries over pears. Combine fruit syrups, wine and lime juice. Pour over fruit. Garnish with thin slices of lime and sprigs of watercress or mint. Serves 6.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

If you are nosy like I am, you won't think anything of peering into someone else's shopping cart to see what's cooking at their house for dinner.

In my career as a cart-watcher I have noted that overweight ladies often are toting around carriages that are overburdened with cookies, crispy snacks and other unmentionables, whereas the thin ladies are more apt to make the produce department their hangout with choice purchases of fresh fruits and vegetables.

My own cart has gone through an evolution which mirrors my shape. Gone are the broken bags of potato chips, gone are the half eaten candy bars which used to be placed on the checkout counter...their places have been taken by skimmed milk and low calorie sodas. Gone, too, is the fat lady who used to wheel that cart. She has been replaced by the real "me"–the one who was waiting all those years to make her debut.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Strawberry Chiffon Tarts

2 Egg Whites
1 Teaspoon Vanilla
2-3 Packets Sweet 'N Low
1 Packet Sweet 'N Low

Allow egg whites to come to room temperature. Beat until stiff and dry. Add 2-3 packets Sweet 'N Low and continue beating until whites hold their shape. Add vanilla. Carefully fold in 1 packet Sweet 'N Low. Shape into six 3" solid rings. Bake for 50 minutes in slow 250 degree oven. Remove from oven. Carefully remove from paper and crush centers. Store in dry place.

FILLING:

1 Cup Evaporated Skim Milk
1½ Cups Boiling Water
2 Packages Strawberry Gelatine, Dietetic
1 Cup Crushed Fresh Strawberries

Chill bowl and beaters. Pour evaporated milk into ice cube tray and chill until crystals form. Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Chill until thickened but not set. Add strawberries. Beat skim milk until stiff, lightly fold in gelatine mixture. Scoop into meringue shells and chill well. Keep in refrigerator. Entire recipe contains 1 ounce of protein, 2 milk servings and 2 fruits.

Sun Signs

By Regina Russell

Week of July 10-17

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - You may want to put some of your good ideas in motion this week but be careful, an error in judgement could cost you money.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Guard your speech when on the job, things said now could be regretted later. Consult with older people, as they are on your side.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Older people are willing to aid you financially. Respect their confidence in you but avoid risky ventures and schemes.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Upsurge of energy helps formulate plans but look for errors before presenting new ideas at work. Don't be over-confident.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - You will need plenty of energy for all the tasks at home base - ask for a helping hand if you find that time is running out.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Your thoughtfulness will be appreciated by friends or relatives if you take charge of travel plans and save them money.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Put your ideas involving travel to work and correct errors that are causing waste. Difficulties with money matters cannot be ignored.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nove. 21] - Combining travel and intrigue at this time is not good. Instead of wasting your efforts, be philosophical and go along with others.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Put some of those good ideas to work for personal advancement. Friends may be wasting your time and delaying you.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - There may be more responsibilities involving children, and you can feel out-of-sorts and discontented because of low vitality.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You have been going through a slow period of your life as you get yourself reorganized and readjusted. Have patience with ambitions.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Those people you think are friends may be planning some treachery against you so watch carefully and take responsibilities seriously.

Decorating Tips

Install A Luxury Wall In Minutes

Until recently only a fortunate few could afford hand-rubbed, hand-carved, custom-crafted wood paneling. But now it is possible for the do-it-yourselfer to achieve that custom look easily and inexpensively with new self-adhesive, fully-dimensional vinyl panels . . . so authentic in design and detail, you can't tell them from the real thing.

Patterned in Spanish Classic, French Provincial and Colonial motifs, these "sculptured wood" panels, used dado height or as a full wall treatment, offer a wide variety of decorating possibilities for every room in the house. By merely peeling off the backing paper and pressing these 12" x 24" self-adhesive panels to the wall, you can create a country simple or ultra elegant atmosphere.

These designer panels are as easy to care for as they are to install. Grease and stain resistant, their washable surface wipes clean with a damp cloth, retaining the appearance of Old World craftsmanship indefinitely.

They can be found in paint, hardware or department stores; or write to Decro-wall, Executive Blvd., Elmsford, N.Y. 10523, for a full-color booklet on this and other decorating ideas.

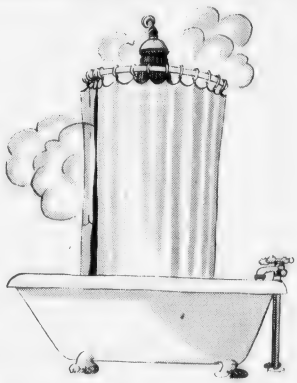
Dean Alvah Borman To Address Quincy Young GOP Club July 14

Quincy area Republicans and Independents are invited to attend a meeting of the Quincy Young Republican Club July 14.

Dean Alvah Borman, Assistant Dean of Co-op Education at Northeastern University, will present a conservative viewpoint on today's issues at the 8 p.m. meeting at the Quincy YMCA.



Kathy Roberts, president of the Quincy club, extends a special invitation to Republicans and Independents between the ages of 18 and 40 to attend.

New England Electric System Net Income Up $864,000

New England Electric System reports consolidated net income for the first five months of $14,435,000, an increase of $864,000 over the comparable period last year.

This is equal to per share earnings of 98 cents, up six cents from a year ago. Per share earnings for the 12 months ended May were $2.02 compared to $1.91 for the 1969 comparable period.

President Robert F. Krause said the continuing improvement in earnings can be traced to gains in both electric and gas revenues as well as lower power costs resulting from the operation of the company's new generating unit at Somerset.

SUMMERTIME IS SHOWERTIME

Hot Showers are great anytime of the year. But people seem to enjoy them even more during the summer. With an electric water heater there's always a ready supply of hot water on hand. And because it operates independently there's no need to run a big, bulky furnace just for hot water. Costs only about $1 a week for the average family. You can even rent the water heater for only $2 a month.

PROMOTING AMERICANISM--Carmine A. DiRamio, president of the Quincy Police Betterment Association, presents to Mayor James R. McIntyre an American Flag pen, visible symbol of the association's drive to promote Americanism. Looking on are Police Officers William O'Keefe and Richard Mendall.

Police Assn. Distributes Flag Pens

American Flag pens, a visible "symbol of freedom", is being presented to each member of the Quincy Police Betterment Association in its drive to promote Americanism.

The flag has imprinted on its barrel the Pledge of Allegiance.

Carmen A. DiRamio, association president, pointed out that the Quincy association is the first police association to present its members with the pen, which he asked that they wear with "Pride and honor".

He urged that they "remain strong in your principles and beliefs and in your loyalty and dedication to the American flag", and be the leaders in the movement to set a good example for others.

Bellotti Hits Sargent On County Plan

"Governor Sargent's proposal that the state pay the cost of county government in Massachusetts is fiscal irresponsibility", claims Francis X. Bellotti.

The Quincy Democrat and former Lieutenant Governor, made the statement as he toured Essex County in his drive for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. He declared:

"The adoption of Sargent's plan would create a mess similar to that which already exists in the Department of Public Welfare. The Governor continues to play the same old press release game hoping to fool the people. He says that the state should pay all county tax costs and yet his press release contains no provision that county budgets will be closely crutinized so that the state will not be paying for unnecessary programs.

"Under the proposal the people would still pay but from a different pocket. The fact of the matter is that the assumption of county costs by the state would be exactly the same as the assumption of welfare costs by the state - an economic nightmare."

Bellotti also noted that the Sargent proposal would include the creation of new state jobs.

"If this unsound suggestion is adopted it will be necessary to create a number of new state jobs in the Bureau of Accounts. These jobs of course would be paid for by the taxpayers. It is most interesting that Sargent makes no mention of these jobs or their cost in his press release," Bellotti concluded.

Berj Kailian Exhibit At Crane Library

The Thomas Crane Public Library during July will exhibit the works of Berj Kailian, consisting of intaglio, prints and mixed media.

Mrs. Kailian, a Weymouth resident, is a graduate of Vesper George School of Art in Boston, and attended Academie Julian in Paris while her husband was attached to the U. S. Embassy. She studied also with Donald Staltenberg at the DeCordova Museum, and with the late MacIvor Reddie of Cohasset. Her exhibits have won numerous awards at exhibits throughout the South Shore, Boston, Cambridge and Newton.

Mrs. Kailian, a member of the Weymouth and South Shore Art Associations, is part owner of the Treasure Shop Art Gallerie in Hingham. In classifying her own work, Mrs. Kailian says she belongs to the expressionist school.

Burke In Tribute To Judge Nash

The six-man jury system instituted by Judge Kenneth L. Nash is credited by Norfolk County District Attorney George G. Burke for the absence of backlog misdemeanor cases that are appealed to the Superior Court for trial by jury.

In a tribute to Judge Nash who retired recently, Burke says:

"Judge Nash is one of the finest judges that has ever served on the bench in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. As the youngest District Attorney in Massachusetts, I thought it would be difficult to work with a man who is now in his eighties. Instead, I found a man who was young in thought, who is willing to listen to recommended changes, a man who could accept modernization of administration and of the Judicial System itself."

Burke asserts that because of Judge Nash's six-man jury system, a defendant in Norfolk County can now obtain an immediate trial by a jury instead of waiting a year or two to have his case come up for trial.

Judge Nash's retirement is termed by Burke "a great loss" to the Commonwealth, and a personal loss to Burke of his "friendship, his advice and counsel."

The Sad Clown

Once upon a time there was a happy clown. He did tricks for a happy circus. But one day the clown saw another clown in his tent. He thought I have a helper. One day the clown was walking by the manager and said to the other clown your on in five minutes. The clown was very sad. He said to himself. I thought he was my helper. I guess I'll retire. He went to the tent and took off his suit. He was walking down the hall. The manager stopped him. He said where are you going? He said I'm retiring. You have a new clown. The manager said thats right but your our star. That the story of The Sad Clown.

The Four Seasons

Spring is a time when you grow flowers. Spring is when the birds start coming.

Summer is a time when you go swimming. You can camp in the summer. You can even go fishing in the summer too.

Fall is a time when leaves start to fall off your trees. Fall is a time when you have to take up the leaves and burn them.

Winter is a time when snow starts to fall. In the winter you can make snowmen. You can make forts too, keep the other kids from throughing snow balls.

Our Field Trip

On Tuesday, June 9, 1970 all the fifth graders in Wollaston School went on a boat trip to an island in Boston Harbor called George's Island. We left from Boston Harbor Marina. Edward Rowe Snow was our guide.

On George's Island we went into a corridor of Dungeons where Miss Sholler [my teacher] was supposed to be the Lady in Black. Mr. Snow opened the coffin where Miss Sholler was lying. She got up and scared me.

After that we went to a room where there was nothing at all. Someone said there was a man hanging, but all there was was a window at the other end. Everyone was screaming and you couldn't hear a thing. We climbed to the top of a tower and I took a picture overlooking the water.

On the way back we went under the Long Island Bridge, I also took a picture of that.

When we got on the dock at Boston Harbor Marina, I took a picture of Mr. Snow and thanked him.

Rosey The Bright

Charecters

Rosey	Dog
Prince Spotty	Dog
Mad Dog Stidlmen	Dog
King Mutzi	Dog
General Bark	Dog

It was a usual day in Fairytown when Blacky, Mad dog Stidelmen's nickname, captured Rosey. Of course somebody would have to notice it, not only was Rosey the brightest and prettiest person in town, but she was the king's daughter. The king's forces started out at once in search of Rosey.

Blacky could out run any other dog on the block and was the meanest except for Spotty. We pick up the story when Rosey says, "Help"! The scream could be picked up from around the next block.

"Oh shut-up", said Blacky. "You bother me too much. Go fly a kite."

Blacky was mad but Rosey thought quick, she said, "I will if you untie these knots."

Blacky was annoyed but let the remark go by.

Spotty and Rosey were in love so the minute he heard the news he was on the search for Rosey. Spotty caught up to the lead force and said, "How much evidence General".

General Bark replied, "Well we know Blacky has done it".

Spotty said, "That figures. If it was anybody, it was michief-making Blacky."

So the chase went on. Blacky came in view and he started to go faster. Blacky yelled, "Ney Ney, you can't catch me."

Rosey had to keep pace with Blacky. She stopped a sudden jerk and she was knocked out. So Blacky had to carry her.

Blacky found a hide-out and stayed there, Spotty was yelling but Rosey was knocked out and could not hear them.

King Mutzi was watch-a-vision. He said he'd give 100,000 dollars in bones for Rosey's return.

Rosey said, "Give up, it's now or never." Blacky was smart and Rosey knew it, she also knew he wouldn't go for it. She kept on telling him but he just wouldn't go for it.

Out of nowhere came Spotty, diving, twisting, turning, only to find out they weren't there. They had gone, and the chase was on. He came in sight of them again. The furious Blacky said, "You'll never catch me."

Spotty said, "I'll get you yet". Spotty poured on the speed.

It was close but Blacky just seemed to get away. The king saw this and tried to head him off. He said, "Blacky, we'll get you yet."

Blacky turned around, a feud began. Rosey saw Spotty sneaking around back, but kept quiet. Rosey bit Blacky's leg and he let out a yell. Spotty pounced on him. The king's forces pounced on him and he was soon put in the nieghbor's red toy fire engine, and soon put in the neighbor's toy jail cage.

Spotty collected 100,000 dollars in milk bones and married Rosey. He collected half of the kingdom and Mad dog Stidelmen learned that crime does not pay.

Growing Pains

Once there was a little boy who suddenly start to grow tall. He grew up so quick even his shadow could't catch up with him. He grew and grew and kept on growing. He had to get up on a chair to button his shirt. Soon the day came when the top of his head grew out through the top of his hat. His mother was very upset. She said "Heaves Sam"! You'll have to start eating lard. "What for" asked Sam. "For shortening Sams," mother answered.

Fable

One day in the Dog Pound on Seventy-Seven Street a man came in and saw a beaming collie and exclaimed, "Oh, what a beautiful dog. My daughter will love her. I'll come back tomorrow to have her released!"

However, later that day, a despondent little blonde came in. She related her tale to the man at the desk. She had lost her puppy and wanted to see if it were there. Just then her eyes dropped to the collie, her face lit up and she shouted, "I'm going home to tell Daddy to buy this dog!"

All that night the collie was bragging about how beautiful she was! The Great Dane said, "Just because a couple of people think you're beautiful, you don't have to let it go to your head! What do humans know?"

The Dalmation Dog said, "Don't be so conceited!"

The other dogs had become so disgusted they all jumped on the Collie and killed her.

Moral: Self conceit leads to self destruction.

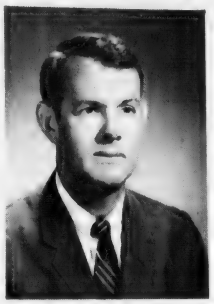
Walter Hannon To Seek Third Term

Rep. Walter J. Hannon today announced his candidacy for a third term as state representative in the Third Norfolk District comprising Quincy Wards 4, 5, and 6.



Hannon, a Republican, said he believes the office "requires a person who by training and experience can best handle the many complex problems that are facing our state today."

He said his eight years in local and state government--four as representative and four as Ward 5 city councillor--give him "the necessary knowledge and experience to cope with these challenges".

In his formal announcement, Hannon declared:

"I am today announcing my candidacy for re-election for a third term to the Massachusetts House. The past four years as your State Representative have been exciting and most rewarding for me.

"I ask your support because I believe that the office of Representative requires a person who by training and experience can best handle the many complex problems that are facing our state today.

"I have supported legislation dealing with the acquisition of Boston Harbor Islands to maintain these natural resources. The State Street Bank project in North Quincy had had my wholehearted support, for I feel this is a definite improvement in the Northern section of our city.

"I voted for the Constitutional Convention, the purpose of which is to up-date and reform our state government. This, unfortunately, was defeated, but will be brought up again before the end of the legislative year. I will continue to support a Constitutional Convention.

"I actively worked to have the question of disproportionate assessment dealing with Revaluation put on the November ballot for your approval.

"Many problems still face our state such as Public Welfare, Education, Youth Service, and the growing menace of drugs and their relationship to our society.

"My eight years in local and state government give me the necessary knowledge and experience to cope with these challenges. My purpose in getting involved in government was to do something; to make things better for my district; to change things if necessary.

"Many of these decisions may not have been popular, but to do nothing in government is to cheat the very people who elected you.

"I ask your support in the forthcoming election."

Comdr. Henry Cassani In New Pentagon Post

Henry L. Cassani, first Naval Commanding Officer of Helicopter Combat Support Squadron Three and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Cassani of 28 Churchill Rd., has graduated from Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif.

He received a master of science degree in management, and on Aug. 1 will take over as head of the Planning and Management Procedures Section of the Development Planning Division in the Pentagon.

The 39-year old veteran, a graduate of Quincy High School and Tufts University, enlisted in the Navy in March, 1948. He has served on both the East and West Coast, and took part in the Cuban Blockade.

During one deployment, he filmed all aerial scenes for Walt Disney's "Men Against the Arctic."

COMDR. HENRY L. CASSANI

Commander Cassani is married to the former Florence Radford of Pensacola, Fla., and they live at Virginia Beach, Va., with their seven children.

Kenneth P. O'Donnell In Quincy Tour Today

Kenneth P. O'Donnell, Democratic gubernatorial contender, today is making a campaign tour of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth.

The former Aide to President John F. Kennedy was scheduled to begin the tour at about 7:45 a.m. at the General Dynamics Quincy yard.

Other stops will include police and fire stations in the area and plants in Braintree and Weymouth. He will also meet voters at a community booth on the mall at South Shore Plaza, Braintree.

O'Donnell is being accompanied by Marshall Bacherman, North Quincy businessman, who is Norfolk County campaign coordinator.

Patricia Lyons Selected As 'Miss Teenage Houghs Neck'

Patricia Lyons, 17, of 96 Macy St., was selected from a field of 20 entrants as "Miss Teenage Houghs Neck" of 1970 in the annual July 4th competition sponsored by the Houghs Neck Community Council.

Other winners were Eileen Greenan of 942 Sea St., best casual outfit; Mary Jane Schuerch of 42 Bay View Ave., best sports outfit; and Theresa McArdle of 346 Rock Island Rd., best hair-do.

Prizes were given also to other contestants, Carol Denvir, Geraldine Brooks, Virginia Denvir, Debbie Connolly, Kim MacLeod, Wanda Dabrowski, Sharon Lyons, Lynn Hanly, Margaret Ryan, Janice Lorenzetti, Terri Clark, Cindy Clark, Yvette Hartshorn, Bernadette Donahue, Susan Emerson and Lynn Hodges.

Decorated doll carriage awards went to Linda Miglorino, Kim Johnson, Denise Girodani, Monique Johnson and Cindy Morrell, while Theresa McGunagle, Kathy Lyons, Brigid Morrell, Janet McDonough and Tommy Boussy received prizes for decorated bicycles.

Costume awards went to Lynne Powers, Frances Denvir, Anne and Carolyn Donovan, Diane Maher and Charles Dedian.

Boys and girls bicycles awarded each year went to Lynne Powers and Stephen Donohue.

Prizes contributed by Houghs Neck residents and merchants, and Quincy merchants were presented by Mrs. Elaine Bergstrom and Mrs. Carole Gardiner, competition chairmen.

Checks to scholarship recipients annually awarded at the July 4th celebration will not be presented until Aug. 1 because of the theft of the council's bank book from the home of the treasurer, Robert F. Denvir.

Flag exercises were conducted at LaBrecque Field under the direction of Commander Paul McKeon, who is organizing a campaign to secure a flagpole for the field.

John B. Powers, Houghs Neck Community Council president, was in charge of July 4th activities assisted by a large committee.

Asher, Fontaine To Again Head Marshfield Fair Promotions

The annual eight-day fair will run from Aug. 15 through Aug. 22.

The reappointment of the two Quincy radio station executives was announced by Eben N. Briggs of Duxbury, president of the 26-member board of directors.

Fontaine, news editor-director of WJDA for the past 15 years, produced and directed "The Drug Menace - 1969" which won the UPI New England top award for public service.

Last year's Marshfield Fair topped the million-dollar mark for the first time in history, according to Briggs, who says, "We're looking forward to this year's edition – number 103 – with a great deal of enthusiasm."

Post Offices Helping To Find Summer Jobs For Youths

A pilot program to locate summer jobs for youths in the greater Boston area is being initiated by the Post Office Department, announces George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge, Boston Postal District.

Letter carriers, including those in Quincy, Wollaston and North Quincy, this week started to canvas business firms on their routes for potential summer jobs for local youths. Notation of a possible job vacancy will be made by the carrier on a regular "Change of Address" Card. Completed cards will be sent to Walker who will forward the cards daily to the Massachusetts Employment Service. The employment service will follow up and arrange the contact between the youth and the employer.

"All members of the business community are urgently requested to take a personal interest in assisting the young people of our community to obtain summer employment" Walker said.

Each year the Post Office Department makes available approximately 24,000 summer jobs for youths in hundreds of Post Offices across the nation.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The Family Conference'

"If only we could have this kind of discussion at home...what a difference it could make in our family," said Mrs. J at the end of the hour and half in the counselor's office... "Maybe we could if we had a moderator, said Mr. J.

It was a family of five...father...mother...a son 17...a daughter 15...a daughter 11. There were no vicious circumstances...no gambling...no alcoholism...no drug addiction...no poverty...they were just seeking a higher level of relationship...trying to understand each other better...to be happier together...just what many families want. This family looked to the family conference to help achieve this.

They began by trying to listen to each other. "What would make you happier in this family?" I asked the son. Tom was a typical 17-year-old boy...seeking to stand on his own feet...pulling away from quite so much family involvement...yet wanting the approval of his family. "I'd just like to be able to do what I want to do" he was saying..."My thinking is not the same as my mother's and father's...Do I have to think like they do about things?"

The older daughter, Jane, said she wanted to choose her own friends and be able to talk with her mother and father without feeling they were spying on her. The younger daughter, Judy, wanted to do more things as a family...like trips and outings. The mother was most gracious...loving each of her family and felt that she should worry less and be less anxious about them. The father wished for greater wisdom in handling family problems as they arose so that each member of the family could feel secure and be happy.

Guided by their counselor, they talked to each other...began to feel free to express what they really felt about each other in a manner that was at times a little painful. They began to feel what each other felt. Too often children are not allowed to speak their minds without their parents jumping down their throats. Some wives are so domineering that both husband and children constantly feel that they must walk on eggs. Some husbands are so timid that they don't dare ask one of the children to care for specified household chores or that their wives get up and get breakfast before they leave for work. Fear is destructive in a home...of all places in the world where we shouldn't need to be afraid, it is at home.

There are two problems in many homes which mitigate against a happy family...the first is the wife and mother who doesn't know how to be a woman. The hallmark of any true woman is being free to love...her husband and her children. Being able to give herself in varying moods and responses according to the needs of her husband and children. Her intuition is a special gift which enables her to feel what is needed at given times. Behind her tenderness...her warm understanding...her outgoing affection to her husband and children is her desire to give herself to them. For if it is not motivated by desire then all her "doings", have an empty ring and she herself feels used. In her desire to give herself without feeling put upon...or subjugated...she finds her greatest fulfillment as a woman...as a wife...as a mother...and please observe the order of those roles.

The other problem in many families is that many men do not know how to be men. Throwing their weight around because they are bigger...or have a heavier voice is not being a man. Joseph and Lois Bird in "The Freedom of Sexual Love" say that wives look for three qualities in their husbands...and fathers of their children... strength...responsibility...leadership. They say..."A wife has a need to feel that her husband is a pillar she can lean upon...But it is not so much that she needs this from him...she wants to give this to him."

A real man accepts his responsibilities in love...being responsible not only to provide the material needs for his family...but the emotional needs as well. A paycheck alone is not being responsible.

Being "head of the family" is heavy responsibility. It calls for leadership. The real man leads...he does not "follow" his wife...or children. He listens and then points the way...daily and to the future. He is dominant...but not domineering. The wife who is domineering ties her husband's hand in his leadership...emasculates him...denies her own womanhood...destroys her chances of fulfillment... prevents the happiness of the whole family.

Being either a real man or a real woman are goals never fully achieved...both the masculine role and the feminine role are vocations in themselves...and the difference must not be blurred...for the sake of the man...the woman...and the children.

Sandra Del Dotto 'Miss Merrymount'

Sandra DelDotto of Quincy Shore Drive was crowned "Miss Merrymount" on Friday by last year's queen, Diane Rubin, in a competition opening the Independence Day festivities of the Merrymount Association.

Kathy Garity and Suzy Lee, both of Furnace Brook Parkway, were first and second runners-up in the field of eight, all of whom received gifts.

Paul O'Donnell was master of ceremonies for the event, with Mrs. James Mulcahy, wife of the July 4th chairman, as commentator. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Feeney of Squantum and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jankins of Adams Shore.

A band concert by the George F. Bryan VFW Post Band preceded the event, and a rock concert for teenagers by "Ball" followed.

Highlight of July 4th was the annual parade with street and individual costume competitions. "The Greatest Show on Earth" again won first prize for Chickatabot Rd., perennial winners. In second and third place were Virginia Rd's "Little Dolls" and Pontiac Rd's "Little Miss Pontiac".

Other awards went to Danny McDonough, Beverly and Ann Carroll, Nancy Gorman, the O'Leary girls, Bryan Milaniskas, Kevin Garrity, Nicholas Christiani and John Cunningham, Cheryl Cunningham and Jenifer Cassidy.

The Merrymount Association entered a float with its hospitality committee costumed in early American styles worn by Washington, Hancock and other signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Land sports, directed by John Molloy, included races won by Krissy Kelly, Mary Kate McConville and Kathy Hussey, Nich Christiani, Peter McConarty and Jimmy Sullivan, girls and boys under 5 years; Carol Lynch, Nancy Kelley and Diane Solander, Jimmie Flaherty, Danny Boyle and Peter Coleran, 6 and 7 years old; Sue Coleman, Jennifer Seamans and Claire Lynch, David Anderson, Danny Gorman and Bobby Sullivan, 8 and 9 years.

Mary Wiedemann, Lee DiPietro and Beverly Carroll, Peter Cassidy, Michael Bennett and Steven Anderson, 10 and 11 years; Joanne Cirino and Judy Cappadona [tie], Jill Seamans and Patty Kelly, Robert Hawley, Billy Carroll and Brian McCarthy, 12 and 13 years; Kathy Garity, Janice Garity and Bernadine Walsh, 14 and 16.

Buddy races were won by Brian Garity and John McDonough, David Cappadona and Jimmy Sullivan, Peter McConarty and Chris Connors, 5 and under; Chris O'Brien and Carol Lynch, Nancy Kelley and Diane Solander, Suzanne Clarke and Patty Crossen; Danny Molloy and Paul McConville, Danny Boyle and John Swanton, Peter Coleran and Jimmy Flaherty, 6 and 7 years.

Laurie Clarke and Christine Cunniff, Jean Crossen and Dianne Cirino, Sue Coleman and Rita Cassidy; Jimmy Crossen and Danny Gorman, Bobby Sullivan and Kevin O'Leary, 8 and 9 years; Ellen Coleman and Beverly Carroll, Carol Campbell and Janet McConarty, Susan Rugg and Mary Wiedemann; Richard Boyle and Peter Cassidy, Kevin Garity and Michael Bennett, Steven Anderson and Kevin McCarthy, 10 and 11 years.

Kathleen Boyle and Mary Ann Lynch, Elaine Bishop and Joanne Cirino, Patty Kelly and Jill Seamans; Richard Somerville and Ron Hennessy, Rick Hennessy and Bob Hawley, Mark Barry and Paul Grossman, 12 and 13 years; Kathy Garity and Janice Garity, Patricia Garity and Nancy Volinn, Jean Campbell and Bernadine Walsh, 14 and 16 years.

Three From Quincy In Jaycee State Track Titles Meet

The annual state Jaycee track and field championships will be held July 21, at Leary Field in Waltham with the winners qualifying for the national meet at Bowling Green, Ohio, July 31 and Aug. 1.

Among those competing in the state meet will be Joe Goguen and Bob McDermott of the Quincy High track team and John Panarelli of the North Quincy Team.

Goguen won the triple jump, placed second in the long jump and third in the 220.

Panarelli won the discus and took second in the shot put and McDermott won the 120-yard high hurdles, took second in the low hurdles and third in the high jump.

Other local competitors were Scott Brand, second in the discus; Kevin Eggersheim, second in the high jump and high hurdles; Brian Feeney, second in the 880; Roy Smith, second in the 100; Bobby Ciano, second in the mile; Pete Laing, third in the mile; Jim DuBois third in the long jump and triple jump, and Dan McDermott, only 14 years old, third in the low hurdles.

Goguen, incidentally, was named the outstanding performer in the meet.

Quincy Coach Tom Hall was the meet director.

Tickets Ready Aug. 8

Mayor To Treat 3,500 Youngsters To Sox Game

An estimated 3,500 youngsters will be treated to the Aug. 13 game between the Boston Red Sox and the Kansas City Royals by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre.

The occasion will be the Mayor's fifth annual baseball outing.

This year, the youngsters will be from Holbrook as well as from Quincy, Braintree and Randolph. The Senator's new district, includes Holbrook. In Randolph, formerly a part of the district, the outing will be co-sponsored by Senator McIntyre and Senator George Kenneally. A total of 89 buses have been hired for the outing.

As in the past, children will receive ice cream and refreshments provided by McIntyre before boarding buses for the trip to Fenway Park. Each youngster will be assigned to a certain bus. Free major league baseballs will be awarded to lucky winners in each of the towns.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 15 are eligible for tickets to the game. These must be picked up by parents Saturday, Aug. 8, between 10 and 11 a.m. at any of the fire stations in Quincy and the other towns.

All the youngsters will be escorted to Fenway Park and return by volunteer members of the Police and Fire Departments from Quincy and the other three towns.

As in previous years, Fire Chief Edward F. Barry and Police Chief Francis X. Finn of Quincy are co-chairmen of the event in Quincy. Capt. Thomas Andrew will act as liaison between Chief Barry and the Fire Department and Lt. William Daley will act as liaison between Chief Finn and the Police Department.

Questions relating to details of the baseball outing should be referred to Leo J. Lamb at 773-1380, extension 220, prior to Aug. 3.

On the day of the game, music will be furnished by St. Ann's Band of Dorchester.

St. John's Baseball Closes Season

St. John's CYO Cadet team closed out its season with a 3-5 record in the South Shore Deanery baseball league.

The team started the season with a 19-0 victory over St. Paul's of Hingham and then suffered five straight losses.

Last Saturday the team got back in the winning column by defeating Star of the Sea at Squantum 20-9 and then ended the season last Tuesday with a 15 to 2 win over St. Paul's at Pond Street field.

Joe Cortese, Peter DiBona and Bob Gilbody were the winning pitchers. The team players include: Richard Avery, William Bennett, Joe Cortese, Michael Cullen, Peter DiBona, Richard Folino, John Forbes, William Forbes, Mark Frazier, Russell Fruzzetti, Robert Gilbody, Stephen Gilmartin, Stephen Infascelli, Daniel McCormick, Michael Moscone, Peter Raymer, Joseph Saltalamacchia, Anthony Spadoria, James Spadorcia and Stephen Valorz.

St. John's Boys Baseball League wound up its season with a field day and all star game Saturday at Faxon Park. The National All Stars edged the American All Stars 5 to 4 in a well played game.

The National League winner, Van Oriola Plumbing and Heating Giants, won the league championship by downing the American League winner, Alco Oil Yankees, twice in a playoff series.

More than 350 boys of the parish participated in the baseball program.

Fishing Excursion

Harvey's Annual Treat For Disabled Veterans July 16

July 16 is the date for the eighth annual "Vets" Day outing of Harvey's Salt Water Fishing Club.

That morning at about 9:30, 40 to 45 disabled veterans from Chelsea Soldiers Home and 10 to 12 wheelchair patients from West Roxbury Veterans' Hospital leave in a flotilla as guests of the 150-member club for a three-hour fishing excursion in Hingham Bay.

Boats [all 16-footers or longer] are loaned for the day by friends from the yacht clubs of the South Shore, and there will be four to five veterans aboard each one.

Watching over the flotilla will be the Coast Guard Board, Quincy Police Boat, boats from the Department of Natural Resources and the Massachusetts Division of Registry.

At about 2 p.m., there will be a return trip to Harvey's Wharf for a roast beef dinner, and the awarding of prizes. Members of the Houghs Neck Legion Post will be there. Post members provide tables and chairs for the dinner, help with transportation, etc., and assist in other ways. The Salvation Army staff will be on hand to serve coffee.

"This is one of the best days the boys from the hospital have, says Frank Locke, president of the club, "I know. I happened to be a patient there once myself."

Locke, a summer resident with his family since 1921 and now a year-round Charles St. resident, organized the club in 1952 with help of the late George Elliott. It was incorporated in 1954.

The club on the first Tuesday of each month holds a business meeting and dinner -- "a real dinner", Locke assures everyone.

Big event of the year for everyone is the "Vets" Day program. Preparations start in January each year. Members are each assessed a small sum to help out, and canisters are placed in many of the stores and at the Post Home, where residents may place their donations.

Special guests are always invited. This year Mayor James R. McIntyre is expected to be on hand. Congressman James A. Burke has also been invited. Kenneth Crossman from the Department of Natural Resources, Frank Rice, Allen E. Peterson, Thomas Legere, all officials, will be among those present.

Overseeing the whole program along with President Locke will be Robert Allan, vice president; Harry Johnson, treasurer; Donald Sartori, secretary.

McLaughlin Doing Well With Dodgers' Farm Team

Dick McLaughlin of Quincy, who has played minor league ball for a number of years, is enjoying a fine season with the Dodgers' Spokane team of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League.

The former Abp. Williams High outfielder is batting .385 with 15 hits in 39 times at bat and last week was three for eight for a .375 mark.

Steve Tomasetti, who was only recently signed by the Athletics, was up twice last week with no hits for the Coos Bay Team in the Class A Northwest League.

Arthur Clifford has an 8-1 record pitching for the Tigers' Lakeland team of the Class A Florida State League. He has an amazing 0.88 ERA, has pitched 72 innings and has struck out 45.

Dennis Coull has a 1-1 pitching record for the Athletics' Burlington, Iowa team of the Class A Midwest League and has struck out 51 in 47 innings. His ERA is 3.83

CAN LSD CAUSE MENTAL ILLNESS ?

Can LSD cause mental illness? The answer is yes! Reactions range from great worry, panic and deep depression to borderline and severe mental derangement. Medical experts point out that the overwhelming worries and fears that can accompany the LSD experience are sometimes disturbing enough to cause acute and even long-lasting mental illness.

Want some figures? In a sixteen month period, 130 cases of LSD-induced psychosis were admitted to Bellevue Hospital. Fifteen percent of the cases resulted in long term mental disorders, and half of the patients had no prior psychiatric history.

Even a single dose of LSD may trigger mental illness in some persons. Evidently, no one can be sure who will be so affected until it is too late. LSD is highly unpredictable and a drug which is clearly unsafe to try – even once.

Season Tickets For Quincy, North Games

Carl Leone, Coordinator of Athletics for the Quincy schools, announces that for the first time, season tickets will be sold for Quincy and North Quincy High home football games this fall.

Each school has four home games in addition to the Thanksgiving Day classic. The season tickets will be good for four Quincy home games, four North Quincy games or any other combination of four home games, not including Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Day tickets will be sold separately. All student tickets sold at the gate will be $1 each and adult tickets sold at the gate will be $1.50.

Season tickets will be sold at the athletic office in the Quincy Public Schools Annex Building behind Quincy High school and the cost of these tickets will be $5.

Student tickets for home athletic events will be sold at junior high schools and high schools.

Tickets will be available for elementary youngsters also and will cost 50 cents, and 75 cents for junior high and high school students.

Leone explained that all teams in the Greater Boston League will charge the same rates for the 1970 football season.

Quincy Wins Second

Quincy Legion finally collected its long-awaited second win with a come-from-behind 5-3 decision over Needham Sunday.

The victory snapped a five-game losing streak which had seen Quincy receiving fine pitching but spotty hitting.

Needham took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning but Quincy scored once in the fifth and exploded for four runs in the sixth to clinch the win.

Fleming used four pitchers with Scott Manson, the second one, earning the win. Other hurlers were Bobby Brill, Bob Pastor and Norm Walsh.

Mike McNally had two hits, one driving in two runs, while Jack Flaherty, Ed Monti, Tim Flynn and Walsh had one apiece.

In its previous game Quincy dropped a 3-2 heartbreaker to second place Weymouth as Manson and Walsh combined for a four-hitter in a losing cause.

As has been the case in most games, Quincy outhit the winners, this time by an 8-4 margin but couldn't bunch them.

Quincy took a 1-0 first inning lead and led, 2-1, after five but Weymouth scored the tying run in the sixth and the winning marker in the seventh.

For Quincy Jim Broderick had a triple and single, McNally two singles, Bob Langley two singles, Monti and Flynn a single apiece.

The villain as far as Quincy was concerned was Ken Atkinson, who pounded out two long home runs over the left field fence, at Weymouth's Weston Park.

Bomb Millis, 18-9

Morrisette At Foxboro Tonight

Morrisette Legion baseball team, defending Zone 6 champion, last night tried to keep its slim title hopes alive when it played at league-leading Braintree.

Tonight Morrisette plays at Foxboro, Sunday it is home to Wellesley, Zone 6A leader, at Adams Field and next Wednesday entertains Milton.

Sunday, Morrisette belted Millis, 18-9, starting off with nine runs in the first inning. The win made the local team's record 6-3. Braintree was 9-1 and Weymouth 8-1.

Bob Pettinelli pitched his fourth straight win without a loss, yielding eight hits. Errors and walks accounted for most of the Millis runs. He struck out nine and walked eight.

Morrisette finished up with five runs in the ninth to complete a wild and wooly game.

Tom Burke led Morrisette's batters with a home run and three singles, Dave Nelson had a double and two singles, Steve Sullivan a double and single, Pete Lucier two singles, Russ MacDonald a double, Kevin Ryan a double and single and Pettinelli a single.

Friday night Jimmy Walker made his first pitching start and went all the way for a 5-3 win over Randolph.

Morrisette started out with two runs in the first, added one in the second and finished up with two in the fourth. Randolph scored single runs in each of the first three innings.

Walker, classy southpaw who was brilliant in relief for Quincy High this spring, allowed eight hits, struck out five and walked two.

Ryan paced the Morrisette attack with three singles, MacDonald collected a double and single, Sullivan, Nelson and Joh Stevens a single each.

Tom Burke Makes N.E. Sandlot Semi-Finals

Tom Burke, 16, of 56 South Central Ave., Quincy, was selected at last week's Boston Record American-Red Sox tryout session at Cleveland Circle to play in the New England sandlot tournament semifinals July 29 at Fenway Park.

This was the second in a series of eight tryouts conducted by Red Sox scouts and those selected will play in the July 29 doubleheader hoping to be picked for the tourney finals Aug. 3 at Fenway.

Burke, who plays for Morrisette Legion, was one of four outfielders selected from the more than 120 candidates and in his next game for Morrisette he collected four hits including a home run.

Several other Quincy players will try out at Friday's session at Adams Field which gets underway at 9:30 a.m.

A year ago Gary McGrath, Quincy Legion pitcher, was selected but was unable to play in the tourney as he had already signed with the Seattle Pilots, now the Milwaukee Brewers.

Matt Smith was chairman.

Martel Wins Ten Pin Handicap Tournament

Armand Martel of Quincy coasted to victory over a field of 53 entries in the Boston Bowlers Association June Ten Pin Handicap Tournament at Boston Bowl in Dorchester.

Martel placed eight in the qualifying round but took command of the finals from the start. His third match consisted of scratch games 269-222 for a record setting total of 523 with handicap. In the two game finals, he defeated Frank Anton of Dorchester 433-363 to win first prize of $82. and a trophy.

The previous week Armand had also won the South Shore Bowlers Association June Tournament.

The qualifying cutoff was 797 in the two day event. Dave Deskins of Quincy had a 236 game, Joe Eliseo of Brighton a 245 and James Coughlin of Randolph a 247 with a high scratch series of 830 for 4 games.

The next tournament will be held July 25-26, 1970.

Mollica, Mauger To Tour With All-Stars

Bob Mollica, Eastern Nazarene College soccer player and a former North Quincy High star athlete, has been selected for the Colonial Conference All-Star team which will tour England, Scotland, Portugal and Spain next month.

Also named to the touring all-star team was ENC goalie Bill Mauger.

Mollica played right halfback and took the penalty kicks for Eastern Nazarene. He hit on all 10 of his penalty kicks and had six assists to lead the team in scoring with 16 points.

Please Don't Drink This Water Either, Charlie

[Today's column is written by Dr. Robert Mann, as associate of Dr. Charles Djerf]

Nearly 12 years ago, I sat in my biology classes at Eastern Nazarene College and listened to Professor Babcock give lecture after lecture, and discussion after discussion on our environment, and how man was upsetting the balance of nature.

With an evangelistic fervor, he warned of the environmental problems less than a decade away, and he had been giving these warnings years before. He was an ecologist before it was camp to be one. As with most prophets, he was ignored by most of us. Since our lives weren't affected, this was mere speculation to us, and there were other things more important.

How right he was. Because of the events and revelations of the past two years, we can all spell ecology, even if we don't know exactly what it means. It has been driven home to us in demonstrations, in T.V. and news stories, and who on the South Shore hasn't noted the heavy smog over Boston this past spring!

When we hear of polluted water, and a shortage of drinking water, we immediately think of areas away from here, with heavy industry along the streams [eg, the Ohio River Valley]. Granted the water there is not the best, but is our own water really that safe to drink? Granted there are normal levels of bacteria in our municipal water supplies, but how about things not usually measured?

A recent issue of the Newsletter of the Massachusetts Medical Society includes a report by Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Health. He noted a build-up of sodium and chloride in some community water supplies in the state. Larger amounts of sodium in the drinking water can have an adverse effect on the health of patients with chronic congestive heart failure, high blood pressure, kidney disease, cirrhosis of the liver and many pregnant women. Medical authorities have recommended a limit of 20 mg/l of sodium in water consumed by such patients in Massachusetts, 63 of 184 communities studied in 1969 had estimated concentrations of sodium and chloride above the limits recommended.

Fortunately, Quincy is not among them, but close neighbors, including Braintree, Weymouth, Holbrook, Norwell, Hanover, Brockton, Randolph and Canton, to name only a few have levels above the 20 mg/l level. Quincy and other cities served by the MDC system have levels below 4 mg/l.

Why the high levels all around us? We all know what New England winters are like. To keep the highways clear, the roads are salted. This salt eventually appears in ground and surface waters, and subsequently in the reservoirs and wells. What can be done? Careful plowing, and substituting sand for salt will result in lower salt contents in our water. But driving conditions will undoubtedly be more hazardous. Calcium chloride can be substituted for sodium chloride, but it is more expensive, increases water hardness and could result in a salty taste in the water in high enough concentrations. The Departments of Public Health and Public Works are working on the problem. We can only hope they will find a solution.

In the meantime, we will continue to have our highways salted in the winter, so we can have safe trips to hospitals for treatment of our high blood pressure, cirrhosis, kidney disease, congestive heart failure, etc.

Remember all the flak a few months ago, about monosodium glutamate [MSG] in food? It was stated that the reason was high blood pressure caused by the high sodium content. MSG-containing foods were pulled off the market. How long before they pull H2O off the market, and start trucking in the bottled spring water from Vermont? We'll have to keep the highways salted then, too, so the water trucks can get through.

Dear God, what are we doing to this Earth you gave us?

Diane Deshon Graduates From Barbizon Modeling School

Miss Diane Deshon of 14 Carruth St., Wollaston, is a recent graduate from the Barbizon School of Modeling and has qualified for professional assignments by the school's agency.

As a student at the world-famous model school, Miss Deshon received comprehensive and personalized training and instruction in showroom, retail, fashion and photographic modeling techniques from a school faculty of professional models. Good grooming, beauty, and makeup essentials as well as wardrobe and accessory selection were a part of her training and study program.

Miss Deshon modeled several outfits as a special assignment for her fashion-show-graduation before her own and other invited guests at the school auditorium.

On The Screen
By
Vincent Puleo

Since its' inception television has served as a spawning ground for innumberable actors and actresses who needed the experience and the exposure so necessary in making it to the big time of motion pictures. And as a "earn while you learn training school," the media has more than its' share of star graduates.

Such film luminaries as STEVE McQUEEN, RAQUEL WELCH, LEE MARVIN, BARBRA STREISAND, JACK LEMMON, ANNE JACKSON, JAMES COBURN, PATTY DUKE, CLINT EASTWOOD, JOANNE WOODWARD, PAUL NEWMAN, EVA MARIE SAINT, ROD STEIGER, and ROBERT CULP, to single out a more prominent handful, have each made the jump from the mass viewing audience of television to the select viewing audience of motion pictures.

This school of experience and exposure has also enabled talents from other fields to develop as well. It has proven itself a well-spring of not only actors, but writers and directors. NEIL SIMON, CARL REINER, WOODY ALLEN, ROD SERLING, PADDY CHAYEFSKY, and MEL BROOKS, each got their initial start in television and since have gone on in establishing themselves as playwrights, novelists, screenwriters and television series developers and producers.

JOHN FRANKENHEIM, SIDNEY LUMET, NORMAN JEWISON, and SAM PECKINPAH, are the more famous director of consequence who likewise started in this media, having proved their worth by presenting to the home viewer some of the finest productions yet to appear on the small screen.

As a "training ground" television continues into the 70's to serve its' purpose by giving young talents that much needed "big break". More recently however, the scene of television is changing its' course as more and more established Hollywood film luminaries are finding this once considered "barren wasteland" a happy refuge from nonentity and personal oblivion.

In the early 50's no film star of consequence would consider appearing on a weekly series, let alone do a commercial or guest spot. To many the small tube was erroneously considered not only minimal in size, but small in creativity, stature and prestige as well. All that has now changed. Television has over the years proved itself to be a "workshop" of artistic endeavor and merit. And as such film stars whom no longer have it at the box office are fleeing to this media with all the rapidity of gazelles.

SHIRLEY McLAINE, ROCK HUDSON, JAMES STEWART, and HENRY FONDA are just a few of the more prominet silver screen luminaries who are being earmarked for future television shows of their own. Former alumni, such as VINCE EDWARDS and JAMES GARNER, are also due to return in this mass exodus to the home screen.

But it is more than not having it at the box office that is prompting many a star to seek refuge in television. One of the more important reasons for this mass exodus is that stars of the quality of say a DEBBIE REYNOLDS and DORIS DAY, are finding it more difficult than ever before in finding a worthwhile script in this day and age of nudity for nudity's sake. They, like others, are resisting the present trend, and will not expose themselves, to what they must surely consider a lowering of artistic taste.

That the current influx of established talent will only add to the quality of television is best personified by those from film who did it before them. ROBERT YOUNG, LLOYD BRIDGES, the late WARD BOND, PETER GRAVES, JAMES ARNESS, LUCILLE BALL, ROBERT VAUGHN, amongst others. have each added "a flare of prestigious magnitude" to the media that has shown up in the weekly Nielson ratings and at the yearly Emmy awards.

With the migration of established talent, this media has now swung full circle. The infant of the entertainment business has matured to such an extent, that in the forthcoming seasons some of the best actors and actresses today will be giving their all on this media. The mutual coupling of the newer youngbloods together with the experience of the more established luminaries, should prove a boom to television in the seasons ahead. And in the long run, the home audience will reap the rewards of more professional-in-tone entertainment.

Dingwell Exhibit At North Quincy

Ainsley Dingwell of Wollaston is exhibiting his oil paintings in the North Quincy Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library during July, announces Mrs. Carmen Ungar, Art librarian.

Dingwell has been active in the Braintree Art Association, and is a regular exhibitor in their shows. He has also exhibited in other South Shore area shows.

He has studied with Edward Harrigan, Roger Gilson, Robert Douglas Hunter and Ohrvel Carlson.

Bonnie Needs You

Bonnie needs help.

The Quincy Sun has been asked by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sullivan of 720 Main St., South Weymouth, for help in reaching people willing to aid their brain-damaged, six-year-old daughter, Bonnie.

Bonnie is on a Doman-Delacate program commonly called "patterning." This consists of moving her head, arms and legs in a specific sequence three times a day every day except Sunday. Three different people take part at each time, a total of 54 people a week.

Teenagers to grandparents can help, and will be taught the routine.

Volunteers are needed only once a week for a 45-minute period. Parents may bring their children with them. The patterning times are 9 to 9:40 a.m., 10 to 10:40 a.m., and 1 to 1:40 p.m.

Anyone wishing to help Bonnie may call Mrs. Sullivan at 337-6173.

Summer Registration Closes On Friday

Registration for the second session of the Quincy Summer Session of the Quincy public school will close Friday noon.

Registrations are being accepted this week in the Office of the Director, Room 106, Quincy High School from 9:30 a.m. to noon. The session will open July 20 and close Aug. 7, with classes running for two hours daily.

Most of the major subjects, for both improvement and enrichment, are included in the curriculum for students from grades seven to 12. Subjects will be taught only if there are a sufficient number of students registered for that subject.

Tuition for Quincy residents is $20 per course; non-residents, $30. per course.

Additional information may be obtained from Miss Donna O'Connell, secretary, Quincy Summer Session, telephone 471-0100, extension 385, 386 or 387 between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Martin Re-Elected To Morgan Board

William J. Martin, chairman of the Board of the South Shore National Bank, and W. Henry Parker of 90 Oakland Ave., vice president of Jordan Insurance Agency, have been reelected to the Corporate Board of Morgan Memorial of Boston.

A total of 1994 handicapped and disadvantaged people were assisted by the self-help program during 1969.

Brett Explains Exemptions

Liberalized changes in the laws relating to "tax exemption for the elderly" are explained by Rep. Joseph E. Brett.

The original tax abatement law for elderly citizens was first enacted in 1964, under legislation sponsored by Brett, and several later amendments have liberalized the program.

The law as it now stands, says Brett, stipulates:

●--An individual or couple must have reached the age of 70 years prior to January 1 of the year in which an exemption from real estate taxes is sought.

●--The individual or couple must have been a resident in the Commonwealth for at least the preceding ten years.

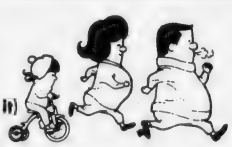
●--The individual or couple must have been owners of their residential property or a similar type property for at least five years preceding the application for abatement.

●--Income for an individual during the year prior to making application for abatement must have been less than $6,000 and, for a couple, less than $7,000.

●--Net worth of an individual at the time of filing, including real estate and personal property, exclusive of house-hold furnishings, must be not more than $30,000 and, for a couple, not more than $35,000.

●--Applications for the tax exemption or abatement must be filed with the local board of assessors usually about the time of receipt of the tax bill. Information contained therein will not be available to the public.

W. C. Fields Movies Return



Two W. C. Fields classics will be shown at a 1 p.m. matinee at the Strand Theater during the Shopperstown Sidewalk Bazaar, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Films are "The Bank Dick" and "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man."

Discount tickets are available at businesses participating in the Sidewalk Bazaar promotion.

Life Is Different In Honduras

Two young American visitors to Honduras, wearing the long flowing shoulder-length hair and the accompanying beards, were ridiculed, even stoned and harassed by the local youths. Their visit, by volition, was brief and any intended services were precipitately shortened.

Another pair of Americans created considerable to-do and were politely but expeditiously sent back home because of marijuana. The Hondurans will not tolerate the weed or any other addictive drugs [of course this doesn't include guaro].

Such management of undesirable persons is possible in a militarily controlled country, albeit a Republic.

Doesn't it make you wonder a bit about our own permissiveness and emphasis on individual rights - including the privilege of self-destruction and the accompanying degenerative invitations to other uninformed and gullible persons.

Now I look back at my visit - as a guest of Honduras mind you, with the sole desire to offer medical services, and of course, to learn as much as I could. I am constantly reminded of the luxuries, physical advantages, and cultural wealth of my own town, Quincy.

For example - as I walked the streets, regardless of the time of day, I heard no one practicing a musical instrument as you can in practically any neighborhood here - the scales of a piano, violin or cello - the tones of a trumpet, sax, tuba or baritone. The guitar was frequently seen and carried and a few accordions, but not enough. Inquiry only created surprise and an admission that perhaps Tegucigalpa, the Capital, might have a symphony group. The radio music was monotonously by marimba and very light entertainment. As a matter of fact, the area was destitute of local creative talent. Most of the colorful merchandise was from nearby Guatamala - such as hats, straw work and panchos.

The movie theatre reminded me of the old Music Hall and showed old second-rate American shows reminiscent of the hand-me downs of the Navy - Mexican films were abundant and popular, but no native art.

The museum of the Copan ruins was ill organized and had not one single archeological artifact or labeled anthropological specimen. A suggestion to the currator produced a surprised admission that it could be a good idea. The museum, though small, was fascinating and could be better with planning. One interesting exhibit showed a set of teeth with implanted jade in the incisors, [the front teeth] - presumably a mark of aristocracy or distinction. The dental workshop was excellent. Remember that this culture - the Mayan - existed more than 400 years ago.

You may remark - "What has the culture of a nation to do with living conditions?" I would presume that the creative expression, innovation and inventions would lead to a national and ethnic pride and that social improvement would naturally accrue. Along with Eric Hoffer, I would admit that in the rural areas - battle of daily survival by drudgery may not be a good ground or area for change or rebellion - nor even a consideration, but until unrest changes standards, the nation will continue to plod.

The Hondurans are a wonderful people and deserve the cultural and domestic advantages enjoyed by the rest of the world.

Dr. Gossard told me of an interesting statistic. He had read that this nation had the highest [or very nearly] average population under 15 years. Ours' is twenty-five-plus. You figure out the significance.

It was my suspicion, at least on observation, that the unusual hilarity and jocularity of the people - especially the adolescents - rang untrue, again remindful of our radio and television ads about the fun generation and how important it is to have a good time. Life is mainly a hard time - a struggle, with periods of relaxation, not a continuous lark - the stress of retirement and leisure is to me an indication of a decaying society, not a constructive enriching one. It doesn't add up to me that constant unproductive individual pleasure is healthy for a population demanding more and more social commitment with the eradication of our own blights.

To me an automobile is an unequivocal luxury - or if we are worried about pollution - start curtailing the unnecessary use of cars. Sure I know this is preposterous but so is air pollution - it is as addictive as cigarettes or drugs.

While on this kick - I would estimate that in Santa Rosa, 9000 population, there were less than 100 cars [many were military] - they walked! Very few chimneys - in the poorer homes the smoke crept out under the roof eaves. This pollution was due to the burning of fields and crops creating a low ceiling worse than a Boston Smog and it lasts for weeks.

If the Hondurans were to ask me for a plan for improvement, I would advise them to make peace with El Salvador - use the military as a constabulary - recreate a United States of Central America and to pool their natural resources for a common solution - establish and encourage the cultural arts communely, send their brightest youth for foreign education to return home - not for military conquest but for local enrichment.

In this selfish, religiously-oriented, and bigotted world, can't someone forget the stupid beliefs that they would fight to maintain [as in North Ireland] and think more of the Golden Rule. As long as man persists in idiocy - ethnic and religious - we shall have war! This goes for Asia Minor as well as Central America and even our beloved materially conscious nation.

Dostoevsky's Brothers Karamasov, especially the chapter on the inquisition, should be required reading in the kindergarten.

Good bye Honduras, this is the last of the articles about my trip. Thanks!

Survival, Inc.

$250,000 Drive Underway For Drugs Program

"We are looking for a quarter of a million dollars for Survival, Inc.," says Joseph Whiteman, co-chairman with Louis Cassani of the fund drive for the professional center and drug program to aid Quincy residents with problems.

The Quincy City Council has already allocated $25,000 for the project.

An all-out, door-to-door and store-to-store campaign for funds was outlined Tuesday at a first official meeting of campaign workers attended by some 30 to 40 women interested in establishment of the center.

Along with private persons, the committee will ask for the endorsement of clergy, the assistance of fraternal organizations, women's clubs, youth groups, industrial unions, the Quincy School Department, Police and Fire Departments, the Post Office, and municipal workers.

"When we are in operation, Whiteman says, "we will probably try to get some of the money that is available through the state and federal Government as well as private foundations. While we are aiming for $250,000, a figure has been mentioned by Dr. Gerald Davidson of Whittier St. Clinic who will head the working group, that an ideal program would take one-half million dollars to run. We are not going by this figure. We will be very much satisfied to start it off in a modest way so long as it is adequate for purchasing a home and staffing it."

The planned program to meet the drug crisis includes:

●--Creation of an information "Hot Line" through which persons in need of help may telephone at any hour of the day or night to receive assistance.

Plans are to use Quincy City Hospital facilities as an immediate treatment center. Locations of Survival, Inc.'s treatment center and the residence for those under treatment has not yet been decided.

Dr. Charles Djerf, Quincy pediatrician and former member of the Quincy School Committee, is president of the professional group spearheading the drive to aid in rehabilitating addicts.

Working with him are Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, director of pupil personnel services for the Quincy Public Schools; Dr. William Ridder and Dr. Russell Irons, physicians; Chief Francis X. Finn and Lt. Frank Vallier of the Quincy Police Department, Dr. Stanley Sagon of the South Shore Mental Health Center, Atty. Edward Joyce, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, and Charles L. Munson of the Quincy School headquarters guidance staff.

The center will be set up to meet government standards for program, and also standards set by the state. Whiteman feels that possibly the one milliam dollars appropriation asked for by Governor Sargent for work of this type may be a source of funds for the Quincy Center.

First fund-raising event planned to benefit Survival, Inc. is a rummage sale July 25 and Aug. 1 sponsored by nurses and staff of Dr. Charles Djerf, president of Survival, Inc.

On Tuesday, Aug. 25, a night at South Shore Music Circus at Cohasset is planned, with a committee headed by Mrs. Anthony Colucci taking over the sale of the entire 1,660 seats to benefit the center.

The Quincy Jaycees have set aside Sept. 20 for a special project at Veterans Memorial Stadium, details for which have not yet been decided although it may be in the nature of the recent "Walk for Development."

"We are hoping this will mushroom, and many, many people will be working," Whiteman comments.

Survival, Inc. during this week's Sidewalk Bazaar will have a display booth, and donations will be accepted at that time toward the $250,000 goal. The booth will be in front of Child World on Hancock St.

James F. McCormick, Sr., vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee, has been named chairman of advance gifts for the drive.

The women who met Tuesday at the Reservoir Rd home of Mr. and Mrs. Whiteman to map plans for the fund-raising campaign were:

Margaret Bergonzi 52 Barry St., Lillian Bikash 60 Norton Rd., Jean Callahan 380 Highland Ave., Alma Caseley 127 Reservoir Rd., Ann Clasby 22 Sachem St., Margaret Colucci 21 Hilltop St.,Ann Cosgrove 150 Samoset Ave., Josephine DiTullio 1311 Quincy Shore Drive, Pat Faherty 28 Furnace Brook Pkwy, Mary Fennesey 7 Royal St.

Peggy Fraser 68 Haviland St., Marge Gibbons 260 Sea St., Edith Hayes 329 Belmont St., Shelia McDonald 133 Grove St., Sue McGregor 53 Forest Ave., Rita McKenna 75 Thornton St., Nancy McCormick 100 Reservoir Rd., Margie Mullen 24 Winthrop Ave., Grace Murphy 95 West Elm Ave., Gloria Noble 14 Myopia Rd.

Blanche O'Connell 99 S. Central Ave., Evelyn Quinn 311 Billings Rd., Erma Rimmer 92 Narragansett Rd., Marion Sullivan 86 Virginia Rd., Mary Sullivan 23 Marion St., Arsenne Tutunjian 155 Samoset Ave., Barbara Vecchiola 14 Braintree Ave., Lillian Whiteman 119 Reservoir Rd., Pat Walsh 36 Stoney Brae Rd., Rita Walsh 105 Taylor St., all of Quincy, Gladys Eckblom 94 Mass Ave., Braintree and Mildred Grant 55 Sunny Plain Ave., Weymouth.

Quincy rolls back the years to the "good old days" Thursday, Friday and Saturday with an old fashioned "Sidewalk Bazaar".

Some 70 Quincy Center stores, shops and other businesses are participating in the three-day event featuring old fashioned values, old fashioned service and--lots of old fashioned fun.

Approximately 30 special events and activities--ranging from band concerts, beauty contest, old-time movies to sidewalk cafes--are scheduled for the three days, three nights promotion.

Some of them will be open each of the three nights until 10 p.m., the others until 9:30 p.m.

The special mid-summer promotion is being sponsored by the Merchants Division of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television & Appliance, general chairman of the promotion, said:

"We expect this to be the biggest summer promotion ever held in Quincy or the South Shore area.

"Many of the stores are holding summer clearance sales and others are offering many special bargains.

"It's going to be a good time to shop. And, it's going to be a good time. There's going to be plenty doing for all ages."

Bernard C. Moore, Jr., executive secretary of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce is, coordinating the promotion with DeNicola.

Twenty-five businessmen are assisting them as members of the promotions committee.

Activities will include:

●--Band concerts.
●--Barbershop quartets.
●--Art show.
●--Various exhibits.
●--Square dancing.
●--Selection of Miss Quincy Bay Race Week.
●--Old time movies.
●--Sidewalk booths.

The downtown area will be all dressed up in banners, pennants and flags for the three-day event.

Merchants participating will don straw skimmers and vests--and some false handlebar mustaches--to help set the old-fashioned, good old days, mood.

For the next three days, those good old days of yesteryear and those lazy, crazy, hazy days of summer will get together in Quincy Center.

Quincy has never before seen the likes of it.

Rummage Sale To Aid

A rummage sale of both old and new items will be the first fund-raising project to benefit "Survival, Inc."

Appropriately, the July 25 and Aug. 1 sale is being sponsored by the eight nurses and office staff of Dr. Charles Djerf, prime organizer of the drive to establish a drug treatment center for Quincy.

And the sale will be held at Dr. Djerf's former office at 44 Faxon Ave., in back of the Bargain Center. Hours each Saturday will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and refreshments will be available.

Miss Mary Russell and Mrs. Shirley Djerf, chairmen for the sale, are hoping that Quincy residents will not only stop by to purchase items, but will help out with contributions of old and new articles for the sale.

Donations may be left at 1 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, or will be picked up if necessary by calling 479-5746.

MARRIED--Mrs. Robert W. Lee, the former Miss Kathie Elizabeth Mason, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Mason of 283 Atlantic St., North Quincy. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lee of South Boston. The couple were married recently at Sacred Heart Church. The bride, a graduate of Boston State College, is a second grade teacher in Quincy. Mr. Lee, also a Boston State College graduate, teaches in the Boston School system. The couple will live in Scituate. [Miller Studio]

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Selecting Your Gown

The wise bride shops for her bridal finery at least three months before the wedding.

She also shops alone or with one other person whose taste she trusts and is similar to her taste. She wears appropriate shoes and underthings so the bridal shop can get the correct measurements and length. Select your wedding gown first, then select the headpiece and correct length veil. Before you leave the shop also select your bridesmaids gowns. Select three or four styles that will harmonize with the bridal gown.

This is your wedding and it is a mark of friendship and honor to invite a girl to be in your wedding party. Keep in mind your friends' pocketbook and how wearable the gown will be in the future. Each attendant has been a bride or probably will be in the future and then it is her turn to do the same.

It is a mistake and will create a difficult situation if you invite your bridal party to take part in the selection of the gowns.

Let me say a word here about the "spoiled darling" in the group. There is usually one, and usually it's the honor attendant. She's the one who never likes the gown the other girls select. Either the dress has the wrong neckline for her or the sleeves are to long or perhaps it's too dressy.

No matter how the others bend for her she won't be happy unless she makes the selection herself regardless of how it looks on the remaining girls, or if it spells disaster to your gown. Why should the bride and bridesmaids be unhappy because of one selfish girl? It's up to you, as the bride, to take a firm stand and let her know the majority rules. If she's a true friend she'll accept your decision gracefully if not then you don't need her in your bridal party because she'll spoil one thing after another for you from now until your wedding day.

Other problems you will run into are:

--The girls become inarticulate and offer no opinion lest they hurt the bride's feelings.

--There will be an endless discussion with such varying points of view that regardless of what gown you select you can be sure someone will be disgruntled.

--You'll visit every shop for miles around and will be footsore and weary and finally end up with gowns that clash with your gown. To make a memorable wedding it's vital to have all gowns harmonize.

You say it couldn't happen to you? I'm sure many unhappy brides felt the same way when they invited their friends to participate in their weddings.

The important thing to remember is to be firm. It's up to you to make the final decision. Don't let anyone take that privilege from you. Again I say, be firm.

HN Auxiliary To Hold 'Christmas In July' Dance

"Christmas in July" is the theme for Saturday night's dance sponsored by the Houghs Neck Legion Auxiliary to benefit hospitalized veterans.

A Christmas gift valued at $2., or the money, is the admission price. Gifts should not be of glass because of possible breakage. Items will be forwarded to a veterans' hospital, where patients may select gifts without cost at Christmas time to send to relatives.

Dancing from 8 p.m. to midnight will be to accordion music by "Chickie" Craig.

Assisting Mrs. Mary Timcoe, president, and Mrs. Eleanor Cash, vice president, are Mrs. Margaret Crombie and Mrs. Carolyn Timcoe, refreshment chairmen; Mrs. Thelma Powers and Miss Eileen Cash, in charge of decorations.

Reality

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy

People, Wake Up!
People, come on!
Take a look around you
And really see what's going on
You turn your head
And look away
Hoping that the trouble
Won't stay.
You hide in your houses
You hide in your bed
But you know that it's true
It wasn't all in your head!
The trouble you fear
The trouble you dread
Will not be stopped
Until everyone is dead.
You speak freely
with anyone you meet
And give them your opinion
As if you were in the President's seat.
It's easy to say
I'm right and your wrong
But I'm afraid you can't think
That way very long.
You read the Good Book
From beginning to end
How many commandments
Have you broken since then?
When something goes wrong
Do you take the blame?
Or do you pin it on your neighbor
And then hand you head in shame?
You can't face reality
Although it's staring you in the face
So you live your life
At a different pace.
You mock your fellow man
If he should differ from you
And you talk as if
He belongs in a zoo.
Face it People!
'Cause human destruction is near
If you don't smarten up
Within the next year.
Pretending won't help this trouble to depart
You've got to face it
And try to make a new start
We're all human beings
Not butchers and snakes
I guess it's not important
What lies here at stake!
Don't try to be pushy
Or demand very much
Just try to be people
Kind, trustworthy, and such.
And if one person should differ
Besides race, color, and creed
Just remember that we all come
From the same seed
So people please listen
And take heed of this poem
So you can say this Earth
You live on
Is the place you call Home.

What Is Life?

What is life? Is it the troubles of the world?
Is it the problems of every human being?
Is it the heartache of loving and not being loved in return?
If this is what life is, then I will welcome Death to set me free from all my heartaches.
They say life is the most blessed gift any human could have,
But why does it hold so much bitterness, cruelty and heartache?
To me life is loving, but when love is gone, Life also is gone.

Tasty Treat Of Tuna And Cheese

The "open face" sandwich is always high in popularity for entertaining afternoons or evenings, or for a light but filling lunch treat. Toasty Tuna Sandwich is one of the favorite "open face" recipes among the many created by the famous Kraft Kitchens. We think you'll like the flavor created by the combination of the several ingredients of this meatless recipe.

Toasty Tuna Sandwich

1 7-oz. can tuna, drained, flaked
¼ lb. Velveeta Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread, cubed
¼ cup chopped celery
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
1 tablespoon chopped onion
Dash of pepper
Kraft Mayonnaise
6 white bread slices, toasted
Tomato slices

Combine tuna, Velveeta, celery, egg, onion, pepper and enough mayonnaise to moisten; mix lightly. For each sandwich, cover slice of toast with tuna mixture; top with tomato slice. Bake at 350°, 8 to 10 minutes.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer
Director, The Diet Workshop

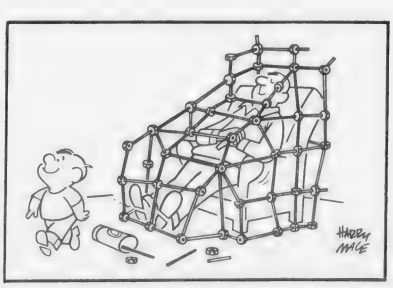
Let them eat fish...

Well maybe Marie Antoinette didn't say it quite that way, but we'll be a better lot by far if we elect this as our motto and leave the cake to the skinnies we know.

The increase in popularity of fish is in direct ratio to how much people know about it--how good it is for us what with its vitamins, proteins, minerals and polyunsaturated fats and the knowledge of how to cook it so that it tastes really good. Why not try it soon dressed up in a marinade of lime juice and soy sauce or basted with buttermilk and garlic.

As you probably know, fish doesn't have many calories either. Wishing won't make it so, but maybe eating fish will.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.



PIZZA FILLET

Pizza Sauce:
2 Cups Tomato Juice
½ Teaspoon Oregano
½ Teaspoon Onion Powder
½ Teaspoon Parsley
½ Teaspoon Garlic Powder
½ Teaspoon Basil
Pepper

Combine all ingredients and simmer until mixture is reduced to half.

½ Cup Pizza Sauce
2 Ounces Mushroom Stems and Pieces
2 Ounces Provolone Cheese
4 Ounces Fish Fillets

Place fish in baking dish. Pour pizza sauce over fish, top with mushrooms and cheese. Bake in 400 degree oven for 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Two lunch servings.

Week of July 17-24

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - The opportunity of a life time opening up shortly for Aries people born around March 27th. Watch for it and be ready.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - A few of the old problems cropping up toward the end of the week. This time you are able to voice a firm opinion.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - This busy week is just the forerunner of what's to come. Make out a schedule and then be sure to stay with it.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - To those born near July 20th, opportunities may look inviting now but actually, in the long run, they are expensive or dissatisfying.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Enthusiasm for your own activities can help you achieve success in the coming weeks. The limelight is yours shortly.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - The social scene will have to do without you for a while as limitations are being placed on your personal freedom.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Social activity beginning now will gain momentum, reaching peak in August. Those born end of September should read Aries above.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - For those whose "big deal" fell through last April, have patience - the end of August brings another chance for expansion.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - A business trip at this time can cause many minor headaches. Don't overextend credit or lend money to others.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - This is a week of marking time for you. It's a good week to go over lists, wardrobe; pack for your vacation.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Clear up all the loose ends before they cause you trouble. Those born end of January can benefit by reading Aries today.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - This is not a good time for socializing or for forming new friendships. Better to stay with routine work during this period.

Community Vacation Day School Opens Monday At First Baptist

A two-week Community Vacation Day School opens Monday at 9:30 a.m. at First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., sponsored by the Wollaston Congregational, Methodist and Baptist Churches.

All children in the community between 4 and 12 years may attend the weekday school, open from 9:30 a.m. to noon daily, and continuing from July 20 to July 31.

Mrs. Ilene Beyor, director, announces that the Kindergarten theme is "The Church is like a big Family." The Primary theme is "Church is For Everyone." The Middlers' theme is "Westward the Church" while the Junior theme is "Church Is People." Learning, handwork, recreation and special projects are included in the program.

The school staff includes Paula Williams and Ruth Wells, registration; Shirley Wolf and Elsie Whitman, refreshments; Shirley Huke, supplies; Virginia Morgan, librarian; Gladys Dixon, pianist; Florence MacDougall, arts and crafts; Sheryl Williams, recreation.

Teachers are Deborah Swanson and Ruth Smith, kindergarten; Linda Cobb and Carol Munroe, primary; Sharon Kimball and Ruth Saunders, middlers; Mary Ober and Ruth Walker, juniors. Assistants are Paula Souther, Leone Bailey, Wendy Huke, Scott and Casey Williams, Ann O'Rourke and Irene Olson. Mrs. Paula Williams also is in charge of music.

St. Ann's CYO Band Presents 'Spectacle Of Music' Saturday

The St. Ann's Senior CYO Band of Neponset will present its Sixth Annual "Spectacle of Music" at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium Saturday at 6 p.m.

Twenty-four bands will take part in this year's contest which will feature all Senior Units as well as Junior Bands and Drum Corps.

This year's "Spectacle" highlights the 50th anniversary of St. Ann's Band as a musical unit. The Band dates back to 1920 when it started as a fife and drum bugle corps. It became a band in 1932, and is probably the only unit in this area boasting of such continuity.

Senior bands appearing include St. Williams of Dorchester, Hudson CYO, St. Joseph, Medway and Immaculate Conception of Everett. St. Ann's will also appear in the exhibition.

$263,504 Grant To St. Coletta For New School

St. Coletta Day School of Braintree has been officially notified of the approval of a $263,504 federal grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Funds will go toward the construction of a new $624,148 school building for "learning problem" children. With the grant and money on hand and expected, $103,000 is still needed to begin construction. By-laws of the school prohibit a mortgage.

Lawrence Warner Heads Nursing Delegation To Washington

Lawrence Warner of Quincy, president of the South Shore-Cape Cod Chapter of the Massachusetts Federation of Nursing Homes, headed an area delegation of Nursing Home officials in Washington on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The group met with U. S. Senators and Congressmen to protest the proposed reduction of federal funds for patients in skilled nursing homes.

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Quarreling Parents Affect Kids'

Parents who quarrel frequently and loudly...either in the presence of or absence of their children do them serious emotional damage. Discussion and argumentation on rational bases is a good thing...but loud verbal fighting can be destructive. I hear parents frequently say..."We've stayed together because of the kids...now I wonder if it was the right decision." There is reason to wonder. There is greater reason to wonder why they didn't get to the bottom of the causes of the quarreling.

Parental quarreling may make children emotionally unstable. Loud yelling...finger pointing...fist pounding...breaking dishes and furniture is extremely frightening to children. If it continues they may become withdrawn...or take on various physical symptoms...twitches of eyes or face...stomach upset...sleeplessness... bed wetting...poor school work...quarrelsomeness with other children. You see the ground has been cut from under them...so their behavior reflects this unstable parental relationship

A second effect on the kids is the alienation from and loss of respect for both parents. The kids don't care about "who's right" or "who's wrong"...probably this isn't the real issue anyway. What the kids feel is hatred for their father who is abusing their mother and making her cry...or for their mother for yelling...nagging...and throwing water in their father's face. Teenagers often turn to behavior which is anti-social simply because they have lost respect for their parents. It would be interesting to know how many kids are on drugs whose parents are "always fighting." That's not the only cause for drug addiction..but it is one. Parents which badger each other...or pressure their children may be contributing to their children's anti-social and unstable behavior.

Husbands and wives must learn that neither can "win" in verbal or physical conflict. If a wife thinks she's winning and is getting her way in the children's minds, she's become a domineering woman...and children lose respect for this kind of mother. If a husband thinks he's winning and getting his way, then his image in his kid's minds is one of an immature bully who likes to throw his weight around...but lacking in real manhood. Neither wins...both lose in respect and closeness to their children.

It's really not a question of "winning" anyway. Who started it...or who had the last word is really irrelevant. You're not in a contest...you're not in competition to see which can talk the loudest...can hit the hardest...hold out the longest...or hurt the deepest. Stop competing on that basis.

Why do you quarrel...now really? Is it the thing at hand...or is it basic attitudes of misunderstanding each other's natures? Males are aggressive by nature...there's something wrong if they're not. If a wife doesn't understand this she may feel that her man's drive...in his business...socially...sexually...in argumentation is prompted by dislike of her...by hostility. If she fights back...if she competes...if she acts like a male...her man will resent this. A woman's nature is to be pursued...to be tender...receptive... responsive...free to love with great desire...not to compete. Understanding our two natures reduces many of the unnecessary quarrels.

If you must compete...compete to see which can outdo each other in showing love in ways true to your male and female natures. Your kids will fare a lot better, too.

Taxes, Welfare, Spending Key Issues, Says Bellotti

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Taxes, welfare and government spending are listed by Francis X. Bellotti, candidate for governor, as Massachusetts' biggest problems.

"The whole approach to taxes in this day is wrong," Bellotti contends. "They are looking for new sources of taxes when they should be looking to increase sources of income, industry and manufacturing."

Bellotti made the observation in a campaign tour visit to the Quincy Sun.

He advocated a consistent tax policy to encourage industry to come to Massachusetts. "No one knows what we are going to do next," he said in reference to changing taxes.

The Quincy Democrat and former lieutenant governor recommended stopping wasteful political spending in Boston.

He condemned the state take-over of welfare, calling it "the most mis-managed program in the state, adopted without thought, guidance or regulations."

"The state is creating a system where it is far more desirable to be on welfare than to make it yourself," Bellotti contended.

Respect is dwindling for the Democratic Convention which endorses a particular candidate, Bellotti claims. He cited figures showing that 850,000 took part in the Democratic primary in 1962; 750,000 in 1964, and 666,000 in 1966, a 25% drop.

"The convention is the beginning of all corruption in government," Bellotti said. "This is a people's election. The convention is the politician's election – the primary is the people's election. The power of government resides with them, and the sooner they exercise that power, the sooner you will have a better kind of government here."

Referring to the entry of James S. McCormack, formerly of Quincy, into the race for Lt. Governor, Bellotti said, "Everyone has a right to run. I don't get into that. After the primary, there will be a team."

Closely following the state's financial headaches in importance are the problems of narcotics and drug abuse, Bellotti said, and then that of environment.

"I talked about environment in '64," Bellotti said. "I spoke about it in '66, but no one would pay any attention to it. No one would even listen to it. Everything I said in '64 has come true."

Smyth In New Bid To Get Squaw Rock For Quincy

Another attempt to acquire Squaw Rock in Squantum for the city of Quincy is being made by Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth.

In a letter to Mayor Kevin H. White of Boston, Smyth requested that he meet with Mayor James R. McIntyre and him to discuss the sale of the property to Quincy.

Smyth pointed out that since Expo '76 has been slated for Philadelphia, plans for filling Boston Harbor and the area of Thompson's Island will be put aside.

He added that while Squaw Rock belongs to Boston, Quincy "has been plagued with not only social problems but also with litter and debris."

Squaw Rock and conditions there were the subject of one of the prize-winning floats entered by residents in the recent July 4th parade in Squantum.

Nixon In Tribute To Adams

The city and nation were represented July 11 when a wreath was placed on the tomb of President John Quincy Adams in the crypt of First Parish Church on the occasion of the 203rd anniversary of his birth.

Participating were Congressman Hastings Keith, representing President Richard Nixon; Commander William J. Hennessey, superintendent of Navy shipbuilding at General Dynamics, Mayor James R. McIntyre and City Historian William C. Edwards.

Running For Lieutenant Governor 'My Own Idea' Says McCormack

James S. McCormack, former Ward 3 city councillor and state senator, says his candidacy for lieutenant governor is "my own idea".

During a visit to the Quincy Sun office, the 37-year-old Democrat now a resident of Arlington, declared:

"No one put me in this race. I'm not a favorite son of any gubernatorial candidate. It was my own idea to run based on facts as I saw them – and after discussing them with personal friends and political leaders.

McCormack's entry gives the Democratic primary a strong Quincy touch:

A present Quincy resident - former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti - is seeking the top spot on the ballot and McCormack – a former resident – is after the No. 2 place.

McCormack, now assistant state Commissioner of Commerce, returned to Quincy last week to file the first approximate 500 of 10,500 needed nomination signatures at City Hall.

He must obtain and file by June 21 10,500 signatures to get his name on the Sept. 15 Democratic primary ballot.

"I decided to become a candidate," he continued, "because I think this is the critical year for both the Democratic party and the state of Massachusetts.

"I feel that a candidate with experience in both the legislative and executive branches of state government would be of tremendous help to the new administration in January.

"A recent Constitutional amendment provides for the governor and lieutenant governor to be elected as a team. It is my feeling the lieutenant governor will now be a lot closer to the governor and, more important, to the governor's office than ever before."

McCormack said he knows three of the four Democratic gubernatorial candidates personally - Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue, former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti and Boston Mayor Kevin White.

He said he knows the fourth – Kenneth P. O'Donnell only by reputation.

"I feel I can work with and be helpful to which ever candidate is elected in November," he said.

McCormack served two terms as Ward 3 city councillor from 1960-1964.

In 1962, McCormack, then only 30 years old, turned in one of the biggest local political upsets when he was elected state senator, unseating the veteran Thomas S. Burgin who until then had never been defeated in a 36-year public service career.

McCormack later relinquished the seat and was appointed by Gov. Endicott Peabody as assistant commissioner of Commerce. He has been reappointed since.

Quincy Teachers Tour Woods Hole Institute

Seventeen Quincy elementary teachers visited the Woods Hole Oceangraphic Institute recently.

It was part of a two-week course in elementary economics at the N. S. Hunting School led by John Finnerty, assistant principal, and Eugene Ronayne, assistant principal of the Quincy School.

The group toured laboratories, workshops, and the research ship Knorr, said to be the most modern research vessel in the world.

Other trips included in the course are a visit to Sturbridge Village to observe colonial economy, a seminar at the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston, and a visit to the South Shore National Bank.

The course is a preparation for the introduction of economics into the social studies curriculum of the elementary schools. This is considered a necessary and relevant preparation for students in the decades to come.

Teachers taking part in the course are:

Peter Gallagher, Marie Byrnes, Marion O'Leary, Dorothy Flate, Judith Gorin, Doris Thomas, Elaine Lyons, Maureen Conlon, Stephanie Sanborn, Clare Gaughen, Carol Feldman, Joan Gleason, Elsie Snyder, Anita Simon, David Joly and Raymond Joyal.

$18,453 Grant To ENC

A grant of $18,453 awarded Eastern Nazarene College will permit 60 secondary school teachers and supervisors of science and mathematics to obtain supplemental training during the 1971-1972 school year.

The in-service grant from the National Science Foundation has been announced by Congressman James A. Burke and Senator Edward M. Kennedy. Additional grants in the program are to be announced in March, 1971 following regular competition.

A part-time instruction in science and mathematics will be offered by Eastern Nazarene College, at times chosen so that teachers may participate without interfering with the regular classroom duties.

Participants may receive an allowance for travel and books, and they pay no tuition or fees. They are selected by the College staff.

Inquiries and requests for applications should be addressed to G. Lashley, director, Eastern Nazarene College, Quincy.

Margaret Meyers Head Librarian At Adams Shore

Mrs. Margaret Meyers, recently appointed head librarian at Adams Shore branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library, began her duties there last week.

Miss Betty DeAngelo, who has been serving as acting head librarian since the branch was opened this year, will continue at Adams Shore as reference librarian.

For the week of July 20, children's programs conducted by Mrs. Blanche Eckert will begin at 10 a.m. each weekday.

League Of Women Voters Tour Harbor To View Pollution

The Quincy League of Women Voters combined business with pleasure last week in a boat tour of Boston Harbor to view areas of pollution.

In boats provided by Laurence Mattie and Edward Powers, members visited areas of oil spillage at Town and Fore Rivers and saw the new oil booms used to control spillage.

They observed beaches and uplands of many of the island, noted the MDC recreation project at George's Island as one type of development possible; compared Deer and Nut Island pumping stations and their relation to beaches and tides; noted "water litter", Long Island Hospital, Thompson Island School, and the Spectacle Island dump.

The tour was arranged by Mrs. Douglas Randall assisted by Mrs. Albert Benzaquin.

Participating were:

Mrs. Frank Yeomans, chairman of the Quincy Conservation Committee, and her husband; League members Mrs. David Coletti, president, Mrs. Paul Gossard, Mrs. Hyman Gordon, Mrs. Stephen Higgins, Mrs. Sidney Cutler, Mrs. Paul Perito, Mrs. Harold Owens, Mrs. Philip Brandt and Mrs. Phillip Matthews.

Also Mrs. Joseph Dworkin, Mrs. Seymour Levine, Mrs. Ralph Kolodny, Mrs. John Toland, Mrs. David Burns, Mrs. John Kane. Richard Randall and Douglas Randall accompanied the group as crew.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE--Ecological tour of Boston Harbor by Quincy League of Women Voters included, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yeomans, chairman of Quincy Conservation Commission with League members Mrs. Joseph Dworkin [behind ladder], Mrs. Seymour Levine, Mrs. Ralph Kolodny, Mrs. John Toland, Mrs. David Burns, Mrs. John Kane, and [in dark sweater] Mrs. David Coletti, president. Recreation Roundup

The 33 playgrounds and the 14 swim stations, run by the Quincy Recreation Department, are in full swing as the programs enter their third week. The first week of recreation saw hundreds of enthusiastic youngsters turn out to register on the playgrounds and swim stations.

Hopes are high for a very artistic summer in the Arts and Crafts program. With people like Debbie Clark and Kathy Sarno from Pollard, Joanne Pacetti from LaBreque, Rhoda Gabriel and Christine Galanti from Pond St., and Kathy Walker, Maureen McCourt and Steve McGowan from Bayside, we will have a display at the end of the summer that would never compare to those in past years. There is some excellent talent on the playgrounds this year and with these programs this talent will be made known.

The District I playgrounds: Forbes Hill, Shea Rink, O'Rourke, Stoney Brae, and Wollaston have shown outstanding enthusiasm in the summer programs. With people like Martha Allen, Linda and Debbie Ayles and Lauri Sterns from Forbes Hill, the girls slugball team will be tough competition. The intramural wiffleball team is also quite strong with John Nelson, Chris Nelson, Paul Sullivan and Bob Glavin hitting the strongest.

A visit from Sam Mele, spurred baseball fans at Shea Rink. He stressed the importance of good base running and answered some questions asked by Den Bertoni and John Riggs.

O'Rourke playground opened its playground with a bike contest. The three best bikes were owned by Sandy DePolo, Anne Marie Brahazon and Nussy Sauza. All three were outstanding in original design. At Stoney Brae playground, the Kalah Board seems to be rolling with the rocks as Ellen Thompson and the O'Hanley twins [Brian and Kevin] battle for the lead. Bruce Brennan has also given a great show with the wiffleball. He stands undefeated. The bike contest at Wollaston was exciting as Ann O'Malley, Nancy Smith, Jay Collins and Ellen Haley competed for the first prize. It went to Ann O'Malley for a job well done.

In District II: Atlantic, Montclair, Squantum, Mass Fields, Myles Standish and Welcome Young the playground groups are raring to go. In Montclairs' first midget baseball game of the summer, Jack Baldeck pitched a no-hit, no-run game to beat Mass. Fields 12-0. At Myles Standish, Wanda MacIsaac, Sue Caulfield and Freda Miller made hippie bags with their names sewed on them.

At Squantum playground, youngsters have been busy with a car wash to aid delegates from Happy Acres Day Camp to the International special Olympics in Chicago. To those at Squantum, a job well done. The Junior baseball team of Welcome Young beat Atlantic 7-5, led by the strong pitching and hitting of Mack McGinley and Steve McKinnon.

District III: Bayside, Heron Road, LaBreque, Perkins are also in the full swing of things. The Bayside junior girls basketball team won its first game by forfeit from LaBreque. Labreque started the summer off with a real bang, registering over 70 children the first day. Perkins held its first Kalah board championship, with Rita Cassidy holding the lead from the start. At Heron Road, a cookout last Friday was a big success and every one participated.

District IV: Beechwood Knoll, Merrymount, Whitwell Street, Pond Street, Elm Street, Faxon Field is starting the summer off on the right foot. Jimmie Nolan from Beechwood Knoll is rapidly becoming the new checker champion. Beechie also has about seven junior leaders.

At Merrymount playground, Phyllis Pucci, Denise Wierners, Ellen Laycock and Robin Bolster are working to be junior leaders. At Whitwell, 22 visited the Dorothy Quincy Homestead to start off the summer program. To top off the special event at Pond Street, Matthew Governor showed up in his clown suit to add to the excitement of the afternoon. Jogging has become a popular event at Elm Street as every one gets in shape for their competition. What can we say when John Pegriano and Paul Viles from Faxon Field beat our tennis instructor!

Morrisette's Title Hopes Suffer Severe Setback

Morrisette Legion baseball team put itself back in the battle for the Zone 6 championship with a big win over second place Braintree last week but Sunday had its hopes virtually ended when it bowed to Zone 6A leader Wellesley, 4-0, at Adams Field.

The loss was the fourth for Morrisette and league leading Weymouth is 10-1, making Morrisette's hopes extremely dim.

Last night Morrisette played Milton. Sunday it goes to Foxboro. Monday plays at Dedham and next Wednesday faces Quincy at Adams Field.

Morrisette was held to three hits by Ace Adams, who ran his record to 5-0 Sunday. The fast balling southpaw set down 17 batters on strikes and walked only one. At one point he fanned eight batters in a row.

Russ McDonald collected two of the Morrisette hits and Dave Nelson the other.

Bobby Pettinelli, suffering his first loss after four wins, and Anthony Knasas held Wellesley to seven hits but the winners scored three times in the second. Pettinelli struck out four and walked two and Knasas struck out two.

Morrisette closed things up in the league last week with a 3-2 win over then league-leading Braintree in a game marred by a free-for-all in the fifth inning.

Jimmy Walker, young southpaw, went all the way on the Morrisette mound for the second time in a row and took his second straight victory with a five-hitter and yielded the only Braintree runs in the second.

Morrisette tied the count in the fifth inning when Walker reached on an error with one out and McDonald and Kevin Ryan walked to fill the bases. Dave Keigan relieved ace southpaw Dick Blackwell and was greeted by Jack Alberti's line single to right for the two tying runs.

The winning run scored in the sixth when Steve Sullivan was hit by a pitch, moved up on a wild pitch, moved to third on Pete Lucier's bunt and scored on Tom Burke's sacrifice fly.

Morrisette could garner only one hit, Alberti's two-run single, in handing Braintree only its second loss of the year.

Alongi Assumes Duties As Assistant Recreation Director

Charles L. Alongi, Jr., 24, of 259 Billings Rd., began work this week as the first full-time assistant to William F. Ryan, director of recreation.

Salary for the position recently approved by the Quincy City Council will be $10,000.

Alongi, a Quincy native, has been employed by the Quincy Recreation Department since July, 1965 on a part-time basis. For four years he was a recreation leader in the winter program, and this year worked as a Center Supervisor of activities for elementary, junior high and senior high boys at various gyms throughout the city.

During summer sessions he was a counsellor at Happy Acres Day Camp for Retarded Children. This week he completed work on a fund-raising campaign, which topped its goal and will provide $3,000 to send a group of retarded children to Chicago for "Olympics."

A North Quincy High School graduate, Alongi played tackle on the North football team, which led to one year each of semi-pro football with the Quincy 49'ers and the Portland Mustangs.

Alongi received his bachelor's degree in Recreation Education in June from Northeastern University, graduating first in his class, and will return there as a part-time graduate student to study for his master's degree. While there he was moderator of the Dean's Advisory Board, Boston Bouve College, chairman of the Recreation Departmental Committee, and president of the Professional Recreation Organization from 1966-70.

He served in Quincy as a volunteer coach for Squantum Youth Baseball League, and was coach for the Apaches in the Quincy Youth Football League.

He has taken part in workshops and conferences as student lecturer, and while doing field work for the Brookline Recreation Department was involved in administrative and supervisory work for participants ranging from preschool to "Golden Age" groups.

Alongi is engaged to Miss Dale Edson of 10 Kemper St., Wollaston, and A Feb. 27, 1971 wedding is planned.

Adults Sailing Program Now Underway

The Quincy Recreation Department announces that sailing instruction for adults is now being offered at the Black's Creek boathouse.

Scheduled hours include Monday through Friday, 5 to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Saturday is also family day and all children must be accompanied by an adult.

At all adult sessions individualized instruction will be given by a staff of qualified instructors led by Boating Director Joseph Daly. More information may be obtained by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department at 1120 Hancock St.

Wayne Fick Qualifys For Golf Title Finals

Wayne Fick, the top player on this spring's North Quincy High golf team, Monday qualified for the Boston Record American-Adveryodrt's 42nd annual championship finals Aug. 6 at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Fick was one of 10 qualifiers among more than 125 young golfers who teed off in the sectional qualifying round at South Shore Country Club in Hingham.

The North Quincy golfer carded a 38-39-77 to end in a four-way tie for the seventh spot.

Quincy Legion 'Spoiler'

Quincy Legion's baseball team is going nowhere in the Zone 6 race but will have a lot to say about the eventual champion as well as the 6A winner.

Tonight Doug Fleming's team is host to second place Braintree [10-2] at Adams Field and a win would just about end Braintree's title hopes. Weymouth is 10-1 and a third loss for Braintree would make things extremely bright for Weymouth.

Quincy hosts Zone 6A leader Wellesley Sunday at Adams and next Wednesday entertains Morrisette, also at Adams.

Quincy, with only a 3-8 record, was held to three hits Sunday by Paul Flanagan and dropped a 4-1 decision to Walpole.

As usual, Quincy received creditable pitching from Bobby Brill, 16-year old southpaw, and Buddy Crowell as they combined to hold Walpole to five hits but their mates could do nothing in the way of batting support.

Jim Broderick had two of Quincy's hits and Jack Flaherty the other as Quincy escaped a shutout with a sixth inning run.

Last week Quincy solved its two big problems and came up with its third win, an 8-4 decision over Randolph at Adams Field.

"In most of our games the other teams have taken big leads in the first inning or two and we couldn't catch up," Fleming said. "Also, we put runners on base but couldn't bring them in."

Quincy prevented Randolph from scoring early and came through with clutch hits as it made six hits good for eight runs.

It was Quincy which scored early with three in the first and two in the second for a 5-1 lead. Randolph cut the gap to 5-4 in the top of the fourth but Quincy added three insurance runs in its half.

Brill started on the Quincy mound but when he walked two and hit a batter in the first, Scott Manson took over. Dave Murphy later hurled.

Flaherty collected two triples and drove in two runs, Ed Monti had two hits, Tim Flynn a double and Broderick a single for Quincy.

Earlier in the week Quincy bowed to Franklin, 6-1, and for only the second time in nine games failed to outhit the opposition as Franklin had 11 hits to Quincy's eight.

It was another case of the opposition scoring early and often as the winners scored all its runs in the first three innings. Murphy, Norm Walsh and Manson did the Quincy pitching.

For Quincy Flaherty and Bob Langley had three hits apiece, Broderick and Dave Drew one each.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico Furnace Brook Champion

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico defeated Mrs. Michael Fallon for the woman's club championship at Furnace Brook Golf Club.

Mrs. John Wilson, was Ladies Tournament Chairman.

In Class A, Mrs. Dennis Morrissey defeated Mrs. Felix O'Connor; Mrs. George Doherty defeated Mrs. John Wilson in Class B; and Mrs. Edward O'Neill defeated Mrs. Fred Lutfy, Class C.

In the Tuesday Tournament accuracy contest, Mrs. Joseph DiFederico received low gross; Mrs. John Hackett and Mrs. Thomas Mulroy tied for low net; Mrs. John Eramo, second gross; Mrs. Paul O'Leary, and Mrs. Fred Lutfy, second and third net.

Mrs. Anthony Spinello is chairman.

Mixed Scotch Four-Somes on Wednesday saw Mrs. Michael Fallon and George Doherty with low gross; Mrs. Charles Kusser and Tony Spinello, Mrs. John Hackett and Pat Baillie tied for low net.

Miss Marie Corayer and Dolph Aimola received second net; Mrs. George Hodges and Dick Harrison, Mrs. Raymond McPeck and Charlie Kusser, Miss Mae Butler and Denny Morrissey tied for third net.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola is chairman.

Varney, Jordan Named To All-East Grid Teams

Two Quincy players were among those named to All-East offensive and defensive football squads selected by a new national football magazine, Kick-Off. Named to the offensive team was Pete Varney, brilliant Harvard end a top pro prospect. The 6-3, 240-pounder still has a year to go at Harvard and should again be one of the outstanding Ivy League players next fall.

Selected for the defensive team was Mike Jordan, a 6-2, 200-pound safety at Holy Cross who two years ago was picked as the top sophomore on the Crusaders' squad. Like all other Holy Cross players, his season was wiped out last fall by the hepititas epidemic.

Mike is co-captain of the 1970 Holy Cross team.

No Quincy Players Selected At Sox Adams Field Tryouts

No. Quincy players were selected at last week's Boston Record American-Red Sox tryouts at Adams Field and the only local boy picked so far is Tom Burke, hard-hitting outfielder for Morrisette Legion. He was selected in an earlier tryout at Cleveland Circle.

Several Quincy boys plan to attend the tryout Tuesday at Bowditch Field in Framingham and the tryout on July 24 at Holman Stadium, Nashua, N.H.

In the past, several players attended two or three of the tryouts before being selected.

Those selected will play in the tourney semifinals at Fenway Park, a doubleheader, on July 29, and the best from those games will play in the finals at Fenway on Aug. 3.

Directing the Quincy tryout was Frank Malzone, assisted by Jack Burns, Pete Cerrone, Tommy McDonald of Quincy and Tony Nota. Sam Mele, also a member of the staff, was out of town on Red Sox business.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

HEROIN PLUS DEATH

Much has been written about the dangers of heroin - but just as deadly is what the vendors add to it to give it extra kick and profitable bulk.

Occasionally, users have a fatal reaction even before the needle leaves their arm. This was vividly illustrated in a Time Magazine photo showing a dead addict sprawled on a stairway with the needle still hanging out of his arm. Doctors strongly suspect this instant death may be related to the substance with which the heroin vendors adulterate the powder.

A user never knows for sure what he is getting. In New York, a 15 year-old boy obtained some heroin and gave it to two of his friends. Both sniffed some and went into a deep coma. Both will suffer permanent brain damage.

It would appear that people who play this type of Russian Roulette - knowing its dangers - are truly sick.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., No. Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service.

Our remodeling is coming along fine. We will be completed soon. Wait till you see how modern and efficient we will become. Thank you for your patience during this period.

I expect to have a great reopening sale with marvelous values. Watch for our ad."

Sal's All-Stars Tryouts July 25

Sal's All Stars will hold tryouts for 11 and 12 year old boys in Quincy who have made the All-Star team in their own league.

Any boy going away during the month of August [camp,vacation, etc.] will not be eligible.

The tryouts will be held Saturday, July 25, at Artery Field [next to Merrymount Field] at 10 a.m. In case of rain, they will be held the next day, Sunday, at 1 p.m.

The idea has worked out so well the past four years that Salvatore will have two teams this year. There are 12 boys on each team. The teams, besides playing each other, will play other All Star teams from around the state.

He is a graduate of Bowdoin College, the American Institute of Banking and a Personnel Manager of the Pneumatic Scale Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Reardon live at 110 Summer Street, Hingham.

Burke Co-Sponsors Bill To Curb Drugs Traffic

Legislation to curb illegal entry of narcotic drugs into the United States is being co-sponsored by Congressman James A. Burke [D-Milton].

Under this proposal, which is directed at cutting off the supply of hard core narcotic drugs from abroad, the President is authorized to suspend economic or military assistance under foreign aid programs to countries failing to take steps to prevent narcotic drugs from that country to enter the United States lawfully.

The President is also authorized to provide assistance in controlling unlawful narcotic production to countries requiring such assistance.

On The Screen
By
Vincent Puleo

"MYRA BRECKINRIDGE" is such a tasteless, vulgar sex farce, that the Ratings Board may have to initiate a XXXX rating for films of this type in the future. As a motion picture it is no more than an excursion in erotica... Castration, sodomy, sexual cruelty and various avenues of homosexuality are some of the more printable subjects highlighted in what has to be one of the worse films screened in the past three years... RAQUEL WELCH, as Myra, compliments the entire fiasco with her usual "acting" performance. If anything her sex image may have been dented by this one... The return of MAE WEST is the only redeemable quality of this transsexual he/she putdown...

Not to be outdone by the above picture, stag movie impressario RUSS MEYER concorted with the same amount of senseless vulgarity his "BEYOND THE VALLEY OF THE DOLLS."... The film is being advertised as not a sequel to "VALLEY OF THE DOLLS", but rather as an original. Having seen the former I can believe it. JACQUELINE SUSANN's "bomb" at least had a believable plot, coupled with half way decent acting. MEYER's sextravaganza is nothing more than an expensively produced stag travelogue...

NEIL SIMON scores a bullseye with his first screenplay, "THE OUT-OF-TOWNERS". With so much sexploitation on the gilded screen these days, it is encouraging to know there are still talents around like SIMON who can make us laugh without resorting to a nude shower scenario... The JACK LEMMON-SANDY DENNIS starred comedy hit is a continuous belly laugh from beginning to end. JACK LEMMON is in his old "THE APARTMENT" form; and Miss DENNIS proves she has a distinct flare for comedy. Also in the cast is newcomer ANN PRENTISS who hilariously enchants as the befuddled airline stewardess. Portions of the film were shot on location in Boston at Logan Airport and South Station...

Director FRANK PERRY starts shooting his next picture, "DOC" sometime next month in Spain. In this era of major studio budget cutbacks, United Artists is allowing PERRY $2 million to complete his project... "DOC" is a western based on the Doc Halliday-Wyatt Earp-Katy Elder legend, but with a twist. The screenplay is being given a "with-it today" contemporary character identity, so as to be more relevant to todays youth oriented audiences...

FRANK PERRY is one of the most highly accomplished directors on the scene today. His previous credits include the critically acclaimed "LAST SUMMER", "DAVID AND LISA", and "THE SWIMMER". If previous successes are any indication, "DOC" should prove worth waiting to see... JERRY LEWIS tries too hard in his latest vehicle "WHICH WAY TO THE FRONT?" He places a misguided emphasis on the quick gag rather than sustain the comic effect throughout the entire picture... His brand of humor was considered "in" 10 to 15 years ago; today, fortunately, it's on the way out. Not that he doesn't give it all he's got. LEWIS only directs, produces and stars in "THE FRONT". Just could be he spread himself too thin... ANDREW V. McLAGLEN, son of the late great VICTOR McLAGLEN, directs JOHN WAYNE in "CHISUM". McLAGLEN received his directing apprenticeship years back on the CLINT EASTWOOD starred "RAWHIDE"... OTTO PREMINGER's new film, "TELL ME THAT YOU LOVE ME, JUNIE MOON", was filmed entirely on location along the North Shore area... That controversial graveyard scene which resulted in a Court suit, was photographed in Braintree.

North Quincy Improvements Second Phase Gets Underway

The second phase of the North Quincy Improvement Project–costing an estimated $687,000–got underway this week.

Ground breaking ceremonies Tuesday morning at Belmont and Hobart Sts., signaled the start of public works improvements in a 50-block Montclair area.

Taking part in the ceremonies were Mayor James R. McIntyre, Public Works Commr. John M. Browne, Project Director George Fleming and other city officials.

Improvements to the area, north of Hobart St. to the Montclair marshes will include new streets, sidewalks, curbstones, resurfacing, planting of trees and shrubs.

The first phase, completed a week ago, was in a 25-block area and cost $369,000.

The public improvements project is part of an over-all $2.8 code enforcement program, most of it financed by a federal grant.

Two more phases will be under contract by March 1971. The entire project will cover 149 full city blocks.

Thieves Delay HN Awards

Five Houghs Neck scholarship winners, scheduled to share a total of $1,050. in checks as part of the Houghs Neck Community Council's July 4th program, received letters instead.

The council's Scholarship bankbook was among several stolen from the home of treasurer Robert F. Denvir of 111 Spring St. during the previous weekend.

In the letters, president John B. Powers explained that under Massachusetts law, missing bankbooks must be advertised for three consecutive weeks before a new book can be issued. The entire process takes about a month.

However, on Aug. 10, checks will go out to Stephen Girard, Bonnie Sparks, Mary Ann Ward, Margaret O'Neill and Donna MacDonald. And that's a promise!

20 Beauties Compete Friday For 'Miss Quincy Race Week'

Twenty South Shore beauties – including two sisters – will compete for the title of Miss Quincy Bay Race Week Friday night as a feature of the three-day Sidewalk Bazaar promotion.

–Ellen Kickham, 17, Bromfield St., Wollaston.

–Holly Sloan, 19, Clarendon St., Weymouth.

–Gay Goodenough, Garrison Rd., Hingham.

–Darla Holmes, 20, Lakeview Ave., Holbrook.

–Karen Dever, 16, Endicott St., Weymouth.

–Marguerite Robinston, 17, Plain St., Marshfield.

–Kathi Nolan, 17, Boles Rd., Marshfield.

–Adele Peaslee, 18, Packard Ave., Hull.

–Joan Denaro, 18, Harvey Drive, Dedham.

–Sarah Brownell, 20, of Marblehead.

Donated prizes include:

A complete dress ensemble from Sears Roebuck, a $100 scholarship to the Carol Nashe Career Model and Charm School, Boston, gift certificates from Remick's of Quincy, Cummings, Lerner, Bell Shop, wigs from South Shore Beauty Supply and Wig Village, a queen's crown from Weddings by Mabelle, a transistor radio from South Shore Television & Appliance, a wallet from Jason's Music and Luggage, roses from Quint's, a year's gift subscription to the Quincy Sun.

The contestants will meet at the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy Center at 7:30 p.m. Friday night. There they will change into swimsuits.

At 8:45 p.m. they will participate in an antique auto parade from the Chamber grounds through downtown Quincy to the pageant site in front of the Hancock Bank at Hancock St. and Cottage Ave.

Louise S. Cassani will be emcee for the program.

Finn Tells Sen. Kennedy:

Drugs Arrests, Burglaries Up

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Drugs arrests and burglaries are rising sharply in Quincy, Police Chief Francis X. Finn disclosed during a Law Enforcement Roundtable conducted here by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

SPOTLIGHT ON CRIME--Sen. Edward M. Kennedy calls for more action--not words--during Crime Conference discussion at Quincy City Hall. At right are Quincy Police Chief Francis X. Finn and Sheldon Krants, director of Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement.

Finn said drugs problems and burglaries are increasing together--citing the case of one addict who stole a color TV set a day to feed his habit.

At the City Council conference Monday, Finn--one of six law enforcement experts participating--revealed these statistics:

●--In 1969, there were 111.

●--So far this year [end of June] there were 101 - 99 more than during entire 1966.

●--In 1966, there were 216 burglaries and minor robberies arrests.

●--In 1969, there were 957--up 741.

Alcohol is the second biggest problem, Finn said.

"Those not on drugs or barbituates are on alcohol," he said. "This causes more accidents and more family problems."

Kennedy called for action - not words - at every level of government--from individual citizens and from civic groups.

"We have learned the hard way that crime will not yield to words," Kennedy said. "Mere rhetoric does not solve crimes. Politicians' promises do not keep our streets patroled. Shouting about scapegoats does not rehabilitate offenders.

"There are no magical answers to the crime problem. There are only difficult challenges to be met and hard tasks to be performed and an urgent need for thought and planning and action."

The roundtable on law enforcement problems, fifth in a series Kennedy is conducting throughout the State, was attended by a standing room only crowd.

Kennedy asked for "the kind of information and comment by some of the outstanding police chiefs in the Commonwealth that will aid federal programs on the statute books on crime and crime prevention."

He received his answers from Chief Finn, Newton Chief William Quinn, Wayland Chief Corrin McGrath and Worcester Chief George O'Neil; Timothy Moran, director of Northeastern University's Law Enforcement Extension program, and Sheldon Krantz, director of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice.

Sidewalk Bazaar 'Smash Hit', To Be Annual Summer Event

"Hancock St. looks like Broadway".

"I've never seen so many people in downtown Quincy--not even during the Christmas shopping season."

"They should do this every year".

THEY ARE!

Last week's Sidewalk Bazaar--a summer promotion experiment--was such a smash hit, it will become an annual event. It brought out the biggest summer crowds in Quincy's history. And it sent sales up, up, up.

"It will definitely be an annual event from now on," said Bernard C. Moore, executive secretary of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce who served as coordinator for the Merchants Division sponsored promotion.

The man credited with the idea and for putting it over as general chairman, Remo DeNicola, of South Shore Television & Appliance noted, happily:

"We were looking for unity in Quincy Center. And we found it by working together and giving the people something they wanted--a lot of old fashioned fun and old fashioned bargains."

DeNicola said most business stores he checked reported business up during the three-day event. This despite the fact that Thursday, the opening day, was greeted by rain.

"Ten stores we checked for sample reports said their business was tremendous and away above average," Moore declared.

"They meant," he added, "both in the number of people stopping at their stores and in actual purchases."

Moore said the turnout for the promotion brought "the biggest crowds of any summer in the city's history."

He said that on Friday afternoon and evening--the peak hours of the three-day event--"there were more people in downtown Quincy than on a Christmas shopping day."

An estimated 5,000 persons jammed the corner of Hancock St. and Cottage Ave. for the Miss Quincy Bay Race Week contest, Friday night, giving the area the appearance of Times Sq. on New Year's Eve.

Last year, for comparison, less than 500 turned out for the contest held in the same spot.

A Tribute To Dr. Stein..

General Practitioner Vanishing American

BY DR' CHARLES DJERF

The medical condition in Quincy should be surveyed very critically, not only by the public, but by the profession.

The population has not increased exceptionally - we are growing slowly - but conversely the number of doctors has not increased adequately.

The redoubted general practitioner, the paragon of rapport friend and confidant, the doer of social deeds and kindness, a cementer of social cohesion, is going.

The epitome of the old school G.P., Dr. Max Stein recently retired. Dr. Stein is not old but the pressure of a phenomenally large practice, burdened by his responsibilities as a member of Anesthesia Associates put him in a dilemma. The requirements of hospital surgical standards demanded a judgement.

Monahan Retires As P.O. Superintendent

Quincy Postal Supt. William P. Monahan is retiring July 31, closing out a 31-year career with the U. S. Postal Department.

As superintendent at the Quincy Post Office he was responsible for moving more than a million pieces of incoming and outgoing mail a week.

Monahan, who is only 55, is retiring 15 years ahead of mandatory retirement age 70 to begin a new career.

"I am not at liberty right now to disclose what it is," he told the Quincy Sun. "But it is a good opportunity for me and one I cannot pass up."

Vincent Noe of Stoughton will serve as acting superintendent until a permanent successor is appointed.

As superintendent at the Quincy post office since February, 1968, Monahan directed the service of mail to 19,000 Quincy residences and between 1,100 and 1,200 business firms.

Monahan rose to superintendent through the ranks, starting as a substitute clerk at the South Postal Annex in December, 1939.

WILLIAM P. MONAHAN

"After 31 years, it is with mixed emotions that I retire," he said. "It has been a wonderful experience and I am grateful for the opportunities I have received in the postal service.

"It has been a pleasure to serve the people of Quincy. I am grateful to the associations I have had and to the men I have

Drugs Arrests, Burglaries Up Finn Tells Kennedy

Among the needs listed by the law enforcement professionals were:

●–Citizen involvement.

●–Federal programs to try new things, with the state to pick up costs of some of the programs.

●–Finances to aid the state in its drug addiction programs.

●–Police education to meet community services and human needs and to know resources within the community.

●–A complete review of present laws and a model criminal code and arrest procedure for the entire country.

●–A security code for business and industry to secure businesses properly, either by burglar alarm system or bell, as needed.

●–A traffic control system to relieve officers and put them into neighborhoods where they are needed.

●–Twenty-four hour a day mental health and other service centers to get police "off the hook."

Krantz, who said that he was "encouraged about some of the things that have happened in this State and that will happen," said the $5 million in federal funds was just now getting out to local communities.

In outlining his goals, he stressed the need for help in youth and juvenile crimes.

"HEW is a joke," he said, "HEW has abdicated its responsibility. The juvenile justice system is impossible. Each State needs finances to aid its programs in the field of drug addiction."

Chief Finn pointed out that 80% of police services dealt with non-criminal types of action, many involving domestic crises. Police education and knowledge of resources within the community are necessary to solve these problems, he said.

Chief McGrath agreed with Finn that nearly 80% of police calls were non-criminal, accidents or domestic problems.

"Police have taken on many duties because there was no one else there to handle them," he said.

Moran said the aim of Northeastern University's Law Enforcement Program and seminars, is to "make the person a true professional in the law enforcemnt field," he said.

Quincy Probation officer Paul Ladas, responding to Kennedy's request for comments by spectators, asked a study of judicial processes that now leave police officers "hamstrung."

"We lose young people because they know that crime does pay," he said.

Kennedy, a member of the National Crime Commission and its sub-committee on Criminal Laws, outlined Congressional aims for the Law Enforcement Assistance Program, which he says has many problems.

"The first job this year is to push the Administrators of the Program to get organized so that our states and localities will not be deprived of the additional resources they so urgently need," he said.

Other goals are to:

●–Make sure research and development efforts are not shortchanged.

●–To get the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Program moving.

●–Strengthen enforcement of the federal gun control law.

Chief Finn called the roundtable "a valuable experience for all of us."

Kennedy, in closing, said "We should be able to get resources into the communities to enable them to meet problems. I think we must give resources to these men so that they can do their job."

Mayor James R. McIntyre introduced Kennedy. He credited him with:

"Doing an exceptionally fine job for the City of Quincy, particularly in Federal funding. Whatever we have received is due to his efforts in Washington."

Quincy Schools Awarded $20,599 Education Grant

The Quincy Public Schools have been awarded $20,599.12 by the Massachusetts Department of Education under Title III, National Defense Education Act.

Of this, $13,611.91 is for secondary science programs; $2,477.68 for elementary science; and $4,509.53 for elementary reading projects.

The announcement is made by Stewart S. Sargent, ES '70 Federal Aid Coordinator for Quincy Public Schools.

twice–Thursday and Friday evenings.

The impact was also felt outside of the downtown area.

The "Prince of Pizza" on Southern Artery reported a 22 per cent hike in business opening night of the promotion.

"We have had many favorable comments from businessmen and the general public," said Moore. "The consensus is that this was the best promotion ever held."

There was a variety of activities that helped bring the crowds in: band concerts, banjo band, square dancing, old movies, art show, barbershop quartets and chorus, strolling minstrels, sidewalk cafes, antique auto parades, & special exhibits.

It was a good time for all.

"It proved," said DeNicola, "that if you give the people something they want and something they can enjoy, they'll come to Quincy regardless of what time of year it is.

"And it proved that we can all work together–the business community and city officials–to put on a promotion that is beneficial to all."

worked with."

A World War II veteran, Monahan served with the Army from 1943 to 1945 in the European Theatrer where he was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service.

He worked as a clerk in Quincy from 1951 to 1954 when he was promoted to foreman of mail at the South Postal Annex.

He was transferred back to Quincy in 1955 and promoted to superintendent of the North Quincy Post Office the following year. In 1957 he was named superintendent of the Wollaston Post Office.

In October 1965 he was elevated to assistant superintendent at the Quincy Post Office and promoted to superintendent in 1968, succeeding Frank Anselmo who retired.

Born in Somerville, he lived in Dorchester before moving to his present home at 9 Johnson Rd., North Weymouth in 1950.

Married to the former Ann J. [Shiel] of Dorchester, they have two daughters, Mary and Betteann.

Mary, a teacher at St. Jerome's School, North Weymouth, is listed in the 1970 issue of "Outstanding Young Women of America".

Betteann is a senior at Merrimack College in North Andover.

Lewis Corwin United Fund Chairman

Lewis A. Corwin will be chairman for the Transportation Equipment Section in the 1970-71 Massachusetts Bay United Fund Campaign, announces Thomas H. Wyman, Industrial Division Chairman.

Mr. Corwin, manager of compensation and benefits for the Quincy Shipbuilding Division of General Dynamics, will coordinate the solicitation of 11,744 employees in 39 transportation equipment firms in the Massachusetts Bay area. He lives in Braintree.

Sunbeams

The Kennedy name still has its magic.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in Quincy this week to speak at a police conference on crime, drew a good crowd to the City Hall council chamber.

It was interesting to note that most of those who turned out were women. And, women of all ages. They outnumbered men by about 5-1.

TWELVE Houghs Neck residents who attended the recent wedding of Gerard Nichol to Miss Margaret Mary Cushing in Kansas City, Mo., are still smiling about the "transportation race."

Gerard is the son of long-time popular Quincy Police Officer and Mrs. Joseph Nichol.

And, waiting for them at the Kansas City airport when they arrived were Joseph and Louise Moran, Elizabeth and Daniel Herlihy, William Frisoli, Daniel and Marilyn Morrell.

HISTORIC NOTE: Did you know that the family of James S. McCormack, former Ward 3 city councillor and state senator, is linked historically to Abraham Lincoln?

The lieutenant governor candidate's middle name is Shields. He's named after his great grand uncle James Shields who once challenged Abe to a duel.

It was back in 1842. Shields and Lincoln were political foes in Illinois and four letters appeared in a local newspaper needling Shields. One letter indicated Shields had married a fat 60-year-old-widow.

He hadn't but it got his dander up. Lincoln reportedly had written one of the letters but took blame for all four.

Shields challenged Lincoln to a duel. The latter had choice of weapons. Lincoln, of course, was tall and rangy. Shields was short and stocky. Abe wisely selected cavalry broad swords.

When it came time for the duel it was soon evident the match was not only unfair--but ridiculous. Lincoln towered over Shields. Abe illustrated this by clipping twigs off a tree high overhead while waiting for the call to fight.

A peace treaty was then drawn up by their seconds and the pair shook hands.

"I did not want to kill Shields and felt sure I could disarm him," history quotes Lincoln. "Furthermore, I didn't want the damned fellow to kill me, which I rather think he would have done if we had selected pistols".

Lincoln, of course went on to become President. But Shields had a brilliant political career, too: U. S. Senator from Missouri, and first governor of the Oregon territory. He was also a general during the Civil War.

OBSERVATION: Band concerts by the Morrisette and Bryan Post bands during last week's Sidewalk Bazaarpromotions broughtback a lot of fond memories to the many who turned out for them. Typical reaction: Why don't we have more concerts like this?"

And one encouraging thing about it were the youngsters who seemed to enjoy the music, too.

It was soothing, and put everyone in a good mood. People smiled at one another or chatted about the good old days. They were friendly.

It was all relaxing.

It did something to you -- and for you -- that noisy rock 'n roll could never do. It just made you feel good.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The Mothers

Mother of the bride and mother of the groom I do wish I could impress upon you the importance of shopping early for your dress.

By early, I mean three or four months ahead of the wedding date. It is true bridal shops carry a selection of mothers' dresses which you can buy right from the racks but like bridesmaid dresses, there is only one of a style, however, each dress comes in a variety of colors and sizes and can be ordered for you.

Again, like bridesmaids' gowns, it takes at least six weeks for the order to be completed. Then you must allow time for fittings and any alterations that might be necessary.

The brides' mother has first choice on color. However if she is a thoughtful person she will take into consideration the future mother-in-law's favorite color and try to work around it. Better yet the mothers will shop together and know their dresses will complement each others' and the bridal parties. Incidently this is a perfect way to help cement relationship for the children with their future in-laws.

And mothers, never, no never wear your mink stole or coat down the aisle. The only time a coat is acceptable is when it is part of an ensemble.

Shoes to match the gown are stunning. Your hat and bag may match or contrast. For a really smart effect pin your corsage onto your bag. This will avoid discoloring your gown and the feeling the corsage will fall off any minute.

Your gloves must be white to be correct. The right length is one to one and a half inches between the bottom of your sleeve and the top of the glove.

Now you are your prettiest. The day has arrived. The ceremony is about to begin. Take a deep breath mother-of-the-groom [and tuck in that tummy] with your head held high and a smile, down the aisle you go on the arm of an usher, and dad following.

At the exact time the wedding is supposed to begin the bride's mother following the advice given the groom's mother, walks down the aisle. Once she has started no one is allowed down the center aisle except the bridal party. Any last minute guests must go to the side aisles.

'Dutch Treat' Luncheon For Survival, Inc. On July 29

A "Dutch Treat" luncheon with the dual purpose of enlisting women as fund raisers for Survival, Inc., and benefitting the fund itself, is scheduled for July 29 at noon at Sherry's.

Mrs. Joseph Whiteman is hoping that at least 100 interested women will respond to her call for help in the drive to raise $250,000 for a professional center and drug program for Quincy.

Dr. Charles Djerf, president of Survival, Inc., will discuss the proposed program. Mrs. Anthony Colucci, chairman of the Aug. 25 Night at the South Shore Music Circus, will have tickets available.

Other women will be encouraged to volunteer their efforts in fund-raising events at their home, or to offer suggestions for group ventures.

Luncheon reservations at $2.75 each may be obtained by calling Mrs. Whiteman at 472-9037. One dollar from each ticket sold will go to the Survival, Inc. fund. Monday is the deadline for reservations.

Why?

By Sharryn Goldberg
29 Bedford St.,Quincy

Why is there hate?
Why can't we communicate?
Why is there sadness?
Why not happiness?
Why are we enemies?
Why aren't we friends?
Why, or why, can't we live as sister and brother?
Why can't we help each other?
Why is there war?
Why can't there be peace?
Why can't there be love and live as one?
What can be done?

Ledger Of Life

By
Margaret DeAngelo

I should start to write my story
On paper white and clean.
And enter every Item -
Though it be good or mean.

I must enclose a chapter
On the days that I will be
A little bit impatient
At the things surrounding me.

So as each page is finished
And I go to bed at night -
I'll relive the day in passing:
Did I do wrong or right?

When I reach that final chapter,
I hope the records show
That I had always done my best
And had been nice to know.

My Fellow Man

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy

My fellow man
Where does he stand
In my eyes
And the eyes of others?
When will he speak
Of the truth I seek
Will it be opened
Instead of smothered?
Why can't it be Spoken to me
Must it alway be hid
And covered?
My fellow man
Where do I stand
In your eyes
And the eyes of others?
You speak of Peace
I don't know why
While the killing goes on and on
I've heard you say,
"We'll win someday!"
But have we the strength
To go on?
My fellow man
Please understand
The answer is still a mystery
And all too soon
We'll realize too
That it was all
A part of History
So here I stand
My fellow man
As tall as I can be
I'm searching too
For the truth it's true
Why is it still kept
From me?

Novel Budget Barbecuing

Bologna takes to the grill! A novel way to satiafy hearty appetites while balancing the food budget.

While you're barbecuing serve a colorful Fruit Fizz. Combine 1 can (12 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate with 1 can (6 oz.) frozen Hawaiian punch concentrate and 3 quarts (96 oz.) The Uncola, chilled. Pour into large pitcher. Add ice cubes. Makes 15 (8 oz.) servings.

Barbecued Bologna Roll

2 lbs. unsliced (2½ inch) bologna
½ cup prepared mustard
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ cup The Uncola
8 hamburger buns

Score bologna. Cover with water and simmer for 25 minutes or until heated through. Remove from water. Combine mustard, onion, brown sugar and The Uncola. Place bologna on grill. Baste generously, turning often until glazed and lightly browned—about 20 to 30 minutes. Cut into ¼ inch slices. Serve on buns using three slices of bologna for each sandwich. Makes 8 sandwiches.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Who Needs Milk–I'm Not a Baby...

Maybe you're not, but your body has needs which must be met. Most sensible reducing plans include a daily pint of milk and most foolish dieters eliminate this figuring they're "saving" calories.

Well, it's true that you might be saving calories, but you certainly are also losing a most pleasant way to ingest many important nutrients. Take calcium for instance. Each year one fifth of the body's calcium [three to four pounds] must be replaced. A lack of this important mineral can cause nervousness as well as deprive all your muscles of strength and elasticity.

Up tight? Have a drink. . .of milk.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

"JUST LOOK AT YOU!"

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of July 24-31

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - The pace becomes hectic as circumstances combine to keep you on the go. Serving your own interests keeps your energies high.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Your enthusiasm for family affairs has been aroused and you are staying close to home. Plenty there to keep you occupied.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - There are so many places to go and so many people to see, you hardly have time for yourself - but you are enjoying every moment.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - You are occupied mainly with straightening out and improving your own possessions, adding that extra, satisfying touch to things.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - So much to do, you hardly know where to start. Take everything a step at a time and never mind the day dreaming this week.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - You are so busy laying the ground work for next month, you have no time for anything else. It is well worth the effort though.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You must finish expanding your own interests within the next month and now is the time to talk with others about your plans.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Career and official business matters taking precedence over everything else. See the top man for support or promotion.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - If you are not on vacation yourself, you are entertaining those who are - either way, you are enjoying yourself this week.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Keep your thoughts and plans realistic and try to avoid giving way to day dreams or impractical solutions toward end of week.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Partnership affairs can keep you hopping but you are so enthused about it all, you don't mind the added work.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Your relations with your employer have improved rapidly and you feel very enthusiastic about your work even though it's tying you down.

New Approach To Feeding 40 Million More School Children

A plan to use the resources of the nation's foodservice industry to help feed an additional 40 million youngsters under the National School Lunch Program has been announced by the National Restaurant Association (NRA).

NRA represents all segments of the $46 billion foodservice industry. Its figures show that only 20 million students are receiving school lunch benefits today under the program whose original intent was to serve 60 million, according to NRA President, Martin L. Horn, Jr.

Horn said that the way has been opened for private industry to bring its expertise to bear on the problem of feeding the nation's school children by a change in the Department of Agriculture's School Lunch Regulations.

"Until the recent change, a school which wanted to use a private contractor to provide lunches was unable to benefit from federal subsidies," he stated.

"Now schools can engage private foodservice contractors to provide not only lunches but even breakfasts at low cost and to meet stringent nutritional standards."

Over half of the nation's private schools, including colleges, already employ food management companies.

Under the revised regulations, a foodservice contractor can prepare the lunches at a central point and deliver them to the school. In some instances, the contractor, drawing on his experience in other feeding operations, such as airlines, industrial plants, etc., may find a way to install facilities, possibly including vending machines.

"Actually," Horn added, "the new regulations have the effect of expanding the school's freedom of choice and operation by giving it the option of hiring a contractor. This freedom was denied for 24 years. We are confident that those schools, and there are many, which have no program for feeding children will look to us for guidance and assistance."

The average per meal cost to the child who pays for his lunch is 35 cents for what is termed a Type A lunch. The lunch may be hot or cold.

"Such a lunch, obviously, costs much more than 35 cents —probably two to three times that amount. This difference is, of course, made up by the federal and state governments," Horn pointed out.

James McGurl Wins Top Sidewalk Art Prize

A total of 1,422 judges - the general public - picked the winners of the various prizes contributed by the Quincy Chamber of Commerce.

Second prize, a $15. gift certificate, went to Eleanore B. McCarthy for "The Last Whaler", an oil painting, while Donald Heath's water color, "Winter is a Lonely Time", received a $10 certificate.

Honorable mention, $5 gift certificates, went to Dorothy Reid, Lillian Gunderson and Paul Crimi.

Use of acrylics was demonstrated by Mrs. Annette Paglierani.

Other artists exhibiting were: Jennie Clancy, Irene Barry, Madeline Cohen, Paul Crimi, Jovce Dwyer, Bill Fein, George Fenby, Cynthia Flanders, Jeannette Koe, Dorothy Lach, Emma Littlewood, Mary Layo, Hugh MacFarlane, Virginia Moore, Helen Morris, Mrs. Humberto C. Neves, Helen Shoener, Shirley Silver, Helen Smith, Dorothy Wiltshire, Christine Adams and John Knowles.

The Bazaar also added approximately 20 new members to the Quincy Art Association. The association will change its meeting place in the fall to the Woodward School for Girls.

Members, along with those of several other art associations, will exhibit next at the Braintree Plaza in September.

HOW TO PREVENT SUNBURN

Overdoses of sun can cause skin cancer and a variety of lesser ailments, not to exclude extreme pain and discomfort at the least. So, here are some things to keep in mind.

Never wait until you see red to cover up. Redness doesn't begin to show for two or three hours after you've burned. The total damage may not appear for 24 hours - by which time you could be mighty miserable. Aspirin can help keep you from burning. Take a couple before hitting the beach.

For light-skinned persons, the first exposure should be no more than 15-20 minutes on each side. You can increase this time by one third each day safely.

Many suntan lotions are water soluble, so don't forget to reapply frequently, especially after swimming. And, unless you already have a good tan, never put your faith in baby oil - you'll fry.

Money is meaningless without good health. So, even if you're a sick millionaire, have your chauffeur drive you to NABORHOOD REXALL PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., No. Quincy or call PR 3-6426 for fast, prescription service.

Our remodeling is coming along fine. We will be completed soon. Wait till you see how modern and efficient we will become. Thank you for your patience during this period.

I expect to have a great reopening sale with marvelous values. Watch for our ad."

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Cudos For Dr. Stein

He had to relinquish one or the other. He, as I, if I were in his place, would have chosen the easier, if not lesser of his two arts.

When one describes his practice as large, it was unbelievable. He rarely turned away patients - always exhibited a diagnostic acumen and was sharp, accurate and intuitive, all with a minimum of lab work. His rapport with patients was ideal. Respect was overflowing. Patients manifesting social stature or affected importance never altered his professional aplomb. I doubt if he ever received a half of his charges! He forsook personal leisure and pleasure to respond when called.

When one applauds another Doctor, it is for appreciation of the merits and dignity the person characterized. Words do not adequately express the admiration most of us felt for him, and perhaps it would be most fitting to stop now.

Not many Max Steins have blessed our community, but certainly there will be others - however, they will be in another form of practice. He was the more recent exemplar of the Huntings, Sargents, Daltons, Ashes, Quinns, Jacobs, Nathans and Chiminellos, etc.

The Encomium could also extend to Dr. Peter Angelo and Dr. Astro DiBona, who have left the rosters, fast being depleted, to conform to modern demands.

Don't despair yet, for we still have superstars such as:

T. V. Corsini, G. Dalton, A. Mahoney, L. Amrhein, M. Entin, A. Rappeport, E. Read, R. Orbach, F. Rubin, W. MacPhee, J. Brudno, A. Davis, J. Carella, G. Davidson, I. Edelstein, F. Constanza, R. Dorne, F. Segarra, W. Helfrich, A. Moore, S. Soloman, L. Jacobs - G.P's only ¼ of the physicians on our staff.

When the house call faded into the past, we lost the neighborly, homespun association, which meant so much for the interpersonal touch, an intrinsic element, when the art of human relations was more important than diagnosis - people seemed to get well often despite treatment.

The modern internist now surplanting the G.P. is well trained, devoted, efficient and indispensable. Patient relations will have a new-found warmth with more professional expertise and with an office as the love seat - the parlor has gone. Dedication is not the privilege or distinction of the past, the doctor as a specialist is still the man of old with accoutrements.

My plea to the new and younger professionals is to take a look at the future in an attempt to make up with efficiency what has been lost by insufficient practitioners.

If they asked me I would recommend group association either as internists or mixed specialties, to assure security, intermarried disciplines to replace the G.P. - create a private clinic or accident floor away from the hospital which has become an indifferent repository lacking warmth and demeaning individual worth - utilize paramedical personnel.

The hardest thing for people to do is accept change or better yet to prepare for it.

Go ahead invent and create a clinic - new - bold - enterprising, with the individual patient as paramount in importance, not the one dispensing services. His record will come as an indelible abstract as the monument to Dr. Max Stein.

Youngsters To Hold MD Carnival

A neighborhood Carnival Against Dystrophy will be held by Beacon St. children at 21 Beacon St. Aug. 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mary Ann DelGreco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine A. DelGreco, will serve as ringmaster, assisted by Mrs. Paul Farmer and Dominic Palumbo. The carnival will feature grab bags, bean bag, jeep rides, penny pitch, marble shoot, book stall, potholder stand, and refreshment stand.

Children taking part include Patricia, Maureen and Frances Alosi, Carol and Kathy DelGreco, Debbie and Paul Farmer, Steven and Ricky Palumbo, and Kathy Coull.

They got the idea for their own event while watching TV personality Rex Trailer promoting the Carnivals on his Channel 4 show.

Recreation Roundup

With a new bus driver at the wheel, Happy Acres is rolling on to a real happy summer. Sincere thanks to the camp volunteers who through a recent candy drive raised the phenomenal sum of $2,000 and to the various civic and fraternal organizations who brought the sum to $3,000 with donations.

Now 15 of the camps athletes will be able to leave on Aug. 13 for a three day stay in Chicago while participating in the Chicago Special Olympics. For a touch of international flair, Happy Acres is fortunate to have Martin Montillot, a 21 year old volunteer from France.

It's no wonder the U. S. is expected to win the 1985 Olympics with such promising young tennis stars as Danny O'Brien of Forbes Hill, Stephen Melzard of Snug Harbor and Don DiCristafaro of Fore River who can really raise a racket.

Supervisor Joe Daly and his staff feel fortunate to have such enthusiastic junior leaders fixing up the boats and doing odd jobs at the Black's Creek boathouse. Shaking off the rustiness of the winter's layoff, Quincy's young Robin Hoods are becoming accurate sharpshooters.

In District One last week at Forbes Hill we saw a great single by Bob Galvin and fine pitching by John Nelson in the junior division game against Wollaston. Bob Sweeney, Judy Costillo and Susan Morrissey of Shea Rink are "fat with dough" from winning the donut eating contest held on Parent's Night. Congratulations to Gayle Bertoni, Lois Malvesti and the Bertrands of O'Rourke junior girls softball team on the 20-1 win over Shea Rink.

The children at Stoney Brae are looking forward to their nature trip to Faxon Park. Wollastons midget baseball team looks spunky with Bobby Hayes pitching and Brian Harding catching.

At Montclair, in District II, the senior baseball team won its first game against Welcome Young with Ron Glennan, Guy Sanderson and Paul Varney as high scorers. Atlantic's junior girls basketball team continued their winning streak by beating Montclair 28-8 while Colleen Campbell poured in 12 points and Nancy Willard, Kathy McSweeney, Judy Abbruzzese and Jackie Adams all helped by scoring.

At Myles Standish Mike Roomian designed a British Flag, Joey Deane the German Pennant, and Terry Meadows printed Love on green paper. All were done in linoleum printing.

Looking good in Squantum's loss to Montclair were junior baseball players Paul McGuiggan, Hanna, Kevin Morrison, Matty Constantino, Davy Harrow, Paul Lacamaro, Ronny Perry Chuck Donley, John Collins, Mike Nee, Mike Dimino, Billy MacDonald and Mike Braun. Eileen O'Sullivan won first prize in the costume contest at Mass. Fields.

In District III at Bayside the juniors had a near win with the fine pitching of Steve Stone against Labreque. Heron Road has Mary DeAngelo and Dennise Walters as running race winners. At Labreque paper mache puppets were produced by Kathy Powers, Johnny Picard, Jean Lorrenzetti, Denise Giordani, Dawn Magee and Ross Halix. A few of Chuck Sullivan's tennis pros at Perkins are Ed Riley, Bob Maffers and Tom Harsey.

Distric IV's Beechwood Knoll had a watermelon eating contest won by Daniel Kenney on Parents Night while some of the winners of the three legged race at Merrymount were Bobby Nevis, Kenny and Lisa McMahon, Bobby Nolan, Susan Reale and Mark Donahue. The Whitwell Street children were taken to the beach for a cool swim from which Caroleine Vincent and Donna Cally hated to part.

Pond Street's midgets are undefeated as they beat Whitwell's team by a score of 13-2 with Jimmy Trubiano and Bobby Roberts as leading hitters. The big story of Elm Street's fierce senior basketball team is in the scoring of Dave Mahoney and the timely tricks of Leo Papile. Hooray for Ruth MacIntyre, Judy Todd, Tracey and Kelly Tobin, Carol DiBona, Anne Fornaro, Mary Ann McCarthy, Dolores Conners, Mary Rose McInnis and pitcher Mary Ilaqua leading Faxon Field to victory over Whitwell 15-7.

In District V, Pollard has some strong defensive midgets like Rich Powers, Kevin Beliveau, Gordie Spencer, Mike Ford, Steve Whyte, Don Whyte, Bemers and Steve MacDonald. Taking first prize in Columbia's piggy back race was Gerry Quintiliani and Danny DiBona. While at Kincaides egg throwing contest Lucy DiRamio and Joan Davenport were victors and they still have their egg. Paul D. DeAngelo of Bradford had his picture taken for the Arts and Crafts exhibit.

Some super water skiiers at District VI's Baker Beach are Bob Foley, Johnney and Bobby Megnia, Matt Dailey and Mike Long. Harborview's mighty senior basketball team squeezed by with a victory over Snug Harbor 30-28. Don Connors was the high scorer while J. J. Conroy and J. C. Mullen were close behind. Charter members of Snug Harbor's Picnic Club include Scott Condo, Mari-Jean Condo, Lynne Adams, Dale Adams, Laurie Adams, Carol Dinenno, Chuck Dooley, Barry Dooley and Nancy Shadiasky. After Quarterdeck's trip to Trailside,Butch Olsen, Richard Olsen, Candy Lamphere, Chris Lamphere and Michael Carderelli drew pictures of the animals which they saw.

Morrisette Gets One Hit But Defeats Dedham

Morrisette Legion baseball team, perennial Zone 6 champion, has little chance of winning the crown this year but will have a lot to say about the eventual winner.

Morrisette, following two straight impressive wins, faced Quincy last night at Adams Field. Friday it is host to league co-leader Weymouth at Adams and next Thursday faces Weymouth again at Weymouth. In between these big games, Morrisette plays at Norwood Sunday.

Weymouth and Braintree were tied for first place at this writing with 12-2 records.

Monday night Morrisette gained its eighth win, 5-2, over Dedham at Adams field although it collected just one hit, Tony Knasas' single driving in the final run in the sixth inning. Walks and some costly errors enabled Morrisette to score three runs in the second one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Bobby Pettinelli, picking up his fifth win as against one loss, pitched a seven-hitter and struck out five. He gave up both runs in the sixth inning.

Sunday Lenny Pepe, last year a Quincy Babe Ruth League star and a student at Abp. Williams, made his first pitching start and turned in a five-hitter as Morrisette topped Foxboro, 8-1, at Foxboro.

Pepe struck out eight and walked six and was given good support at the plate as his mates collected 12 hits.

Morrisette broke up a scoreless battle with two runs in the fourth when Kevin Ryan walked, Tommy Burke singled and both runners scored on a single by Dave Nelson.

After single runs in the seventh and eighth, Morrisette exploded for four in the ninth on a double by Jack Alberti and singles by Steve Sullivan, Burke, Nelson, Pepe and Connie Driscoll.

The lone Foxboro run scored in the eighth inning on two of its five hits.

Knasas, Sullivan, Burke and Nelson each had two hits for Morrisette, while Russ MacDonald, Driscoll, Alberti and Pepe had one apiece.

Morrisette dropped a 3-2 squeaker to Milton last week with all runs coming in the first inning.

Knasas pitched brilliantly in relief after taking over for Jimmy Walker in the first but it went for naught as his mates also were shackled at the plate.

He allowed four hits over the next five innings, struck out eight and walked four.

After Milton scored its three runs, Morrisette came back with its two as MacDonald and Ryan singled and the bases were filled when the Milton second baseman missed touching second base on a force try. Sullivan then singled home two runs but that ended the scoring for the night.

Knasas also had two hits, MacDonald, Driscoll, Ryan, Sullivan, Burke and Bobby Malvesti one apiece.

Osborne Takes Exception To Newspaper Fight Account

Bob Osborne, athletic officer of Morrisette Legion Post, takes exception to reports in a newspaper [not the Quincy Sun] placing the blame for an unfortunate fight and injury to a Braintree player on the Morrisette team.

Osborne declared:

"The unfortunate publicity given the Morrisette-Braintee game of July 8 [won by Morrisette, 3-2] has put us in a bad light," Osborne said. "A Braintree boy had his nose broken in a brief but sickening fight. Although I doubt that anyone knows who threw the punch, a Morrisette player had to sit out one game.

"At a meeting held by Charles Ward, Zone 6 baseball chairman, Morrisette was held not responsible for starting the unfortunate fight. This can be checked with George Christiansen, Weymouth coach; Mr. Ward and Umpire Pryor Hall.

"The statements in the paper criticizing our coach, Ray Cattaneo, were most unfortunate. Ray has an outstanding record as a high school, Legion and pro player and is doing a fine job at Morrisette. The comments in the paper were undeserved.

"We at Morrisette Post are indeed sorry that the Braintree boy was injured, but we will not accept unjust criticism when the facts are not fairly presented. We are proud of our past records in all Legion endeavors and feel our boys are the equal to any in the entire American Legion program."

Quincy Bows To Wellesley

Quincy Legion baseball team following two straight losses tried to get back on the win path last night against Morrisette, which it upset in their first meeting.

Sunday Quincy plays at Foxboro and Tuesday will be home to Milton.

Following a 4-0 win over Canton, Quincy bowed Sunday to Wellesley's District 6-A leader, 8-3, after losing to Braintree, Zone 6 co-leader, 6-4.

In the win over Canton, Dave Murphy came up with one of the best pitched games of the season.

He held Canton to one hit, struck out seven and walked four, two of whom were picked off first base. Murphy faced only 25 batters in the seven-inning game.

After four scoreless innings Quincy scored twice in the fifth and twice in the sixth for the victory.

AAU Track Titles Sunday

The annual New England AAU Track and Field Championships for men and women will be held at Northampton High School stadium Sunday at 1 p.m., N. E. AAU Chairman Ralph H. Colson said today.

Several Quincy and North Quincy competitors are expected to enter the event.

Meet chairman Ray Zeitler of 60 Forbes Ave., Northampton, will accept entries up to noon time the day of the meet.

Men's events are 100, 220, 440, 880, one, three and six-mile runs, long jump, high jump and 16-pound shot put. Open events are five-mile walk and mile relay.

Women's events are 100, 220, 440, 880, mile, long jump, high jump and eight-pound shot put. Open events are the 2½-mile run and 440 yard relay.

In addition to individual awards, a trophy will go to the club scoring the most points. Northeastern U. Track Club and Waltham Track Club are expected to enter full teams.

48 Teams Entered At Furnace Brook

Forty-eight teams, representing every New England State and Canada, will compete at Furnace Brook Golf Club Sunday in a one-day member-guest tournament.

The first foursome will tee off at 8 a.m., with the last scheduled for 2 p.m.

The program is directed by Lou Cugini and his golf committee, John Eramo, Marty Healy, Jim Galvin, Dick Harrison and Everett Bragdon. Dolphy Aimola is golf chairman.

The tournament is 18 holes, medal, net best ball, with handicap.

The final foursome to tee off will have Tom Cavvichi, N.E.A.G. finalist and Rollins College co-captain, playing with host Paul O'Leary of Quincy, a seven-handicapper.

Dinner and presentations will start at 8 p.m.

Quincy Bay Swim Meet Aug. 9

The Quincy Bay Race Week Committee will sponsor its 15th annual one-mile swim for men and 880-yard swim for girls Aug. 9, directed by Henry Willman.

Contestants will start from the Squantum Yacht Club at 2 p.m. The course runs along the beach to a buoy 440 yards away, and back.

Five trophies will be awarded for winners in each race, with a special trophy to the first Quincy boy and girl to finish.

Those interested in competing may contact Willman at the Quincy YMCA.

Last year's winners were Timothy Landry of Manchester Athletic Club and Janice Dawe of Braintree. First Quincy winners were Chris Norton and Mary Ellen Morrissey.

Irwin Weisginger, 1956; John Largey, Jr., 1957; William Weeks, 1958; Andrew Murphy, 1959; Stephen Bronstein, 1960 and 1961; Francis Drake, 1962; Steven Woodward, 1963, 1964 and 1965; Tom Cairns, 1966; Richard Keys, 1967; and Robert Woodward, 1968.

THUMP! THUMP! Nail pounders pound away as back row kibitzers look on. There were a few flying nails but no bruised thumbs reported.

Tourney Winners Announced At Furnace Brook

Top scorers in four Furnace Brook Golf Club meets are announced.

Mrs. Richard Harrison and Tony Spinello received low gross in the Sunday Nite Mixed Scotch Four-Somes; Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Ed O'Neill, Mrs. Edward O'Neill and Dick Harrison tied for low net, Matt Smith was chairman.

Top 10 in a women's flag tournament conducted by Mrs. Barbara Spinello were: Mrs. Dennis Morrissey, Mrs. Thomas Mulroy, Mrs. Paul O'Leary, Mrs. John Hackett, Mrs. George Doherty, Mrs. Joseph DiFederico, Mrs. Felix O'Connor, Mrs. John Eramo, Mrs. Adolph Aimola and Mrs. Richard Harrison.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola was chairman for Wednesday night's Mixed Scotch Four-Some. Mrs. Michael Fallon and Dick Harrison, Miss Virginia McCann and Dolph Aimola tied for low gross; Mrs. Louis Cugini and Mario Serafini received low net; Miss Helen Kelley and John Eramo, second net; Mrs. Raymond McPeck and Frank Foster, Mrs. Aimola and Charles Kusser, tied for third net; Mrs. Walter Phelps and Tony Spinello received fourth net.

A May Bowl Memorial Tournament was held in memory of Mrs. James McGregor, Mrs. Harry Neilson and Mrs. Mario Serafini. Mrs. Michael Fallon and Mrs. John Eramo were winners; Miss Josephine Hinckley and Mrs. John Hackett, finalists; Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Mrs. Harold Sager, consolation winners. Mrs. John Wilson was chairman.

Mothers Invited To Join City Swimming Classes

Mothers! An appeal to join adult swim classes of the Quincy Recreation Department is being made by William F. Ryan, director.

Several years ago, according to Ryan, mothers requested that special times be set aside for classes for mothers. The times were scheduled this year, but mothers did not show up. The Recreation Department would like to have as many mothers as possible participate.

Cooperation of mothers is being asked also in helping the Recreation Department combat the problem of lifejackets and other flotation devices. These objects are very dangerous to the safety of children in the water, and for this reason the City of Quincy has a regulation against them.

To protect children, swimming instructors and others, it is important that when requested by an instructor, the flotation devices [tubes, jackets, etc.] be removed from the water, Ryan said.

GOING UP for volley ball and looking quite comfortable in his Bermuda shorts is none other than Cliff [Kippy] Marshall. If the boys at the State House could only see him.

Sailing Program Revised

The Quincy Recreation Department adult sailing program at Black's Creek has been revised to make lessons more informative, announces Charles L. Alongi, Jr., assistant director.

A class each weekday night will focus on different aspects of sailing, with classes to be repeated each week so that, if missed, students will be able to make up the class the following week. All classes are from 6 to 6:30 p.m. with practice following from 6:30 to 8 p.m., under supervision of boat house director Joseph Daly.

Rigging and nomenclature are scheduled for Monday; basic sailing techniques, Tuesday; rules of the road, Wednesday; racing tactics, Thursday; review and general session, Friday.

Keel Laid For Cargo Ship Three City Blocks Long

The keel for the world's largest cargo transport ship, the Doctor Lykes, was laid last week , at the Quincy Shipbuilding division of General Dynamics.

The 875-foot Doctor Lykes and two sister ships being built at Quincy for the Lykes Bros. Steamship Co. constitute the first in a revolutionary new class of commercial cargo vessels, known as "Seabee" ships.

The ships are the first commercial vessels built at Quincy since General Dynamics acquired the shipyard in 1964.

Using a unique barge-cargo handling system that experts consider superior to any now in existence, the Seabees are expected to give increased impetus to the revitalization of the United States merchant fleet.

Congressman Hastings Keith, a member of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, was the principal speaker at the keel laying ceremony.

Mrs. Frank A. Nemec, wife of the president of the New Orleans-based shipping company, initialed the first keel section in a traditional gesture intended to bring good fortune to the ship.

Roger Lewis, chairman of General Dynamics and Lloyd Bergeson, general manager of the shipyard, also spoke at the ceremony, which began at 8 a.m.

Andrew E. Gibson, Federal Maritime Administrator, was also a speaker.

Immediately following the keel laying of the Doctor Lykes, the keel for the new United States Navy dock landing ship Fort Fisher was laid without ceremony in an adjacent shipbuilding basin.

Witnessing the keel layings were representatives of the Lykes Bros. Steamship Co., Maritime Administration, U. S. Coast Guard, American Bureau of Shipping, J. J. Henry Co. design agents, General Dynamics and political, business, financial and community leaders.

Doctor Lykes is scheduled to enter service in 1972. She and her sister ships, Tillie Lykes and Almeria Lykes, will be used primarily on trade routes from United States ports on the Gulf of Mexico to the continent and Great Britain.

The Seabee has a significant advantage over conventional ships in that she is not required to enter crowded innerports. The vessel can anchor in any protected offshore area, avoiding port congestion and docking limitations and load and unload all her barges in as few as 13 hours.

They are all-purpose merchantmen, designed to carry a variety of dry and liquid cargos in barges, containers and storage tanks, or to handle vehicles in a roll-on roll-off fashion.

Doctor Lykes has a length of 875 feet – equivalent to three city blocks – and a beam of 106 feet. She will have a power plant of 36,000 horsepower, the largest ever installed in a single-screw cargo vessel, and capable of producing speeds of 20 knots or better.

Doctor Lykes will carry 38 barges containing 24,500 tons of cargo. If desired, the cargo space can be used to carry 1800 containers of standard size, roll-on roll-off vehicles or unitized loads. Doctor Lykes can also carry 15,000 tons of liquid cargo in her deep tanks, thus giving the ship a cargo-handling flexibility unmatched by any other vessel.

American producers aren't the only individuals cranking out anti-American slur propaganda. European filmmakers are now crawling into the act. Dutch-born, German based film producer ROB HOUWER, more recently low-balled the ever slipping American image abroad by showcasing "O.K." at the BERLIN FILM FESTIVAL a few weeks back... His picture is based on an alleged incident of two years ago when five U.S. soldiers raped and murdered a 15 year old Vietnamese girl... Evidently Mr. HOUWER has a very short memory. Need he be reminded of the Nazi and Communist war atrocities of 30 years back? What he fails to appreciate is the fact that he is allowed the "freedom" of artistic expression in a country freed of tyranny by the blood and sweat of the American soldier... "O.K.", by the way, was greeted by horrible reviews and even more turbulent audience reaction. The German "hippies" protested their disgust...

SHIRLEY McLAINE and CLINT EASTWOOD are refreshingly amusing in the R-rated comedy, adventure-western, "TWO MULES FOR SISTER SARA"... Who says the dollar isn't worth what it used to be? At a recent Los Angeles fund raising benefit, a JACK BENNEY mini-check of 39 cents, vintage 1939, was auctioned off for $126... Former ace footballers- turned-actors WOODY STRODE and TY HARDIN, are in Rome completing footage of the Civil War western "THE LAST REBEL"... JOE NAMATH and JACK ELAM are the stars in this adventure story of two disillusioned Confederate soldiers and their post-war wanderings... "THE BOYS IN THE BAND" is proving to be as much a box-office blockbuster as it was a Broadway success... The poignantly gripping screenplay and the superb acting make this story of eight homosexuals well worth the price of admission...

ROSY GRIER joins DANNY THOMAS as a regular cast member this coming fall in ABC-TV's "MAKE ROOM FOR GRANDDADDY". GRIER plays THOMAS' accompanist... "MAKE ROOM FOR DADDY" regulars MARJORIE LORD, HANS CONREID, et al, rejoin the cast...LYNDON B. JOHNSON is becoming quite the television personality via the WALTER CRONKITE interview route. CBS is negotiating another L.B.J. in-depth talk special for the fall... Is RICHARD NIXON next?... As exciting a western yarn as "CHISUM" is, it would have been a far superior finished product if it were more historically accurate... And it would have been too, if say, western storyteller SAM PECKINPAH had written the screenplay...

Food Freezer Lockers To Be Installed At Schools

Food freezer lockers will be installed at Broad Meadows Junior High School and at the Quincy Point Daniel Webster School complex with state funds awarded the Quincy Public Schools under Title I ESEA Schools.

The sum of $3,669.75 awarded by the Massachusetts Department of Education, Division of School Facilities and Related Services, Bureau of Nutrition Education and School Food Service under the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 will cover 75% of the cost of the two food freezer lockers.

The new freezers will enlarge the storage capacity and make it possible to take better advantage of surplus foods when they become available.

'It Won't Be Easy'

Msgr. John Allston In 'Goodbye' To Parishioners Sunday

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Sunday morning Msgr. John J. Allston will enter St. Joseph's Church for the last time as its pastor.

He will say good-bye to the nearly 4,000 Quincy Point people who have been his parishioners for 23 years.

It won't be easy.

"I love them very much and it will be very difficult, very difficult to say 'good-bye' to them Sunday," the beloved pastor confessed this week. "They have been a marvelous group of people and they have been very cooperative in every way."

Pastor since May 30, 1947, in the years since he has become as much a Quincy Point landmark as the Fore River Bridge.

Msgr. Allston who is 76 and celebrated his Golden Anniversary in the priesthood in a Solemn Mass of Thanksgiving on June 28, has retired and will live in Dorchester with his sister. Recovering from major surgery which has curtailed his activities in recent months, he will allow himself a full month of rest before resuming limited duties.

"I will be living in St. Gregory's parish where Fr. Sweeney is pastor. He was one of my altar boys," Msgr. Allston explained. "And he has assured me that I will be more than welcome to assist at masses there – and of course, I hope to return here to celebrate mass at the Convent, and at the Church from time to time."

Rev. Paul H. Sweeney, St. Gregory's pastor, was a guest speaker at the evening dinner attended by 600 parishioners to honor Msgr. Allston at his Golden Anniversary.

Looking back at his years at Quincy Point, Msgr. Allston spoke of some of the many things he had enjoyed.

"I enjoyed particularly the children in the school [St. Joseph's School]," he said. "I enjoyed visiting them and being at their entertainments."

Then the pastor recalled his great pleasure at being able to renovate ALL the church property.

If Cardinal Richard J. Cushing is known as "The Builder," surely Msgr. Allston has made a name for himself at Quincy Point as "The Rebuilder."

"We did over the entire interior of the church," he

Opinion Poll Results

Public Favors Right To Cut School Budget

A public opinion poll by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre shows an overwhelming majority of local residents feel the city council and town meeting should have the right to cut school department budgets.

Tabulations based on receipt of 1,250 questionnaires placed 587 persons in favor--and only 198 against--giving the city council and town meeting such pruning power.

Polled by McIntyre were constituents in his First Norfolk senatorial district. The district now comprises Quincy, Braintree and Holbrook and until recently Randolph instead of Holbrook.

The results of the "What's Your Opinion?" poll also showed that of those returning the questionnaires that most of them:

●--Favor a regional sales tax to pay for MBTA assessments.

In Quincy, the 1970 tax rate of $132.20 includes a school budget of $56.91, more than two-thirds that of $75.29 allotted for general expenses of

Voter Drop Here

Aug. 15 Deadline For Registering To Vote

Aug. 15 is the deadline for registering to vote in the Sept. 15 primary election, City Clerk John M. Gillis reminds Quincy residents.

Special evening registrations sessions will be held in August for the convenience of those who have not yet registered, he said. They are:

Aug. 5, 7 to 9 p.m., Fore River Clubhouse, St. John's School and Gridley Bryant School.

Aug. 12, 7 to 9 p.m., Wollaston School and the Quincy School.

On Aug. 15, the final day, registration will be held at City Hall from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

As of July 1, Quincy had 41,54- registered voters--3,035 fewer than a year ago.

Democrats are still in numerical control of the city with 20,119 registered., compared to 11,769 Independents and 9,652 Republicans.

To qualify to register to vote in Quincy, a person must:

●--Be 21 years of age or older.

'House Call' Column Raises Concern Over Braintree Water

Editor, Quincy Sun:

Your column, "House Call", captioned "Please Don't Drink This Water Either, Charlie" was ably written by Dr. Robert Mann and discussed problems with drinking water.

Among the towns mentioned by Dr. Mann as having a high build up of sodium were Braintree, Holbrook, and Randolph, all of whom share the same water supply, Braintree Reservoir.

If Dr. Mann is correct; if the Braintree Reservoir does contain a high sodium concentration; and if this type of sodium is the same used on roads in the winter; there is no great mystery where and how this harmful chemical enters our drinking water.

Just over the Randolph-Braintree line a complex of manufacturing establishments have been built, some just across the street from the Braintree Reservoir. These and others behind them are served by roads; the roads have the standard street drains; and to all appearances; these drains dump into the Braintree Reservoir.

Some months ago I accompanied a photographer from the Braintree Observer to this area and photographs were taken of - to say the least - suspicious appearing water pouring from a large drain into the Braintree Reservoir. This publicity resulted in a brief flurry - protests that the water was just fine - but nothing concrete or any tests [to my knowledge] of what was coming from the drain were made; and like the late George Washington; the matter simply died.

On the Braintree side of the Reservoir a small airport was discontinued some years ago; one reason being that it was feared that somehow it or a plane might pollute the water. Yet, at precisely the same time, the factories were being busily built on the Randolph side of the Reservoir.

Again - to all appearances and common sense; the industrial complex in Randolph at the very least - must be a contributing factor to the deterioration of the quality of Braintree's water supply. The evidence is there - drive up and see for yourself.

In my opinion, this shortsightedness on whoever authorized the building of this industrial complex, is simply horrifying. A sarcastic acknowledgment to this person or persons comes to mind - to make them a formal presentation of a suitably inscribed antique boudoir utensil carefully lined with fur - BUT - this is a serious matter, not only to us, but to generations to come.

We simply cannot keep ruining our natural resources.

Community Action: 'Helping People To Help Themselves'

[The following article is written for the Quincy Sun by Russell E. O'Connell, executive director, Quincy Community Action Organization. In it, he explains what Community Action means.]

By RUSSELL E. O'CONNELL
Executive Director
Quincy Community Action Organization

"In Unity There is Strength" - a cliche to be sure, but some cliches have revealed the truth of history: and throughout history, people have banded together to meet their common needs for survival, mutual protection and social betterment.

In our society, religious, fraternal, labor and political groups each work toward common goals. The concept of community organization, then, is not a new idea.

Community Action is a means of helping people to help themselves. Social scientists recognize the importance of people planning and working together to determine their own destinies. Community Action provides a framework in which this is being accomplished.

In Quincy, the Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc. [QCAO], federally funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Health, Education and Welfare, Housing and Urban Development and private funds, is a non-profit corporation.

Most of the QCAO's activity in Quincy is generated out of two Service Centers in Germantown [9 Bicknell St.] and South-West Quincy [372 Granite St.]

A staff of 14 function under the auspices of a Board of Directors, comprised of 32 members. One-third of this Board is appointed by the Mayor, another third elected from self-help groups and the remaining third from the community at large; i.e. labor, churches, community agencies. The Board of Directors establishes policy by determining and approval overall program direction.

Specifically, neighborhoods were organized through the formation of independent Community Councils in Germantown and South-West Quincy areas. These councils are composed of, and led by, residents of these neighborhoods, who participate in identifying area needs and planning strategies and action programs to meet these needs. They also dialogue with city leadership concerning matters of importance to them, as well as contributing unique insight and experience to the larger community.

In addition, the QCAO provides information and referral services to the community by hiring people who live in the community to function as Community Action Representatives. The Community Action Representatives are trained to be familiar with the services of health, housing, welfare, education and employment programs and then dispense the information to their neighbors.

The QCAO also acts as an advocate on behalf of neighborhood individuals and groups in their relationship and interactions with community institutions affecting their lives.

Some of the on-going programs in the QCAO are Summer Head Start, Camperships, Youth Recreation, Nutrition Education, Senior Citizens Social and Recreation Activities, Vocational Training, Child Care planning, Federal Credit Unions.

QCAO tries to bring existing helping services closer to neighborhood people. The Centers, themselves, often serve as health clinics [wellbaby, immunization and innoculation], meeting halls [Senior Citizens, Neighborhood Councils, Credit Union Board meetings, classrooms [Parent Education, Nutrition Education, Civil Service Training] and recreation centers.

The overall effect of the various activities has stimulated a better sense of "community" in dealing with specific neighborhood matters, and in turn, returns to the larger community [the city of Quincy] political, social and economic involvement, participation and cooperation.

That's what Community Action is all about - people caring about themselves and others.

Dr. Lawrence Creedon ES '70 Vice—President

Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, Superintendent of Quincy Public Schools, was elected vice president of ES '70, Inc. [Educational Systems for the Seventies] at the recent annual meeting in Chicago.

ES '70 is a network of 15 school districts across the country that meet four times a year to exchange ideas on systems management techniques as applied to educational change.

Quincy has been a member for two years, and the Quincy program is coordinated by Stewart S. Sargent.

Other Quincy representatives at the meeting were Lloyd Creighton, principal of Quincy High School; Arthur S. Woodward, coordinator of secondary schools; and William Ullery, project director.

Children's Programs Mornings At Adams Shore On Aug. 3

Children's programs at the Adams Shore branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library will be held at 10 a.m. weekdays during the week of Aug. 3 to avoid conflict with swimming lessons.

Rehearsals are held each day for the Aug. 20 closing program.

Monday there will be a story hour for pre-school and first grade students; Tuesday, "A New You" for fifth grade and up; Wednesday, "Summer Sounds" for third grade and up; Thursday, "Read-a-loud" for second and third grade; Friday, Borrower's Day for all grades.

Many new books have been added to the department the past few weeks, reports Mrs. Blanche Eckert, Children's Librarian.

Sisters Meet Second Time In 50 Years

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

A first trip to the United States for Mrs. Elin Sjoberg of Skone, Sweden, and her daughter, Miss Karen Sjoberg, meant a reunion with her sister, Mrs. Gustav Johnson of Wesson Ave., West Quincy, whom she had seen just once since she left home 50 years ago.

This is their first get-together in 10 years.

It meant also a first meeting of cousins, Miss Sjoberg and Mrs. Robert E. Watts, Jr., of 94 Wesson Ave., Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Barbara. Mrs. Watts had never previously met any of her Swedish relatives.

"Large cars, large homes, and large shopping centers", Mrs. Watts said, impressed her Swedish visitors most. While Sweden has all these, most natives drive small cars or ride motorbikes because of the cost of fuel. Small homes, and smaller marketplaces are also the rule.

Miss Sjoberg, a secretary in the diplomatic service, has spent two years in Africa and has traveled extensively, making friends through the World Friends School. While here, she visited the school's headquarters in New York, for a hectic four-day tour of the city.

She was glad to return to Quincy, Mrs. Watts reports.

Aug. 3 they will return to Sweden.

No Poster Clutter Brett Promises

Rep. Joseph E. Brett says he isn't going to clutter up Quincy with political posters.

Brett, seeking re-election in the Third Norfolk District [Wards 4, 5, 6] announced he "would again refrain this year from posting political signs on lawns, fences, buildings, and in other locations where they would tend to detract from the appearance of the community."

Brett added that he hopes "all other political candidates in Quincy would likewise refrain from littering the city with political posters in a joint effort to keep Quincy as an attractive and desirable city in which to live."

Call 'Hot Line' Urges Marshall

"Call the Hot Line" is the advice State Rep. and Ward II City Councillor Clifford H. Marshall is recommending for air pollution and water pollution problems.

Marshall has written the attorney general's office to officially inform them of complaints against the Boston Edison Edgar Station Plant in Weymouth. He asks an immediate investigation to determine what corrective measures are being taken concerning air pollution.

In the meantime, so that officials will be aware of the numerous complaints. Marshall suggests telephone calls to Frank Reinhardt of the Metropolitan Air Pollution Control at their "hot line" number, 727-5194.

Complaints on water pollution should be telephoned through their "hot line", 727-3855, to Thomas McMahon of the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources Water Pollution Control.

Raytheon Wins $110,071 In Contracts

Government contracts totaling $110,071 for electronic supplies have been awarded Raytheon's Quincy Plant,465 Centre St., by the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio.

The contracts call for 5,000 triode electron tubes, type 5842 and 2,351 beam power amplifier electron tubes, both to be manufactured in accordance with military specifications at the contractor's plant in Quincy.

These are fixed-price supply type contracts awarded after competitive negotiations.

The Defense Electronics Supply Center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services and various other government agencies.

Public Favors Right To Cut School Budget

City government.

Past efforts by Quincy's City Council to seek reductions in expenses of the budget prepared by the School Committee have usually met with failure. The State law provides virtually autonomous rule by the School Committee on its budget.

MARIJUANA VS ALCOHAL

Marijuana users often try to excuse their indulgence by claiming that it is no worse than consuming alcohol. The results of intoxication by both drugs can be harmful. We know that alcohol is dangerous physically, psychologically and socially for millions of people. At present there is no firm evidence that marijuana would be less harmful if used consistently.

While alcohol is a known menace on the highway, the pot-smoker may be an even worse threat. Although consuming marijuana does not impair the motor coordination as rapidly as alcohol, it does distort time and space concepts very radically making it dangerous to drive while under the influence of this drug. Alcohol is now responsible for over half of all highway fatalities. Do we need more death from a new source?

Here Comes The Bride

The Wedding Cake

Q. I have seen so many sizes and styles in wedding cakes but I am completely confused as to how to go about ordering mine. What do I do?

A. First decide whether you want a round cake or square. Next go to your baker and tell him what you have decided in regards to shape and tell him how many guests will be at the reception. He will then show you the minimum size cake for the number of guests. If you want a larger one then that's your decision.

Some bakeries charge extra for the posts that separate the tiers, the top of the cake decoration and any other ornament that is not made from the icing. Be sure you check with them before placing your order.

Today's wedding cakes come under the heading of architecture since they are built rather than made. Each section of cake is built with the aid of a base stand, fluted pillars and frosting into what is no longer merely a cake but a monument. It is supplied by the bride's parents. Together with the food served at the reception it is the last solid food they give their daughter.

The wedding cake sits in all its glory as a sort of symbol of the change in both title and responsibility. The bride has been fed and nourished for years by her father, from this time on it becomes the responsibility of the groom to ensure that his bride gets regular and proper nourishment.

The size of the wedding cake is sort of a grim reminder to the groom that he will need to work pretty hard if he wants to keep his bride.

Another superstition is that the bride should step into the church with her right foot first, to ensure their happiness.

A Man's Best Friend

By Micky Rizzo
87 Sumner St., Quincy

Of money I know I'm not speaking
Nor is my mind in a fog,
I'm simply trying to tell you
That a man's best friend is his dog.

It matters not if his breed
Is Poodle or mongrel hound,
You're very lucky if indeed
A Pal like this you have found.

When you start to feel low
And nothing cheerful for you is ahead,
Your dog is there to share your woe
Reach out, pat him on his faithful head,

When you're happy and life's a rose
He cuddles near you, his tail is wagging
In your lap he snuggles his nose
"He's my master," he seems to be bragging.

When you're ill and confined in bed
With mournful eyes, his tail will drag,
He won't leave you, but instead
Near your side all day he'll lag.

No matter what the trouble might be
He's always there, he's always near,
Cause he's your chum, can't you see?
Where else can you find a friend so dear.

Mean or cruel or whatever you are
To him you are his shining star,
So drink to him from a loving cup
Because a man's best friend is his pup.

What Can Be Done?

By Sharryn Goldberg
29 Bedford St. Quincy

Our boys are being killed
And blood is being spilled.

What can de done
To live as one?

What can we do
To raise, in peace,
Our red, white & blue?

We cannot laugh
Because times are rough,

We cannot show smiles,
Even though the war is away many miles.

That is why we rebel--
Pray, forget, fight, that is all to tell!!!

Canned Salmon Delicious In Oriental Egg Rolls

Oriental Egg Rolls are especially delicious when the savory filling is made with sweet flavored canned salmon.

One of the most popular foreign dishes in America is egg rolls. Equally good as a party appetizer or a savory luncheon dish, they freeze well and cook quickly from the frozen state. In this recipe the delicate flavor of canned salmon contrasts well with the crunchy texture of water chestnuts and bean sprouts.

Oriental Egg Rolls

- 7¾ ounce can salmon, flaked
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 2 green onions, sliced
- 2 cups soybean sprouts, drained
- 4 mushrooms, shredded
- 1 piece preserved ginger, minced
- ½ cup chopped water chestnuts
- 18 thin pancake skins

Combine salmon, cornstarch, salt, sugar and soy sauce. In skillet heat oil and in it saute green onions lightly. Add remaining ingredients, except pancake skins, and saute for 2 minutes. Add salmon mixture, mix lightly and cook for 2 minutes longer. Cool filling, then chill.

Place 1 tablespoon filling on one half of a skin. Flip remaining skin up over filling. Flip two side pieces over filling, then roll into a small cylinder. Seal edge with a little beaten egg. To cook: Heat about 1-inch cooking oil in a skillet to 365°F., and in it fry rolls for about 5 minutes, or until brown on all sides, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with Chinese mustard. Makes 18 rolls.

To make pancake skins: Combine 1 cup flour, 1 cup water, 2 eggs and ½ teaspoon salt to make a thin batter. Pour batter into a cup and stir occasionally. Heat a small frying pan, about 6 inches in diameter, and brush lightly with butter. Pour in about 2 tablespoons batter, and tip pan over cup, rotating pan so that the bottom is covered with a thin layer of batter and any excess batter will drain back into cup. Hold pan over moderate heat for 30 seconds, or until skin is dry. Bake on one side only. Shake out onto a damp towel and repeat, first heating pan again thoroughly. Roll skins in damp towel until ready to fill.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer
Director, The Diet Workshop

Those of you who think that baseball is the national pastime obviously haven't heard of DIETING. This is the real national pastime--everybody's doing it, men and women, and doing it and doing it and doing it.

Why so many? Why so often? Why diet? Taking the last first, it is safe to say that people diet because they want to look good and feel well, as well as to eliminate the health hazards associated with obesity. They do it often because they don't succeed the first time or the second time, or the third...And you wouldn't believe how many. According to one recent study it appears that in the United States that at any given time thirty three per cent of the people are on a diet and thirty three percent are "being careful".

Why diet constantly, when you can make looking your best your special pastime by finishing the task once and for all.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Sun Signs By Regina Russell

Week of July 31 - Aug. 7

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Attending various union, government, activities that are costing you money. Some of you are taking trips with organized groups.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - House almost in readiness for the company you've been expecting? Children can be helpful in planning the pleasurable side of this visit.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Organize that schedule as it's still a busy week with house parties and beach parties keeping you on the move. Friends unreliable.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Local organizations have your sympathy this weekend but it is not the time yet to become involved. Politics begin to stir emotions.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Fund raising or organizational activities cause you to spend emotionally. Be careful not to exceed your budget for these matters.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - You would like to bring your plans out in the open now but action will have to wait. First you must add the details and have discussions.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - What your friends tell you this week, keep to yourself. They are still demanding much of your time but you can relax next week.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Your career or legal affairs taken care of, you can turn your attention to the social scene and see what your friends are doing.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Public affairs can make a lot of noise this week and involve you through your friends. Be careful of your reputation.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - A philosophical turn of mind helps you through the rough spots. The action is easing off a bit and gives a chance to relax soon.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You can get so caught up in public affairs, you don't know it's time to catch your breath. Don't try to push things, take your time.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - People from a distance offer short but welcome relief from hectic work schedule. Get ready for changes that are due next week.

How To Clean Children's Stuffed Toys

A cherished stuffed toy, so dearly loved and so frequently fondled, doesn't take long to become gray and sad. For washable stuffed animals and dolls those sad smudgy faces and crushed, matted fur-like finishes can again be clean and cuddly soft.

When the time comes to take action, follow these suggestions to rejuvenate aging stuffed toys. Brush well to remove loose dirt or dust. Remove garments if possible. Be sure stuffed toy is washable before getting it wet.

Pretreat very dirty spots first with a brush dipped in liquid detergent. For hand washable toys, wash quickly and gently with a mild soap or detergent, dunking toy in and out of warm water.

When machine washing, use a very short wash, spin and rinse or use a delicate cycle with warm water wash. Add ¼ capful or less of NuSoft fabric softener to the final clear rinse, whether rinse is by hand or by machine, for a soft, unmatted finish. Line dry toy where air can circulate or use a dryer on air setting. When using a dryer, place several clean dry bath towels in with toys to act as a buffer.

Wash toy's garments by hand or machine and dry. Iron using spray starch to give a perky, crisp finish and to lengthen time between launderings.

Christopher Nourse, Jr. To Appear In Tel Aviv With Youth Orchestra

Christopher F. Nourse, Jr., of 676 Sea St., is among 100 members of the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra which leaves in mid-August for Tel Aviv to participate in the 10th annual Festival of Music and Drama.

Christopher, a June graduate of Quincy High School, will be a violinist in the talented group of high school musicians who will perform concerts under the baton of musical director Walter Eisenberg in Tel Aviv, Jerusalem and several kubbutzim.

The Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra is the first youth symphony to appear at the annual Festival which has included programs by Pablo Casals, Isaac Stern, Alexander Schneider, Maureen Forrester and Daniel Barenboim.

Nourse, recipient of the Maud M. Howe Scholarship at graduation, will enter Hartt College of Music in Hartford, Conn. in the fall. He will note his 19th birthday on Aug. 21, during the Israel tour.

Eng Legion Community State Service Chairman

Robert Leo Eng of Quincy, Department Vice Commander of the American Legion, has been appointed chairman of the State Community Service program by Commander Leo F. Barry.

Eng, past commander of Quincy Legion Post 95, previously was state chairman of Community Service from 1967-69. He was vice-chairman last year for a ninth term, and has been associated with the State committee on Community Service for 15 years.

A past Norfolk County Commander, Eng has been an active member for 21 years and associated with many of its youth and community programs. At the recent state convention, he was returned to office, as one of five state vice commanders, for a third term. Eng served previously from 1967-68 and 1968-69.

Esdale Chairman For N. Q. Knights 50th Anniversary Banquet

Harold L. Esdale, a past grand knight of North Quincy Knights of Columbus, has been named general chairman of a 50th anniversary banquet set for April 25, 1971 at the Surf Ballroom, Nantasket.

The North Quincy Council began its 50th year on July 1. The milestone will be recognized throughout the entire year and climaxed by the anniversary banquet.

Esdale has appointed Frank Drago, committee treasurer; Charles J. Graham, recording secretary; Nicholas Fasano, publicity chairman; Paul Crowley, ticket chairman, assisted by Forest L. Mason Jr., John J. Sullivan, Sr., Chancellor Frank Dorney, Ray Duval and Clarence Murphy.

James Flynn, chairman, Gerard F. Weidmann, Leo Cavanagh, Hugh Dawe, Moss Dunn, Jack Lydon will work on the ad book; John Burke, chairman, Cornelius Keohane, John Carey, Frank Drago and Edward Keohane, history; Al Danna, chairman, Leo O'Brien, Sal Re and Edward Rush, entertainment.

Eastern Nazarene Student In Bolivia Mission Field

James E. Copple, student mobilization leader for Campus Crusade for Christ International at Eastern Nazarene College, has been appointed by the Nazarene Student Mission Corps to serve on the mission field in Bolivia this summer.

Copple has been a leader in campus evangelism in the Boston area. A senior he is a member of the ENC Student Council, president of Sigma Delta Sigma Society and a state officer in the Student National Education Association.

Over the past five years, five Eastern Nazarene College students have participated in the program sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene to enable college students to assist missionaries. Copple will be doing everything from preaching to building and carpentry work, with special emphasis on a "river ministry" to people in remote areas.

Six Quincy Knights Elected General Assembly Officers

Six Quincy Knights of Columbus members have been elected officers of the Richard Cardinal Cushing General Assembly Fourth Degree to serve through June 30, 1971.

Edward S. Wrublewski of 65 Chubbuck St., was elected captain; Walter P. Wise of 19 Brinsley St., pilot; Walter H. Carroll of 11 Puritan Dr., purser; Blase J. DeLollis of 129 E. Squantum St., scribe; John J. Mahoney of 116 Phillips St., trustee; and Harold S. Crowley of 3 Flagg St., trustee.

Crowley, in addition, will continue as chairman of the sick committee.

Rev. John J. O'Connor of Sacred Heart Church, Weymouth, is Faithful Friar, and John J. Carey of Weymouth, navigator.

Forest L. Mason Jr. of Quincy is chairman of the installation of officers scheduled for Nov. 1, 1970.

Msgr. Allston In Farewell Sunday

noted. "We enlarged the sanctuary and carpeted the entire church. There was one outside door at the front of the church in the middle when I came -- there are now three doors, and canopies extending out 15 or 20 feet to provide protection for people in bad weather."

"The convent was completely done over, too," he listed. "It was all refinished with wall-to-wall carpeting, new dining room furniture and new community room. The chapel in the convent was done over and stained glass windows put in."

"Then we did the school over -- all tile floors and all new desks and new lighting equipment."

Old wooden desks screwed to the floor when the school was built in 1927 were replaced with individual chrome desks with formica tops and the base all one piece. The rectory was renovated from top to bottom --

"There were leaks that had warped the floor boards," Msgr. Allston remembered.

And the grounds were landscaped.

"The people were very generous," Msgr. Allston credited his flock. "They would give me anything, and I couldn't have done all the work that was done here if it weren't for them. They are very proud of their parish, and they bring their visitors to see the Church."

The Monsignor will leave many memories of his pastorate in the Church and in the gardens.

The convent garden contains a marble statue of the Sacred Heart which he placed there in memory of his brother, Frank Allston, who died in 1955.

Another statue close to his heart is that of the Blessed Mother given by the Lebanese people of Quincy Point in memory of their relatives who died in World War II.

A statue to St. Joseph in the rectory garden holds a unique place in his recollections. It was given by the Francis McGowen family in memory of their mother, Mrs. Clara McGowen. Mrs. McGowen, en route from Guam to visit her children at Quincy Point for the first time, was lost when her plane went down in the Pacific, and her body never recovered.

Msgr. Allston reflected fondly on the "popery mixture of all nationalities" in the parish which he served.

"There are many Italians," he said. "There are Irish; Canadians from Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island; there are Scotch; and the Lebanese, in the minority. This parish has at least a few of every nationality."

When Msgr. Allston first came to Quincy Point, no census had been taken and the parish was estimated as 1,900 persons. An official census soon after placed the number at nearly 4,000!

His sense of humor was well known.

Parishioners and visitors were amused for example to find this sign posted on the rectory door:

"We Shoot Every Third Salesman. The First Two Have Already Left".

Msgr. Allston was born Oct. 28, 1885 in Roxbury. A graduate of St. John's Seminary, he was ordained June 3, 1920 by Most Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, D.D. at Cathedral of the Holy Cross. His assignments have been at St. Bernard's Parish, West Newton; St. Patrick's parish, Lowell; and as pastor of St. Michael's parish, Bedford, where he was chaplain also of the Bedford Veterans Hospital.

On May 30, 1947, Msgr. Allston was named pastor of St. Joseph's parish. He was elevated to domestic prelate in November, 1960.

Despite the honor, he has always remained plain Father Allston.

Quincy Point someday will see another Fore River Bridge.

But never another Fr. Allston.

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox

'We—Haul With A Governor'

We've just completed the building of a new Rondette House on our Lake Winnipesaukee lot...and is it a beauty! It has 13 sides...California redwood...each of the three bedrooms is like a slice of pie...the living room like a great big slice...the kitchen another slice. From the living room through sliding glass doors we step out onto the bannistered deck...from which we can fish for the big bass I'm told live there.

My wife has spent the last three weeks getting the very best buys on decorations and furnishings and she's done a marvelous job. Last Friday was set for transporting the furnishings to the new house. We were loaded and on the road by 11:30 a.m. As we pulled out onto Route 128 I soon found that I couldn't get the "We-Haul" 16-foot truck to move above 50 m.p.h. I couldn't figure out what was wrong. I checked the brake...the choke...even the gear shift...all seemed in proper position. As I'd press harder on the accelerator, I'd feel a resistance...a definite holding back. Up-grade the speed would slow to 35 or 40. I was thinking that I should really stop for a mechanical check-up.

About this time my older son said, "Daddy, did you read this?"...it says "the RPM [speed] of this truck is controlled by governing device." I knew in a second why I couldn't go any faster...why I felt the holding back...the resistance. I saw that all I could do was to relax and use an extra hour to reach the new Rondette on Lake Winni. We were victims of that governor.

Governors on trucks may be a very good thing...perhaps they should be on some of our cars. But as we "crept" along...I got to thinking that people...just like the hidden governing device on our "We-Haul" truck...have hidden governors which limit their power to roll on the highways of life.

There is a hidden device in a lot of people called prejudice which limits full speed...prejudices against black people by whites or vice versa...against Catholics by Protestants or vice versa. The governor of negative attitudes about honest work is a hidden device...a lot of young people resist work...the device probably planted there by parents...permissive parents who required no daily chores. The governor which is hidden in many people toward health sexuality...the relationship of a woman to a man is limiting many people in the fulfillment they could know in life. The governor which has for generations been hidden in people about war shrouding this horrible pattern of human relations in patriotism and too often religion. You can go on and name your own governing device which is limiting your life.

The more we push on a person to move out...to get up and get going...to live fully...to be fulfilled persons...the more resistance we feel in that person.

One man told me that I could have disconnected the governor or by-passed it on our "We-Haul" truck...but I didn't know how. And that's the problem many people have with their hidden governors...they don't recognize them and they don't know how to be rid of them. When they know something is wrong and that they are resisting being the full man or full woman they can be, they want to breakthru...yet many have mixed feelings..."If I breakthru I have to give up much of my earlier conditioning...there is risk." Many try to avoid...avoid the need to break thru..."maybe I can 'be' what I want to be and keep the governor on." Some try to manipulate other people...some whine "poor me"..."Why should I need to change?" Some verbalize and intellectualize with platitudes about goodness..."the good old days," Some play stupid...saying, "I just don't understand." Some seek to degrade others who have broken through. The resistance takes many forms.

The persons who want to break thru to the full speed ahead on the highways of life put persons above principles...they trust life...love people...they seek to know their "governing problem"... know what's holding them back...stop denying that it exists...they recognize that love in all its fullness is the key to by-passing the hidden governing device.

Senior Citizens Reduced–Fare MBTA Passes Will Not Expire

Quincy and Greater Boston senior citizens may continue to use their reduced-fare MBTA passes after the expiration date on the cards.

MBTA Acting General Manager Joseph C. Kelly noted that an expiration date coinciding with a senior citizen's birthday was put on the pass originally as a control measure.

But because the response was and continues to be so great the Authority will not require re-registration as it would be a considerable inconvenience to the senior citizens, he said.

Since Aug. 1, 1969, when the MBTA began registering senior citizens living in the transportation district, over 140,000 or nearly 50% of those eligible have received their reduced-fare passes for use on MBTA buses, streetcars and rapid transit trains.

As of July 17, one month before the first anniversary of the effective date of these passes, 140,421 senior citizens, 65 years old or older, had received their passes bearing their photographs. The program was set up in accordance with an Act passed by the General Court earlier in 1969.

Since a permanent registration booth was established at Government Center Station on the Green Line last Oct. 14, registrations have been averaging about 550 per week.

The experience of other systems issuing reduced-fare passes to senior citizens has been that 33% of those eligible apply for them.

Brett Seeks MBTA Contracts Probe

An investigation of MBTA practices in awarding contracts for consultants and legal services is called for in an order filed in the House of Representatives by Rep. Joseph E. Brett of Quincy and Raymond F. Rourke of Lowell.

Brett and Rourke would set up a special commission of five House members with power to summon MBTA and other state officials to answer questions relating to certain expenditures which they feel are questionable.

Disclosures of the State Auditor's office in the most recent annual audit of MBTA books raised questions on the need for awarding so many consultant contracts and for engaging outside legal services at a cost of $430,000 with 22 attorneys on the authority's payroll, according to the co-sponsors. Consultant contracts ran to more than $22 millions, despite a management payroll of nearly $5 million a year, they said.

Brett and Rourke feel the MBTA has an obligation to taxpayers to explain the reasons for many of the seemingly unwarranted expenditures.

Finnish President Unable To Visit Here

Mayor James R. McIntyre has received a letter from Niilo Pusa, Counselor at the Embassy of Finland, indicating that President Urho K. Kekkonen will be unable to visit Quincy because of his schedule commitments.

McIntyre had extended the invitation earlier this month.

"Your interest in the Finnish population of your city is deeply appreciated," Pusa wrote the Mayor.

John Walsh Selected For N.E. Educators Workshop

John W. Walsh, principal of North Quincy High School, is one of 75 public school administrators selected from the New England states to participate in a two-day workshop sponsored by the Commission on Public Secondary Schools of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Inc.

Announcement of the participants was made by Richard J. Bradley, Director of Evaluation for the Commission.

The workshop will be conducted at Amherst College in Amherst, Aug. 13-14.

The New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is a nationally recognized accrediting agency for institutions of higher education and independent and public secondary schools in New England. Member institutions are required to undergo a thorough evaluation at least once every ten years to be eligible for continued membership and accreditation.

Participants have been selected for leadership positions as chairmen of evaluation committees which will visit more than 60 public secondary schools during the coming year.

Recreation Roundup

Preparation, training, knowledge, and ability to act in an emergency paid off last week, when a Quincy Recreation Department swimming instructor was able to save the life of Thaddeus Kowilcik at Orchard Beach.

Jane Nevulis worked for 25 minutes giving mouth to mouth resusitation to Mr. Kowilcik from the time he was found floating face down until he was revived and taken to Quincy City Hospital where he is now reported in good condition. Congratulations, Jane.

Throughout the city at the 14 beach stations are a total of 2,014 swim participants. Congratulations to Gary Prezioso of Kincaide and Brian Bertoni of Shea Rink for their accurate shooting and special notice to Kevin O'Hanley of Stoney Brae for his double gold.

Working hard in arts and crafts are Mary Beth Quinn from Beechwood Knoll, who came up with a good design using plastic tomato cartons and Sandra and Wanda MacIsaac from Myles Standish, who produced some very carefully made copper molds. An Arts and Crafts display will be in the window of the Quincy Savings Bank from Aug. 10-17.

At this year's girl's overnight at Happy Acres last week, over 50 of the campers and volunteers slept under the stars. Senator Edward Kennedy stopped briefly at the camp last Monday to congratulate the volunteers on a successful candy drive and to wish the camp success at the Chicago special O'Lympics.

DISTRICT ONE

In District 1, at O'Rourke, John Fitzgerald pitched another superb game in which the big hitters were Ricky Cox, Harold Donaghue, Brian McCusker, Steve Blazer and Scott Gosselin. Judy Costello and Suzue Morrissey seem to be the top checker players at Shea Rink. At Forbes Hill the Junior girls basketball team looks good with Suzanne Ellis, Nancy Matson, Linda Hoffstein and Jane McGilvery playing. Dave Mann and Kathy Thompson of Stoney Brae caught some beautiful butterflies on their field trip to Faxon Park last week. Wollaston's senior boys baseball team is now 2-0 after its win over O'Rourke in which John DeAngelo pitched a three-hitter and didn't lose his shut-out until the last inning.

DISTRICT TWO

At District II's Montclair in senior girls softball, Cheryl Faherty played an excellent game at second base and Amy Pearlstein was also on her toes,. Myles Standish had an adult at Arts and Crafts last week. Mrs. Mahoney made a fantastic horse in copper tooling. When the polywogs refused to cooperate at Atlantic's polywog hunt, races were held with Ricky Stepahnsky and Susan Campbell winning the sneaker race and Susan Doren and Ricky Anderson winning the wheelbarrow race. Peter Joyce pitched a no-hitter for Mass. Fields senior boys baseball team.

DISTRICT THREE

At Bayside in District III, Maureen McCourt and Ann Sara made exceptional sand paintings, Derby Quinto made a peace symbol from plaster of paris and John Saia, Ralph Browning and Mark Preble worked with paper mache.

From La Breque, Johnny Picard, Larry White, Billy O'Neill, Danny Rhode, Mike Lorenzetti, Kathy and Debbie Powers, Valorie and Elizabeth Keefe, Jean Lorenzetti and Kathy and Shirley Lyons went to Faxon Park Monday, where they went on a scavenger hunt but no one could find a bird feather.

Rick Drew led the Heron Road juniors offence by batting two for three and knocking in five runs to beat Bayside. As part of Perkin's special events day, the Midgets, Juniors and Seniors all played massive games of Rugby in which some fine players were Dan Malloy and Dan Murry [Midgets], Kevin McCarthy and Steve Sullivan [Juniors], and Ted Wiedeman and Bill Connolly [Seniors].

DISTRICT FOUR

In District IV at Merrymount, Wink Phalen and Bobby Mervis led the offense of the junior boys baseball team when they faced Faxon valiantly. Lyn Collins, Julie Breen and Patty Barry made outstanding mobiles at Elm St.

Whitwell St. had a clean-up campaign last week when eight bags full of rubbish were collected thanks to Joyce Larn, Paula Ludas, Jean Doran, Janice Finnegan, Jean Oriola, Marsha Mele, Caroline Vincent and Jane Ferzoco. Some of Faxon Field's baseball hero's last week were John Pegnano, Janice Todd and Mark Todd. At Beechwood Knoll, Barb Torino managed to get the most points in the girls basketball loss to Merrymount. Pond Street's senior basketball team beat Beechwood Knoll with Ray Papile as second high scorer with 10 points.

DISTRICT FIVE

In senior basketball at Columbus, in District V, a new star was discovered in Steve Riley who scored 23 out of 33 points in a 43-33 loss to Pollard. Randy D'Angelo, Mark Juitt, and Mark Buchanan lead Bradford's winning junior baseball team. At Faxon Park for Nature Week the special event was a picnic and a sweatshirt contest... Fred Bandalini came in first for his "hamburger" shirt, Kathy Picardi second for decorating her own shirt with material and cutouts and Chris Draiichio won third prize for his "Charlie Brown" shirt.

Kincaide had a monster contest with one year old Georgie Davenport winning first prize as Frankenstein. Fore River's senior boys advanced their record 3-0 behind the flawless performance of shortstop Mark Jeahnig. Don Perkins pitched a one hitter and hit a home run to lead our mighty midgets to a 18-1 victory over Faxon.

DISTRICT SIX

This week at District VI's Quarterdeck, Lawrence Lamphere, Brian Demon, Joanne Connolly, Danny McGowan, Bonnie French and Dottie Haddix are going to plant a garden... Best of luck! Baker Beach is fortunate to have 20 girls helping out with the younger children each day. Winners in Harborview's scavenger hunt at Faxon Park were Laure Ducey, Jim Dellamano and Jim Ducey. At Snug Harbor's bike parade and competition Reynold Crowes had the most creatively designed "Green Hornet Style" bike while John Dean rode the obstacle course in 33 seconds.

Season Ends This Week

Morrisette In Finale Tonight, Quincy Winds Up On Sunday

The American Legion baseball season ends this weekend and Morrisette, the perennial Zone 6 champion, and Quincy are out of the race.

Morrisette has a chance tonight [Thursday] to put a crimp in the hopes of league leading Weymouth when it plays at Weymouth in the final regularly scheduled game of the season.

Quincy, going nowhere despite some excellent pitching, ends its season Sunday when it hosts Norwood, the Zone 6-B leader, at Adams Field.

Morrisette dropped a 13-inning, 3-2 heartbreaker to Norwood Sunday to make its record 10-7.

It was a thriller all the way as Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the third inning when Tony Knasas singled, went to second when a pickoff throw went wild and scored on an error on Tom Burke's grounder.

Norwood went ahead with two runs in the fifth but Morrisette tied it in the sixth when Pete Lucier doubled and Joe Marini singled to right. That is the way it stood until the 13th when a walk, single, double play and a solid double gave Norwood the win.

All the pitchers did an outstanding job. Bobby Pettinelli went 12 innings for Morrisette before being relieved by Knasas. He struck out eight but was hurt by nine walks.

Morrisette outhit the winners, 10-6, with Marini having three, Lucier, Knasas and Burke two each, and Dave Nelson the other.

In its previous game Morrisette dropped a 4-0 decision to Weymouth as it was held to three hits by Mark McGlynn.

The only Morrisette hits were by Kevin Ryan, Lucier and Knasas.

Jim Walker, Len Pepe and Bobby Malvesti did the pitching for Morrisette.

Earlier Morrisette had topped Quincy, 6-2, getting even for an earlier setback, as Knasas outpitched his Boston College High teammate, Norm Walsh.

Knasas held Quincy to six hits and struck out eight.

Four runs in the fourth inning salted away the verdict for Morrisette.

Quincy gained its fifth win in 16 starts Sunday, 11-4, over Foxboro as it pounded out 15 hits and stole 13 bases.

"Not only did our hitters finally explode but sparkling defensive plays helped us," Coach Doug Fleming said.

In the fifth, with men on first and second and three runs already across for Foxboro, Jim Broderick speared a hard grounder to get an inning-ending force.

Foxboro at that time led, 4-3, but was blanked the rest of the way by Scott Manson and Dave Murphy, while Quincy scored in the next three innings, capping it with five runs in the eighth.

Mike McNally and Jack Flaherty had three hits each, Dave Drew, Ed Monti and Broderick two apiece, Tim Flynn, Bob Langley and Joe Marini one each.

$3,000 To Send Retarded To Olympics

The fund-raising drive to send Quincy retarded youngsters to the International Special Olympics at Chicago has topped its goal by $1,300. The original goal was $1,700.

Donations and candy sales will now provide a lot of "extra's", in addition to the cost of air transportation for 15 retarded campers and four chaperones from Happy Acres Day Camp, hotel and meals for chaperones and insurance.

Now there will be track uniforms and shoes for campers, a lined nylon jacket with Olympic insignia and a dressy V-neck sweater. A special Olympics banner to identify the group from Quincy, Mass., has been purchased and will be carried in a parade through the Chicago Loop and in Olympic opening ceremonies in Chicago Soldiers Field Stadium.

Funds, in addition to donations, were provided by car washes held by youngsters on the Squantum Playground led by George Alcott, Jr., and the Germantown Youth Center, led by Ted Stevenson and Mary Faherty.

Results of the Happy Acres Day Camp Volunteers' Council in the candy sale went beyond expectations, with 4,000 boxes of candy sold by 75 teenage volunteers in three evenings and two afternoons. Debby Larkin, Mike Linnane, and Fred Sophis led the group.

Donations were received from Shipbuilding Workers AFL-CIO Local 5, Quincy Junior College Student Government, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Probus Club of Quincy, Montclair Men's Club, Morrisette American Legion Post, Jewish War Veterans of Quincy, Women's Club of St. John's Parish, Quincy Emblem Club, North Quincy Knights of Columbus, Dunkin Donuts Shop on Southern Artery, Granite City Lodge Local 1451, and Quincy Recreation Department playground leaders.

Michele Draicchio, Brian Buckley 'Leaders Of Week'

Michele Draicchio and Brian Buckley have been chosen girl and boy "Leader of the Week", in the first weekly selection announced by Recreation Director William F. Ryan.

Miss Draicchio of 146 Independence Ave. had the luck to be born on Friday, July 13, 1951, delivered by Dr. William McCausland, also born on a Friday, the 13th.

She is an alumnus of Adams School where she was a class officer and student patrol officer. At Woodward School for Girls, she was vice president of her eighth grade class and on the Student Government, a member of the Glee Club, Social Committee and chairman of the Spring Concert, worked with arts and handicrafts, and belonged to the Bowling and Sewing Clubs.

Buckley who lives at 105 Puritan Drive, is a 1969 graduate of Archbishop Williams and a leader at Shea Rink.

Voted "Mr. Golf" at Archbishop Williams, Brian was second low medalist in the Schoolboy Golf Tournament at South Shore Country Club. He has also won basketball trophies.

Brian began his career at Forbes Hill three years ago, has been at Beechwood Knoll, Merrymount and involved in Central's winter program. He was appointed to Shea rink in 1969 after passing a Civil Service examination, and this year is leased to the Quincy Recreation Department by the MDC.

During his first year at Forbes Hill he piloted two of his teams to the District championship. This year four of his five teams are leading District One. Evenings Brian works three nights at Fenno St. Courts, and Tuesday and Thursday is player-coach for Von Ryan's Express in the YMCA summer basketball league.

Accepted to several colleges, Brian chose Boston State where he is majoring in English. He hopes someday to coach at the college level and feels he will benefit by playing under Jim Luscutoff, formerly of the Boston Celtics.

Martel Wins Ten Pin Tourney

Armand Martel of Quincy won the Boston Bowlers Association's July Ten Pin Handicap Tournament at Boston Bowl and became the first bowler to win back to back tournaments.

Martel took two out of three tournaments in June, firing the tournament high scratch series of 836 which included a 251 to become high qualifier. He averaged 208 with his handicap for the 12 games in the Tournament which is based on 200.

33rd Edition Underway Aug. 5

350 Boats Set For Bay Race Week

The Quincy Bay Race Week Association has completed plans for the 33rd edition of Race Week which will get underway next Wednesday and continue through Sunday, Aug. 9.

An estimated 350 boats will be in competition during the five-day meet.

Races will be run each day from one of the five participating yacht clubs, Quincy, Squantum, Wollaston, Wessagussett and Town River.

The colorful Marine Parade will be held Sunday, Aug. 9, starting at 2:30 p.m.

This year's "big four", the QBRWA officers, are President Less Brierley, Vice President Tom Marcel, Secretary Ed Simpson and Treasurer Bill DiTocco.

Numerous trophies will be presented in the various categories. Among them:

The Capt. James Berwick Finlay Memorial Trophy was presented to the Quincy Yacht Club in 1948 by Albert W. Finlay, his father, for competition during Race Week. This beautiful trophy presented in memory of his son who during his lifetime did much to advance the sport of yachting on Massachusetts Bay is awarded annually to the yacht or yachtsman considered to have made the most outstanding record or to have performed some signal act of sportsmanship during race Week.

It is to be suitably engraved and will remain in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club. A suitably engraved replica will become the winner's permanent possession.

The Howard Gannett Memorial Trophy, presented annually since 1954 by the QBRWA in memory of Howard Gannett, who for over 50 years served his fellow yachtsmen as a member of the race committees and who served on the race committee of the association from 1938 until his death in 1953, goes to the winner in a class selected by the association.

The Fred Hunt Memorial Trophy is a perpetual trophy presented annually since 1966 by the Patriot Ledger in memory of a man who served the paper for more than three decades as a yachting writer and yachting editor.

This trophy goes annually to a skipper who has proven his ability in the race week series, has demonstrated a high degree of sportsmanship and a willingness to help others in the advancement of the vacht racing sport. It is to be held for one year by the home club of the winner who is to receive a suitable replica for his permanent possession.

The Boston-Bermuda Trophy was presented in 1968 to the QBRWA by the Quincy Yacht Club. This cup was originally presented for competition in 1910 to stimulate interest in ocean racing.

The Reynolds Memorial Trophy, presented to the association in 1966 by the family of John Reynolds, an ardent supporter of and skipper in the Day Sailer Class until his death in 1965, is awarded annually to the Race Week winner in the Day Sailer Class.

The Frank E. Remick Trophy has been presented to the association to stimulate interest in competition between cruising type sail boats of not less than 17 feet on the water line no more than 45 feet over-all. Race for annually since 1959 it will become the permanent possession of the yacht owner who wins it three times.

The 1300 Trophy is presented each year to the association by Radio Station WJDA to demonstrate their great and cooperative interest in Race Week and to aid in the stimulation of racing interest among the junior classes. This trophy is awarded annually to the winning skipper in the Turnabout Class and becomes his permanent possession.

The Commonwealth Trophy, presented in 1967 by the Commonwealth National Bank of Boston, is to be awarded to the winner in a class to be selected by the association.

The Harry Warner Memorial Trophy was presented in 1968 by Harry's family and the Town River Yacht Club to be raced for by Trimarans.

Brierley estimates about 350 boats will be competing during Race Week.

The Race Week committee will sponsor its 15th annual one-mile swim for men and 880-yard swim for girls on Aug. 9, the final day of Race Week, directed by Henry Willman.

Contestants will start from the Squantum Yacht Club at 2 p.m. The course runs along the beach to a buoy 440 yards away, and back.

Five trophies will be awarded for winners in each race, with a special trophy to the first Quincy boy and girl who finish.

READY FOR Quincy Bay Race Week are association officers, Secretary Edward Simpson, Squantum Yacht Club; Vice-President Thomas Marcell, Quincy Yacht Club; President Leslie Brierley, Wollaston Yacht Club and Treasurer William DiTocco, Wessagusett Yacht Club.

Leslie Brierley President Quincy Bay Race Week Assn.

The first president was Edward Shaw, also of the Wollaston Yacht Club, who served in 1938-39.

The other past presidents are: Frank Hendry, Quincy YC, 1940; Edward J. Gallagher, Squantum YC, 1941; Paul Ryan, Quincy, 1942-1944; Manuel Prada, Squantum, 1945; Kenneth Yoerger, Town River, 1946; William J. Sands, Squantum, 1947-48; Robert G. Stuart, Merrymount, 1949.

E. Carlton Brown, Town River, 1950; C. Russell Bradley, Wollaston, 1951; Torsten Youngquist, Quincy, 1952; Stanley Rawson, Squantum, 1953; Dan Campbell, Merrymount, 1954.

ANTHONY QUINN and MARLON BRANDO combine over 60 years of experience and talent in their forthcoming western, "THE TOWN." Production is scheduled to roll into action sometime in September, and will be shot on location entirely in Sante Fe, New Mexico... Leafing the calendar back a few years, QUINN and BRANDO first appeared together in the 1951 release of "VIVA ZAPATA"... In that one, QUINN walked off with the Best Supporting Actor of the Year Award, and BRANDO was nominated for Best Actor of the Year... Once her contract runs out, veteran femme newscaster NANCY DICKERSON will be leaving NBC after being with that network for seven years... Miss DICKERSON made her debut with CBS as television's first woman correspondent in 1955...

The most financially solvent film studio in Hollywood has got to be TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX. And with their list of recent hits one can see why. "M*A*S*H", "PATTON ', "HELLO DOLLY", "BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID", "THE SICILIAN CLAN", and the more recent "BENEATH THE PLANET OF THE APES", are some of the more noteworthy pictures that have placed TWENTIETH at the top of the celluloid heap... JON VOIGHT's latest release "THE REVOLUTIONARY", was recently premiered to rave notices at the New York Film Festival... Whatever happened to PHILIP BOSCO? Away back around 1960-61, he was tapped as the most promising actor on Broadway for his performance in "THE RAPE OF THE BELT"... "PATTON" is not only causing a rush through the turnstyles here in America, but in the Orient as well. The film is setting new box-office records at the SHINJUKU PLAZA THEATRE in Tokyo, Japan...

At long last a motion picture has been made that the "Silent Majority" can hail as their very own. It's called simple enough "JOE", and has enough gore and violence in it to cause a "Hard Hat" stampede at the ticket counter... The plot is simple enough and right to the old wave flagging point. Concerns the class-spanning alliance of a Madison Avenue executive, and a blue collar factory worker and their commitment against the forces of LEFTIST evil. In their effort to purge America clean of long-haired "undesirables", they very patriotically mass murder an entire Greenwich Village Hippie Communal... Well, as the old saying goes, "Both sides should be heard from;" even those on the far-out right...

All three television networks are reportedly after the services of CARY GRANT to star in a weekly series... Add the name of JASON ROBARDS to the ever growing list of established actors who are spinning out T.V. commercials. ROBARDS can be seen behind a pair of "shades" for a sunglass company... Not only are commercials financially rewarding, but several unknown actors are now using them as "credits" when they audition for a play or film... ROD McKUEN and ROCK HUDSON have formed their own film company, with McKUEN doing all the directing... Later on in the summer HUDSON will be songbirding and album of McKUEN lyrical pieces... VINCE EDWARDS goes from hospital physician [BEN CASEY] to practicing psychiatrist in his new fall-premiered ABC series, "MAT LINCOLN"... The best part of the CHARLTON HESTON starred "THE HAWAIIANS", was the impressive acting debut of TINA CHEN... Former Boston University Theatre Arts graduate FAY DUNAWAY has been signed for the role of Katie Elder in FRANK PERRY's first western "DOC"...

Talk about tough censorship laws... The VIRGINIA GENERAL ASSEMBLY just passed a law prohibiting the showing of "X" or "R" rated film previews during the featuring of a "G" rated movie... CANDICE BERGEN compliments ELLIOTT GOULD brilliantly in "GETTING STRAIGHT"... GOULD has one more film on the way with "M*A*S*H" co-hipster DON SUTHERLAND. It's a satirical comedy titled "LITTLE MURDERS" depicting the establishment and its' survival in our violence prone society...

Dorothy Quinn Has Only Quincy Bonnet In Ring

Quincy's only woman with her bonnet in this fall's political ring year, Miss Dorothy Quinn of 3 Dayton St., has joined forces with John L. Gillis of 122 Taylor St., in a unique joint campaign effort.

They have announced their candidacies for election as representatives from Wards 4, 5 and 6 to the Massachusetts General Court.

She entered politics, Miss Quinn says, "for the same reasons that I went into teaching – to help people become better informed on issues and encouraged to become more actively involved in decision making that affects their lives."

Miss Quinn, a Boston College graduate, received her master's degree in education from Northeastern University. She taught first grade at Gridley Bryant School in Ward 4 for five years, has taught as a remedial reading instructor in local schools, and has also taught in Germany. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education society, and of several teachers' groups.

Gillis, owner of Fifty-One Woodworkers of Hingham is past president of Quincy Carpenters Local 762 and is one of the founders of the Norfolk County Labor Council AFL-CIO.

The father of five children, is Chairman of Troop 51, Quincy; a member of the South Shore Association for Retarded Children, the Israel Histradut Associates, and the Labor Guild of Boston. He served with the Navy in World War II.

Candidacies of Gillis and Miss Quinn are supported by the Citizens for Participation Politics, a statewide political action group committed to greater citizen involvement in local and national decision making.

Over 100 Employees Added To Local 90

A decision issued by the National Labor Relations Board in Washington, D.C., will allow over 100 clerical and technical employees in several classifications to be added to the unit represented by Local 90, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, AFL-CIO at the Quincy Division of General Dynamics.

The decision was the result of lengthy hearings which took place at the Boston office of the N.L.R.B. in the latter months of 1969. At issue was the unit placement of several exempted classifications, such as production control coordinators, certain planners, and others.

Local 90 officials, Carroll J. Yascevicz, Vice-President, Charles Johnston, Secretary-Treasurer, and Charles Fitzgerald, President announced the decision. They have requested that management bargain with Local 90 concerning the hours, wages, and other conditions of employment of the workers involved in the decision.

Local 90 was represented at the NLRB hearings by Attorneys Jordan S. Zisk, and Robert J. Canavan, of Quincy.

McCormick Backs School Budget

"Are you in favor of local politics being kept out of the public schools?"

This is the question James F. McCormick, Sr., Quincy School Committee vice-chairman, believes should be substituted for what he calls the "loaded" question No. 18 in Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre's recent public opinion poll.

Tabulations of 1,250 questionnaires in the First Norfolk senatorial district placed 587 persons in favor and 198 against - giving the city council or town meeting the right to cut school department budgets.

Taking issue with the poll and Quincy Sun's front page headline "Public Favors Right to Cut School Budget, on July 30, McCormick declared: "I believe people should have the right to express their opinion, but this was a loaded question."

"The School Committee is elected the same way as other officials are elected. We have to run and go on the ballot the same as everyone else," he said.

"I at no time think that politics should be brought into the public schools."

"As far as the Quincy School budget is concerned, $56.91 this year is the lowest percentage in years of the total tax".

The 1970 tax rate is $132.20 - of which $75.29 is general and $56.91 for school purposes.

"We would like to point out that regardless of what some people may think, the school budget is by no means as high as it could be," McCormick said. "We spend $675. per student – we are about 'medium', not high and not low. The budget increase is the lowest in the past four or five years.

"I think people should pay more attention to school committee elections and put it in the importance that it should be – not second class elected officials.

"I believe all school

"READY, GET SET, GO!"–Practicing for the Aug. 13-15 special Olympics at Chicago are contestants from the Quincy Recreation Department's Happy Acres Day Camp, Siobhan Nolan, 13; Jim MacIntyre, 12; and Bill Pyne, 16; Director Earl Vermillion looks on as French volunteer Martine Montillot prepares to give the starting signal.

From Paris, With Love

French Girl Impressed By Happy Acres Volunteer Work

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy's newest "honorary citizen" is 21-year old Martine Montillot of Paris, France.

Martine is a volunteer at the Quincy Recreation Department's Happy Acres Day Camp at Pageant Field. For this example of international friendship, Mayor James R. McIntyre presented her with a "Certificate of Appreciation" along with her honorary citizenship.

Martine is one of 15 French students who, through Mrs. Sargent Shriver's influence, are working as volunteers with retarded children throughout the United States.

"It's quite different here," Martine comments. "In France people are not accustomed to 'volunteer' work. It isn't understood – that way of working. We must show them that we work not only for money but because we really feel we want to do something."

Martine is among Happy Acres' 80 young volunteers working on a "one-to-one" basis with 80 campers ranging in age from five to 35 years. She has worked with each of the age groups. Earl Vermillion, five years at Happy Acres, has been camp director for two years and is her supervisor.

The attractive student from the University of Medicine in Paris is putting into practice some of the things she has learned there in her study of "psychomotricite," the coordination of mind and body – and learning new methods through day camp life.

Language differences have been no barrier. The campers know she is "different".

"They are trying to learn to speak French," Martine says, "And they are trying to teach me English."

One Friday the engaging Parisienne conducted a "French Day". With enthusiasm, campers created Paris fashions from red, blue and white crepe paper – tall hats in the national colors, and full striped skirts for the girls. They learned to sing "Frere Jacques". French pastries and tarts baked by Martine the previous evening provided a gala finish.

Martine, who arrived here July 1, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen D'Olimpio and their daughter, Darlene D'Olimpio, of 70 Walnut St., until Aug. 22.

From Aug. 13-15 she will be with the group of Happy Acres contestants and their escorts at the Special Olympics in Chicago. She has helped to train the younger children for the competitions.

All the French volunteers will be at the Special Olympics. There will be a further reunion Aug. 21 at a cookout and beach party at the Kennedy compound in Hyannis, given by Mrs. Shriver.

Comparing Quincy's recreational approach to that of the French, Martine says, "Because they are with a large group, the children are learning to live a social life and they must learn what they can and what they can't do. In France, there is a more formal type of program, much like school."

"Martine has been a great addition to our staff," camp director Vermillion says. "My biggest problem is that she works too hard!"

Recreation Director William F. Ryan feels also that her presence as a volunteer has been a decided asset.

"I think I would like to try to start a volunteer program in France," Martine says "– and I would like to come back next year to Happy Acres."

Water Crisis Appears Over

Quincy's water crisis has passed for this summer, it appears.

"It was rough there for a week," City Water Supt. Robert Barry commented, "but we recovered nicely over the weekend."

"We are in good shape now. We have put on a 5 to 9 p.m. ban locally, during our peak consumer hours, and that will probably continue during August," Barry said.

Last year average daily consumption of water in Quincy was 10,114,800 gallons, or 116 per capita. The average, this year, Barry says, "may be three or four million more."

"We are playing it by ear and see what happens."

Last week's big water leak in the MDC's Boston system was felt here in Quincy on Friday even before it was discovered, Barry asserted. "Being at the end of the line, we felt the loss in pressure immediately," he said.

League Drive Underway

10,000 'Voters' Unregistered Here

Quincy has an estimated 10,000 eligible but unregistered voters.

The Quincy League of Women Voters notes that is the estimate of City Clerk John M. Gillis.

And, it is trying to do something about reducing the figure.

Members have a civic drive underway, urging the 10,000 to register and vote in the Sept. 15 primaries.

The League's goal is to raise the current list of 41,540 registered voters–down 3,035 from last year–to a new high.

Aug. 15 is the final day for registering for the primaries. City Hall will remain open until 10 p.m. on that day for the convenience of last-minute registrants.

Wednesday, Aug. 12, special evening registration sessions from 7 to 9 p.m. will be held at Wollaston School and the Quincy School.

The League of Women Voters reminds citizens that they can vote if they have been residents of Massachusetts for one year, and of Quincy for six months.

Registration will be held again from September 16 to Oct. 3 for those unregistered who wish to vote in the Nov. 3 election.

Although some offices will be uncontested both in the primary and final election, the LWV notes that registered voters in the primary will have the opportunity of choosing a candidate of their party whose name will appear on the November ballot.

Independent voters not registered with either party may vote on Sept. 15 by asking for either a Republican or Democratic ballot. By doing

Mail Volume Up Here, In U.S.

Three billion more pieces of mail were delivered in the fiscal year ending June 30–the increase alone equal to Australia's mail volume for an entire year--without significantly increasing the number of postal workers, announces Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

Unlike the previous five years when the growth in the number of postal clerks exceeded the rise in mail volume, in fiscal 1970 we increased productivity substantially through more effective use of mail-processing equipment and better scheduling of employees.

Mail volume in the Boston Postal District during fiscal year 1970 increased approximately 72 million pieces or 3 per cent with only a 0.4% increase in manhours, according to George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge, Boston Postal District.

"We have been able to increase our production by 2.7%," said Walker. "We now have three multi-position letter sorters, an optical character reader, an electronic time recording system and other modern developments which have assisted us in improving the service requirements of the district. "We expect to have two more multi-position letter sorters in operation by the end of the summer."

Americans continued to send more letters, and get more bills, with the total number of letters reaching 48.5 billion–a gain of 4.5 percent. Total volume of all classes of mail reached 85 billion.

committeemen are honest and reputable people or they wouldn't be there." "We argue for hours over a nickel. It doesn't come out in the paper, but that is the way it goes."

"There is nothing in the books that says the City Council or town meeting should have anything to say about the school committee budget. It would be impossible for a council to make a fair judgement of what a budget should be when there are four unions to negotiate with on wages – in which they [council members] have no part," McCormick said.

The unions represent teachers, custodians, clerks, and permanent part-time clerks.

"I would also like to know exactly – how many queried were Quincy residents – where the poll was taken.

Maybe communication between the citizens and school committee are lacking, and we would like to do something about it," McCormick concluded.

Merritt Nielson Named ENC Instructor

Merritt J. Nielson of Kansas City, Mo. has been named instructor in English at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston.

A 1967 ENC graduate with an English major, Nielson received the M.R.E. degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary this spring, and has done advanced study in linguistics this summer.

He is minister of music and youth at St. Paul's Church of the Nazarene Kansas City, and is on the staff of the Department of Youth at Nazarene International Headquarters.

STATE OF THE STATE

by Governor Francis W. Sargent

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

The reform of county government has been cited as one of the major issues of the Seventies. In recent weeks, I have proposed a two-fold program to affect this reform. An executive directive and proposed legislation have been issued and submitted. Both actions seek to save what is good and eliminate that which poorly serves the public in county government.

The first step was taken when I recently directed the Executive Office for Administration and Finance, through its Office of Planning and Program Coordination, to develop a comprehensive, detailed plan both for the integration of related state and county activities and for the assumption of new roles by our counties.

OPPC designed the reorganization of state government which has won widespread approval. This new assignment for OPPC is logical because the plan I am seeking is an essential adjunct to last year's reorganization.

". . .The time has come to bring county government into our changing times. . ."

The people of Massachusetts are not served by having both state and county governments concerned with correction, with youth service, and with highways. There is simply no justification for two separate systems of government in these areas.

On the other hand, our counties have a vital role to play in such areas as regional planning, water resources development, and solid waste disposal. Effective programs in these areas require involvement by a government entity which is intermediate between the state and the cities and towns.

Hopefully, we can look forward to the development of sound integrated activities and programs from our counties when the current study by OPPC is completed.

The second aspect of reform of county government took the form of legislation which I submitted to the General Court. This legislation has a two-fold aim: financial relief and fiscal control.

This legislation would, within three years, freeze the local share of county costs. No longer would any mayor or selectmen have to point to rising county costs over which they have no control as a cause of rising property tax rates.

No longer would homeowners and rent-payers already staggering under the burden of rising property taxes, be forced to bear the perennial increase in that burden for a function which should be supported by other means.

The irresponsible system by which one group of men decides how much the counties will spend -- and then leaves it to others to raise the money to pay for those expenditures -- would be laid to rest.

The need for fiscal control is demonstrated by the rapid rise in county costs, sometimes for questionable expenditures. The questions surrounding the new Middlesex County Superior Courthouse is a case in point.

Integration of state and county activities and services, dynamic planning for new roles better suited to the county form of government, and fiscal reform and control of county operations will help bring order out of the present chaos and make county government truly responsive to the needs of the Seventies.

County government has been an integral part of the Commonwealth's overall governmental set up since the founding of our state. The time has come for us to bring county government into our changing times. To accomplish this aim requires a bipartisan effort. Like the reorganization of state government, county government must also be made amenable to reform. To this end, I have spared no effort and I ask for your support in this common cause.

this, they automatically register their name with that party. However, they may recover their independent status if they wish by visiting City Hall immediately after the election and changing their party designation.

The League calls attention also to the fact that a person who voted by partial ballot in 1968 for President and Vice President only, did so by signing a special form, but did not become registered to vote in Massachusetts. Unless he has done so in the interim, he must register now if he wants to vote in the fall.

If you don't register, you can't vote, the League stresses.

Further information on voting or on the candidates and issues may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Toland of 82 Cedar St., League Voters Service Chairman, or Mrs. David Coletti of 47 Andrews Road, president.

The League of Women Voters is a non-profit organization open to all women 18 years or older, and does not support or oppose any party or candidate.

SENATE President Maurice A. Donahue, Democratic candidate for governor, relaxes with a cup of coffee at Quincy Sun office during interview with Reporter Ruth Wainwright.

Donahue Sees Self First, Bellotti (2), White (3), O'Donnell (4) In Primary

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Senate President Maurice A. Donahue predicts he will win the Democratic primary nomination for Governor and that Francis X. Belotti, Kevin White and Kenneth P. O'Donnell will finish behind him in that order.

Donahue said he is the only one of the four Democratic contenders who can unite the party after the primary and go on to defeat Gov. Sargent.

He made the observation in a campaign visit to the Quincy Sun office Monday with Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre.

He also called for action in obtaining a new Fore River Bridge to help General Dynamics land future contracts.

And, he predicted a future $50 million annual deficit for the MBTA.

Donahue, who had started his day with a 6:15 a.m. visit with workers at the General Dynamics Shipyard, said, "It is not enough to say that we are going to have a study of the big bridge. The thing to do is to move study into action."

"The shipyard seems to be O.K. for another two or three years. It won't be after that," Donahue said. "They have got to get contracts secure in advance. They can't say anthing with certainty regarding the bridge. The government should take steps to speed that up.

Donahue, who estimates he has traveled an average of 60 or 70 thousand miles a year in the last few years campaigning by car, plus plane trips, had a few words to say about transportation.

While the MBTA is a big concern in Quincy, many parts of Massachusetts are looking for its completion to see if rapid transit is going to work or not, Donahue stated.

"They want to find out whether the MBTA is going to solve the problem of transportation," Donahue commented -- "whether roads or rapid transit or trains is the answer."

He cited what he called Gov. Sargent's "neglect" in leaving vacant the MBTA office of general counsel, and, general manager, and the pending vacancy of chairman of the board. "The complete hierarchy -- jobs are all open," he said.

"The MBTA has been a disgrace," Donahue agreed with previous claims of McIntyre. "They are spending $10,000 on a study to see what qualifications a new general manager should have.

"I think that is a waste of money. If a study was needed, it should have been made before they had four or five previous general managers at $40,000 a year. That might have saved us from a General Lincoln, etc."

"The MBTA deficit will probably be $50 million dollars a year, maybe more," Donahue estimated. "The MBTA district can't meet that. The rest of the State is scared to look at it unless you can show proper management."

Donahue praised McIntyre's suggestion of having the Department of Transportation financed by a gas tax. "But it won't work unless we have guaranteed leadership," he added.

Donahue spoke highly of McIntyre's "guidance in this campaign, and also in the legislature, "because he is not only a friend but considered by everyone to be one of the brightest young legislators up there. He has been very, very helpful in helping me understand problems of the MBTA and the South Shore."

Donahue mentioned the problem of the unregistered voter, estimating there are 700,000 in the state.

Admitting that his biggest problem is "the recognition factor," Donahue based his confidence in winning the September primary and the November election on two factors:

- The Democratic State Convention's selection of him to head the slate.
- Endorsement by the AFL-CIO, "the first candidate in the history of Massachusetts to be endorsed by Labor before a primary."

He cited Monday's visits to General Dynamics, Raytheon and Boston Gear Works where Labor officials had backed up their endorsement by accompanying him and introducing him to the workers.

"I think Frank Bellotti is coming in second," Donahue predicted. "Kevin White will finish way down because he won't do anything in Boston.

O'Donnell is not a factor. I personally like Kenny but I don't think he knows anything about State Government. He might be great as an author."

"In the primary, we will try to sell 22 years of top flight experience in government, and to sell the point that to make Massachusetts move ahead, we are going to need a presiding officer of the corporation who gets along with the board of directors and who can move them to greatness -- the Legislature. I don't think any of the others can do this."

"On the record, it would appear that Maurice Donahue is the only one who can unite the Democratic party to go forward after the September primaries."

"I have supported every single Democrat for state-wide office in the past 22 years. I have even supported White and Bellotti in quests for State office. I do not have the number of people who are very unhappy with me in the Democratic party.

"In party unity, I am the only one to achieve it. I am the only Democrat who can beat Sargent because if given an opportunity to debate the issues, I can do it. Sargent is a TV idol, but he has an almost total lack of knowledge of State government and how to lead the Legislature. We can no longer afford a Governor receiving "on the job training."

"Sargent has sent weekly messages to the Legislature ever since he became Governor. He never follows them through."

Democratic Committee In Registration Drive

An extensive registration drive for new voters is underway by the Democratic City Committee, announces Chairman Arthur H. Tobin, Quincy City Council president.

"We believe this will be extremely beneficial to all candidates running for public office," Tobin said. "If the unregistered voters take the time and effort to register, they will take the time to go to the polls and vote in the primary, and they will want to have a say in the November election."

Tobin cited figures listing 20,119 registered Democrats in Quincy; 9,652 Republicans; and 11,769 Independents, totaling 41,540 registered voters. There are approximately 10,000 unregistered voters in Quincy, he said.

The Democratic City Committee is sending out more than 10,000 postcards reminding unregistered voters of the registration date deadline of Aug. 15; more than 10,000 letters are going out from Congressman James A. Burke; and a corps of volunteers will make telephone calls.

"Everyone will benefit," Tobin declared.

Tobin Calls Special Council Meeting Aug. 13

A special meeting of the Quincy City Council has been called for Aug. 13 at 7:30 p.m., by Council President Arthur H. Tobin.

On the agenda will be a $200,000 appropriation for construction of seawalls in Ward 1.

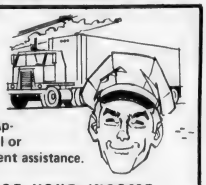
Other matters are expected to be presented by the Mayor's office, Councillors George B. McDonald, John Koegler and Edward Graham.

After the meeting, Council members will meet in executive session in the Mayor's office with five young men from the Harvard Graduate School relative to their project of upgrading the Quincy Center business district.

Snug Harbor Lunch Discussion Aug. 26

A school lunch program for Snug Harbor School children will be the subject of an Aug. 26 panel discussion at 7:30 p.m. at St. Boniface's parish hall.

A school lunch committee has been formed in the area, where an estimated 51 per cent of families are receiving some form of government aid. The committee feels that this justifies the need for a school lunch program.



Among the panelists will be Joseph Cella and Julius Candela from the State Board of Education's Food Services who will discuss the financial aspects.

Dorothy L. Callahan, senior supervisor of education, will show slides and discuss results of a scientific survey of food programs made in Massachusetts public schools last September.

Mrs. Normand Goyette, working with the school breakfast program at Hancock School, will speak also.

The meeting is open not only to mothers of Snug Harbor pupils but to interested persons throughout the city.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Bridal Hints

There is no procedure connected with a wedding which is more bound by tradition than the issuing of invitations. The wording is set by the laws of etiquette, as are the stationary and the engraving.

Use the best paper you can afford. The most distinguished wedding paper is the traditional ivory. Always use black ink. Remember to send invitations to your clergyman and his wife, all adult members of your fiancee's immediate family, the members of your bridal party and their spouses, and the parents of each of your attendants. If your guest list is limited and you do not know the latter personally, you need not invite them to the reception.

Announcements: You follow the same procedure when ordering announcements. They read much the same as the invitations except the line "request the honour of your presence" is changed to read "have the honour of announcing"

Parents' table: When the head table is not large enough to accommodate the parents of the bride and groom a separate table is reserved for them as close to the head table as possible. The bride's mother and father sit in the places of honor at opposite ends. The groom's father sits to the right of the bride's mother, while the clergyman sits on her left. The groom's mother is seated on the right of the bride's father, with the clergyman's wife [or his assistant] on his left.

White place cards should be used at the head table and at the parents table.

QUINCY SUN Special Features

Poet's Corner

Another Day

By Margaret DeAngelo
29 Deldorf St., Quincy

Another day has passed us
And Eventide draws nigh.
How many hearts are gladdened,
Or heave a heavy sigh?
How many hearts enlightened
Or grieve in near dismay -
Over joys, alas, now faded,
Departed with the day?

Another day has passed us,
The sun is going down.
To some may bring a shudder

To some may bring a crown
Of joy and satisfaction;
For righteous deeds well done.
With inward blest assurance
That we the day have won.

Another day has passed us,
A thing now of the past;
And added to the others
We'll account for at the last.
For seed we sow and garner
Along life's great pathway;
Oh, may we not be grieving
For seed we sow today.

Another day has passed us,
And though our hearts may yearn
With the beauty of its memory,
It never will return.
But it may be a jewel,
When life's great race is won -
In the crown for us up yonder,
When work on Earth is done.

The Earth Speaks

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy

I've seen the changes taking place
I've tried to follow at the same pace
I've done my best to stay complete
But now I'm beginning to show defeat.
Your bombs bore holes in this body of mine
Can't you try just once to be kind?
I've held you all in my loving care
But do you think you've really been fair?
Your houses were built upon my land
To give each other a helping hand
I don't know why you neglect each other
When your Good Book says
To help your brother.
A planet of dirt
I may well be,
But I can't help what's happening to me.
You pollute my water and also my air
Shouldn't a human being care?
Your made of flesh, blood and bone
I'm only made of dirt, grass and stone.
Remember my name is "Mother Earth"
And I have been so known since my birth
So I ask you now very sincerely
Please my children
Don't Destroy Me!

STYLISH KNIT-PICKING—Double knit cotton provides two fashionable ways to keep your knits about you comfortably this fall. Ideal for classroom or office wear is the long-sleeved dirndl dress with body-hugging shirt top and wide side belts that tie in back. At right, a chevron-patterned pantsuit with long fitted tunic jacket and flare pants with fly front. Both designed by Wayne Rogers for No Comment.

BUCCANEER—In fashion on the West Coast is the "easy suit" of comfortable woven cotton. This one features a tie-belted tunic and flared pants in shades of plum, blue, and brown. It's worn with a pale blue buccaneer shirt. By Ninth Street East of California.

NEW LENGTH—Double knit cotton interprets the newest look in fashion: the midi dress with round scoop neckline and the longer length sleeves. By Miss Ingenue, the dress comes in brown, navy, or burgundy.

For Picnic Thirsts

Picnics are mighty thirst-making affairs. All that ball-playing, sun-bathing, swimming, rowing or what you will can produce plenty of parched palates. The best thirst-quencher we know is that perennial favorite, iced tea. Because it's non-sweet and non-sticky, it doesn't build up a new thirst as fast as you drink it down. Take plenty along so you won't run short. Below is a simple concentrate method of making a gallon — enough for 20 tall servings.

Iced Tea By The Gallon
(Makes about 20 servings)

Pour 1 quart of boiling water over ⅔ measuring cup of loose tea. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. Stir and strain. Meanwhile pour three quarts cold water into a gallon jug. Pour tea concentrate into cold water. When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses and add sugar and lemon to taste.

Sun Signs

Week of Aug. 7 - 14

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Emotions are running high but keep your head and adjust to events as they happen. Unexpected meetings can have lasting effect.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Some things not planned for will have to be fitted into your schedule. Those born near May 12th will find this a trying time.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Events planned for amusement may not be so pleasant if you lose your cool. You will have to take unexpected in your stride.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Something happening in the domestic circle you hadn't planned for may involve an older friend and force budget revision.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - You will have to deal with communications of an unexpected nature. If born between 5th and 10th, don't over-react to situations.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Financial involvement you hadn't counted on could set your imagination to work. Don't make any changes yet unless really necessary.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You probably are feeling quite independent this week but use caution dealing with older people. Separations can be depressing.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Changes are coming. It may only be attitude for some but others can turn a seemingly poor change to eventual success.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Some of you will now take on added responsibilities while others will be attracted to the occult in some form, through friends.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Don't be premature because action taken now will have a lasting effect and may not turn out as you would expect.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Avoid domestic trouble with older person - it could cause open conflict and much worry. Time to be philosophical.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - If you use caution dealing with older people and assume responsibilities with care, this is a time of great mental benefit.

It's In To Be Thin
By Lois L. Lindauer
Director, The Diet Workshop

ABRACADABRA...you're thin!

In these days of push-button magic, is it any wonder that some of us sit around waiting for someone to invent the magic button which once pressed will transport us to the land of the slim. If we can fly away to the moon, why shouldn't there be a way to make the pounds flee as well.

Let us assume that this button exists, and pouf...there you are wearing your Size 7 mini. What are you going to do tomorrow when the seams start straining and the buttons start popping. And you can only push the Thin Button once you know even in this best of all possible worlds. What now?

Safe to assume that discipline and will power must follow all the days of your life if you are to learn to keep a slim figure. These are not gifts--these are habits. Habits must be practiced. Starting today, continuing tomorrow, and they're more reliable than magic buttons.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Oldest Quincy Catholic Church

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, WEST QUINCY

St. Mary's To Mark 130th Year Sept. 19 With Mass, Parish Dinner

St. Mary's Church, Quincy's oldest parish, is observing its 130th anniversary this year.

Highlights of the celebration will be a concelebrated mass of thanksgiving on Sept. 19 at 5 p.m., a parish dinner dance and an anniversary book.

Monsignor John Mullarkey, pastor of St. Pius parish in Lynn and a native of West Quincy, will be the principal celebrant announces Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor. To make the event a home-coming celebration, he will be assisted by former curates at St. Mary's and native West Quincy priests.

After the mass there will be a social hour in the parish hall followed by a dinner dance. The roast beef dinner will be served by Hart Brothers, and dance music until 1 a.m. will be provided by Earl Hannafin and his orchestra.

Featured entertainment will be songs by the world-famous "Ink Spots".

Tickets must be obtained and reservations made by Sept. 15, with any of the committee members. Reservations may be made for eight to 10 persons at a table.

Fr. McMahon is chairman for the anniversary celebration. Assisting him are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aimola, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barilaro, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beatson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bertoni, Mr. and Mrs. William Brabazon, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cattaneo, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dirksmeir, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Donahue.

Mrs. Eleanor Driscoll, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Egan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Grogan, Mr. and Mrs. James Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Malvesti, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Meady.

Miss Margaret Moriarty, Miss Margaret and Miss Nora Mullarkey, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sferruzza, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Veneto, Mr. and Mrs. John Zanardelli and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zero.

While Quincy's Catholic population dates back to the early days of the granite industry, it was not until 1840 that plans were made and funds raised for building a church at West Quincy – St. Mary's Church, the first Catholic Church in Quincy. Spiritual needs extended from Quincy to Plymouth.

Land was purchased in November, 1841 from James Hall [whose name is perpetuated in Hall Cemetery adjoining church property and Hall Place]. In less than a year the Church was built and dedicated Sept. 18, 1842. John Quincy Adams was among those attending the dedication.

In 1842 additional land was purchased from James Hall and became St. Mary's cemetery, for years the only Catholic cemetery south of Boston.

As the population grew, there was a need for a more centrally located church and in 1853 St. John's was built. In 1863 St. John's became the district parish, and St. Mary's a mission parish. In 1875 St. Mary's Church was enlarged to seat 500, and in 1899, it again became an independent parish with a resident pastor.

Rev. Ambrose Roche began construction of the present Church, with the basement cornerstone laid Sept. 23, 1900. Sept. 30, 1917 the completed English Gothic-style edifice on Crescent St. was dedicated by William Cardinal O'Connell.

In 1938 St. Mary's Convent for the Sisters of St. Joseph was completed and the first graduation at St. Mary's School took place June 18, 1939. A new rectory was built in 1958, and in April, 1964 because of a weakened condition, the Church was remodeled and modernized. Most recent construction is that of a new convent, completed in 1966.

Granite ORT To Sponsor Art Auction

Granite Chapter of Quincy is among six ORT chapters [Organization for Rehabilitation through Training] sponsoring an Aug. 29 art auction at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Neponset Circle, Quincy.

The collection will be on exhibit from 6:30 p.m. with the auction starting at 8 p.m. Drawings from 160 well known artists, including Chagall, Miro, Calder, Matisse, Lautrec, Renoir, Buffet and Dali will be presented by the Hopewell Gallery of Graphic and Fine Art. There will be original oils, water colors, gouaches, lithographs, etchings and wood cuts.

The auction, a repeat of last year's success, will aid the six-point vocational training program of ORT.

Mrs. Duane Aikman is Quincy chairman for the event.

Graham Named County Coordinator For Donahue

City Councillor Edward S. Graham has been named Norfolk County coordinator for Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue's gubernatorial campaign.

Graham, who has served Ward 1 in the City Council for the past three years, was a candidate for Norfolk County sheriff in 1968.

In accepting the post as Norfolk County campaign coordinator, Graham declared:

"Maurice Donahue is without a doubt the most qualified man to lead our state for the next very important four years.

"I believe that he will carry Norfolk County in both the September primary the the general election in November."

Graham said that volunteers wishing to work in Donahue's behalf may contact the Donahue campaign headquarters at 20 Ashburton Place, Boston.

Mary Laughlin Art Exhibit At N. Quincy

Mary Laughlin, supervisor of fine arts in the Boston Public Schools, will exhibit her oil paintings in the North Quincy Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library during August, announces Mrs. Carmen Ungar, art librarian.

Miss Laughlin attended Massachusetts College of Art, the Irish School of Landscape Painting, and took summer courses with Charles Demetropoulos and Ken Gore. She is a member of the Mass. Art Education Association and the Milton Art Association.

Miss Laughlin has had one man shows at the Milton and Roslindale Libraries. Milton Hill House and Quincy Art Center. She has also exhibited in group shows in R. H. Come, Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'The Frigid Woman'

"Why did you go to court?"...I asked the couple who sat before me. After a prolonged silence he spoke up..."Because she took me to court." Both laughed. "Why?" I pressed. "Because I don't want to live with him any longer." She followed this with a list of common male faults..."He drops his clothes around...he drives too fast and scares me...he wants his way...he hollers at the children...he drinks too much...he's oversexed." I got the picture.

What she was telling me was what she didn't realize herself...she was a frigid woman...[1 ...attractive?...a little overweight, unhappy...often depressed, suffering numerous physical complaints...spent her years unsatisfied women...had a low opinion of herself...a woman who really resents her womanhood...feels that it's a man's world...that men get all the breaks...yet she claims to like men...and also appears clever when she is using a man to get the things she wants...or to enjoy a man's attentions. But at deeper levels she just cannot tolerate a man...is always degrading him by words and actions. No accurate statistics...but probably more than half the women fall into some aspect of this condition...and it means awful unhappiness for them...and the men they live with. It's a neurotic sickness more far-reaching than having no desire for sex.

The problem is not physical...it is psychological...it is a neurotic condition probably built in from childhood...a usual cause is a domineering mother and a weak father. She grew up expecting to be in control because her mother was in control of her father and the children. Now she's married to a strong man who will not be controlled...so she is lost not knowing how to be a woman in the fullest sense. She's learned to give orders...to manipulate...to get her way. She takes a man's normal aggressiveness in his job and socially and personally to be inconsideration and unkindness. Of course she controls the sex department...she does not reach vaginal orasm...if at all, only clitoral.

The truth is that a real man can't function unless he is aggressive. The truth is that a real woman welcomes...admires...respects the aggressive man. But the frigid woman is unhappy with him and sooner or later "don't want to live with him any longer." So she either suffers within herself...blaming her man...or goes to court on some trumped-up charge that will satisfy one of the seven "grounds for divorce". But the real CAUSE is her frigidity...her attitude of "male protest"..."male resistance"..."hate male" attitude. It's impossible for a man to live with this.

This woman is not to blame...nor is her husband...nor are her domineering mother or weak father...nor her grandparents...nor her great grandparents. The only solution to the unhappiness of the frigid woman is within herself and blaming someone else does not solve the problem. There's help for this condition.

Dr. Marie Robinson makes two effective suggestions...first understand yourself as a woman. If you've been trying to play a man's role, recognize it. Be feminine...learn how to be a woman...the crowning work of God's creation...respect your husband.

Secondly...understand men...stop downgrading him This was the problem with the couple in court who sat in my office...[not one couple but literally hundreds.] She couldn't think of one good thing to say about her husband...only fault-finding. She didn't understand the male and why he acts as he does...why he becomes hostile and often violent because of her rejection...how to draw out the best in him.

Happiness depends upon fulfillment of what we ARE...woman...man...eagle... Irish setter...waterfall...rose...birch tree...be whatever you are.

Notice I put women at the top of the list...but you topple from the top if you "act like a man." Love yourself...and your sex.

Husband, Wife Team Art Exhibit At Crane Library

A husband and wife team of artists, sculptor Richard Recchia and painter Kitty Parsons Recchia, will have their works on exhibit during August at the Thomas Crane Public Library main hall, announces Mrs. Carmen Ungar, art librarian.

Recchia, a Quincy native, attended Boston Museum School where he won prizes and scholarships during his three-year course. He was then sent to Europe by Daniel Chester French and Bela L. Pratt for a year's study, after which he was Mr. Pratt's assistant for nine years.

A founder of the Boston Society of Sculptors in 1923, he was one of 15 charter members of the Guild of Boston Artists; a fellow of the National Sculpture Society and National Academician.

He has received numerous awards for his figures and is represented in many art museums, libraries and universities throughout the country. His "Baby and Frog" fountain, widely exhibited, was at the 1938 World's Fair.

Kitty Parsons, born in Stratford, Conn. and New York-educated, is a writer as well as painter. She began to paint after her marriage to Mr. Recchia, with whom she studied drawing. She has exhibited in group shows in New York, Louisville, Ky., Washington, Charlotte, N.C., Portland; and has had a dozen or more one-man shows including one in Doll and Richards of Boston.

BEWARE THE CIGARETTE COUGH

A cigarette cough is dangerous in that it can mask more serious conditions. For example, the smoker who develops a chronic cough cannot tell by the quality of the cough alone whether it is due to cigarettes or to some major ailment or chronic disease. The cigarette cough, the Tuberculosis cough, the bronchitis cough and the cough due to cancer of the lung all sound alike.

There is one reliable test by which a smoker can determine for himself if his cough results from tobacco. The test is simple, yet at the same time inconvenient and difficult to perform. It requires absolute cessation of smoking for at least four to five weeks. There is no half-way measures - smoking must be stopped completely, not reduced. No other method will succeed. The true cigarette cough will disappear within five weeks. After that length of time why start smoking again?

Six Nursing Home Patients Enjoy Wollaston Beach

Residents of six Quincy nursing homes again this year are enjoying the summer breezes at Wollaston Beach thanks to efforts of the Quincy Council on Aging and the Recreation Department.

Daily outings for groups from Robbin House, Friel Nursing Home, Presidential Convalescent Home, Quincy Nursing Home, John Adams Nursing Home and Crestview Nursing Home are held at the Dawes cottage on Quincy Shore Drive, owned by the City of Quincy.

There are ramps for wheelchair patients, and aides accompany the groups from each home. The Council on Aging provides transportation and a hostess, as well as a stereo record player and lawn furniture. A television set has been contributed by South Shore Television and Appliance Company. Recreation Director William F. Ryan arranged for staff help and an outdoor table and canopy.

Mrs. Jessie Stewart, a volunteer from the Commonwealth Service Corps, each day provides coffee and keeps the guests comfortable.

The Dawes home was donated to Quincy by its former owner as a center for art, music and happiness. The present project is under the supervision of Donald H. Strong, executive director of the Council on Aging.

Planning An Estate

If you have taken the shuttle to LaGuardia, you might recall the monstrosity in Brooklyn - the Burial Grounds with hundreds of thousands of tombstones, old - gray - hideous.

Drive by and look at Mount Wollaston, or for that matter, any cemetery - with space becoming less and less available. We should begin to conceive of such alloted areas with more artistic concern.

Tradition has its adherents, but unfortunately it deters progressive thinking. I cannot believe that reverence for the dead requires any lasting monument - or if it does, that it be an arrangement of incongruous distortions.

As you drive by, an engraved name may catch your eye, but does it mean any more than that?

Legal procedures have made Mount Wollaston beyond repair, but wouldn't it make a delightful park? Appropriate markers to recall the buried for those wishing to remember.

In India - where the numbers exceed imagination with corresponding deaths - the solution is cremation. A sensible, practical and expeditious send-off. Yet, we still have religious opposition here - shouldn't we begin to change such superstition? A good clean vaporization is more hygienic than a bacterial digestion.

If youth can rebel at persistent decadent attitudes, but not offer progressive suggestion, why can't we look leriously at habit and tradition and challenge burial rites, procedures, expense and common sense.

Thanatopsis, meaning a meditation of death, could become as philosophically reasonable as life and philosophy itself. Reverence for, rather than an abhorrent avoidance of thinking death would lessen our suicidal extravagances.

Deaths' inevitability should encourage pleasant conjecture, for it can be thought about, and speculated with more reason than our origin - yet we celebrate birth days as if they really had significance.

Continued efforts to perpetuate the questionable state of having been born - molly coddling an immaturity - why not pay tribute to the unexpected but certain day to come?

A cult of certainty rather than a dubious determination. Positive thinking of posterity to replace negative acceptance of ancestry.

Recreation Roundup

DISTRICT I

With help from Ron Florentine, with a single, double and a homer, the Shea Rink Junior Baseball team captured its second straight crown by defeating a powerful club from Wollaston. Stoney Brae has been busily preparing for the Junior Novice Olympics. At Forbes Hill Jim Burke is the leader in checkers with Paul Sackley leading in Kalah. Though the Wollaston Midgets lost to Shea Rink, they had strong hitting from Kevin O'Connell, Brian Harding, Matt Muller and Bobby Hayes. When O'Rourke's Senior basketball team plays Shea Rink for the District Championship, the players will be Paul Donaghue, John Foy, Art Hooper, Joe Leahy, Dana Caldarone and Tom Flynn.

DISTRICT II

Expert scavengers for Atlantic's nature trip were Susan Campbell and Linda Sturgis and their woodsmen and trail blazers were Eddie Campbell, Billy Doran and Billy Lambert. With Carol Barkas pitching and Joanne Malony the Montclair Junior softball team consisting of Rhonda Zoia, Michelle Callerhan, Karen Carnelly, Maryanne Motzone, Debbie Mitchele and Gayle Zoia beat Squantum 16-15. When Welcome Young went to Faxon Park last week, Mike Colen and Kieth Lindberg made a peace sign out of colored sand and Kevin Mork made an ashtray. Kelly Ingram and Joey Deane caught butterflies at their first trip during Myles Standish's trip to Faxon Park. Squantum had a tremendous turnout in golf with Joel Pearsol leading the day with a 61, Margie Dow with a 40, Patty White 32, Tom Reeny 30, Julie Reed 24, Stephen Donelly 22, and Kathy Doady with a 20.

DISTRICT III

Tuesday, LaBrecque took Dawn and Jackie McGee, Theresa and Donna O'Brien, Mike and Jean Lorenzetti, Buddy Campbell and Laura Davis to Big Blue where everyone had a great time.

Steve Cannon had 18 points in the senior basketball game and John Reily eight to tie Jack Brown for the game when Massfield beat Welcome Young.

DISTRICT IV

Elm Street showed its appreciation for the trip to Faxon Park by singing the recreation song during the homeward busride. Some of the singers were Sandra D'Olympio [who led the trek on the Blue Arrow Trail] and Jack Breen, Tom Di Mattio, Allison Fay, Gerry D'Olympio, and Jean Vadaro. Terri Conroy scored three homeruns. Joyce Flynn was a great pitcher and Ophelia Mewis was the star of Merrymount's Junior Girl's softball team and won against Faxon Field. But Faxon Field was lucky to be first in the Scavenger Hunt. When Whitwell Street went to Faxon Park, Paula and Cathy Mannai made real groovy place signs and Ricky Barzan, Janice Finnegan, Jean Doray and Jane Ferzoso made beautiful ash trays for the parents. Outstanding in Pond Street's loss to the Elm Street Girl's softball team was Tricia Connor. Beechwood Knoll, thanks Laine Shea for her star pitching and Jannie Kally and Nancy Foy for their contributions in helping to win the district four Junior's softball title.

DISTRICT V

Giving admirable performances in Pollards loss to Kincaide were Rich Wheelock, Steve Clarke, Neil Droger, Steve Polumbo, John Ferris, and Dave Perdios. Joey DiCeasorn of Columbia caught the only butterfly when at Faxon Park. They have named it Columbus of Columbia!!!! Kathy Picard led an exercise hour for Faxon Park for one of their special events. Famous painters and plasterers in Bradford's arts and crafts are Lisa DeSanti, Mary Denney, Toni Suizzero and Ron Suizzero. Instead of collecting butterflies, Tommy Boland and Peter Rearden of Kincaide attempted to collect tadpoles in Faxon Park's Pond. Pat and Brian Sullivan, Mark Paulucci, Tom Cahill and Tom McBride keep Fore River playground safe under the name of "Bicycle Balloon Bombers".

DISTRICT VI

Some of Baker's more prominent touch football players are Bob and Johnny Megnia, Bob Foley, Mark Matthews and Fitz Fitzgibbons. Harborview welcomed back John and Francis and thanked them for sharing their pictures with them. Playing hard in Snug Harbor's loss to Harborview in Senior Basketball were Ted Dahlquist, Brian Fitzgibbons and Rooster Lyni.

Friday afternoon was French Day at Happy Acres. Under the direction of Martine Montillot the campers and senior volunteers made exquisite "Paris Fashions" from red white and blue crepe paper. Next the girls learned "Frere Jacques" and were rewarded for their efforts with French cookies and strawberry tarts. Don't forget the arts and crafts display in the Quincy Savings Bank from August 10 to 17! Chuck Sullivan urges everyone to take advantage of the Quincy Tennis Club's invitation to the Recreation Department for all boys and girls to visit the club Mondays from 1 p.m. till 3 p.m. for special tennis lessons.

The 90-95 degree temperatures haven't dampened the enthusiasm of the archers. They must have their eyes on the upcoming tournament.

Some experts at Nature Week's Scavenger Hunts were John Picard, Vally and Elizabeth Keith, Linda Brennon, Shirley Lyons, Cathie Powers, all from LaBrecque and Billy Ross, Danny, Billy and Mary Ellen Shea, John Marci, Corrine Broderick, all from Heron Road.

Snug Harbor has achieved the best scores in the golf obstacle course with Merrymount not far behind. Some of Snug Harbor's best scorers are Dan McKay, Paul Craig and Mark Weidman.

Also-Rans This Year But - -

Next Year Looks Bright For Morrisette, Quincy

The Morrisette and Quincy Legion baseball teams have ended their seasons and, although both finished as also-rans, they turned in some fine performances and things look bright for next year.

Doug Fleming's Quincy team gave the fans something to cheer about with one of the season's greatest comebacks in its final game. Quincy scored seven runs in the last three innings to overcome a 6-0 deficit and edge Norwood, which barely missed in Zone 6-B, 7-6, Sunday.

Meanwhile Ray Cattaneo's Morrisette team, the perennial Zone 6 champion, finished its season last week in disappointing fashion as it lost a 5-0 lead and bowed to Weymouth, which was in a nip and tuck battle with Braintree for Zone 6 honors, 10-5, in its final game.

The Quincy-Norwood contest at Adams Field was actually two games with Norwood racing to a 6-0 lead in five innings, then Quincy making a complete turnabout to finally pull it out.

Norwood started off with two runs in the first and Quincy's pitchers made all kinds of mistakes to give the visitors three runs in the third. Four walks, four wild pitches, a double and single accounted for the runs. Norwood scored its final run in the fifth on a hit, stolen base, wild pitch and two errors.

Then Quincy took over and dominated the rest of the game as its pitchers settled down, the defensive play was tremendous and Quincy collected 11 of its 15 hits in the last three innings.

Hits by Tim Flynn, Ed Monti and Bob Langley and an error gave the locals two runs in the sixth.

In the seventh Quincy pounded out six hits and tied the score with four runs. The hitters were Joe Marini, Flynn, Jack Flaherty, Monti, Langley and Norm Walsh.

In the eighth Marini singled, reached second on a fielder's choice and scored the winning run on Monti's third hit.

Monti had three hits and drove in three runs, Langley and Flynn also had three hits each, Marini two and Flaherty, Walsh, Steve Cannon and Dave Murphy one apiece.

Buddy Crowell, the last of four pitchers, was the winner. He was preceded by Bob Brill, Murphy and Bob Driscoll.

"It was a rather disappointing season as we had only a 6-12 record but we did lose some tough games and this was a great way to end the season," Fleming said. "We have two-thirds of our players, including all the pitchers, coming back next year and things look bright."

In its previous game Quincy was belted by Milton, 10-1, as the winners errupted for seven runs in the first inning. After the seven runs, Walsh came in and struck out the next three batters.

Quincy was held to four hits, two by Dave Drew and one each by Jim Broderick and Mike McNally.

Morrisette, which also had a young team with most players returning next season, shocked Weymouth by scoring three times in the first and twice in the third for a 5-0 lead.

However, Weymouth came back with two runs in the fourth and then exploded for eight runs in the fifth and last inning to win it and stay up with Braintree.

Morrisette added two runs in the top of the sixth but when the game was called because of darkness, the score reverted to the fifth inning.

Tony Knasas pitched excellent ball until the big fourth and was followed on the mound by Bobby Petinelli and Len Pepe.

Pete Lucier had two of Morrisette's eight hits and Russ MacDonald, Tom Burke, Steve Sullivan, Kevin Ryan, John Alberti and Knasas had one apiece.

Morrisette, which last year won its seventh Zone 6 title in nine years, finished with a 10-8 record.

Tom Cavicchi Stopping Traffic On Golf Course

Tom Cavicchi, 20-year old Quincy golfer who plays out of Thorny Lea in Brockton, has come a long way in a few years.

This is evidenced by his outstanding showing in the recent 62nd annual State Amateur championships at Essex Country Club.

Two years ago the son of Quincy Police Capt. and Mrs. Roy Cavicchi failed to qualify for the tourney.

A year ago he went to the semifinals before bowing out.

This year Tom, who will be a senior at Rollins College in Florida in the fall and a big reason Rollins won the NCAA College Division title this spring, played brilliant golf which brought him all the way to the finals.

In the finals Cavicchi met a Thorny Lea clubmate, the experienced John Tosca, Jr., who has been in the event several times and won the title in 1959.

It appeared the young Quincy golfer was on his way to an upset win when Tosca's greater experience began to tell and he overcame a four-hole deficit to overcome Cavicchi with a super approach shot on the last hole to win, 1-up.

Tosca's tee shot on the 36th green, taken by the wind, came to rest in a flat lie on dirt. He was forced to position his feet in an awkward position but he dropped a No. 4 iron about 12 feet from the pin and got down in two putts for his birdie

Cavicchi, meanwhile, had squared the match with a birdie three on the 35th hole but his tee shot on the 36th went into the woods as he wound up with a double bogey.

"This was a big thrill, but you have to be lucky to win a match play tournament like this, said Tosca. "Tom played excellent golf and it was a big thing for Thorny Lea to have two members in the finals."

Cavicchi has been a member of Thorny Lea for only a year.

In the quarterfinals he eliminated Joe Smidt, a Rollins College alumnus, 4 and 3; in the third round he ousted Dave Lutkins of Weston, 3 and 2; he defeated Frank Pianowski of Ludlow, 6 and 4, in the second round and in his opening round match he defeated Paul Cortese of Haverhill with ease, 6 and 5.

The Quincy golfer was scheduled to play with Brad Buttner in the Plymouth Member-Guest tourney on Saturday, the date of the state amateur finals.

"I'm sure Brad will understand," Tom said with a smile.

"PLAY BALL!"–All set for Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre's annual baseball outing at Fenway Park between the Red Sox and Kansas City Royals are volunteers Diane Brabazon, Braintree Deputy Fire Chief Arthur McGibbon; Rep. M. Joseph Manning of Milton; Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Maguire of Quincy; Wendy Browne; Mayor James R. McIntyre; Fire Chief Donald McNeil from Randolph; Senate President Maurice Donahue; Dorothy Ray, Dorothy Ayer, Quincy Police Lt. William Daley; Sen. George Kenneally and Theresa Dillon.

Hurry! Hurry! Hurry!

Saturday T-Day (Ticket Day) For Mayor's Baseball Trip

Saturday is T-Day in Quincy–Ticket Day!

Several thousand tickets for Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre's annual baseball outing to Fenway Park will be available then at Quincy fire stations.

Parents of youngsters 10 to 15 must pick up the tickets Saturday between 10 and 11 a.m.

The game, Aug. 13, will be between the Red Sox and the Kansas City Royals.

This year's outing is being co-sponsored by Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, assisted by Sen. George Kenneally, Rep. Joseph Semensi and Sen. Joseph Manniag.

In addition to Quincy youngsters, young baseball fans from Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook and Milton, are invited to make the trip to Fenway.

Tickets will be available at Central Fire Station in Braintree, Randolph and Holbrook and at Milton Town Hall.

Several thousand ice cream cups will be distributed, and baseballs will be awarded to lucky winners in Quincy and other towns prior to boarding the busses for the game.

Before boarding the busses at 11 a.m. at the rear of Quincy-Vocational Technical School, there will be a parade from City Hall to Depot St., to Temple, to Coddington, to Voc-Tech.

Quincy Police Color Guard and volunteer officers will lead a line of march including Mayor McIntyre and guests. Little Leaguers and others, children with baseball uniforms; Police Chief Francis Finn and Fire Chief Edward F. Barry, other city officials; St. Ann's Band; and other volunteers.

The bus caravan will be escorted by Metropolitan and Boston Police to Fenway Park from Neponset Circle, through cooperation of Lt. William Daley of the Quincy Police Department. Many firemen and policemen have volunteered their services, as in past years, as chaperones.

Mattson, Picarski In Agganis All-Star Game On Saturday

Two of the outstanding players on last fall's Quincy High Football team which tied Malden for the Greater Boston League championship will be playing for the South squad Saturday night in the ninth annual Harry Agganis All-Star game.

Paul Picarski, a line backer, and Cliff Mattson, a two-way tackle, are the local representatives in the 8 p.m. game at Fraser Field in Lynn.

All of the 88 players in the game [44 on each squad] will be going on to college.

Mattson will be going to the University of New Hampshire in the fall on a football scholarship, while Picarski will be entering Holy Cross in another year but will go to a prep school in Connecticut this fall.

Two years ago Quincy's Mike Jordan was named Holy Cross' outstanding defensive back and the Holy Cross scout who watched Picarski, rates him as "better than Jordan at this stage of his career."

"Paul was one of the finest defensive backs I ever coached and he also ran well when called upon," Quincy Coach Hank Conroy said.

"I think he will make an excellent college player and I am pleased to see him selected for this game.

"Mattson also played outstanding ball for me last fall, excelling both on offense and defense and I think he has a fine future in college."

College coaches have lauded this annual all-star game and Boston College Coach Joe Yukica rates it as one of the finest schoolboy promotions in the country.

"I played in the famous "33" game in Pennsylvania while in high school and was also a spectator at the game for several years," he said. "However, I strongly feel that the Agganis All-Star game is just as good if not better than the "33" game and much better than other all-star games staged throughout the country during the summer.

"The calibre this year is quite outstanding and four of my incoming Boston College freshmen will be playing in the game."

Varney On Sporting News All–Star Baseball Team

North Quincy's Pete Varney, who had a fantastic season for the Harvard baseball team this spring, continues to have honors heaped upon him.

The latest and one of the best was being selected last week for the 1970 College All-American team by scouting directors for the major league teams. The team is under the auspices of the Sporting News.

Pete, who started out as the Crimson's catcher, moved to first base and also played some in the outfield and set several Harvard slugging records.

He batted .375 and had many home runs and other extra base hits.

Pete has been drafted five times by major league clubs but refused to sign, insisting on finishing his college career.

Also one of Harvard's top football players and co-captain of this coming year's team, Pete has been named to many other baseball all-star teams. He is currently starring as catcher for the Bob Woolf Club of the Boston Senior Park League.

Sam Mele's Son At Ted Williams Camp

For many years, dating back to the time each was playing in the American League, Quincy's Sam Mele and Ted Williams, former Red Sox slugging star, have been close friends.

Last week Sam's son Steve, who will be a sophomore in the fall at Abp. Williams High School, left for a month's stay at the Ted Williams Baseball Camp in Lakeville. He will be at the camp until Aug. 25.

Sam, now a special assignments scout for the Sox, and Ted, manager of the Washington Senators, remain good friends.

When Sam, prior to becoming manager of the Minnesota Twins, was the Twins' batting coach, he several times asked Ted to give such stars as Harmon Killebrew batting tips when they were in a slump.

Ted always agreed and the batters always snapped out of their slumps after talking with Ted.

Youth Grid League Registration Aug. 8

Quincy Youth Football League registrations will be held Aug. 8, at 10 a.m. announces Thomas Keeley, president.

Candidates for Panthers will register at Fore River Field; Apaches, Atlantic Junior High School Field; Manets, LaBrecque Field; and Elks, Kincaide Field.

Darlene D'Olimpio, Joseph Marani Playground 'Leaders Of Week'

Darlene D'Olimpio and Joseph Marani have been chosen "Playground Leaders of the Week" for Quincy Recreation Department's summer program.

Miss D'Olimpio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen D'Olimpio of 70 South Walnut St., attended Daniel Webster and Quincy Point Junior High Schools, and graduated with "Distinction" in June from Quincy High School.

She spent last summer in Japan as an American Field Service exchange student. This summer she is an instructor at Faxon Field, and in September will enter Emmanuel College with a scholarship award.

Marani, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Evo Marani of 48 Baxter Ave., a graduate of St. Joseph's School, will enter his junior year at Boston College in the fall.

Active in all sports, he began his career at seven years with the Red Sox Farm League and has played baseball since. This year he was an infielder on the Morrisette Legion team. His football activities began with the Quincy Point Panthers, and is now a member of Boston College's varsity team.

In addition to CYO basketball at St. Joseph's Church, he is a lector, and also serves on the Youth Advisory Board of the Quincy Point Youth Center.

McCormack Says He Is Man To Beat For Lieutenant Governor

Former Quincy City Councillor James S. McCormack says he considers himself the man to beat for lieutenant governor in the Sept. 15 primary.

He filed almost 11,300 signatures this week at the State House for nomination.

McCormack emphasized that his state-wide organization, at work over the past 10 days, has collected some 18,000 signatures door-to-door in eight counties and in 42 cities and towns where his papers were certified last week.

McCormack, said his candidacy poses the most serious threat to Rep. Michael Dukakis of Brookline, the only other announced candidate for the number two spot on the November ballot.

McCormack said he would probably challenge the signatures of another would-be candidate, who allegedly was found by . Springfield City Councillor Rose Marie Coughlin, a McCormack campaign coordinator, to have obtained signatures of 30 deceased persons.

He said his campaign workers had been too faithful in obtaining legal signatures to allow any other candidate to get on the ballot through filing of fraudulent nomination papers.

McCormack said he was taking his bid for nomination directly to the Democratic and Independent voters throughout the State. He re-emphasized he did not consider himself the "favorite son" of any of the four gubernatorial candidates and that he would not be placed in that position.

When he announced his candidacy several weeks ago, McCormack promised to take a long look at the "approaches" state government is taking toward solving some of the major issues of the day.

"The prescription for our ills is not necessarily to raise more taxes and spend more money," he said, "but to develop new techniques and new approaches to keep pace with the needs of today and tomorrow."

McCormack said he would make local property taxes the major issue of his campaign. "State government must take steps to aid cities and towns in the direct reduction of tax rates," he said.

"Homeowners and rent payers carry an unfair proportion of the burden and the state must provide additional revenue that can be directly applied toward reduction of the individual property taxes."

He has cited his legislative and executive experience as unique qualifications for the lieutenant governor position. He recently resigned his position as assistant commissioner for the State in the Department of Commerce and Development to seek the nomination.

He is a former State Senator from the First Norfolk District and was the youngest member of the Council at age 25 when he was elected to the Quincy City Council in 1959.

GINGER ROGERS will be in Paris shortly to star in the title role of the ANGELA LANSBURY famed Broadway musical "MAME"... This is the second consecutive play which Miss ROGERS has appeared in. She was a Broadway replacement for CAROL CHANNING in "HELLO DOLLY"... GEORGE JESSEL will receive the American Legion "GI OSCAR" award for his efforts in entertaining our soldiers abroad. The ceremonies take place on Sept. 1st in Portland, Ore... "AIRPORT" is rapidly closing in on the $10 million mark. Should hit that figure by the time you read this... Not bad for a film the critics originally panned as "not having it"... French actress JEANNE MOREAU makes a brief cameo appearance in the new DON SUTHERLAND motion picture, "ALEX IN WONDERLAND"... To date television personality ART LINKLETTER has made only one film. That being the 1950 production of "CHAMPAGNE FOR CAESAR", which starred RONALD COLEMAN and CELESTE HOLM...

The historical epic "CROMWELL" is topping all box-office records previously set at the Odeon Leicester Square Theatre, in London, England... So far the picture is far outdistancing former first-premier filmes, "OLIVER" and "LAWRENCE OF ARABIA"... The stars may have something to do with it being such an outstanding feature... RICHARD HARRIS stars as Cromwell, and ALEC GUINNESS enacts the role of Charles 1... Whatever became of former sex-goddess URSULA ANDRESS? The last picture she made was five years ago. "THE BLUE MAX ' I believe... BARBRA STREISAND is superlative in her latest musical, "ON A CLEAR DAY YOU CAN SEE FOREVER"...

QUOTE, UNQUOTE: At a seminar at Harper College in Palatine, Ill., NBC newsman SANDY VANOCUR in discussing the media's relation to government, said, "All governments wind up lying deliberately or inadvertently because they have to justify their policies... It is our job to keep the government honest"... After a two year hiatus ROY THINNES is due back on television in his new NBC vehicle, "PSYCHIATRISTS"... DAVID FROST really gets around. He was in Hollywood recently discussing the possibilities of making a movie... MERV GRIFFIN is contemplating basing his show out of Hollywood in hopes of finding new talent to air on his nightly "yawn showcase"... If the football player strike becomes a season reality, the networks are going to be in a bind finding fall, Sunday afternoon replacements...

GODFREY CAMBRIDGE's role in "WATERMELON MAN" required him to sit in the make-up room for a minimum of two hours for the express purpose of "turning white". In the film he plays a business man who wakes up one day to find himself a black man... Newcomer JOHN HANSEN has the difficult acting task of portraying Cristine Jorgeson, before and after her famous transsexual operation, in "THE CHRISTINE JORGENSON STORY"... For those of you clamoring for a G-rated family movie that you can bring your children to see, WALT DISNEY's "BOATNIKS" should be your cup of tea... Included in the cast are PHIL "Sgt. Bilko" SILVERS, and one time matinee idol, DON AMECHE...

Add the names of YUL BRYNNER, TONY RANDALL and GLENN FORD to the ever swelling list of film stars seeking refuge in television. Each of the three are being earmarked for future weekly series of their own... KATHERINE HEPBURN, VANESSA REDGRAVE and IRENE PAPPAS join their formidable talents in "THE TROJAN WOMEN", a motion picture based on the Euripedes play. Cameras start rolling in mid-August in the Mediterrainean... With such credits to his list as "BUTCH CASSIDY AND THE SUNDANCE KID", "THE WILD BUNCH", "COOL HAND LUKE", and the more recent "BALLAD OF CABLE HOGUE", STROTHER MARTIN is rapidly becoming the number one character actor in the business today... Not too long ago Chico State College in California, held the First Annual Strother Martin Film Festival commemorating the over 25 films and 600 featured roles in television he has appeared in...

Probably one reason DUSTIN HOFFMAN is so successful a film actor, is the men directing him. ARTHUR PENN has the honors in HOFFMAN's next picture, "THE LITTLE BIG MAN"... Giving HOFFMAN AMPLE SUPPORT IN THIS ONE IS THE Best Supporting Actor of 1965, MARTIN BALSAM...

For realism, producers are going more and more for out of the way locales rather than build sets on the studio premises. " THE GO-BETWEEN", which stars JULIE CHRISTIE and ALAN BATES, is being filmed entirely on location in the small English village of Norfolk... "MAN OF LaMANCHA" is the next Broadway play slated to be turned into a motion picture...

Mayor Asks (Again) Milton Truck Traffic Cooperation

For the third time, Mayor James R. McIntyre has written to Milton selectmen asking cooperation in relieving heavy truck traffic on West Squantum St.

McIntyre has requested the granting of permission to the State Street Bank to use the Old Colony Railroad right of way, taken by the Town of Milton for Open Space purposes, as an access road.

"I fully understand the conditions of the agreement by the taking authority and its purpose, and ask reconsideration of your recent denial," McIntyre wrote. "This letter is being written because of the many many complaints and petitions received in this office regarding this condition."

State Street Bank will construct a temporary access road, McIntyre said, and will return the area to its original state upon completion.

He asks consideration of the action "in the spirit of neighborly cooperation, hopeful that you will allow this waiver, not only for the relief of the residents of Quincy, but more importantly, for those residents and transients in the East Milton and West Squantum Street Milton area."

'Quincy Yard Needs More Work'--Bellotti

"Quincy needs additional work," Francis X. Bellotti, Democratic candidate for Governor, said Tuesday during a visit to Local No. 5 members at General Dynamics shipyard.

"Although Quincy is proceeding at a brisk pace now," said Bellotti, "its $400 million backlog will provide work through 1972 only. If orders fail to materialize, the sailing could be rough for Quincy."

To compete with Litton Industries Shipyard in Pascagoula, Miss., recently awarded a $1.2 billion Navy destroyer contract, the Quincy yards need state aid through tax exemptions and bond issues similar to that granted Litton, he said.

Bellotti added that this fall bids for 27 marine ships will go out as the first phase of Nixon's program to rebuild the Merchant Marine. Also, General Dynamics has proposed construction of nuclear powered submarine tankers to transport Alaskan oil across the continent.

"There's a lot of potential action today in shipbuilding," Bellotti stated, "and there's no reason why Quincy should not be a part of this action. With the state offering incentives for yard renovation and modernization and with the expansion of the Fore River Bridge to enable larger ships on the river, we can get our state well on the way to a secure, dynamic shipbuilding industry for the '70's."

Traffic Bottleneck Eases As Neponset Bridge Opens

A long-time North Quincy traffic bottleneck eased this week with the opening of the new $10.6 million bridge over the Neponset River, on Monday.

"A spectacular improvement," the bridge was termed by Paul Harold of 31 Riverside Ave., one of the first Boston-bound motorists to use the new facility on opening day when one-way traffic was in effect.

"There's no longer a drawbridge which used to hold up traffic, and the view from the bridge which is much higher than the old one is much better," Harold added.

Wednesday, demolition of the old drawbridge began, and two-way traffic was routed over the half-completed bridge.

The new span will eventually carry only northbound traffic when the bridge is completed in an estimated 18 weeks.

Food Commodities Eligible In Need Of Transportation

There is a need for transportation for persons entitled to receive food commodities at the distribution center at 85 Sumner St., Quincy Point.

Young people from the Walk For Development Group, headed by Miss Joyce Randall, are attempting to find volunteers to help.

Of the approximately 2,000 persons eligible to receive food, only 350 were supplied at the July distribution.

The next distribution is scheduled for Aug. 17, 18, 19 and 20. Persons interested in helping by driving elderly persons or others without transportation to and from the center may call the Welfare Office at 472-6380.

Robert Manning is in charge of the food distribution, working under Keith Rawlins, director of the Quincy Multi-Service Center.

Principal Planner Examination Sept. 26

A Civil Service examination for the position of principal planner, in the Quincy Planning Department, will be held Sept. 26.

The time and place will be announced later according to Mabel A. Campbell, Director of Civil Service.

Applicants must have at least seven years of a full-time, paid technical or professional experience in regional or urban planning, including at least three years in a professional capacity.

Duties for the position, which pays $12,921 a year, are to assume professional responsibility for major planning and research projects requiring policy decisions on urban land use, community facilities, housing and economic development.

Applications must be received in the office of the Division of Civil Service no later than Sept. 8.

'To The Person Who Tore Down The Flag'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

To the person who tore down the Flag, staff and bracket from the front of my home; bending the staff in the shape of a horseshoe and destroying and going off with the Flag – this is a despicable act.

Naturally, my reaction was of cold anger and frustration that anyone would do such a cowardly thing.

If this is your way of closing the communication gap or bettering our way of life, how wrong you are. How much more productive if you were to talk with me and exchange opinions and ideas on how to bring about corrective changes in our society. I believe in constitutional dissent, legal protest within the constitutional limits of free speech, peaceful assembly and the right of petition.

The reason I honor and raise this Flag is because it represents a Nation and its citizens who have made more social, political and economic progress than any nation or civilization in the world and I am blessed to be born in this land of opportunity.

I have worked hard, been frugal all my life to acquire what I have, and this Nation with its faults, which you can help straighten out by registering your views with your elected representatives, has made it all possible.

The next day I purchased a new Flag and staff, which I will raise and fly as long as my health and strength permit.

Liked 'Sidewalk Bazaar', Suggests New Year's Eve Open House

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I agree with your paper that the "Sidewalk Affair" this summer was a success, many people like myself enjoyed it.

Wouldn't it be great if someone could promote a New Year's Eve Open house, especially with restaurants etc. [and I don't mean on the sidewalks]

We tried one N.Y's eve to stop for a cup of coffee at midnite and we couldn't find a place in Quincy or Wollaston that was open, if they were they just didn't serve coffee on N. Y's Eve.

Young Benefit From SS

Social security has become increasingly more valuable to young people in the 35 years since the program was enacted, according to Frank Culkin, district manager of social security in Quincy.

Originally, the sole purpose of social security benefits was to provide a basic income for workers retiring at 65.

But in 1939, before the first monthly benefits had been paid, Congress added benefits for dependents and survivors.

Today, people below retirement age have a much greater stake in social security--both in terms of more protection in the event that they become disabled or die and in terms of the number who are actually drawing benefits.

About one out of every four people on the social security benefit rolls is under 60, Culkin noted. Included are young widowed mothers and their children, disabled workers and their families, the disabled sons and daughters of retired or disabled workers or of workers who have died, and students 18 to 22 who are getting monthly benefits because a parent has died or retired or become disabled.

The value of social security disability protection is often overlooked by young people, Culkin said, noting that a 1967 change in law made it easier for younger disabled people to qualify for payments.

Now a worker who becomes disabled before age 24 may quality for benefits for himself and for his wife and children if he has only one and a half years of social security work credit in the previous three years. If his disability begins between 24 and 31, he is eligible if he has social security credit for only half the time between age 21 and the time his disability started.

As a result of all these changes, Culkin emphasizes, social security has become more important than ever--not just in terms of retirement and Medicare benefits, but as protection now for young workers and their families.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

An Oft Repeated Prayer

As I emptied the ash tray and remarked about the ugly remains of a cigarette, a mother of five proudly announced her triumph over that American status symbol.

Her reason for quitting - or kicking the habit, colloquially - was a concern about her children. Hers had been a long established smoking practice and required considerable effort and determination - but she had succeeded and had been without a smoke for six months.

Although this small experience will not influence many, it still will be what must be done by many parents who are being influenced by the well established and documented pathology, as a consequence of smoking. They must stop if it is hoped that their children will be spared the complications: - emphysema, lung-cancer, coronary disease, tumors of the gastro intestinal and urinary tracts, and of course, drugs.

Emphysema, with it's chronic juicy cough and increasingly difficult breathing is hard for me to attend. Breathlessness is a very distressing and disabling condition.

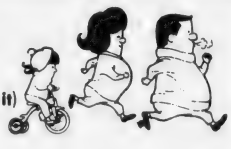
As I watch a man, whom I know well and admire much, and note his gradual decline due to this complication, I grieve! Numerous remonstrations and pleadings to have him quit have not influenced him.

Patients, when told of lung cancer, stop immediately. So should the emphysematous. So should anyone who has a raspy chest and cough due to the cigarette!

No Asthmatic person should smoke or the one who, on easy exercise, finds himself wheezing. They are especially prone to the deleterious effects of smoking.

No amount of preaching, lectures, or slides on cancer, or recalling names of famous persons who have "kicked the bucket" because of smoking, will do as much for youth and children as the declaration by a mother or father that he or she will stop smoking. Peer influence is only an enhancement. Good discipline and example by a parent will do more to thwart the enticement of peers. Adventure is influenced by preparation. Iteration by parents, early and often, will not prevent experimentation, but it does have an indelible effect on the continuation of an undesirable practice.

Forgive the harping, but as often stated - cigarette smoking precedes marijuana, and the latter precedes in practically every instance "speed" - other hallucinogens as LSD, and of course the "P.H.D." of Hell - Heroin. The sequence follows in almost every case.



Nail biting is so much more rewarding! The researchers attempts to find benign smokes made from soy beans and vegetable leaves do not remove the oral demand for something in our mouths. You just can't forget the lessons from Freud - our return to infancy.

Do you suppose that a society can mature? Are our habits, material wants, and customs ever eradicated by thinking in advance? Can you abolish or lessen emotional needs by reason?

Chemical pollution of the air we breath over our cities, on our lungs and heart by smoke, must be preceded by determined foresight and preventive action before all is lost - society or our individual health.

Mayor Hits Open Land Requirement

20 Homes To Be Taken For Lincoln-Hancock School

WELL DONE--Mayor James R. McIntyre presents commendation to hero Firefighter Joseph J. Graham while his proud wife and Fire Chief Edward F. Barry looks on. Graham while off-duty climbed a 211-foot Squantum water tower to rescue a youth who had threatened to jump from it.

An estimated 20 homes must be taken before the new Lincoln-Hancock School can be built at Brewer's Corner.

Only two or three are needed for the actual site of the school construction, Mayor James R. McIntyre noted.

The remaining homes must be taken to meet the state's requirements for open land surrounding the school, McIntyre said in striking out at the demand.

The school site is across from Kincaide Park.

Landtaking requirements of the Commonwealth are holding up school construction in cities, he declared.

McIntyre plans to file in the next session of the Legislature a bill modifying the restrictive requirements on land-taking in cities for school purposes.

"The School Building Assistance Committee is extremely unrealistic," McIntyre said. "They have their heads in the clouds when it comes to assigning large amounts of acreage for open space purposes for school construction in cities.

"This is one of the problems in building the Lincoln-Hancock School," McIntyre states. "It is very unrealistic to go ahead and assume that cities are going to tear down homes and displace people in order to build schools, particularly when they are adjacent to public parks."

"This was the problem at Furnace Brook, too" McIntyre continued. "It was necessary to write to the MDC to acquire state owned land, have it transferred to the city for open space use to meet state requirements. There is no sense to it."

"They are doing more to restrict quality education for children than any other state agency because of their very unreal demand for acres and acres of open space land. As a result, on local levels it is necessary to move homes and displace people in order to build new schools.

"I am filing legislation generally along this line to cut down requiremen on open space for schools in cities, particularly when there are public parks or land adjacent to the school, or within a short distance. Cities that have public parks near schools would be able to qualify for the 40% assistance available."

According to McIntyre, the city has received a letter from the state saying that the Code Enforcement Division is a qualified re-location agent. The basic plan for the new Lincoln-Hancock School has not yet been approved, however, by the State Department of Community Affairs. Leonard Purpora, Code Enforcement officer, completed the relocation plan.

Two Firefighters Commended For Squantum Water Tower Rescue

Two Quincy firefighters who risked their own lives in the dramatic rescue of an 18-year-old youth from a 211-foot Squantum water tower have been commended by Chief Edward F. Barry for "meritorious action".

Firefighter Joseph L. Graham, who joined the department only last May when the 42-hour work week went into effect, was awarded two days off.

Firefighter Gino Palmer will be given one day off.

Graham's action will also be referred to the Board of Merit for possible further recognition.

Grahm, who lives at 50 Mayflower Rd., Squantum, was off-duty Aug. 2 when a youth, identified as Brian Chase of Park Ave., climbed to the top of the water standpipe off Dorchester St.

Because of his familiarity with the water tank, Graham volunteered to climb to the top to rescue the youth.

Palmer also climbed the tower to assist but returned to the ground because, said Chief Barry, the youth "threatened to jump if more than one firefighter remained".

"Firefighter Graham," said Barry, "after a period of approximately two hours talking and pleading with Chase not to jump, finally convinced him and assisted him in descending from the precarious position to the ground."

"The heroic actions of Firefighters Graham and Palmer played an instrumental part in saving the life of this man," said Chief Barry.

"The Quincy Fire Department takes pride in the actions of these men and this commendation shall be read at all roll calls. A copy of this commendation shall be presented to each man and another shall be made a part of his personal official file.

"Recognition is given to all firefighters for their assistance in this successful fire department action."

Firefighter Graham is the latest member of his family to enter public service.

A brother, Edward, is a firefighter stationed at Wollaston and another brother, Robert, is a member of the Quincy Police Department. A sister, Mrs. Patricia McInver is the traffic supervisor for pupils at the Squantum School.

Wollaston Youngsters Thank 'Great Guy, Mr. Mayor'

That "great guy Mr. Mayor" has received a thank-you letter from a group of Wollaston youngsters.

Written by Kenneth Shine of 19 Prospect Ave., "on behalf of the kids and parents of Wollaston," the note of appreciation to Mayor James R. McIntyre was for installing a much needed water bubbler at the Wollaston School yard.

The group originally petitioned the Mayor for the bubbler without much hope, because "the bigger kids just smashed the new monument in Safford Park." They promised the new bubbler would not be broken or abused.

"You're a real great guy Mr. Mayor and we thank you for doing us kids a rewarding favor as such," the youngster wrote.

"We hope you stay our Mayor for a long time because good guys are getting harder to find."

Quincy Red Cross Chapter Seeking Funds For 'Celia' Victims

Irving J. Boyes, chairman of the Greater Quincy Red Cross Chapter, announces the Red Cross has launched an appeal to provide emergency relief and recovery assistance for the victims of Hurricane Celia.

He anticipates Red Cross assistance will be required for more than 15,000 families at a cost anticipated to exceed $6 million.

Surveys show 8,950 homes destroyed and 13,850 homes with major damage and 41,800 with minor damage.

Almost every building in Corpus Christi was damaged and there is major destruction to outlying towns of Arkansas, Rockport, Taft, and Ingleside.

At the present time there are more than 175 Disaster specialists now assisting thousands of Red Cross volunteers in extending financial assistance to the affected disaster families.

Governor Preston Smith of Texas has proclaimed the Red Cross as the official Disaster Relief Agency.

Boyes asks that contributions be mailed to the Greater Quincy Red Cross Chapter, 57 Revere Road, Quincy, Mass. 02169

Norfolk County Population Estimated At 605,414

This is an increase of 95,158 persons over the 1960 official census.

The Census Bureau will commence in the fall to publish official population figures for all areas in the United States -- states, counties, cities, towns and villages.

Turbitt expressed his own and the Census Bureau's thanks to residents of the area, officials, the newspapers and radio stations for their co-operation in the taking of the 1970 census here.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The Child Attendant

Questions regarding the child attendant arise often here at WEDDINGS BY MABELLE. One of the questions most often asked is "What is the age for junior bridesmaids?" or "What is the age for flower girls?"

Generally speaking the junior bridesmaid is between eight and 14. However, sometimes we find the 13 or 14 year old quite mature for her age and suggest she have the role of bridesmaid.

On the other hand the eight year old could be better off as a flower girl. A flower girl younger then four could spell disaster to the wedding, for younger children are seldom capable of performing their roles efficiently.

What are the duties and who would you choose for these young attendants is the next question asked.

Sisters or close relatives or perhaps a very close friend of the bride or groom may participate. The junior bridesmaids duties are the same as the bridesmaid, except that they don't usually stand in the receiving line or attend evening parties for the bridal couple. Their place in the processional is immediately following the ushers and preceding the bridesmaids. Their gowns may match or contrast with the bridesmaids in style and color.

Traditionally flower girls carry baskets and strew flower petals in the brides path. However, most churches forbid this practice and the flower girl becomes a miniature bridesmaid who merely carries her flowers as she precedes the bride down the aisle. If she stands with the bridal party during the ceremony it is on the left of the honor attendant who cues her. She may sit in the front pew on the left or when she reaches her mother may step out of the line and sit with her.

Usually she does not stand in the receiving line. Sometimes the older flower girl wants to. If this be the case then she would stand between the bridegroom and the honor attendant. Be sure to tell her ahead of time that she may step out of line whenever she wants to.

Brides, when it comes time to select the flower girls' gown be sure, if she is to be dressed as the bridesmaids, the style does not make her look like a little old lady. Some styles that look stunning on the older girls make the little ones look ridiculous. If there is doubt in your mind, have her gown made in your color scheme in a little girl style. It may be long or short.

The ringbearer may walk with the flower girl or alone. He too should be at least four years old. The four to six year old looks best in a short pant suit.

Child attendants must attend the rehearsal to practice their roles in the processional and recessional, but they have no other duty. They are usually excused from the reception unless it is held early in the day.

Love

Love, Love, It's a four-letter word,
So much publicized and nationally heard.
Now, what does love, as a word, mean?
Perhaps it's dead, for today it's not seen.
People talk about it and preach love to all!!
They use that "cheap stuff" and begin their call,
"Say, you should love mankind and one another. . . .
Love your mother, father, sister and brother!"
But, few listen to this plea, and hate remains.
Bigotry and rivalry and fighting reigns!!
When will the world really begin to hear
The message love gives loud and clear?
Love is an emotion or an act to help man....
Please, world, appreciate and practice love while you can.

People Who Truly Love

By Priscilla Laveago
91 Cross St., Belmont

People who truly love are never lonely,
They're too busy serving their fellowman;

People who truly love are never bored,
They're too involved at doing all they can;

People who truly love are never weary,
They're too absorbed to mind the hurts and pain;

People who truly love are never weak,
They're energized by power beyond their claim;

People who truly love find no denial,
Or discipline too difficult to bear;

People who truly love, welcome each hour.
To give, to share, to serve, to prove they care.

People who truly love are never envious,
For they delight in other people's joys;

People who truly love are never devious,
They know that honesty leads to accord.

People who truly love are ever patient,
No vigil is too tedious or too long;

People who truly love are full of courage,
With faith to pluck from life a glorious song.

What To Wear For Bathing Baby

Trying to keep dry while giving the baby a bath isn't the easiest thing in the world.

But here's an idea for a terry cloth apron that'll cover the mother from head to knee while she's bathing her youngster. An added feature of the unusual design is that it converts into a hooded wrap-up for the baby when he's taken out of the tub.

Made from a square yard of cotton terry, the apron has a triangular 'pocket' on the bib front that forms the hood. As the baby is lifted from the tub, the mother covers his head with the hood and wraps him in the apron skirt. Then with her free hand, she can slip the neck loop of the apron off her head and dry off the baby with the "towel" apron.

A roomy and versatile style, the apron also is ideal for backyard barbecuing, car-washing, or any clean-up chore requiring an absorbent and washable cover-up.

To make the apron, you'll need 1¼ yards of 36-inch cotton terry, five yards of double fold cotton bias tape for binding apron edges, and 1-2/3 yards of half-inch cotton cable cord for neck loops and waist ties.

From the terry, cut a triangle with a 12-inch base and 9-inch sides. This will make the hood pocket for the apron's bib front. Use a zig-zag machine stitch to sew bias tape along the 12-inch base of the triangle. Now match the 9-inch sides of the triangle to the top point of the apron square and sew in place, leaving the long side at the bottom open.

Bind edges all around the apron square with bias tape, using a zig-zag machine stitch for decorative effect.

Use a 22 to 24-inch strip of cable cord for the neck loop, attaching the cord at the two hood points about nine inches down each side of the apron top.

Sew on cable cord for waist ties about 20" down each side of the apron top.

TWO-IN-ONE—Here's a cotton terry apron you can make to wear for bathing the baby. When the splashing's done, the apron converts into a hooded cover-up and towel for drying the baby. Triangle at apron top forms a hood for baby's head.

AFTER THE BATH—Mother's big cotton terry apron now becomes a soft absorbent towel for drying off the baby. The extra long neck loop on the apron makes it easy for the mother to slip it over her head with one hand while keeping a firm grip on the baby with the other.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

Not only is it in to be thin as the title of this column indicates, but skin is in also, and the less you have of it, the better it looks!

The fall fashions will be small comfort. It may be true that midis are a-coming in, but don't think you can hide your girth under a long skirt. The news is that even these skirts are slit waist high to reveal all.

So if your altogether is all-too-much don't say that you haven't been warned. And it's never too late to start paring down. Start now or you'll have to learn all over again that "if a little is good, a lot is better" definitely does not apply to fat!

If you have any questions regarding dieting, please write to me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Week of Aug. 14 - 21

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Any services you render now are bound to involve money - be sure it's worth it. Good time to take partner out on town.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Involved affairs at home base can force inertia. Group activities may help you feel more lively and give outlet for expression.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Behind the scenes activity can force you to lose your cool. Gather up the children for a short trip and relax a bit.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - If the budget won't stretch for your kind of fun, settle gracefully for a little less. Sincere talk among friends always good.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Expressing your ideas on career matters may help the budget but self-restraint needed to curb a too aggressive approach to situation.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - You may want to express your opinions when the intrigue is brought to light but losing your temper will not help matters.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You may think the budget is running low because of social involvement but help from friends and relatives is forthcoming.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - If career matters seem uncertain, friends or relatives will lend a helping hand until things are once again settled. Rash action hinders.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Your services may be needed at a distance. This is a good time to bring your ideas to the attention of the organization.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - An out burst of temper or hasty action could disrupt plans. Gains are to be made by keeping things well in hand this week.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Trouble brewing on the home front so try to keep emotions from spilling over. You may have let things become too involved.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Let friends or relatives help straighten out your affairs if they have become too tangled. New studies take mind off physical conditions.

Cheese Is Ideal For Snacks And Meals

Cheese is an American favorite anytime. Variety in flavor and aroma, to please every taste, plus convenience beyond compare are all yours when you rely on cheese. Cubes or sticks of cheese are between-meal snacks, and grated varieties are flavor boosters for sauces and main dishes. Cheese can be the mainstay, too, for appetizers and desserts. Many cheese varieties can be found in the dairy case of your favorite supermarket.

Cheese consumption in the United States has steadily increased during the past years. Why this popularity? In addition to our desire for more sophisticated eating the nutritional importance of a food such as cheese is evident. Cheese is a concentrated form of milk and contains all the same fine nutrients that are in milk. It is an important source of high quality protein and the best food source for calcium.

Cheese trays are ideal for summer meals . . . cool, refreshing and nutritious. The secret to making an attractive cheese tray is variety. That means variety in shapes as well as cheese types. Choose one or two new cheeses as well as those tried and true favorites. As a suggestion try: a square Edam, a round Gouda, Swiss cheese slices alternated with sharp golden yellow American slices, a round cylinder of smoky cheese and slices of caraway cheese. Fill in the spaces with rolls of luncheon meat and sprigs of watercress.

Let your imagination and preference for flavor combinations determine what cheeses you will feature.

Day Care Service For S.S. Working Mothers

South Shore Day Care Services, a voluntary non-profit group, has been formed to plan supervision for the more than 1,200 children of working mothers in need of day care services.

Some 340 of the Mothers are from Quincy.

The 16-member committee, working under the South Area Planning Division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Boston, will plan and develop part day and full day care services for preschool youngsters and after school supervision of school aged children.

They are seeking federal approval so that Federal and State funds may be requested.

The committee includes working mothers, representatives of public and private agencies, and others interested. Mrs. Edward F. Connor of Hingham is chairman.

Other members are Mrs. John Grabosky of Braintree, SAPD-UCS; Mrs. Barbara Greenglass of South Shore Mental Health Center; Wilfred Nolan of Quincy School Department; Mrs. Harriet Drew of Jack & Jill Kindergarten; Russell O'Connell of Quincy Community Action Organization; David Erikson of Quincy Head Start program.

George Bulger of South Shore Community Service Center [Public Welfare], Mrs. Marjorie Lorenzetti of Quincy Mothers League; Mrs. Joanne Peoples of Germantown Service Center; Mrs. Margaret Horne of South Shore Community Action Council; Mrs. Ruth Fitzgerald of Southwest Quincy Community Center; Mrs. Diane Clark of Head Start Parent Advisory Committee; Joseph Dee of South Shore Community Action Council at Plymouth; Quincy Health Commissioner John Foley and Mrs. Ruth Murphy of Southeast Region Department of Public Health at Lakeville.

Grace Giunchiglia Heading Secretaries Member Drive

Miss Grace L. Giunchiglia, of 83 Edinboro Rd., Quincy, membership chairman, is heading a drive for the South Shore Chapter, National Secretaries Association [International].

Each chapter member has been asked to obtain another member during the coming year. Classification of membership includes: regular member, an honorary member, provisional for the secretarial beginner and associate membership for teachers or CPS not qualified for regular membership.

Qualifications include two years experience as a secretary and employment as a secretary at the time application is made.

The Association, established in 1942, is not a union for secretaries but aims to elevate the standards of the secretarial profession. The South Shore chapter, installed in 1955, includes members working or living on the South Shore. Further information may be obtained from Miss Guinchiglia.

The South Shore Chapter will meet next on Tuesday, Sept. 8. Dinner meetings are held monthly the second Tuesday of each month, with guest speakers following.

Miss Eleanor M. Fusoni, CPS, is president; Miss Dolores T. Almeida, vice president; Miss Helen G. Lincoln, recording secretary; Miss Mary V. Ilacqua, corresponding secretary and Miss M. Ann Winslow, treasurer.

Quincy Bar Assn. In Tribute To Emma Tousant

A memorial service for the late Emma S. Tousant will be conducted this morning at 9 a.m. at Quincy District Court, interested persons invited.

Judge Gertrude Halloran will preside at the Quincy Bar Association service.

Atty. George M. Tull, president of the Bar Association, will present a motion on behalf of the association asking that a record of Mrs. Tousant's service be entered in the files of the court, and that the resolution "be spread on the records of East Norfolk District Court."

The motion praises Mrs. Tousant as an "outstanding scholar of the law," and as a "humanitarian."

Mrs. Tousant's practice of law in Quincy followed her 1924 graduation from Boston University Law School. She was appointed a member of the Industrial Accident Board in 1927, became its chairman, and served until her retirement in 1951. She served for five years as first woman to become president of a YMCA.

Law books of Mrs. Tousant, a member of the Quincy Bar, have been donated to the Bar Association.

Alan King Heads Ort Benefit Sept. 27

Comedian Alan King will headline a program called "King for a Night" at Boston's Music Hall Theatre Sunday, Sept. 27, to benefit the Eastern Massachusetts Region, Women's American ORT [Organization for Rehabilitation through Training].

Quincy chapter is a part of this group.

ORT is an international charitable organization which fosters educational programs, school maintenance and student services throughout the world.

Tickets and information are available by mail, addressed to King for a Night, P. O. Box 144, Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167.

Mayor Commended For Aiding Veterans

Appreciation for Mayor James R. McIntyre's "unfailing interest and consideration" of veterans' problems was noted in a letter from Charles N. Collatos, Commissioner of Veterans' Services for the Commonwealth.

"You have continually shown an interest in them during your tenure in office, particularly when matters of legislation of vital importance were before you . . .

"In these trying days, many people are prone to forget the sacrifices made by veterans, but it is through your efforts that we are reminded of them."

Three Cadets To Attend Boot Camp

Three Sea Cadets from Germantown are among 11 from the area who from Aug. 17-28 will attend boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Steve Morrissey, Mike Salviati and Jim Chludzinski by earning their "two stripe" chevrons have qualified for the course which will streamline the regular nine-weeks recruit training into two weeks.

They will be in a class of 60 candidates who will drill, attend classes, learn fire fighting and other necessary Naval boot requirements, and take part in graduation ceremonies on their final day.

Quincy Bar Assn. In Tribute To Emma Tousant

A memorial service for the late Emma S. Tousant will be conducted this morning at 9 a.m. at Quincy District Court, interested persons invited.

Judge Gertrude Halloran will preside at the Quincy Bar Association service.

Atty. George M. Tull, president of the Bar Association, will present a motion on behalf of the association asking that a record of Mrs. Tousant's service be entered in the files of the court, and that the resolution "be spread on the records of East Norfolk District Court."

The motion praises Mrs. Tousant as an "outstanding scholar of the law," and as a "humanitarian."

Mrs. Tousant's practice of law in Quincy followed her 1924 graduation from Boston University Law School. She was appointed a member of the Industrial Accident Board in 1927, became its chairman, and served until her retirement in 1951. She served for five years as first woman to become president of a YMCA.

Law books of Mrs. Tousant, a member of the Quincy Bar, have been donated to the Bar Association.

Alan King Heads Ort Benefit Sept. 27

Comedian Alan King will headline a program called "King for a Night" at Boston's Music Hall Theatre Sunday, Sept. 27, to benefit the Eastern Massachusetts Region, Women's American ORT [Organization for Rehabilitation through Training].

Quincy chapter is a part of this group.

ORT is an international charitable organization which fosters educational programs, school maintenance and student services throughout the world.

Tickets and information are available by mail, addressed to King for a Night, P. O. Box 144, Chestnut Hill, Mass. 02167.

Mayor Commended For Aiding Veterans

Appreciation for Mayor James R. McIntyre's "unfailing interest and consideration" of veterans' problems was noted in a letter from Charles N. Collatos, Commissioner of Veterans' Services for the Commonwealth.

"You have continually shown an interest in them during your tenure in office, particularly when matters of legislation of vital importance were before you . . .

"In these trying days, many people are prone to forget the sacrifices made by veterans, but it is through your efforts that we are reminded of them."

Three Cadets To Attend Boot Camp

Three Sea Cadets from Germantown are among 11 from the area who from Aug. 17-28 will attend boot camp at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Steve Morrissey, Mike Salviati and Jim Chludzinski by earning their "two stripe" chevrons have qualified for the course which will streamline the regular nine-weeks recruit training into two weeks.

They will be in a class of 60 candidates who will drill, attend classes, learn fire fighting and other necessary Naval boot requirements, and take part in graduation ceremonies on their final day.

Marshfield Fair Opens Saturday For 8-Day Run

Top-flight entertainment, a bigger and improved giant Midway and a record number of agricultural exhibits are scheduled for the 103rd Marshfield Fair which opens Saturday for an eight-day run.

Thoroughbred horse racing will be conducted for six days, Aug. 15, 17, 19-22. Perfecta wagering will be held twice daily, during the fifth and final races.

Saturdays, officials have scheduled 10 races, nine each on the other days.

Children's Day on Tuesday, Aug. 18, with free admission for those 16 and younger is expected to attract thousands.

There will be reduced prices on the midway through 3 p.m. All Senior citizens are admitted without charge as special guests each day of the fair.

Governor's Day on Sunday [Aug. 16] will feature a typical "old-fashioned Marshfield Fair" lineup: The 4-H livestock shows with record number of entries, horsepulling contest with veteran Ed Keanneally, horseshoe pitching contest, Grange exhibit judging, sheep, and arts and crafts.

The Marshfield Fair grounds are on Route 139 in Marshfield.

$79,127 Wiring In July

City Wire Inspector William H. Pitts reports 133 permits for wiring costing an estimated $79,127 were issued during the month of July.

Fees collected for the permits totalled $672.

Major wiring project, he reported, was a new building for International House of Pancakes, under construction at 111 Washington St., Quincy Center.

Pitts said that his department made 160 inspections during the month and found 10 defects.

Dukakis 'Working Very Hard', To Open Quincy Headquarters

Michael S. Dukakis isn't riding on his Democratic convention endorsement for lieutenant governor.

"I am working very, very hard," he said this week in a campaign visit to the Quincy Sun office.

"I am happy with the way things are working out but not complacent.

Dukakis announced he is opening Quincy headquarters this week-end at 25 Temple St., Quincy Center.

The Brookline State representative talking about his Monday visit to Quincy declared.

"We're in Quincy today, visiting General Dynamics early this morning, then to Ashmont Station to greet commuters, then to City Hall.

"We spent the past weekend at the beaches, in Nantasket all day Saturday – we'll hit Wollaston sometime between now and Labor Day."

Dukakis, elected to his first term in the Massachusetts House of Representatives, has served Brookline on Beacon Hill for four successive terms. In 1966 he was a candidate for attorney general. This June, he topped six other candidates to win the Democratic convention nomination for lieutenant Governor.

"The convention nomination is a great help," Dukakis commented, "but by no means a guarantee of anything, and I am working very, very hard. A good decisive victory in the primary will help and not hurt. I am happy with the way things are working out, but not complacent."

He spoke of the "no-fault insurance bill" now before the Legislature which he supports.

"I have been working for four years on automobile insurance," he said. "We have finally produced a bill that will do the job. I am expecting that it will move through the legislature this week. It is a major breakthrough here and nationally – the first rate reduction in four years."

"I have led the fight for drastic change in our auto insurance system and the adoption of the Keeton-O'Connell basis protection bill that would eliminate the delays and waste in the present system and could save Massachusetts motorists one hundred million dollars a year," Dukakis stated.

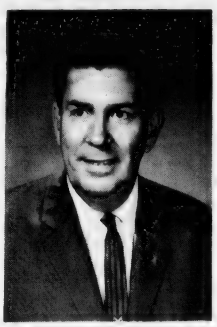
McIntyre Supports Nixon On Federal Income Share

Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre is supporting President Nixon's resolve to enact legislation providing for the sharing of one per cent of revenue from individual federal income tax with state governments.

He has written Senator Edward M. Kennedy, Congressman James A. Burke and Senator Edward Brooke asking their favorable consideration in voting for the adoption of this resolve.

"The share for the cities of Massachusetts would amount to $37,251,660," he wrote. "This distribution of funds would greatly benefit the cities and Quincy would share in this breakdown.

"At a time when taxes are increasing each year, and the demands for education and increased services are heavier, the allocation of these funds would benefit our overtaxed citizens."



Young GOP Club To Discuss Candidates

The Quincy Young Republican Club will discuss GOP candidates and their platform at a meeting Aug. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Quincy YMCA.

"This is a splendid opportunity to get to know the Republican candidates running in the primary," notes Kathy Roberts, president of the club.

She invites Quincy area Republicans and Independents between the ages of 18 and 40 to attend.

McCauley Banking School Graduate

FRANCIS X. MC CAULEY

Francis X. McCauley, president-treasurer of Shipbuilders Co-operative Bank, Quincy, will receive a diploma from the Indiana University Graduate School of Savings & Loan at Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 21.

McCauley is among 250 savings and loan and cooperative bank executives attending the two-week course being held from Aug. 9-21. To be eligible for graduation one must attend the two-week course each year for three years and write a thesis on a banking subject.

A Quincy native, McCauley is a graduate of Boston College High School and the Bentley College of Accounting and Finance. A member of the Quincy Housing Authority, he is a former City Councillor.

Crafts Exhibit Through Aug. 17

The week-long annual arts and crafts exhibit of the Quincy Recreation Department at the Quincy Savings Bank will close Monday, Aug. 17.

Arranged by Betty Chase and Janet Bernasconi. Boston State University students, the display includes articles of felt, vegetable print, plaster of paris, paper mache, and copper tooling.

All crafts projects are completed by Quincy youngsters attending playgrounds, and the public is invited to view their work.

MARIJUANA VS ALCOHOL

Marijuana users often try to excuse their indulgence by claiming that it is no worse than consuming alcohol. The results of intoxication by both drugs can be harmful. We know that alcohol is dangerous physically, psychologically and socially for millions of people. At present there is no firm evidence that marijuana would be less harmful if used consistently.

While alcohol is a known menace on the highway, the pot-smoker may be an even worse threat. Although consuming marijuana does not impair the motor coordination as rapidly as alcohol, it does distort time and space concepts very radically making it dangerous to drive while under the influence of this drug. Alcohol is now responsible for over half of all highway fatalities. Do we need more death from a new source?

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'I Just Wanted A Man'

My counselee was 31...mother of two children...a boy nine and a little girl seven. She was warm...pleasant tho' distressed by her 10-year marriage problem. She had tried to make a home with the kind of atmosphere which columnists and authors write about...but she had one great big obstacle. Said she..."I just wanted him to be a man...but I felt all along that I had three children instead of two...I've been holding the family together waiting for him to grow up...his mother says he will grow up some day but he's 33 now ..how long shall I wait?"

I said to her..."What do you want in a man and where did Artie fall short?" She did not hesitate...she knew what she wanted..."I wanted him to be my leader...but I had to lead him...I wanted him to be responsible and give stability to us...but he dropped me at the hospital and went drinking with the boys when each of the children were born. I wanted a strong man...but Artie is weak and can't make a decision. Sexually...he is inadequate...always waits for me to take the initiative...and then climaxes before I can get started. He certainly doesn't help me to feel like a woman."

This woman was quite clear in her thinking about manhood...but this husband like many others...had done little to earn her respect. In various ways women describe their unmasculine husbands.

It is true that some women emasculate their husbands by trying to control and manipulate the relationship. But when a man allows this to happen it speaks as much about the man as about the woman. Strong men will not allow a woman to "take over". Strong men grow in the responsibility as head of the family...as leader to his wife and children. He knows he's captain of the ship and kindly but firmly will brook no challenge to his position.

But why have we so many men...irresponsible...weak...sexually inadequate in various ways...followers not leaders in the husband role? Every case is different, of course...but one of the principal causes seems to be too much mothering by their mothers when they were little boys...and insufficient male influence. Males are normally aggressive...daring... adventurous...exploring...driven by the question WHY? to life. But when as little boys they are subdued by a domineering mother...told not to ask questions "just do as I say"...protected from every possible danger...kept too close to mother...these are the ingredients which make an unmasculine man.

Trying to find some adjustment in life, these male victims seek something in which they may "be their own man" without mother...often to spite mother...excessive drinking...a neurotic compulsion in a sport...a powerful motorcycle [one man told me "everybody looks at me when I drive down the street."] ...even a business which may succeed or fail. But all the time within their own hearts the unmasculine man is haunted by the feeling that he isn't a real man.

Chances are this kind of man really hates women...ridicules them on the golf course...on the highway...in the office...and most of all his sub-surface hatred is focused upon his wife. She he blames for all his failures. And there's nothing she can do to make him happy...because he's not a free man.

Can an "unmasculine man" become masculine at 33? Of course he can...first he must see himself as he really is...however much it hurts. He must start where he is...this day for each event to ask himself "How shall I handle this as a real man?" He must decide...not evade...even if he makes a wrong decision. He must free himself of his sexual inhibitions and fears...whatever their source. Chances are the unmasculine man will need professional help...but when he walks into the counselor's office unashamedly...that act in itself is a big step toward manhood...to say "I need help."

To make a real man...if that is your parental goal in raising a son, Erich Fromm says, "There needs to be a development from mother-centered to father-centered attachment as the boy grows." But if either are missing...well...some day a wife may be saying to a counselor..."I just wanted him to be a man."

'Dumping Of Industrial Garbage Threat To Environment'-Bellotti

Former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti likens the Boston area to New York City in "the dumping of industrial garbage into the waters off the coast of Massachusetts."

The practice constitutes "a serious and immediate threat to our environment," the Quincy Democrat and candidate for Governor said.

He noted;

"Congressman Richard Ottinger of New York related the alarming facts of the environmental life to a congressional investigating committee this week. He presented conclusive proof that a 21 square mile patch of polluted water is spreading off shore and threatening the New York and New Jersey shorelines.

"The situation is so crucial at this time that the northern edge of the polluted water mass now extends to within 10 miles of New York City's beaches. Massachusetts is faced with much the same situation, and the danger will increase until all dumping in coastal waters is banned."

Bellotti noted that while this problem is now local in scope it may well be national if action is not taken immediately. "At the present time, according to testimony taken by the House Fisheries and Wildlife Subcommittee, the United States Army Corps of Engineers permits the dumping of sledge, sewage, dredge soil and industrial waste into 210 coastal areas.

"Sixty-one of these areas are on the East Coast and thus threaten the coast of Massachusetts. It is imperative that the Congress of the United States act now to halt the dumping of industrial waste in its entirety," Bellotti concluded.

Recreation Roundup

TENNIS

With the talent in tennis plentiful and experienced, this week's district wide tournaments should prove to be exciting. Preston Carroll of Kincaide is about ready to challenge Rod Laver and his partner, Mike D'Andrea, set to challenge the tennis instructor. Joe Carty of Merrymount is proving to be one of the best players in the city.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Leah Depolo of O'Rourke playground enjoyed making popsicle stick designs and her work shows it. Others who put good effort into their work were Sandra Depolo, George Sophis, Eileen and Humphrey Marr and Scott Goselin all from O'Rourke. Faxon Field made mobiles from god's eyes constructed by Chris Cully, Merril and Joan Cohen, Kathleen Behin, Christine King, John Behin, Edmund Cully and Ruth McIntyre. The Arts and Crafts display continues through Aug. 17 in the window of the Quincy Savings Bank.

ARCHERY

This week is the start of the district playground tournaments. Every one is putting in last minute practice, and competition looks great. Harold Hutchinson of Squantum and Ed Riley of Perkins are the two to watch in the seniors division, the O'Hanley twins of Stoney Brae are also top contenders.

BOATING AND SAILING

Enthusiasm continued unabated at Black's Creek Boat House for the more traditional activities of the boating season. Crews were chosen for the annual Quincy Bay Race Week. Representing the recreation department were John Sturgist, Mike O'Malley, Kevin O'Connell, Steve Burke, Carolyn Bowe, Linda Grazioso and John Manning. They were chosen on the basis of racing skills, attendance and work as instructor aides. Nautical Day will be held Aug. 18.

DISTRICT I

Congratulations to the girls softball team at Wollaston on their first game. Lynn Crooks hit a grand slam while Carol Hatfeild and Marsha Hayes hit home runs. Last Tuesday, Stoney Brae had its District I Junior Olympics at O'Rourke. Ed Boudreau won first place in Midgets softball throw, Christine O'Rourke was first in girls midgets softball throw, and Debbie Mann won the girls 25 yard dash. Wednesday night was parent's night at O'Rourke and the children displayed their arts and crafts projects. Patty Bellotti of Forbes Hill must be commended for her efforts at the girls basketball game against O'Rourke. In the District I Junior Olympics the Shea Rink boys took six events. Dave O'Brien was Shea's only midget winner. He won the 50 yard dash.

DISTRICT II

Tina Lindberg, Eileen Theriault, Dottie Weisse, Jayne McClean, Kathy Livingstone and Donna Coutts are members of the District II girls basketball championship team. The honor was theirs after they defeated Atlantic 24-21. The junior baseball team from Montclair defeated Mass. Fields 2-0 behind the shutout pitching of Steve Martinelli. Mike Meehans double scored the runs for the win. The children at Myles Standish made bean bags for a Muscular Dystrophy Carnival the playground is putting on. All but one of the boys events ended for Squantum this week as the midgets continued their winning streak 5-0 and they will enter the city championship. At Mass. Fields last week, Susan Johnson assembled a very artistic jewelry box with secret compartments. Junior baseball at Montclair ended its season by winning four straight games after losing its opening game. The senior baseball team at Atlantic is boasting a 5-0, making them the District Champs.

DISTRICT III

Sand paintings, done by Mary Ellen Shea and Marianne Murry of Heron Road are on display at the Quincy Savings Bank. The midgets at Bayside ended the season with a 1-1 record. Congratulations to Tom Steen on his spectacular season. Last week in golf at Perkins, Steve Sullivan, Jim Weidmann, and Terrie Rizo each got a hole in one. Those who were good in archery at Labrecque are Kathy Lyons, Shirley Lyons, Billy Brennan, Ginzo Gio, Paul Sutherland, David Stetson and Jackie Powers.

DISTRICT IV

Even though the "Beechie Bombers" of Beechwood Knoll have no superstar this year, they havecombined their talents for an excellent .500 percentage. In Arts and Crafts at Elm Street nifty log cabins were made by Tim Barry and Peter Heron. Twenty Pond Streeters took a trip to Big Blue Friday and had an exciting time with Joe Thorley leading the group. The trip to the boathouse turned out to be very pleasant for the Faxon Field youngsters, but not for the boathouse crew. Joe Daly and his crew had to go to Treasure Island and retrieve the youngsters. Tuesday night was Parent's Night at Whitwell. Plans were a cook out, races and a "Miss Whitwell Street" contest. The junior girls from Merrymount brought victory on July 30, in a softball game against Whitwell Street, 11-5.

DISTRICT V

Preston Carroll of Kincaide won in four events in the District V finals. After a visit from Mary Faherty and Paul Chella, Columbias youngsters have been working everyday on their nature projects. The Mighty Midgets from Pollard, led by Donny Perkins, are preparing to bring the baseball championship to District V. At Fore River, the reigning Kalah Queen, Clare Oliverio is being slowly overtaken by Brian Sullivan and she'll have to fight to keep her lead. Last week at Faxon Park, Michele Monti made a beautiful pocketbook out of beige leather and colorful beads. John Continos imagination and originality made a special popsicle stick design which was one of the best at Bradford.

DISTRICT VI

Some of the best runners at Quarterdeck are Danny Hays, Larry Carvello, Mike French, Peggy Morrissey, John Grisselli and Barbara King. During Hobby and Crafts week at Harborview, the youngsters have been busy making pebble people felt lady bugs and love beads. The winner of the Baker Beach Beauty contest is Matt Daly. Last place, but still gorgeous, Matt Cimino. At Snug Harbor, the Kalah champion was Michael Carderelli.

A group of 15 Happy Acres Day Camp youngsters and five chaperones were scheduled to leave Logan Airport this morning for the Chicago International Special Olympics.

Mayor James R. McIntyre and James F. McCormick Sr., chairman of the Park and Recreation Board, were on hand to see them off.

Recreation Director William F. Ryan, said the children are accompanied by Charles L. Alongi, Jr., assistant director of recreation; Janet Veasey and Dorothy Tehan, staff members at Happy Acres Day Camp; Debra Larkin, chairman of Happy Acres Volunteer Camp; and Martine Montillot, volunteer from Paris, France, sent to the camp for the summer by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation.

Camp Director Earl E. Vermillion will meet the group in Chicago and accompany them to their headquarters at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Tonight the Happy Acres group, carrying Quincy pennants, will take part in the grand parade of state teams through the Chicago Loop and will witness the official lighting of the Olympic torch.

Tomorrow and Saturday are set aside for competitions: 300-yard run, 50-yard dash, 440-relay, softball throw, high jump and standing broad jump.

Quincy participants include Bill Pyne, Paul Durning, John Parker, Jimmy MacIntyre, Siobhan Nolan, Carol Burgess, Elaine Hall, Bob Nevins, Kathy Gavin, Frankie Toutloff, Paul Centrella, Linda Campbell, Carol DiSalvo, John DiSalvo and Ed Petit.

Ruth DeCristofaro, Mike Kenney Leaders Of Week

Mike Kenney and Ruth DeCristofaro have been named "Playground Leaders of the Week" by the Quincy Recreation Department.

Mike, sixth of the seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kenney of 11 Shellton Road, is a senior at Quincy High School looking toward a teaching career. He was a volunteer at Happy Acres last summer and on Saturdays during the year. During the winter recreation program, he was at the Hunting and Massachusetts Fields School.

Interested in "all sports," he finds this useful in working with youngsters at a playground. He hopes to enter Springfield College.

Miss DeCristofaro, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore DeCristofaro of 17 Murdock Ave., is a leader at Fore River Field. A sophomore at Quincy Junior College, she hopes also to become a teacher.

She has been a member of the Quincy High School Concert Choir for three years, and plays the piano. She has completed her 11th year as forward for the Quincy Point Congregational Church basketball team, and having exceeded the age limit, hopes to coach her own team.

Working with youngsters, she has been a volunteer at Happy Acres Day Camp, worked in the children's ward at Quincy City Hospital, and has taught Sunday School for two years.

GET YOUR TICKETS--Mayor James R. McIntyre is surrounded by youngsters at Wollaston Fire Station as he hands out tickets for his annual outing to Fenway Park, today for game between Red Sox and Kansas City Royals, at right is Fire Chief Edward Barry. Nearly 4,000 youngsters will be McIntyre's guests.

500 Youngsters To Be Brett Guests At Fenway

Five hundred Quincy youngsters from eight through 12 years will be guests of Rep. Joseph E. Brett Monday at the Red Sox-Chicago White Sox game at Fenway Park.

This is the 14th year Brett has sponsored a trip to a Red Sox game for a group of children.

Ten busses will pick up the youngsters at various schools in Quincy, transport them to the ball park and back again after the game.

Each year during the trip, there is a voluntary collection for the Jimmy Fund which enables Rep. Brett to present a check for $100 to the fund.

Nautical Day Aug. 19

A full day of activity is planned for the Quincy Recreation Department's Nautical Day Aug. 19 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Black's Creek.

Joseph Daly is boating and sailing supervisor.

All students in the boating and sailing program and their parents are invited to attend. Lunches may be brought, or a grill to barbecue.

A 9:30 a.m. Nautical Parade will open the events.

At 10 a.m. there will be rowing and sailing races, arranged by age groups and sex.

Noon lunch will be followed by a canoeing demonstration and entertainment by junior leaders.

Rowing and sailing races will continue at 1 p.m.

At 3 p.m. there will be parent-child races, and championship races.

Beginning at 4 p.m., William F. Ryan, director of recreation, will award prizes.

Hole-In-One For Bober

Warren Bober of 48 Lunar Ave., Braintree, scored a hole in one in the 5th hole at Rockland Golf Course in a recent match with a quartet from Adams Heights Men's Club Golf League of South Quincy.

He used a No. 7 iron.

Playing with him were Joe Hasenfuss of 237 Franklin St. and Basil Caloia of 78 Goddard St., both of Quincy, and Mario Berardinelli of Braintree.

Quincy Vietnam Veteran In Construction Job Training

Walter E. Clifford, 22, of 22 Price St., North Quincy, drove a truck for the Marine Corps in Vietnam before becoming a trainee at the Massachusetts Laborers' Training Center in Hopkinton.

Now he is learning the basics of the construction field so he will be able to hold his own with experienced laborers when he graduates and goes to his first construction job.

"The only other work experience I had other than the service was auto body work," Clifford said. "Thanks to this training I'll know what I'm doing when a foreman asks me to fetch a two by four".

He is planning to continue his career in the construction field and also to earn a high school diploma at Newman Preparatory School.

Trainees such as Clifford are provided instruction free of charge and receive in addition a salary of at least $100 per week plus travel allowances. The starting pay after graduation is about $200 per week.

The Massachusetts Laborers' Training Trust Fund is a cooperative undertaking by contractors and union members with Federal assistance under the Manpower Development and Training Act to train men for the construction trades and open the door to minorities, hard-core unemployed and transient workers who wish to establish themselves in a lucrative trade.

The month-long training program is conducted by seasoned instructors. They teach the trainees concrete placement, mason tender, scaffolding, pipe laying using a laser beam, the proper use and maintenance of small tools and compressor equipment and on-the-job safety and First Aid.

According to James Merloni, Jr., administrator, the training will be extended to six weeks beginning November 9.

"This longer training period will allow us cover more ground without increasing the size of our training staff or admitting trainees above the number of 32 or so we've been averaging in each class to date."

In addition to support from the Laborers' International Union of North America, contractor associations backing the training center are: the Associated General Contractors, the New England Road Builders and the Building Trade Employers Association.

STAN JAFFE has succeeded CHARLES G. BLUHDORN as the president of Paramount Pictures. With this appointment, JAFFE, 30, becomes the youngest president of a major motion picture studio... Two years ago JAFFE was the executive producer of the critically acclaimed, ALI McGRAW- RICHARD BENJAMIN starred, "GOODBYE COLUMBUS", one of Paramounts more successful moneymakers of recent vintage... More than likely, the success of that film had somewhat to do with his being elevated to such a loft, highly responsible position... Since "MYRA BRECKINRIDGE", MAE WEST has certainly been kept busy. Plans are in the works to have her star in the upcoming "DIAMOND LIL", the story of a much-married, but seldom divorced woman.. And on the recording front, Miss WEST has been approached by Twentieth-Century to cut an album of "MOTHER GOOSE" stories... Who knows, but she may yet become a grandma' image...

Old time cowboy star TEX RITTER is campaigning for the Tennessee nomination for U. S. Senator... His statewide campaigne travelings have brought a clamor from the homefolks for a revival of his old western movies... Local stations have obliged RITTER's swelling constituency by releasing 20 of the films he made between 1938 and 1941. They are presently being run on sundry television stations throughout the state... CHARLIE CHAPLIN returned to Scotland for a months vacation the first time in 60 years... In his last visit there in 1910, he appeared in a minor role in a Sherlock Holmes play... Producer DAVID WOLPER is negotiating with the U. S. astronauts to star in a series of documentary spectaculars based on the progress and history of Americas' space flights... Just how many of the 49 active astronauts will be involved, has not as yet been decided...

ANDY WARHOL's next picture is his biggest budgeted to date. It's a $200,000 production of poet WALT WHITMAN's "SPECIMEN DAYS", detailing in depth WHITMAN's numerous adventures as a male nurse during the Civil War... JOE DELLASANDRO will star, and PHIL FELDMAN of the "WILD BUNCH" fame will produce, with WARHOL doing the directing... How the Women Liberations Movement will take to WARHOL's latest film, "WOMEN IN REVOLT", a "camp study" in the Women's Lib movement, is subject to conjecture... Starring in the all female roles are "starlets" CANDY DARLING, JACKIE CURTIS and HOLLY WOODLAWN - who just happen to be professional drag queens... "WOMEN IN REVOLT" shows promise of being a satire to top all satires... The picture is due for a fall release...

Newcomer MICHAEL SARRAZIN is certainly keeping good film company these days. He is presently in the wide open spaces of Oregon shooting "SOMETIMES A GREAT NATION" with PAUL NEWMAN, HENRY FONDA and Quincy's LEE REMICK... Last year he received critical acclaim for his supporting role of the JANE FONDA starred, "THEY SHOOT HORSES, DON'T THEY?"... "GUNSMOKE" continues into its' 16th season with no end in sight... Hopefully it will go on and on. It is still one of the finest offerings on television... Is GLOBE Film Critic KEVIN KELLY still persona non grata with the SACK THEATER movie chain? On July 23rd he was informed by SACK publicity director JANE BADGERS that he was no longer welcome at SACK preview screenings... About 18 months ago SACK banned Group W's WBZ-TV PATRICIA COLLINS... No reason was given in either case...

As poorly a made film as "THE CHRISTIN JORGENSON STORY" is, the message it imparts still makes it worth viewing, and the price of admission... Where "MYRA BRECKINRIDGE" lambasted transsexualism with vulgar overtones, "THE CHRISTINE JORGENSON" film depicts the emotional havoc transsexualism plays on those with this physical and psychological condition with honesty and realism. The ending of the picture is especially interesting as it reflects Americans as they were, and unfortunately still are to a degree - compassionless ignoramus's when it comes to problems of sex identity... If the script and directing were up to par of the acting, this motion picture may have become a classic...

McIntyre: 'Alarmed At Increase'

City To Combat Burglary Rise

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Mayor James R. McIntyre has called a conference with police officials for tomorrow to combat a sharp rise in housebreaks and burglaries.

"I am alarmed at the number and the increase in burglaries," McIntyre said.

"I am deeply concerned about this, and we must concentrate on it and take steps necessary so that law abiding citizens may live in their homes without fear of having those homes broken into."

Friday's conference will be with Chief Francis X. Finn, Capt. Paul LaHive, head of the department's detective bureau and Capt. John E. Wuerth, head of police personnel.

Chief Finn said housebreaks-burglaries is the fastest growing crime in the U. S.

He called it a universal problem.

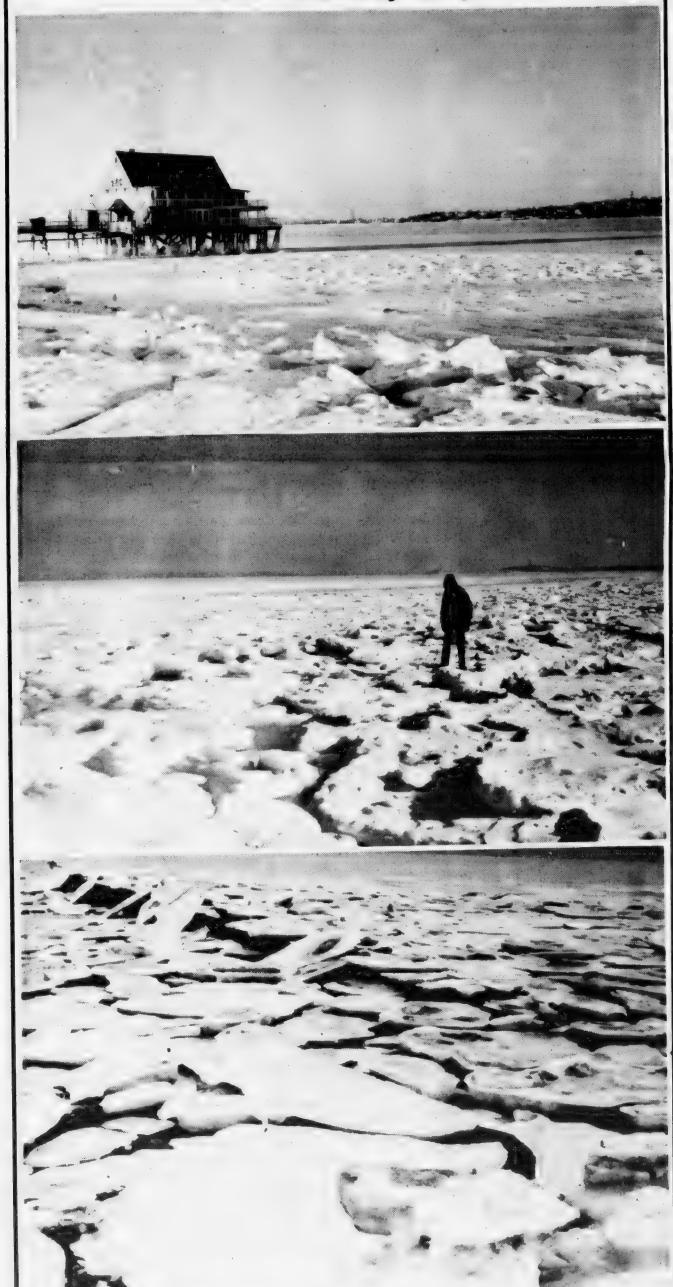
During a Law Enforcement Roundtable Conference conducted in Quincy last month by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Finn cited the increase here.

He reported there were 216 burglaries and minor robberies arrests in 1966. In 1969, just three years later, there were 957 such arrests--an increase of 741.

McIntyre has asked Finn to provide a complete and comprehensive set of figures on burglaries over the past several years.

"We are working on the figures and will have them," Finn said.

"Actually, this is a universal problem not limited to Quincy," Finn said. "It is the fastest growing crime in the nation."



It is now rated in second place nationally, Finn said.

"It is the most serious one, in my opinion, and one that we are going to attack in every direction, he declared.

"We are supporting a research program being made throughout the state," he said. "In the meantime, we in Quincy are working on it. The public in our city have to be safe.

"We are soliciting and imploring the public when they see a strange car in a neighborhood, when they see someone moving a TV out of a house, that they call us."

Hot? This May Help!

IF THE HEAT'S got you, here's a cooler-off from Newton C. Trowbridge, Jr. of 169 West Elm Ave., Wollaston. He took the photos last January at Wollaston Beach near Squantum Yacht Club. "I now find them just the thing for cooling off in this hot summer," he says, sending them along to share with you. Dig those crazy ice cubes. Man, that's instant cool-off.

43,819 Eligible To Vote Sept. 15

Quincy has 43,819 voters eligible to cast ballots in the Sept. 15 primary, according to an unofficial tabulation by the election department.

This is 2,607 less than the 46,426 who were registered for the 1968 presidential election.

From May 28 through last Saturday [Aug. 15], 2,279 new voters were added. Of these, 803 were registered as Democrats, and 98 as Republicans.

A party affiliation breakdown of the 43,819 voters could not

Weymouth Shopper Makes Its Debut

The Weymouth Shopper, a sister publication of the Quincy Sun and The Quincy Shopper made its debut yesterday as Weymouth's newest and biggest newspaper.

The first issue was 40 pages--four of them in color.

With a guaranteed 15,400 circulation--mailed free to every household in Weymouth, The Weymouth Shopper will appear monthly for now.

Plans are to increase the frequency of publication in the future.

The Weymouth Shopper is a twin of The Quincy Shopper but they are separate newspapers.

The Quincy Shopper, with a guaranteed 30,000 circulation and The Weymouth Shopper with a guaranteed 15,400 circulation are keyed to Quincy and Weymouth news respectively.

For advertising power, they together offer a combined circulation of more than 45,000 homes reaching 145,000 readers.

The Weymouth Shopper will be a politically independent community oriented newspaper concentrating on news of Weymouth's government, schools, civic groups, other organizations, and its people.

Henry W. Bosworth, Jr. is publisher and editor of the three newspapers and James J. Burke, Jr. is advertising manager.

The Quincy Sun was established Sept. 26, 1968 and The Quincy Shopper, Dec. 10, 1969.

Thus, in less than two years, all three newspapers have been established.

All three are published by The Quincy Sun Publishing Company, 1601 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

A Thank You From Red Cross For 'Write Hanoi' Publicity

Editor, Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Red Cross is certainly indebted to the Quincy Sun for publicizing the "Write Hanoi" campaign. The public service ad that appeared in your July 2nd publication presented forcefully to the public the great need for writing letters to North Vietnam.

You will be interested in knowing that this ad motivated many people to write Hanoi and we are gratified with the results.

As the Chairman of the Quincy Red Cross Chapter I wish to not only express my personal thanks to you but those of the Board of Directors for your excellent cooperation and your outstanding community spirit.

Irving J. Boyes
Chapter Chairman

'Sincere Thanks' For St. John's Baseball Coverage

Editor, Quincy Sun:

In behalf of St. John's Parish Boys Baseball League I extend sincere thanks and our deep appreciation to the Quincy Sun for the very generous coverage given by your newspaper to the activities of this league during the season just concluded.

The success of this league is due in large measure to the efforts of the men who give their time, the sponsors who help defray the costs of the equipment that is so necessary, and the cooperation and assistance of Mr. Dick Koch and the entire Quincy Park Department for allowing us the use of Pond Street and Faxon Park playing fields.

Our league is considered one of the largest on the South Shore. More than 350 boys of the area participate in the program. There are four teams for eight year old boys, ten teams for ages nine through twelve, and a Cadet team in the CYO league for boys ages twelve through fourteen.

Without the joint efforts of men involved in the league, the business men who lend their support, and the cooperation of the city such an extensive program could not be undertaken. This is an excellent example of community action for the betterment of our youth. It is my strong personal conviction that there should be more of these types of programs at this age level and there would be less need for drug centers and half way houses at the next age level.

Artists Invited To Enter Seal Contest

Local artists are invited by the Norfolk County-Newton Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to enter the nationwide competition for the design of the 1972 Christmas Seal.

A $1,000 cash award will be given the artist whose design is chosen to spearhead the annual drive against emphysema, tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, and air pollution, the local Christmas Seal organization said. The design itself will appear on the Christmas Seals mailed to millions of U. S. homes during the 1972 holiday season. It also will appear on posters, billboards and television screens.

Production schedules require that the Christmas Seal design be selected two years in advance of issue, the Association explained. The 1970 Seal, created by L. Gerald Snyder of California, goes in the mail next Fall. The 1971 Christmas Seal, now in production, was designed by James J. Clarke, also of California.

Deadline for entries is Oct. 1.

Contest rules and information, and copies of Christmas Seal designs from 1907 to 1970 are available from the local TB-RD association at 745 High St., Westwood, or 1357 Washington St., West Newton 02165. Telephone 326-4081 or 244-4911.

"Such well-known artists as Stevan Dohanos, Heidi Brandt and Dale Nichols have contributed Christmas Seal designs in past years."

Come Let Us Reason Together

'Your Neurotic Fatigue'

My brother is coming for a visit...with his wife...from Kansas...my old home town. He doesn't come often...says he's too busy...besides, he says, the distance from there to here is longer than the distance from here to there. We've busied ourselves to make ready. I've weeded the gardens...we've washed windows...bought little items including groceries and four tickets for "Hair". We've spent hours cleaning...tidying...planning for their visit. The last couple of days have reminded me of those hot summer days my brother and I used to work in the Kansas wheat fields. It's midnight now and they arrive tomorrow on flight 140 TWA. We're tired! But we're ready for them. We're tired! But we're happy.

Physical fatigue is very different than emotional fatigue. When you hear a person saying..."I'm tired of this rat race"..."I'm tired of caring for children"..."I'm tired of my wife's nagging"...or as a 15-year-old boy told me today..."I'm tired of my dad pushing me all the time"...these are unhappy feelings...and nothing wears one out more than emotional fatigue.

If your "tiredness" is of neurotic origin...not physical but psychological in nature...probably it stems from one or more of the following three areas:

First...Your feelings about work. As a child you may not have been initiated into work and doing things for others in a pleasant interesting way. Maybe you were given no chores to do...your sisters or mother did all the housework while you read. Your father asked you to mow the lawn but when you didn't...so he did. You were the loser because you didn't learn the fun...the pleasure...the rewards of tasks accomplished.

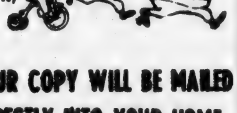
I work long hours in my counseling offices...it's hard work...hearing my patients' problems...seeking to get beneath the surface...trying to help them to find ways of coping with the situation...a dull or violent marriage...an unhealed grief...the burden of failure...the parent-child problem...drug and alcohol miseries. By the end of the last appointment I'm bushed, physically and mentally. But I'm happy. Happy because I've seen peoples' lives changed during the day. Work can be...and should be rewarding. A day's work or a task should not leave you irritable...nor resentful...nor emotionally upset...nor more drained than the task actually called for.

Not liking the boss can create neurotic fatigue which can make you dread your day before you even start. The boss may get neurotically fatigued over you, too. Chances are the situation would change if you were to each face up to your neurosis and stop using each other as an excuse for your undue fatigue.

Second...Your feelings about yourself. I've said repeatedly..."Love yourself!" Only in the measure that you love yourself can you love others. Maybe you were made to feel unimportant as a child...and still do. Maybe you grew up with critical...judgmental parents who prevented your growth in self-esteem. Like the promiscuous 35-year-old woman who accepts all kinds of indignities from men because she grew up being told by her father repeatedly that she was a "Tramp". Don't downgrade a child...she might believe what you say. Don't downgrade a man...he might believe you. Don't downgrade a woman...she might believe you and lose her sense of worthiness. Without positive feelings about oneself one is likely to suffer much neurotic fatigue.

Third...Your feelings about life. Many people cannot enjoy the pleasures of life because in childhood they were made to feel that pleasure was sin...that entertainment was a waste of time...that "idleness is the devil's workshop". For many people any of the relaxing pleasures of life are wasteful of time and money.

Too many people...men especially...feel that they must be constantly working...with little diversion...with little time for enjoying their families. We call these the "workolics."



With the rapid decline of manual labor...the increase in electronic and mechanical labor machines...the coming of the shorter work-week and more leisure time...more and more people will suffer from neurotic fatigue unless we learn how to play...recreate...enjoy life.

Whatever your neurotic fatigue...you can be rid of it...when you learn to like to work...like to play...like your self and gain a little trust in life. Really now...life isn't all that bad.

immediately be determined following Saturday's primary election registration deadline, but Democrats are still in control, numerically.

In 1968 there were 21,668 Democrats, 10,931 Republicans and 13,827 Independents.

Those who missed out on the primaries deadline may still register Sept. 16 through Oct. 3 [illegible] Nov. 3 [illegible] election.

Total voter registration is down, it was noted, because people move into Quincy, and others move out. Those who move in usually don't get around to registering immediately. They may bypass the city election and primaries and register in time for the state election.

Some don't bother to register until the Presidential election [illegible]

Dr. Creedon Tells Kennedy

Education 'Seriously' Disrupted Here By Nixon Veto

STACKED HIGH, part of a ton and a half of cleaned used clothing is readied for shipment to needy children in Appalachia from Beacon Cleaners, 624 Hancock St., Wollaston. Helping hands are those of Miss Ellie Breheny, slerk, Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth and Ken Grippi, son of owner Joseph Grippi. The latter hopes to send three tons of clothing and is still receiving items. Last year he sent two tons, second highest in the country.

The educational program of Quincy's 20,000 public school students will be "seriously" disrupted if President Nixon's veto of the education bill is sustained, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon told Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on Tuesday.

Dr. Creedon issued the warning during a conference with Kennedy at the JFK Government Center in Boston. He was one of 20 educators throughout the state invited to present their views.

"I appreciate the President's concern over inflation." Creedon said. "We share his concern. However, the remedy does not lie in curtailing that which is our nation's best investment – Education."

Creedon pointed out that from state and federal sources, Quincy Public Schools received in 1969-70 approximately $3-4 million, $2 million from the Commonwealth and $1.4 million in federal aid.

The 1970 Quincy School budget is $15 million dollars, a continuing increase of 15% annually, "causing a serious strain on the financial resources of the local taxpayer," Creedon said.

A cut in federal contributions, he said, would seriously affect Quincy Public Schools programs on:

*Adult Basic Education in reading, mathematics and language art, which in the fall of 1970 were to be extended to General Dynamics.

*Manpower Development and Training Program – $110,000 in 1966 and 1969 provided opportunities for unskilled workers to increase their marketability.

*Neighborhood Youth Corps – since 1965 providing education and employment for 100-150 underprivileged young adults each year.

*Title I Programs for the Educationally Disadvantaged – approximately $200-225,000 per year committed to these programs.

*Higher Education Work-Study Program - providing work for 60 Quincy Junior College students as teacher-aides.

*Libraries under Title II - Quincy Schools now have a staff of 30 in a Department of Library Services and a local budget of more than $90,000, in addition to the $14,000 received under Title II.

*Teacher Aid Programs under the Professional Development Act, Public Law 90-35 – Quincy's grant of $29,000 trained 40 people as full-time teacher aides.

*Close to 20 programs funded in part under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act – Quincy Schools received more than $70,000 in the last two years to upgrade its educational programs.

*Several programs under the new comprehensive vocational education bill, Public Law 90-576 -- Quincy has submitted proposals in excess of $600,000 to develop vocational education programs for high school, post high school and adult students. $650,000 was granted by the U. S. Office of Education in 1965 for the instructional program at Quincy Voc-Tech.

*Breakfast and lunch programs for needy children – last year Quincy received $70,000 for these programs.

*"Education is an investment that guarantees the continued growth and development of our nation," Creedon said. "Continued and increased support for education at the national level is not only imperative to the local communities but also to the nation."

Volunteers, Community Support Make N.Q. Youth Center A Reality

Cooperation between North Quincy volunteers and community support has brought to reality a youth center at 125 Billings Rd.

The North Quincy Youth Center opened its doors a little more than a week ago in a former plumbing supply store, operating under a short-term lease without charge to the City of Quincy. The lease expires Oct. 30.

Its staff is a group of 10 to 15 adult volunteers from the North Quincy area, teachers and college students. Businessmen and city officials have helped to get the program going.

According to Mayor James R. McIntyre, a $32,000 amendment passed this week at the State House will help not only to keep a North Quincy Youth Center going, but help provide other youth centers in Wollaston, Squantum and Montclair.

This will bring to eight the number of youth centers throughout the city under direction of Recreation Pilot Director Barry J. Welch.

Among those assisting in the new North Quincy Youth Center are Councillor-Rep. Walter J. Hannon, who donated use of a truck to pick up equipment; James Moody of the China Lido who donated a coke machine; and Andrew Walsh of Walsh's Restaurant who provided booths and tables.

Pool, table tennis, reading, dancing and television viewing are the pastimes.

The bulk of the furnishings have come from North Quincy residents – sofas, tables, rugs, etc.

The Center is open for youths from grades 8 to 12 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10 p.m. The program, free to all participants, will later be operated as part of the Quincy Pilot Project in Recreation.

Citizens Assn. Recommends Patrolman On W. Squantum St.

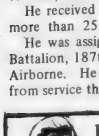
A foot patrolman assigned to permanent duty on West Squantum St. near the Montclair School, to enforce a 20-mile an hour speed limit, has been requested by the executive board of the Quincy Citizens Association.

A letter has been written to Mayor James R. McIntyre and Police Chief Francis X. Finn asking this extra police protection to prevent a serious accident to pedestrians trying to cross West Squantum St.

The street is now a hazardous thoroughfare due to trucks bringing fill to the State Street Bank project, the Quincy Citizens Association said, and speeding passenger vehicles cutting through to Hancock St.

Thomas Malvesti Home From Vietnam

Sgt. Thomas Malvesti, son of Fire Lt. and Mrs. Nicholas Malvesti of 11 Hynes Ave., West Quincy, has returned home after two years' Army service, the last year, combat duty in Vietnam.



Sgt. Malvesti was presented the Army Commendation Medal for exceptionally meritorious achievement in the Republic of Vietnam during the period Sept. 1, 1969 - Jan. 31, 1970.

He also received the Bronze Medal for meritorious achievement in ground operations against hostile forces in Vietnam from Sept. 1, 1969 to June, 1970.

He received the Air Medal for more than 25 combat assaults.

He was assigned to the Third Battalion, 187th Infantry, 101st Airborne. He was discharged from service this week.

A Welcome Home cookout in his honor will be held Saturday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Peter Henderson, 28 Hall Place, West Quincy. Some 145 relatives and friends will attend.

SOOTHING YOUR SUNBURN

Despite all of the warnings about preventing sunburn, there's a good chance that in your haste to obtain that summer glow, you'll overdo it and burn anyway. If this is your unfortunate case, here's some advice on easing the pain and discomfort.

Try one of the many excellent sunburn relief preparations on the market. Most contain ingredients to relieve pain, make skin feel cooler, and prevent infection to sun-damaged tissues. Aspirin will make you feel better too - it's a pain killer, and reduces the swelling that sometimes accompanies a bad burn.

If you're in total agony and can't bear the touch of sheets or clothing, pop into a cool tub or wrap yourself up in a body turban of icy-wet towels - it will make life tolerable. If you burn is extremely severe, by all means seek medical help.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Can Mother Give Bride Away?

Q. My father has passed away and I would like my mother to give me away. Would she walk down the aisle with me as dad would have?

A. Mother can give you away but it depends upon the church how it is done. She would not walk down the aisle but would be in the front row. In some cases she can nod or say "I do".

In others, however, the bride's right hand must be placed in the clergyman's hand when she is given away. If this should be the case, then the best man would leave his place and escort the bride's mother to her side at the proper time. You would be escorted down the aisle by a male relative. If none is available then an usher or family friend may escort you.

Q. If parents are divorced can the bride's father still give her away?

A. Father can give you away. Instead of sitting down with your mother, however, he would sit in the third row. If you prefer, your step-father or other male relative may give you away. Instead of answering "I do" he might reply "Her mother and I do."

Q. I am having both a maid of honor and a matron of honor. Who walks down the aisle first?

A. The matron of honor walks down the aisle just before the bride. The maid of honor may precede her or walk beside her. This is decided by the bride and minister.

In the recessional the matron of honor and best man follow the bride and groom. The maid of honor and head usher are next, followed by the remaining bridal party. If there should be flower girls or ring bearers in the party then they would be immediately behind the bride and groom.

Peace Plan

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy

You want Peace I want Peace
We all want Peace today
So take your guns and other weapons now,
And throw them all away!

Pile them up to the sky my friends
And in a circle stand hand in hand
'Cause I know if we stand united as one,
We can start our long awaited PEACE PLAN!

To achieve Peace, you must start with Peace
Not hatred, killing and such.
And holding out your hand to someone

Helps so very, very much.
People in China and Russia too
In Viet Nam, America, and Sweden,
You know it's true in your hearts
Don't you? That you want this

Peace you've been needing.
People of the world unite together
Not in a battle of hatred to kill,
But unite as one people of
The world in a battle to end it still.

Throw down your weapons and walk away
Don't think you'll be called UN American
For to end all killing of human lives
Is by all means AN American!

A World Of Its Own

By Sharryn Goldberg
29 Bedford St., Quincy

Many boats dock,
The water is clear,
Light waves rock,
This world of fresh air.

The ocean is calm and serene,
In this water scene.

People watch and listen
To the sound
Of the ocean all around.

The ocean has a mystery of its own,

Like no one has ever known.

Its secret has not been revealed,
Better it is concealed.

Gulls fly around
And fish swim within,
This world of its own
A place of no sin.

Rocks are piled up near shore,
They are not there to ignore.

People fish here,
And some sail too,
Some ski and some swim,
In this ocean of blue.

This world of its own.

Today's Wigs Really Worth Flipping Over

FOUR-WAY WIG creates exciting versatility. This Kanekalon modacrylic wig is pre-styled in a classic page boy. It's easily adopted to your change of moods. Wear it as a page boy, or as a casual flip. Brush it into two double pigtails for a sporty look, or tie it back George Washington style. The choice is up to you!

Hat designers and hair stylists have united...to create the wig boom! Famous names in both fields...like Adolfo, Kenneth, and Sassoon...have personal wig collections in most department stores across the country.

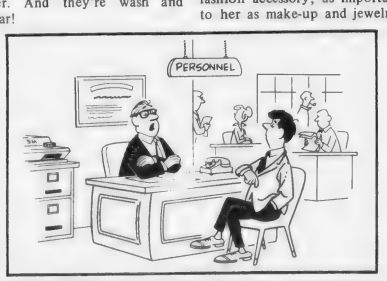
Helen Wolf, Fashion Coordinator at Popular Club Plan, a 22-year-old mail order retail organization serving more than one million families in the northeast, compares the trend toward wigs, to the hat "rage" of the 30's and 40's. "In fact," Mrs. Wolf says, "wigs are being sold in, or near, the millinery department in all fine shops.

Years ago, only society women could afford the luxury of a wig. Wigs then were human hair, terribly expensive, and not very practical. Besides keeping her own hair in shape, she now had a wig to manage, too.

Today, pre-curled wigs answer hair problems for most women. They're pretty...and practical [most synthetic wigs are priced from $25-$45]. Women can...and do...own more than one wig. Think of the new-found freedom! Woman can change their entire personality by simply changing the style or color of their hair, in the time it takes to don a wig. It's marvelous!

Besides being a far better value, the fabulous wigs of today are easier to care for. Long and short wigs are designed to hold their curl- so there's no setting - ever. And they're wash and wear!

Wigs are handwashed in cold-water detergent as easily as you'd wash panty hose or delicate lingerie.



Think of the styling wonders of synthetic wigs! It's amazing how many different looks you can achieve with just one wig. Take the long wig with bangs, for instance. This wig can be styled four different ways. You can style it to suit any fashion outfit or special occasion.

"If you're in a bouncy mood", Mrs. Wolf suggests, "flip the sides for a swinging look. For dramatic evenings, tie it back with a large grosgrain bow, George Washington style. Daytime, brush it under into a sleek page boy. And for a sporty, outdoor hairdo, comb the wig into double pigtails."

Today's wig goes here, there, and everywhere. Because the synthetic wig is pre-curled, it's perfect for travel. Curls stay in...you slip it on ...and you're ready to step out...in any part of the country.

The wig is an accepted way of life around the world. Realizing the wig as an important accessory for today's busy woman, airlines are encouraging women travelers to carry aboard their wig cases. Instead of being shipped as baggage with the rest of the luggage, the wig case goes first class, just like the family.

Whatever the reason a woman decides to try a wig, it soon becomes a most important fashion accessory, as important to her as make-up and jewelry.

Week of August 21 - 28

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Put your best foot forward, this is no time to look at the dark side of the issue. Desire plus will power is needed now.

TAURUS [Apr. 21-May 20] - No formal entertaining this week; let down your hair - take the family on an excursion or picnic, or out to a ball game.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - It's extra work, but a back yard or pool party could be successful now. Improve working conditions by inviting the boss.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Financial gains through artistic work tend to promote a cheerful outlook. This is an excellent week to get your shopping done.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Domestic affairs are rather involved but with a little planning, it will be a pleasant and beneficial time with unexpected gains.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Many of you will have surprisingly good luck during this period. Travel, writing, social and financial affairs will prosper.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Many Librans have been forced lately into unwanted independence while others are willingly establishing their own kind of freedom.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Jupiter, the planet of "plenty" is back in your sign so use it wisely. Clear thinking and good planning are needed this year.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Tackle the problems involved in your work now because later you may meet with opposition or you could make an error in judgement.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - News from a distance may be upsetting this week but talk it over with friends and they may come up with helpful suggestions.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - New friendships formed at this time and new responsibilities coming your way shortly can give career matters an added lift.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - A philosophical attitude will be needed to cope with other people's mistakes. Do someone a favor by quietly correcting errors.

It's In To Be Thin
By Lois L. Lindauer
Director, The Diet Workshop

Are you a "big" girl?

It's hard to be feminine and claim all the rewards your frailty and gender lead you to expect when you "outweigh" the man in your life!

Sure I know all the stories about your big frame and I've looked at many wrists masquerading as excuses, but when it comes right down to it, the number of people who actually have big frames number only about 15 per cent, so the likelihood of you being one of those is not great.

So, let's face up to the facts. "Big frames" can become small frames, or at least medium frames with your help.

And when you're thin you'll want a medal. And why not. Your middle will be your medal! And when this happens you are entitled to a reqard. And make it a fashionable, not an edible one.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

St. Moritz Assn. Reiterates Opposition To Swimming Pool

Harold W. Coose, Jr., President of the St. Moritz Association, has sent a telegram to Rep. Joseph E. Brett restating the organization's opposition to extending the Shea Rink facilities to include a swimming pool.

At a meeting in January, the membership voted overwhelmingly against the erection of a swimming pool by the MDC in the area. A letter was sent to Brett at that time explaining the position of St. Moritz members.

Chief reasons for the opposition, Coose said are:

The Shea Rink is used only about two months of the year and if it were enclosed it could be used at least nine months of the year. The Shea Rink when open for skating has hockey teams from Randolph, Braintree, Weymouth and other surrounding towns practicing and area youngsters are given little time for skating.

Tuesday afternoon throughout the school year the elementary aged kids are given one hour of skating time. The St. Moritz Association is fearful, Coose said, just such a situation would occur with an MDC pool that would be open to all surrounding cities and towns.

A pool operated by the City of Quincy for Quincy residents would cause much less objection, he said.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

Lately we have been very busy with the usual run of "summer complaints" but far fewer than the statistical average of hospitalizible diseases.

Diarrhea which is an all-year round problem is particularly prevalent. This may be a distinct, single nuisance or a part of a series of symptoms.

With all the publicity that German Measles and its vaccines have been getting we are having "measly" rashes, often indistinguishable from the measles family. To an unprotected woman the mere mention of German Measles can create qualms. Fortunately most of the children with this annoying rash have one of several other illnesses of which the rash is a distinct manifestation.

One of the summer illnesses we see regularly is called the "Fifth Disease". It's clinical name is "Erythema Infectiosum". It is a mild contagious disease, often in families, especially with children. The rash may crop up suddenly or after a couple of days of mild symptoms and temperature. The rash starts on the face - giving a "slapped face" appearance and often skips the upper lip and chin. The rash feels hot but the temperature is low.

About a day later the rash can be seen on the arms, back of the hands, then the thighs and buttocks. It may vary in its intensity hourly and lasts from two to 24 days. This is a mild disease and requires no treatment. It's importance is its similarity and differentiation from German Measles.

The other epidemic illnesses, around, are the other viruses which are called the entero viruses. Coxsackie and Echo groups. These are more disturbing and can range from aseptic meningitis to severe sore throats, headaches and intestinal complaints with vomiting and diarrhea. These diseases may have rashes, measly in appearance, which all add to the problem of differentiating.

The signs of meningitis, of course, are far more disturbing than mere rashes and for throats - but here again the progress is usually good and most recover with no complications.

Among the symptoms that the viruses have is the canker - often multiple, of the mouth and throat. These are very painful and have little to be done for them except local anesthetics or Lactinex. Immunce Globulin shots have been tried with questionable value.

There are available viral vaccines for the Echo and Coxsackie families and these when perfected will be added to our increasing Armamentaria of protective vaccines.

What are we going to do when we are perfect? Oh I'm sorry, we will continue our ideological wars!

Volunteers, Community Support Make N.Q. Youth Center A Reality

Four West Quincy teenagers have had a ball ever since early spring as coaches for Farm League softball teams at the Curry Field.

Lou Tozzi of 602 Willard St. has been chief coach for the Farm League team for six to eight year old boys.

Coaches for the individual teams were Joe Jansky, John Guglielmi, Paul Zanolli and Andy Sferrezza.

When the regular team for 8 to 12 year olds disbanded for the summer, these teenagers decided they had made such strides in teaching the basic skills of baseball and sportsmanship to the youngsters that they would continue to work with them every Saturday morning through the summer.

Besides, they enjoyed their Saturday morning lessons.

The four coaches have arranged for several games with teams in Quincy having youngsters the same age. With a good part of their teams, they were present when Sam Mele visited Shea Rink in July to give lessons to area youngsters.

Recreation Roundup

DISTRICT I

At Forbes Hill's parent's night Mike and Danny Lewis won the watermelon eating contest. Jane McGilvary's and Cindy Putnof's arts and crafts were displayed. Congratulations to Patti Bellotti, Jane McGilvary and Danny Lewis for winning district tennis honors. From Stony Brae in Junior Olympics are Debbie Mann, Chris O'Rourke, Ed Boudreau and Scott Marani.

Wollaston clinched the Junior Boys Championship in basketball with the help of Mike O'Malley, Jay Nolan, Gerry Shephard, Mike Brubaker and Billy Shine. In tennis, Shea Rink has some great talent in Brian Bertoni, Dave O'Brien, John Riggs, Judy Pulsifer, Denise Bertoni, Kevin McGinley, Rene Lumaghini and Pat Demsey.

DISTRICT II

Welcome Young's senior girls basketball team includes Donna Coutis, Mari-Ann Butts, Eileen Theriault, Tina Lindberg, Kathy Livingston, Patti Koelsh, Patti Weisse and Diane Larkin. Sue Caulfield is the volleyball star at Myles Standish and with the help of Mike Rooman and Jack Mahoney - their nature project is under completion.

Mary Ann O'Sullivan, Laurie Stark, Anne O'Hare, Paul Johnson, Paul Kelleher and John Stous all have something from Mass. Fields in the Recreation Art display. Atlantic had winners in the District Junior Olympics. They were: Bob McCormick, Wolly Shea, Kathy McSweeney, Nancy Willard, Judy Abbruzzese and Denise Bereszniewicz.

Squantum won in the midget semi-finals and David Sorenson, pitcher [6-0], with the team of Bill Harrow, Josh Alberti, Bob McCabe, Tom Dow, Dan McGuiggan, Mike McCormick, Leigh Reily and Kurt Brenn.

At Montclair, Julie Baker won Miss Montclair, Cherie Martenelli won best dancer, Joanne Malone won the Best Basketball Player and Peter Donovan won the Happiest Award. Also Montclair was No. 1 in the Junior Novice Olympics.

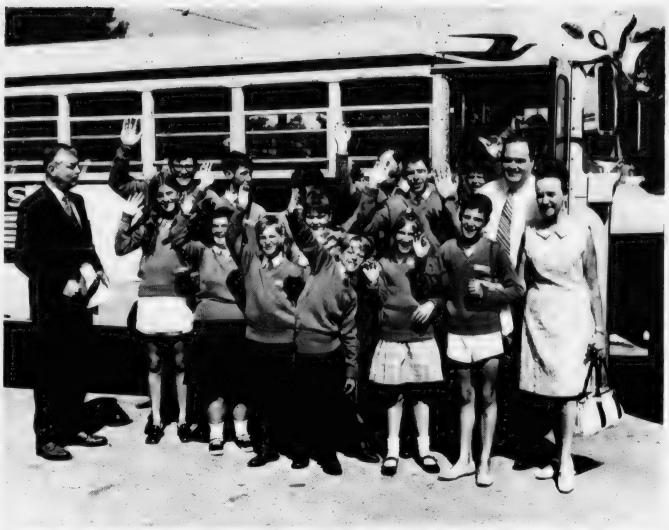
DISTRICT III

After parents night, Perkins now has two Miss Perkins--Carol Lynch and Kathleen Boyle. In a game of horseshoes, the team of Jack Malloy and Pickie McConville was victorious. LaBrecque won all the boys categories in District Three's Junior Olympics where Mark Giordani was second in a softball throw and Ron Donavan was third in the 75 yard dash. Ricky Drew has been voted most valuable player of Heron Road baseball with a batting average of .500.

DISTRICT IV

At Faxon Field, eight mighty bowlers headed for a tournament on the artery--Mark Tobin, John Pagnano, Dolores Conners, Mary Ann and Jean Mullin, Anne Fornaro, Mary Rose MacInnis and Darlene. Whitwell Street had a carnival to raise money for the Jimmy Fund. Carol Vincent and Marsha Mele were fortune tellers, Kathy and Paula Mannai had a popsickle stick game, Janice Finnegan had a grab bags game, Donna Colley had "feel and tell" and Claudia Cavengano and Janice Finnegan took care of the refreshment stand. The "Merrymen of Merrymount" took a field trip to Black's Creek where Chris O'Brien, Barbara Sang and Rosebud took a boat to the docks. Six year old Robin Zack won first prize in the bike decorating contest at Elm Street's last Parents Night of the season. Janice Russo and Diane D'Olympio won best costume awards. In Pond Street's special event [a softball game between the Midget boys and Junior girls] Mikey Trubiano came up with three homeruns while Tricia Connor hit two homers. High scorer when Beechwood Knoll wiped out LaBrecque [31-27] was Mike Holleran [14] with Flea Shea close behind [10].

DISTRICT V



At Columbia's barber shop Steve Whiebault dared the snippers of Mary Ellen Grazioso and he came up looking pretty good. On Parents Night at Bradford, Mark Juitt and Randy D'Angelo helped to dye shirts with the mothers. Big names on Fore River's undefeated Girl's softball team were Judy Guest, Clare Oliverio and Donna Corporale. Kincaide's Kids were Eilleen DiBona, Gary Prezioso and Susie DiBona.

DISTRICT VI

Some winners in the junior Olympics from Snug Harbor were Gary Moore, Anthony DelGreco, Frank and Francis Dragone, Ken Beliveau, Ricky Tatt, Cheryl Michaud and Margaret Millard. The kids at Harborview spent Friday making gimp chains. Winners in Quarterdeck's talent show were Billy Hayes, Billy Russell and Gail Marshel. Some of the participants at the stadium from baker were Betty Ann Smith, Janet Rugg, Gerry Smith and Jackie King.

In golf, finals for the best ball tournament held at Furnace Brook found the team of Callahan, Rose and Long sweeping to a four stroke victory over their closest opponents after 27 holes of tournament play.

A few master archers are John Brill of Bayside, Paeter Lagos [Perkins] Steven Gould [Snug Harbor] and Rhonda Zoia of Atlantic with Denise Bereszniewicz racking up the highest total to date. Young tennis stars are Kevin McGinley of Shea Rink, and Patty Koelsh of Welcome Young.

'AWAY WE GO!'--Recreation Director William F. Ryan, Mayor James R. McIntyre and Recreation Commissioner Katherine McCoy see off Happy Acres Day Campers and volunteers as they leave for International Special Olympics in Chicago. Seven Quincy Youngsters Reach Finals In Chicago

Seven of the 15 youngsters representing the Quincy Recreation Department's Happy Acres Day Camp reached the finals in the Chicago International Special Olympics this weekend.

There were 2,600 competitors from 45 states, Canada and France.

The Quincy finalists were:

Linda Campbell, 50-yard dash and softball throw; Carol DiSalvo, who brought back the group's only medal by placing second in the 50-yard finals; John Parker, long jump; Frank Toutloff, 50-yard dash; Kathy Gavin, softball throw; Siobhan Nolan, long jump; and Bob Nevins, 50-yard dash.

Siobhan Nolan, John Parker and Bob Nevins all had fourth place finishes in their events, while the others were impressive.

Quincy's contingent was part of the Massachusetts team of 90 children.

Bill Pyne and Ed Petit, fastest members on the Massachusetts team, were members of the State 440 relay team, and both were extremely close to making the finals in the 50-yard dash and 300-yard run in the top division, missing by only one second in each.

"The 15 children from Quincy performed beyond all our expectations and have certainly earned the respect of the enitre city," Recreation Director William F. Ryan said.

The trip to Chicago was made possible by the Happy Acres Day Camp teenage volunteers who raised more than $3,000 in door-to-door candy sales.

It was also the culmination of two years' work in track and field activities which included participation in three Quincy Recreation Department Special Olympics, a Boston Special Olympics, a Massachusetts Special Olympics and the New England Regional Special Olympics. Each of the 15 contestants from Quincy were former award winners in either Massachusetts or New England competitions.

In addition to the finalists, Quincy campers included Carol Burgess, Elaine Hall, Paul Centrella, John DiSalvo, Paul Durning and Jim MacIntyre. Chaperones were Assistant Recreation Director Charles Alongi, Dorothy Tehan and Janet Veasey of the Camp staff; Debbie Larkin, volunteer council chairman, and Martine Montillot, volunteer from Paris, France. Camp Director Earl E. Vermillion met the group in Chicago.

Also with the group were parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nolan and Ed Pyne, and staff member Margy Kaye and husband, Robert Kaye.

The Chicago Park District and the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation were co-sponsors of the Olympics.

A feature of the three-day program were clinics conducted by top professional athletes in various fields, and the appearance of astronauts John Glenn and Jim Lovell.

Quincy Volunteer Worker Spends Day At Kennedy Compound

Miss Martine Montillot of Paris, France, a volunteer worker at the Quincy Recreation Department's Happy Acres Day Camp for Retarded Children, spent a day last week at the Kennedy Compound as the guest of Mrs. Eunice Shriver, executive vice president of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

Miss Montillot made the trip to Hyannis Port with Mrs. William F. Ryan, wife of Quincy's recreation director and Miss Darlene D'Olimpio with whom Miss Montillot is spending the summer.

Martine is one of 15 French college students who are members of the Kennedy Foundation's Franco-American Volunteer Association working in various communities of the U. S. with retarded children.

The students who discussed their experience with Mrs. Shriver at the compound, were from Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Long Island and Mansfield, Conn.

Lunch was provided on a boat trip on the "Marilyn" and dinner on the Shriver patio with Mrs. Rose Kennedy.

Quincy's Mike Jordan Holy Cross Co-Captain

Quincy's Mike Jordan, co-captain of this year's Holy Cross football team, will lead 71 Crusader candidates in their first workout next Monday.

The Holy Cross squad will report for physicals over the weekend and then start practice on Monday.

The group will include 11 lettermen. The squad had its schedule wiped out by hepatitis last fall after two games and no letters were awarded.

Jordan, rated one of the finest defensive backs in Holy Cross history, two years ago, while a sophomore, was named the team's outstanding defensive back.

Frank Cogliano, Peter Cahill Selected For Williams Camp

Frank Cogliano and Peter Cahill of Quincy were among 16 boys recently selected by the BoSox Club, the Red Sox booster club, to attend the Ted Williams Baseball Camp in Lakeville for a week.

The club selected the boys for writing the best essays on "Why I Would Like to Attend the Ted Williams Camp." It sends a group of boys each year to the camp.

The Quincy pair and the other 14 will be at the camp from Aug. 30 to Sept. 5.

Lost $70,000 Last Year

Giants Won't Field Team This Season

The Quincy Giants, who moved from Lowell and played in the strong Atlantic Coast Football League a year ago, will not field a team this year.

The Giants, only league team without a major league affiliation last fall, had only a 2-9 record and lost a reported $70,000.

"Bob Hotin [team owner] wanted a team in Quincy again this year despite the heavy losses," said Bill Coleman, the Giants' director of public relations in 1969. "However, he was convinced the team could make no money playing on Saturday nights and sought permission from Quincy officials to play Friday nights, as all other league teams did, at Veterans' Stadium.

"Bob even offered to pay half the cost of permanent lights for the stadium, giving the high school teams an opportunity to play night football, but, Quincy officials refused to pay the other half and refused permission for Friday night games.

"I am convinced that Friday night ball in Quincy would draw crowds and enable the Giants to make money. I am further convinced Quincy and North Quincy High teams could make more money playing night ball at the stadium."

Coleman revealed that Hotin is holding on to the Giants' franchise, hoping to find another city to house the team.

Despite their poor record, the Giants turned in some good performances last fall and gave the few fans who showed up for the games plenty of action.

This fall several members of the ACFL are receiving tryouts with National Football League teams. Brian Dowling, former Yale quarterback standout who sparkled last fall for the Hartford Knights, made an excellent showing for the Patriots last Sunday against the Redskins and is a leading contender for the quarterback job.

Before it was decided not to field a team this year, Giants Vice President Bob Dee was trying to find a National or American Football League team to affiliate itself with the Giants.

"A minor league club definitely needs a major league tieup to be successful, Dee said.

Callahan, Ross, Long Golf Tourney Winners

The team of Dave Callahan, Bob Ross and Joe Long swept to a four-stroke victory in the 27-hole golf tournament "best ball" finals of the Quincy Recreation Department at Furnace Brook.

Callahan, Ross and Long holed out at 119 to Mal and Barry Sullivan's 123. Coming in third after a tight first 18 holes was the team of Chris Ryan and Jed Phelan.

The Callahan trio finished the first nine holes with a 37, the result of birdies in the 4th and 6th holes, and pars in 5, 7 and 9. On the second nine, the boys came in on 44.

The final day of play found Callahan and friends with an 81, Ryan and Phelan with 85 and Mal and Sullivan with 87. Competition was stiff as Mal and Barry cracked 7 holes of par golf with only two bogies for a final round of 36 and total of 123. Callahan, Ross and Long lost four on their 6-stroke lead on the first five holes. They pared the 4th and birdied the 5th and 6th to finish the winners with a round of 38.

Paul Craig remains obstacle course champ with a high of 96, and Dan McKay held off with a 114.

Finals for midgets and juniors began Aug. 13, and seniors, Aug. 14.

North Quincy Knights Win Babe Ruth League Crown

The North Quincy Knights of Columbus team won the Quincy Babe Ruth League championship defeating the Houghs Neck Legion team in two of three games at Adams Field.

The Knights had won the National League title with a 16-3 record to meet Houghs Neck, the American League champs.

The first game was won by Houghs Neck, 6-4 with a homer by J. Driscoll. B. Steen was the winning pitcher. Dave Power hit a triple for the Knights, but other batters failed to connect, leaving 11 Knights runners stranded.

The Knights took the second and third games with Jack Black and Scott Broome the winning pitchers. Broome, in his eighth win of the season and his fourth shutout, allowed only four scattered hits. He allowed only 12 runs in the nine games of the season, and had a no-hitter against the second place team, Granite City Electric.

Top hitters for the final two games were Ken Marsters, Dave Power, Scott Broome, Paul Cunniff and Jack Black. On defense, Jack Rabel made several outstanding plays for the Knights and Frank Schular had five putouts in left field.

The Knights of Columbus became a Babe Ruth team sponsor in 1969, taking over a team formerly sponsored by the Quincy Doctors. During a period of 10 years under Manager John McConnell and Joe Gavin, former coach, and John Rabel, present coach, the team won its league crown four times, finished second four times, and had only two bad years in which they finished third and fourth.

In 1966 the team won the City of Quincy Babe Ruth Championship, a feat they repeated this year. In the ten year period, McDonnell managed teams have posted an over-all record of 149-40.

Granite City Electric Shines As Babe Ruth Loop Expansion Team

As an expansion team, in the National Division of the Quincy Babe Ruth League, Granite City Electric had a "shining" season, finishing a close second behind first place Knights of Columbus.

Granite City won 11 and lost only five games for a percentage of .687.

Mike Marvelle led the team in hitting with a .413 average. Batting over .300 were Peter Fallon, Ed Davis and Bob MacIntosh. Also hitting well during the season were lead off batter Warren Jordan, Carl Leone, Greg Fennessy, Larry McCue and Bob Parker.

First baseman Bob Prakop made several sensational plays during the season to help keep the team in contention, while Mike Marvelle excelled at third base, making many outstanding plays. Also fielding well were shortstop Warren Jordan, second baseman Bob MacIntosh and outfielders Carl Leone, Larry McCue and Ed Davis, plus utility man Steve McHugh. Regular catcher Greg Fennessy made several thrilling catches of pop-ups, besides playing flawlessly behind the plate.

In pitching, Bob Parker won four games, Peter Fallon and Mike Marvelle won three each and Warren Jordan gained one win.

Other boys who played well for Granite City during the season were Dom Ignani, Steve Moynihan, John Flynn and Artie Barrett.

Granite City Manager Dave MacIntosh was assisted by coaches Bob Jordan and Henry Parker in what must be recognized as a highly successful season for an expansion team.

"The team came awfully close this year and with 10 boys returning, could go all the way next year," MacIntosh said.

He was especially pleased with the performance of his 13-year olds during the season.

'Night At Bay State Raceway' To Aid Survival, Inc. Drive

Survival, Inc. will benefit from a "Night at Bay State Raceway" Aug. 26 sponsored by Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy, to aid the drive for a drugs treatment center in Quincy.

Two types of tickets are available. One ticket [$5.00] allows parking, entrance to the track and a program. The other [$10.00] admits the bearer to the Sulky Room where there is a buffet and closed circuit television to watch the races without going outside.

In addition to receiving a profit from sales of both types of tickets, Survival, Inc. will have the privilege of "naming" the races. Plans are to name them for the various organizations helping to raise funds toward the $250,000 goal.

Arrangements for the benefit evening were made by Pres Hobson, general manager of Bay State Raceway.

Creedon Thanks YMCA For Pool Use

The Quincy YMCA pool has been used during the past year by students of the Lincoln and Hancock Schools for a pilot "Learn to Swim" program.

In a letter to George Ramsden, executive director of the Quincy "Y", School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon expressed appreciation for the use of the pool by the Quincy Public Schools during the winter months.

The swim program was begun several years ago with the cooperation of the Quincy YMCA and the Blue Hills Council of Girls Scouts, Creedon wrote, and was established during the past year under direction of Morrie Hibbard, principal of Lincoln and Hancock Schools.

"In our judgment this program was quite successful," he said, "and we are now moving ahead to expand the program."

Raytheon Plant Wins Contract

A $28,434 government contract for electronic supplies has been awarded to the Raytheon Quincy plant, 465 Centre Street, Quincy, by the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio.

The contract calls for 16,156 receiving triode electron tubes, type 6111WA, to be manufactured in accordance with military specifications.

This is a fixed-price supply type contract awarded after formal advertising.

The Defense Electronics Supply Center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services and various other government agencies.

Film great LORETTA YOUNG is kicking up quite a storm over the inclusion of two of her old film clips appearing in the movie "MYRA BRECKINRIDGE". Several weeks ago her attorneys were granted a temporary injunction by Cleveland Judge FRANK J. BATISTI against 20th Century-Fox who ordered the producer of the controversial picture to delete the film clips involving Miss YOUNG... English actress RITA TUSHINGHAM and director DESMOND DAVIES have formed their own film company called appropriately enough, "The Movie Makers"... Their first upcoming venture will be R. D. BLACKMORE's, "LORNA DOONE", with Miss TUSHINGHAM starring as Lorna.

ANGELA LANSBURY scores nicely in the black comedy, "SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE"... Former FRANK SINATRA protege TONY BILL, returns to the celluloid wars after a three years hiatus in the ANTHONY QUINN starred, "FLAP"... When TONY BILL first broke into movies in the mid-sixties, this Notre Dame alumnus showed promise of developing into an exceptionally accomplished actor. Since then however, his career has been in a temporary limbo state... Hopefully "FLAP" will change all that...

RAQUEL WELCH is scheduled to co-star with RICHARD JOHNSON in "A PRIVATE DISGRACE". Production will roll into action sometime this month on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus... Joining Miss WELCH in the supporting cast are English thespians JACK HAWKINS and DAME FLORA ROBSON... TONY PERKINS is one of the brighter moments in MIKE NICHOLS', "CATCH-22"... Unfortunately the film doesn't quite capture the biting madness of HELLER's best seller... LIZA MINNELLI is tenderly magnificent in the role of a disfigured girl in OTTO PREMINGER's, "TELL ME THAT YOU LOVE ME, JUNIE MOON"... The GP rated drama is one of the 10 best of the current season... The RED SKELTON show moves to a 7:30 p.m., Monday night, NBC time slot this coming fall... Comic JACKIE MASON makes his film debut this fall in the upcoming Italian comedy-western, "A MAN CALLED RIO"...

"M-A-S-H" has been banned in Israel. That country's Censorship Board felt the movie took an all too irreverent attitude toward the wounded and dead in battle... When he first broke into acting, RICHARD HARRIS was advised by a director at Britain's prestigious Royal Academy of Dramatic Art to forgo all thoughts of being an actor. The reason? Not enough talent. The persistent HARRIS later gained admission to The London Academy of Dramatic Arts and was soon after on his way to fame and fortune... ZSA ZSA GABOR has a jewel of a Broadway hit on her elegantly-diamonded hands in "FORTY CARATS"... "CARATS" is the first Broadway play in which Miss GABOR has appeared... ROD TAYLOR shows promise of starting another "James Bond" trend with his "Travis McGee" portrayal. TAYLOR's latest picture, "DARKER THAN AMBER" is in the true James Bond tradition - plenty of heroics, and eye fetching lovelies... JANE RUSSELL and SUZY KENDALL co-star...

After 40 years and 40 films, JEAN-LOUIS TRINTIGNANT of "Z" fame has established himself as one of the hottest international stars now in action... The talented JEAN-LOUIS plans to direct a film in the near future... And another Frenchman,JEAN-PAUL BELMONDO returns to the screen in a CLAUDE LeLOUCH movie, "LOVE IS A FUNNY THING"... The film is due for a Boston release sometime in the early part of fall... President NIXON nixed a "NAME OF THE GAME" guest spot. The under 30 second guest spot called for him to portray himself... "THE REVOLUTIONARY" is fading into a box-office disaster. If it breaks the half million dollar mark, the producers will consider themselves lucky... CLINT EASTWOOD's last two films "KELLYS HEROES" and "TWO MULES FOR SISTER SARA" are right up there in the top ten moneymakers...

Water 'Good' At Wollaston

Quincy beach enthusiasts will find the water quality at Wollaston Beach "good", according to recent bacteria analysis tests completed at Metropolitan District Commission laboratories.

Nantasket Beach has an "excellent" rating.

Beaches of Boston Harbor range from "poor" at Tenean to "satisfactory" at its other beaches, while North Shore waters are "excellent".

West Quincy Mini-Fair Aug. 22 To Benefit March Of Dimes

A group of 13 West Quincy youngsters, ages nine to 13, are conducting a mini-fair Aug. 22 from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. in the backyard at 2 Ellis St.

Proceeds will benefit the "March of Dimes" birth defects program.

Co-chairmen are Joseph Veneto, Quincy Sun newsboy; James McCusker and Kevin Fitzgerald. Assisting them are Roger McCarthy and Albert Miller.

Helpers include Janice Murphy, Debra, Karen and Andrew Veneto; Brian and Tom McCusker, John Fitzgerald and Stephen McCarthy.

Local merchants have contributed prizes for the fair. There will be white elephants, games and refreshments.

Squantum Youngster Grows Giant (9 Ft.) Sunflower

Twelve-year old Heidi Vogel of 10 Deerfield St., Squantum, 5 ft. 2 inches tall, has grown a sunflower that is now nine-foot tall – and still growing. The bud itself is about 10-inches in diameter, not yet fully open.

Heidi, who has just completed the sixth grade, planted her sunflower seed this spring. In spite of the water shortage, it still got its daily rations of water.

Lt. Charles Ferrazzi To Be Honored At Dinner Aug. 26

Retired Quincy Police Lt. Charles Ferrazzi will be honored at a Friendship Dinner-Dance Aug. 26 at Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

A social will start at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7 p.m.

Lt. Ferrazzi, a member of the police department Traffic Bureau, retired last month after nearly 44 years service.

Patrolman William O'Donnell is committee chairman and Capt. Roy Cavicchi, head of the Traffic Bureau, is honorary chairman.

The committee includes Guido Pettinelli, John Bartholomew, William Buckley, John Morton, Edward Gentile and Robert Quintiliani.

Brett Sees $3 Million Track Facility Near Final Reality

A $3 million indoor facility for use by high school track teams in Eastern Massachusetts may soon become a reality.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett this week expressed gratification to both branches of the legislature in passing a bill authorizing the Metropolitan District Commission to construct such a facility.

He called it "a great victory" for the more than 15,000 Greater Boston schoolboy track enthusiasts.

The Quincy Democrat and Rep. Charles R. Doyle of West Roxbury have jointly sponsored this legislation for the past several years, only to have it run into roadblocks.

The measure still must go through the enactment stage in House and Senate [normally a routine procedure] and then will go to the governor for his approval.

A very serious need has arisen for such a facility in the Greater Boston area in recent years, Brett says, as a result of several of the former facilities being demolished for urban renewal and highway purposes.

It is expected that the proposed facility will be built in the metropolitan area at a site selected by the MDC.

Kenney, Rosemarie O' Brien Playground Leaders Of Week

Steve Kenney and Rosemarie O'Brien are this week's playground leaders of the week for the Quincy Recreation Department.

Steve, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Kenney of 53 Barry St., is a four-year veteran boating and sailing instructor at Black's Creek boathouse.

He is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School in Weymouth, entering his senior year at Suffolk University where he is a government major. At Suffolk, he has made highest honors each semester, and is vice president of Pi Gamma Nu honor society.

Rosemarie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement A. O'Brien of 70 Fenno St., is a third year employee of Quincy Recreation. A graduate of Fontbonne Academy, she is entering her sophomore year at Stonehill College. Last year she had the lead role in "Stop the World, I want to Get Off!" She is playground instructor at Merrymount Park.

Dr. Daniel Carlin Named Harvard Research Fellow

Dr. Daniel J. Carlin of 934 Furnace Brook Parkway has been appointed a Research Fellow in Neurology at Harvard University, announces Robert Ebert, M.D., Dean of the Faculty of Medicine.

Dr. Carlin received his M.B., B.CH., and B.A. degrees in 1954 from the National University of Ireland. He is associated with the Children's Hospital Medical Center of Boston.

Dr. Carlin is among 78 Massachusetts residents who have received appointments for the academic year 1969-1970 at Harvard University Medical School.

Over 1,000 Applicants

127 New Teachers Appointed

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy students will have 127 new teachers–the best of more than 1,000 applicants–when schools reopen Sept. 9.

An estimated 100 to 110 familiar faces will be missing from the teaching ranks–representing resignations this year.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon noted that he and the School Committee are getting better candidates to select from, because of improved salaries and other reasons.

"We had better candidates because of many factors contributing to this," he said. "Salaries in teaching positions are becoming better and more attractive, so that we are having more of the cream of the crop of the graduating class interested in teaching."

"Also, because education is where the action is today. Young people today have a social conscience, instead of young college graduates who hook up with a business firm and become junior executives, we see more and more evidence of the "dynamos", the "do-ers", the "movers", moving into the field of education.

"There are many candidates who contacted us we would like to have hired if we had openings in the schools."

The new teachers may rise to 130 or 131 if there are last minute resignations, Dr Creedon estimated.

Referring to the large number of applicants, Dr. Creedon explained, "It has to be understood that each applicant applies in several communities--each person usually sends out at least half-a-dozen applications."

"We hired 174 or 175 people last year, indicating a decrease in the amount of turn-over. We have between 850 and 875 class room teachers."

"We added 25 additional teachers to the classroom teaching force to keep pace with increased enrollment which moves up 250 to 300 a year, to help reduce teacher-pupil ration in certain areas.

"We have had some 100-110 resignations this year.

"Twenty-five positions are actually new classroom teaching positions, not to be confused with administrative positions. There are few turnovers in administrative positions because of retirements or other reasons."

"Twenty-nine per cent of all teachers hired are Quincy residents," Creedon said. This is about 37. "On top of that, eight additional people are not Quincy residents but attended Quincy Schools, or graduated from Quincy Schools, and 59% of all the people we hired gave their place of residence as Massachusetts.

"Of course, some of them were people living out of state but attending schools in Boston, but it shows that at least one-half of the people we hired were Massachusetts people."

"Also, 22% of the positions filled, or one out of five, the teachers did practice teaching in Quincy. So we are not hiring "a pig in a poke," but we have seen them in action for eight to 16 weeks working in the schools," Creedon said.

Creedon said that the job of selecting candidates this year was much more difficult than in previous years not only because there were fewer positions to be filled and more applicants, but because of their excellent qualifications.

Urge Ryan Succeed Nash

The South Shore Constables Association is recommending the appointment of Dennis F. Ryan as presiding justice of Quincy District Court.

Ronald N. Halter, association president, has urged Gov. Francis Sargent to name Ryan as successor to Judge Kenneth L. Nash of Weymouth who is retiring.

Ryan, long-time clerk of the court, is the "unanimous vote" of the association to succeed Judge Nash, Halter wrote in a letter to Sargent.

"Not only is Mr. Ryan held in very high esteem by the people in the legal profession in and around the Quincy Courthouse," wrote Halter, "but also his proven ability as clerk of the court would stand him as a very good justice and a fine example to the people of the community."

Questions Spaulding Statement On Agnew 'Polarizing Nation'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

In a recent televised statement, Josiah Spaulding, a candidate for the U.S. Senate, said that Vice-President Agnew was polarizing the nation.

This statement, which I consider to be ill-conceived, reminded me of a Morrie Ryskind column in the June 13, 1970, issue of Human Events. In that column, Ryskind noted that the word "polarization" "though comparatively new in liberal circles, is already so shopworn that I suggest a sabbatical for it. How about going back to the old reliable 'reactionary?'

Churchill once defined that latter thuswise: a liberal takes a poke at you and you react; ergo, you're a reactionary. 'Polarization' is of similar genesis. The Liberal Establishment descends on some Nixon move with a torrent of denunciatory rhetoric that, by comparison, makes Cicero's orations against Catiline seem like a billet-doux. Yet when RMN speaks of the campus-burners as 'bums', or the Veep defends the Administration with a few well-chosen words, the Establishment cries out to Heaven to censure this outrage to decency.

The liberal media are full of reproachful articles, asserting that such uncouthness - i.e., talking back to the critics - 'polarizes' the nation, whereas the President had vowed to unite it."

It is to be expected that a Fullbright or a McGovern would call Mr. Agnew a 'polarizer', but when a candidate of Mr. Agnew's own party accuses him of this, I seriously doubt whether the convention nominees for U.S. Senate offer a "choice, not an echo".

Registration For New Pupils

Registration dates for students entering Quincy Public Schools for the first time on Sept. 9 are announced by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

All elementary school pupils transferring to Quincy should register at their local elementary school from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Transfer cards should be presented.

Parents of children entering kindergarten or grade I must present a birth certificate, vaccination certificate, and evidence of immunization for small pox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles, German measles, mumps and polio.

The child may be admitted to kindergarten if a doctor's certificate is presented indicating that he is not in a condition to be immunized.

A child must be five years of age on or before Nov. 1 to be eligible for kindergarten, and six years of age on or before Nov. 1 to be eligible for grade I.

Junior high school transfers must register in the guidance office from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Senior high school transfers must also register before Sept. 8 at the guidance office between those hours. All entering students should bring their school transcripts with them when registering.

St. Moritz Assn. Opens Fall Season On Sept. 17

Warfare Against The Womb

[Today's guest column is written by Dr. Robert Mann, an associate of Dr. Charles Djerf]

A number of years ago, our President coined a phrase that seemed to catch on immediately, and was in tune with the interest of much pending legislation. This phrase was the "War on Poverty". There are many pros and cons to this "war", but I haven't found that we have less poor, or a much changed social structure because of it.

However, there is a new "war", a war on the womb, that is becoming more widespread as time goes on. A number of states have passed more "liberal" abortion laws in the past three years, including our neighbor to the west, New York. Next year, a full-blown campaign for permissive national legislation providing for abortion on demand may be waged in the halls of Congress. The U. S. Supreme Court could overthrow restrictive abortion laws in cases now pending.

In this matter of more easily obtained abortions, we have laws that differ from state to state. Some states have residency requirements, some do not. Some require physicians consults prior to admission, some only require a request on the part of the mother. Most states require that the abortion be completed before the end of the third month of pregnancy, but at least one has no such limitation.

Let me state here that I am not against family planning. One only has to see large families without the means to care for them, and the starving masses in India, to realize the need for intelligent control of family size. A number of methods of contraception have been instituted in recent years, most of them very effective. Abstinence is 100 per cent effective, but not too many go along with this method.

The "pill" in its many forms, is nearly as effective, and while there are side effects, most are minor, and it's eight to 10 times safer than pregnancy, in regard to serious complications.

In fact, a group of nearly 100 obstetricians in the Washington, D.C. Northern Virginia area stated their patients had no serious complications after several years of heavy use of contraceptive pills. The loop [I.U.D.] is nearly as effective as the pills, and there are a number of other methods available. All it takes is a little time and effort, and a little will power. I'm for family planning.

Neither am I against all abortions. Where fetal malformations can be expected, or maternal health is endangered [physical or mental], and in cases of rape, I can see the need of abortions. But abortions merely for convenience, for the married as well as the unmarried, I could not condone. It's about time a few people stood up as advocates of the unborn child, to balance out those who campaign for the "freedom" of the women.

If the unborn baby is considered a person, then according to generally accepted American morality, as well as Biblical ethics, the government must exercise all of its power to protect the life and freedom of that person. The unborn baby is not, then, just a part of the mother's body to be disposed of at the whim of the mother.

Pro-abortionists speak very eloquently about the rights of the mother in her private affairs and unjustifiable interference by the government into the privacy of her bedroom. But if the unborn baby is a person with a separate identity and is not just an appendage of the mother's body, then all of the stirring "rights" arguments of the pro-abortionist apply not only to the mother, but also to the child within the mother. He too, then, has "rights" that the mother and no one else can interfere with. And his prime right is the right to life. He is not just a "thing" that a mother may dispose of at will, like a tonsil. It is the duty of the state to protect him against any unwarranted deprivation of his life and pursuit of happiness.

The interruption of the life of an otherwise healthy fetus, without extenuating circumstances, is, in my eyes, in the same ball park with placing an otherwise healthy newborn in a plastic bag.

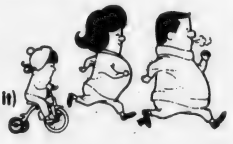
'Phillip Tenhausen' Enjoying Excellent Mail Delivery

Phillip Tenhausen, the fictional character in Quincy author Robert Rimmer's novel, "The Harrad Experiment", is enjoying excellent service from the Boston Postal District.

Recently two letters, one from Australia and another from California, addressed to Phillip Tenhausen, Harrad College, Cambridge, Mass., were received by Rimmer at his address, 92 Narragansett Rd., Merrymount.



Rimmer was delighted that mail addressed to the imaginary "Harrad College" would be delivered to his home by the post office.

"Because the style of the book is written as if "Harrad College" actually exists, many of the youngsters who read the book address letters to Phillip Tenhausen and almost unbelievably, someone in the post office has read "Harrad" and knows where to forward the letters," said the author.

"We take a great deal of pride in correctly forwarding mail which is sometimes received almost indecipherable or otherwise undeliverable," said George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge, Boston Postal District.

A Real Tall Story

Two HN Youngsters Read 202 Books In Nine Weeks

TALL STORY–Joseph McCarthy, 12, of 41 Edgewater Drive and Denise Larson, 12, of 14 Bay View Ave., top readers in the summer reading program "America - Your Land and Mine", show Librarian Helen G. Boyajian at the Thomas Crane Public Library's Houghs Neck Branch, about how high 102 and 100 books would stack up. [Quincy Sun Photo by Don Newell]

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Two 12-year old youngsters at the Houghs Neck Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library spent the past nine weeks setting a summer reading record.

Joseph McCarthy of 41 Edgewater Drive read an eye-straining 102 books in the general reading program for Quincy, "America, Your Land and Mine."

A close second was Denise Larson of 14 Bay View Ave., with 100 books to her credit. Both will enter seventh grade this fall.

The youngsters, who averaged more than a book a day for the 63-day period, did not spend the entire vacation with their noses between bookcovers.

"I only read books at night and in the morning," Joe confided. "The rest of the time I was at the beach."

"I'm in my seventh year in swimming class," Denise said. "I'm hoping to get my swimmers' certificate this week."

She was a student at one of the Quincy Recreation Department's swim classes.

"Not even the heat wave had any effect on these Houghs Neck readers," Miss Helen Boyajian, librarian, commented.

Their reward for setting their non-stop reading record? Books, of course.

Joe will receive a copy of "John F. Kennedy", and Denise, "A Long Walk on a Short Dock".

Also receiving a book award will be third place runnerup, Shirley Lyons of 96 Macy St., a grade 5 student at St. Ann's Parochial School.

Others receiving top awards were Thomas Sines of 32 Malvern St., Laura Peter of 7 Allerton St., Sharon Halwix of 16 Littlefield St., all seventh graders.

Honorable mention awards went to Marisa DeAngelo of 75 Turner St., Sheila McLaughlin of 100 Brooks St.

Receiving library certificates for reading a book a week or more were Mary Stanton of 200 Rock Island Rd., Jeanne Finlay and Irene Finlay of 164 Rock Island Rd., Linda Coughlin of 141 Rock Island Rd., Sheila Martin of 202 Rock Island Rd., Susan Peter of 7 Allerton St., and Joyce MacLean of 43 Babcock St.

Veva Darrow of 2 Sea Ave., ninth grade student at Broad Meadows Junior High School, earned an award for being a teenage volunteer assistant in the reading program.

Dr. Mahoney Successor

Dr. Foley Retiring As City Health Commissioner

Dr. John T. Foley is retiring as Quincy Health Commissioner and is being succeeded by Dr. Alfred V. Mahoney, as Acting Commissioner, Mayor James R. McIntyre announced today.

Dr. Foley, 62, who has served as commissioner for four years, retires officially at the end of the year but will be on sick leave from Sept. 7. Dr. Mahoney will become acting commissioner at that time.

Dr. Foley was appointed Health Commissioner by Mayor McIntyre May 2, 1966. He had been Boston City Health Commissioner from 1942 to 1966. He is a graduate of Boston English High and Boston College, class of 1930. He received his M.D. degree from Tufts Medical School in 1934, and in 1942 graduated from Harvard Public Health School.

A World War II veteran, he served with the Navy from 1943-1946.

Dr. Mahoney, who lives at 20 Whitney Rd., is a Boston College graduate and received his medical degree from Tufts College School of Medicine. He is a member of Quincy City Hospital medical staff; and of the Massachusetts, American and Norfolk South Medical societies.

Dr. Mahoney served for three years in the Air Force Transport Command as medical officer.

He was affiliated with the Quincy Health Department in 1955 as school physician and interim Health Commissioner.

1,436 Petition For Merrymount Skating Rink

A petition asking for a city-owned year-round skating rink in Merrymount Park, has been signed by 1,436 persons and presented to Mayor James R. McIntyre.

Noting that the proposed rink would be self-supporting, Mrs. Audrey Hayes of 181 Taylor St., Wollaston, in an accompanying letter wrote:

"We feel that this is a necessity for our youth and adults in the city. We have an empty MDC rink in Quincy which is useless to the people of Quincy because it seems all our surrounding towns use it more than Quincy and it is open too short of a period."

She referred to the Mayor's committee headed by Rep. Arthur H. Tobin which has completed a report on the feasibility of opening such a self-supporting rink.

The possibility of a rink near State Street Bank in North Quincy was under consideration but "talking" could delay its construction and "then like everything else, the price will be higher."

The petition continues:

"We the undersigned feel that the best place for our own rink is in Merrymount where all our city recreation facilities are now because more than likely there would be skating 11 months out of the year and people with smaller children could enjoy the surrounding parks. It is also a better place than North Quincy because it is on the main bus line and easy for anyone to get to from all parts of the City."

Mrs. Hayes pointed out that boys are now playing hockey in the streets. "We could also benefit by better hockey teams in our two high schools and maybe more boys getting a chance at more hockey scholarships to college," she wrote.

"With the possibility of the MDC closing in Shea rink and our own City rink, it would satisfy everyone," she stated.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wylie To Note 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar Wylie, formerly of 38 Greenview St., Wollaston are inviting friends to an "Informal At Home" on Sept. 2 to mark their 50th wedding anniversary. The invitations read "to confirm we have survived our first half century."

The couple, veterans in Quincy Boy Scouting, are now Hanover residents. The 50th wedding anniversary observance is expected to be a reunion of Scout associates.

Mr. Wylie, who began his career as a volunteer with the Boy Scouts the year it was founded in 1910, was Scout Executive with the Quincy Council from 1935 to 1955 when he retired.

Mrs. Hattie Spencer Wylie records 30 years as a den mother with the Cub Scouts – the last 10 as den mother for a Rockland group, of which her grandson, William E. Wylie III, was a member.

Pittsburgh, Pa. natives, they were married Sept. 2, 1920 at Ben Avon [A Pittsburgh suburb]. Their two children will be with them for the anniversary.

Mrs. A. L. [Betty Wylie] Atherton is now a resident of Washington, D.C., where her husband is a foreign service officer with the State Department. William E. Wylie, Jr. is proprietor of The Old Mill Restaurant in Plymouth.

Grandchildren include Lynn and Reed Wylie of Washington, Michael Wylie of Colorado; William E. Wylie, III, now an Army helecopter gunner in Vietnam; and Nancy E. Wylie of California.

Nine Youngsters Star In 'The New You' Fashion Show

"The New You" was proved a reality last Friday at Admas Shore when nine attractive young students took part in a fashion show at the new Thomas Crane Branch Library's closing program.

The girls, ages nine through 14 and from grades five through nine, modeled their own "back-to-school" clothes using techniques gained in their summer self-improvement program at the library.

An audience of more than 100 youngsters, mothers and library workers viewed the branch's first style show of traditional school outfits, pantsuits, sports and dressy models. They were described by Miss Linda Clayworth, commentator and junior assistant to Mrs. Blanche Eckert, children's librarian.

Taking part were award winners Barbara Immar, Jeanmarie Keyes, and "most improved", Mary Long, together with Susan Vinal, Catherine Sullivan, Nancy Long, Cory Morrison, Gayle Morrison and Jane Morrison.

Awards presented by Mrs. Eckert to those taking part in other programs included Lori Griffin, Lisa Darrow, Michael Roberto and Jeffrey Bouffard of the pre-school and first grade "Story Hour" group.

Beth Ann Tutunjian, Kimberly Bouffard, Deborah Nigro, Lisa Sullivan, Angela Christiani and William Long, of the "Read-A-Loud" club, for second and third grades.

Susan Bouffard and Vivian Carver, fourth grade and older, reading on "Your Land and Mine."

"Summer Sounds" awards for third grade and older went to Ann Marie Nigro and Kathleen Bouffard.

Assistants for the programs were Linda Clayworth, Kathleen Fox, Barbara Immar, Mary Long, Catherine Sullivan and Susan Vinal.

Mrs. Frances Hines, head children's librarian for the Thomas Crane Public Library, and members of her staff were guests.

NEW PROPORTION—The longuette is a right-as-rain length for this water-repellent cotton bolero coat. By Naman, the zip-front style has low-placed large pockets, belted waist and sleeves. Its Western look is enhanced with a wide-brimmed hat and tied cowboy scarf.

NEW CORDUROY—Turning up with still another new look for fall '70 is cotton corduroy, printed here in a tweed effect. Brad Whitney of California styles it into a handsome Norfolk jacket with self-belt. It's available in brown or gray.

EASY-GOING—Here's a fashion most likely to succeed on campus or off. In soft cotton velour, the simple A-line shape is accented with a navy patent lace belt. It's by Gay Gibson.

CAMPUS NATURAL—This is the fall to be a string collector. And a great find for any coed's collection is this string knit cotton tunic with matching four-gore skirt. Uncut corduroy in a contrasting color trims the neck, front, and armholes of the multi-button cardigan tunic by White Stag.

A Love Gone

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St., Quincy

Life why are you treating me this way?
Why did you take my love away?
The one that meant so much to me
An now he's gone buried beneath a tree.

You hurt me deeply, when you took him away
You thought my heart could be mended with the passing of the day.
But a love so deep, a love so strong,
Can never be erased, it lives on and on.

I can never be happy again
Because he is not here
So grant my only wish,
And take me within the next year.

Let me rest beside him forever,
So he will be mine and leave me never,
I loved him so much and I still do
And I know that he loved me too.

So life be kind and smile upon me.
And let me rest beneath that same tree.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

I thought you might like to know that you're not alone if you are overweight...

Did you know that one out of five people in the United States is overweight and should think seriously about dieting. Somehow it helps to know that there are others who have eaten themselves into a corner, doesn't it.

But some people are doing something about it–they are helping themselves to a realistic diet instead of food remembering that there's nothing so bad that eating something fattening won't make it a little worse.

So, think about it. And join with us to make a thin, healthy energetic America. Divided we eat, united we lose.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Scallop Kabobs

1 Pound Scallops
1 Cup Pineapple Chunks, Drained, Reserving Juice [in its own juice]
1 4-Ounce Can Mushrooms, Drained
1 Green Pepper, Cut in 1 inch squares
¼ Cup Lemon Juice
¼ Cup Soy Sauce

Place scallops, pineapple, mushrooms, and green pepper in a bowl. Mix lemon juice and soy sauce and pour over scallops. Marinate scallops at least one hour, stirring occasionally. On skewers, alternate scallops, pineapple, mushrooms and green pepper. Barbecue [or broil in oven] about 4 inches from fire. Grill 10 minutes or until scallops are done, turning once and basting with sauce. Recipe contains protein for 2 dinner meals and 2 fruits.

Week of Aug. 28 - Sept. 4

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Your excellent leadership qualities are much needed this week to help straighten out the confusion caused by other people's mistakes.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - The years 1969 and 1970 have brought what you earned in the past - whether it be complete success or total failure.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Organizational or political meetings cause a lot of headaches as mistakes are made, details overlooked and key people unavailable.

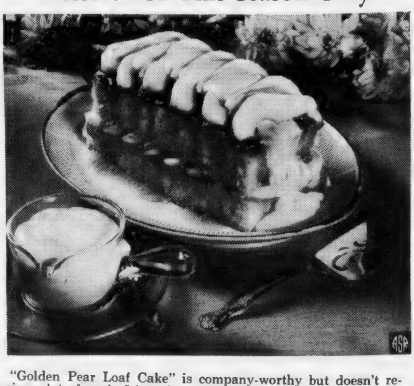
CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Transportation may be a problem this week and could keep you from doing the necessary shopping you had planned.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Public affairs and publicity favor you all this year and next but don't get careless. Use opportunities to build solid foundations.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - You are in the midst of confusion - your own or those around you. Now is not the time to take action on your secret plans.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - You must not say anything yet as you can still meet with opposition to your plans or be talked about behind your back.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Your motives and basic aims are very important this year. Dig in and work for the biggest chance of your life.



SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - You can experience an over-load of work this week as communications and transportation slow down or become snarled.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Friends are now willing to assist you and can help you realize some of your hopes and desires. Ask for advice.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Those of you who are looking for new fields to conquer, may find the grass is not greener after all - you forfeit freedom.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Other people can cause irritation and worry that just adds to the general confusion. Don't force conditions now.

Dessert For This Season Only

"Golden Pear Loaf Cake" is company-worthy but doesn't require a lot of work. It's a dessert for this season only because it requires fresh Bartlett pears, that elegant fruit now in our markets from California.

Golden Pear Loaf Cake

2 fresh California Bartlett pears
½ cup each orange juice and Sherry wine or 1 cup orange juice
1 sponge cake (9 x 9 x 1-inch)
1 cup apricot jam
1 package (3 to 3¼ oz.) vanilla pudding mix
2¼ cups milk

Pare, halve, core and slice 1 pear. Mix orange juice and Sherry. Cut cake to form two 9 x 4½ x 1-inch rectangles. Place one rectangle in shallow serving dish. Pour ½ orange juice mixture slowly into cake; spread with ½ jam. Arrange pear slices on top of jam. Place remaining cake on top of pears. Slowly pour remaining orange juice mixture over cake; spread with remaining jam. Cover and set aside. Combine pudding mix and milk in saucepan; cook as package directs. Cover and cool to room temperature. Pare, halve, core and slice remaining pear; arrange on top of cake. Drizzle some of pudding over top; pass remaining pudding in bowl for sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Health High-Lights

By Jack Silverstein

LSD'S UNPREDICTABLE EFFECTS

LSD is far more complicated and less understood than many other drugs. It seems to create visual distortions that can be extremely colorful or intense. At the same time, it can produce extreme emotional instability. That which was pretty become beautiful while the merely unpleasant thought can become terrifying. One never knows which.

A "tripper" can focus on buried emotional problems, resulting in long-lasting emotional illness - especially if the person is emotionally unstable to begin with.

LSD turns anxiety into panic and panic into terror in short order. Several deaths have been reported when youths, probably in LSD panics, have fallen from windows or walked heedlessly into traffic.

LSD is among the most unpredictable drugs. Is it really worth the risk?

Rev. Dean Benedict Being Transferred To Winchester

Rev. Dean Benedict, minister of Quincy Centre United Methodist Church for the past three years, is being transferred by Bishop James Mathews to Winchester.

Rev. Benedict and his family are on vacation for the month of August.

A church committee is meeting to consider candidates to succeed Rev. Benedict.

Donald Strong To Participate In White House Conference On Aging

Donald H. Strong, executive director of the Quincy Council on Aging, has been invited to join the Governor's Special Committee on Elderly Affairs and the White House 1971 Conference on Aging.

Mr. Strong has notified Louis B. Lyons, chairman of the Governor's Commission, that he is accepting the invitation.

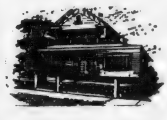
Among those serving on the Governor's Special Committee on Elderly Affairs planning the White House 1971 Conference on Aging will be Mrs. William Wolf of 38 Harrington Ave., Quincy.

Mrs. Wolf, who is president of the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens, has been an active member of the Golden Age Council of Greater Boston for 10 years, two of which she served as vice president. She has been president of the Adult Club of the Jewish Community Center, Quincy for 12 years.

Mrs. Wolf's areas of concern regarding the elderly are recreational, legislative and transportation.

President Nixon has called a White House Conference on Aging to be held the week of Nov. 28, 1971. Goal of the conference is to bring into being a more realistic and more comprehensive national policy for older-Americans.

It will be a citizens' conference, preceded by forums, hearings, meetings and other White House conferences at community and state levels. More than 1,000,000 Americans will take part in the preparations.



The 1971 conference format will include a three-year plan. The Prologue Year, 1970, will ask the older Americans to speak out on their needs as they see them, in forums, hearings and meetings in communities across the nation. Locally, the Quincy Council on Aging is planning such a forum to be held in the fall.

The Conference Year, 1971, will be devoted to working out policy recommendations, first in the community and State White House Conferences during the first half of the year. National organizations will also develop recommendations. These community, state and organization recommendations will be forwarded to the Technical Committees. New background papers will be drafted and these revised papers will provide the work base for the national White House Conference in November, 1971. From it will come the final and precise recommendations requested by the President for Federal, State and local government action and private and voluntary action.

The Post-Conference Year in 1972 will mark the follow-through, a plan of action for the 1970's. If the goals of the Conference are achieved, a national policy on aging will emerge from the Conference Year.

AIR POLLUTION

If you don't think air pollution is a problem, think how much harder it is on your heart and lungs. Your heart alone dilates under average conditions at the rate of 72 times a minute, 100,000 a day, 40,000,000 times a year, says the Massachusetts Medical Society.

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Fights...Or Fun Fests'

"To argue...or not to argue"...that's the question. The marriage where there is no argument...it must be very dull. Something is wrong in a marriage where communication is so minimal that neither a husband or wife express their opinions to each other. Silence in marriage is deadly...a deadly sin. Recently a wife said..."I've lived with him 12 years...but I don't know him...He just won't let me know him." Good healthy argumentation is one way people get to know each other. It should take place frequently...pleasurably. It is an indication of a mature male-female relationship.

Here was a verbal exchange which took place recently in the counselor's office:

Husband: "We've got to cut down on the telephone bill...these daily calls to your mother amounted to $73. last month. Let her call and put them on her bill.

Wife: "You're always telling me what I can't do...I'll call my mother any time I want to...besides you buy your precious mutual funds every month."

Husband: "But that's different...those funds are our savings for retirement...you are going to let me retire some day...aren't you?"

Wife: "I can think of many ways I'd rather spend my old age than with you."

Husband: "I'm not sure I want to spend any more of my present days with you."

Wife: "Then why do you?...I know why...you just want a maid...you feel big to have someone to make the beds...cook and clean for you. You're just a big fat mamma's boy." [She had a few additional words still unprintable.]

Husband: "If you worked as hard as I do on two jobs...with six hours sleep a night, you'd be looking to retirement too."

Wife: "You don't work hard...you just think you do...you just don't like to work...you're always complaining...and I get so tired of seeing your greasy hands and dirty work clothes."

Husband: "Well...I can't help that...that's my job...it's what puts the bread and butter on the table."

Now all this took place in the presence of the counselor...he could imagine how much more heated it would have been at home. They said that at times they scratch and hit each other too. Once she threw a cup of hot tea on him.

The counselor made some suggestions for their argumentation which turned their fighting into fun fests. Maybe they'll help you:

1. Attack the issue at hand not your partner. Notice how this couple left the subject completely...the $73 telephone bill was forgotten in their fight. They attacked each other...his manhood...his job...his hands...his clothes...his future plans for himself and his family. All this because he hauled in her mother in his attack. So the $73 issue was lost. Nothing was resolved.

2. Stay on the subject. They went from the $73 telephone bill...to her mother...to the mutual funds...to retirement...to her feelings of being a maid...to his image in her mind "mama's boy"...to his long hours. Nothing can be gained by hauling up other subjects before the first one is resolved.

3. Don't answer your own question...that's monologue. What you want is good dialogue...good exchange of ideas...possible solutions to the problem. Listen to each other. That's good argumentation.

4. Aim at a solution. Don't becloud the issue with past shortcomings...don't run away...don't try to make one right and the other wrong...don't be defensive...use facts..."LET'S REASON TOGETHER." That's good argumentation.

You've seen the cartoon..."My mind's made up...don't try to confuse me with the facts." The cartoon character is made to look stupid. So are we when we ignore reason in argument. In the above dialogue the original fact of a $73. telephone bill got lost.

Reason would have helped this wife to see that she was out of line piling up $73 worth of telephone calls to her mother. Reason would have helped this husband to see that this girl was lonely while he was working his long hours. We "reasoned together" that he could reduce his hours on the evening job...be home more...reduce her need to call her mother...and save money.

You probably don't have a $73 telephone bill...but how's your argumentation on the discipline of the children? Spiro Agnew? Sex frequentcy? Football week-ends soon to start? Vietnam? Churches? Your pet peeve? Try out my four rules. Turn your "fights" into fun fests.

By the way...wives...I'll tell you how to win an argument...speak softly and say..."You're right, Dear...you're so smart."

By the way...husbands...it's the relationship that counts...not winning the argument.

Four Quincy Residents Reappointed Notaries

Four Quincy men have been reappointed as a Notary Public, with terms to expire in 1977, announces Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren.

They are Rocco V. Liuzzi of 100 Fenno St., Wollaston; Wade M. Burnhauser of 56 Aberdeen Rd. and William J. Galarneaux of 94 Aberdeen Rd., both of North Quincy; and Milton Yakus of 1395 Quincy Shore Drive, Quincy.

McIntyre Commends Kennedy For Help

Senator Edward M. Kennedy has been commended by Mayor James R. McIntyre for helping override President Richard M. Nixon's veto of the education bill.

McIntyre pointed out that Quincy has 20,000 students, attending kindergarten to junior college.

"The 1970 budget of the Quincy Public Schools amounts to $15 million, and each year has been increasing at the rate of 15 per cent, causing a serious drain on the financial resources of the local taxpayer," McIntyre wrote.

"I am certain that our citizens who have children attending our school system are very much aware of your intercession and action on their behalf and fully appreciate the importance of your vote," McIntyre said.

Parkway Branch Reading Club Closes With Costume Parade

Children in red, white and blue hats, ribbons, banners and bows paraded on Furnace Brook Parkway for the closing program of the Summer Reading Club of the Parkway Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Costumes, made by the children, were in keeping with the summer theme, "America - Your Land and Mine."

Approximately 60 children were enrolled in library activities which included reading, a story hour, sing-along, and handcraft projects.

Prizes were awarded at a cookout held at the home of head librarian Mrs. Irene Musette of 40 Cross St. Mary DiMarco, Sheila Vallier, John Bryan and Mark Newell received awards for the most books read; Donna Shea and Walter Kilgallon, for perfect attendance.

Junior high club volunteer helpers receiving awards were John Chiavaroli, Elizabeth Hennessey, Anne Baccari and Karen Ciliberto. Karen Totten was awarded a prize for "most helpful volunteer"; Ann Pedranti, Peggy Burchill and Joyce Suikola were voted "most cooperative" students.

Miss Laurel Haapanen, substitute librarian, worked on the children's program.

Eight Quincy Men Listed In Fallout Shelter Directory

Eight Quincy men are listed in the latest National Directory of Fallout Shelter Analysts published by the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense.

They are among 508 Massachusetts residents who have successfully completed studies in this field, according to Director Allan R. Zenowitz of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Agency.

Of the Quincy men certified, five are registered professional architects or engineers, and three are non-registered.

Registered men are:

George W. Gasper of 21 Windsor Rd., Walter J. Hickey of 155 Huckins Ave., James T. McDonough of 32 Samoset Ave., Joseph A. Palmer of 120 Essex St., and William J. Walsh of 45 Post Island Rd.

Non-registered are Douglass D. Gladstone of 80 Havilend St., George R. Thompson of 41 Nightingale Ave., and Paul L. Verchinski of 261 Belmont St.

Tuition-free courses in fallout shelter analysis are given over a 15 week period by Prof. Carl H. Koontz of the Department of Civil Engineering, Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

John Free To Be Full-Time Faculty Member At ENC

John U. Free of 328 Billings Rd, Wollaston, will become a full-time faculty member at Eastern Nazarene College, Wollaston, next year in the department of physics, where he will serve as Assistant Professor.

He has taught part-time at ENC while pursuing doctoral studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He presently holds a research assistantship at MIT, where he is doing laboratory research for his doctoral dissertation in the field of solid state physics.

A 1964 alumnus of ENC, Professor Free is married to the former Jean Hansrote, Class of 1957.

A member of the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, he is a member of the Church Board and active in the Young Adult organization.

HN Post Reactivating

The Houghs Neck Legion Post is planning to reactivate its charter for the Sons of the American Legion, under direction of John Timcoe, Jr.

The programs, to be conducted by members of the new group, will include squadron meetings, parades, father-son outings, trips to points of interest, ballgames, fishing trips, etc.

To be eligible, a boy or young man must be the son, stepson, adopted son, or grandson of a Legionnaire, not necessarily a member of the Houghs Neck Post. Descendants of veterans killed in the various wars are also eligible.

An election will be held for officers of the organization.

Those interested may secure more information by calling Timcoe, at 361 Palmer St., Germantown, or writing him at the Post Home, 1116 Sea St., Houghs Neck.

Dist. Atty. George Burke Endorses Donahue

Norfolk County Dist. Atty. George G. Burke this week urged residents of Quincy to back Senate President Maurice A. Donahue for governor.

Burke, a former Quincy City Councillor, said that "only through a united effort can we hope to unseat Governor Sargent in November."

"If we want to elect a Democratic governor for the first time in eight years we should rally behind the convention endorsed candidate and nominate him in the primary, Burke declared.

"I urge all my friends in Quincy to go to the polls Sept. 15 and support Maurice Donahue, the nominee for Governor of the State Convention."

Dorothy Quinn, John Gillis 'Meet The Candidates' Guests

Miss Dorothy Quinn of West Quincy and John L. Gillis of Wollaston, running as a team for the Democratic nomination for State Representative from Wards 4, 5 and 6, were guests at a recent "Meet the Candidates" night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kalish of 19 Faxon Rd., North Quincy.

Among the neighbors and friends attending were several college students who will be voting for the first time.

The drug problem was among the national and local issues discussed by the candidates.

Frazier, Moore Attend Seminar

Ronald F. Frazier and Bernard C. Moore, Jr., executives of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce, recently attended week-long seminars at Syracuse University, sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

It was Frazier's second year in the Principles of Management program. Moore, who has attended seminars for nine years, received a special achievement certificate for three years attendance in the Post Graduate seminars.

His program dealt with "Social and Economic Forces" and "Law and Order."

Children's 'Mini-Gallery' Opens At Junior Library

The Thomas Crane Junior Library announces the opening of a "Mini-Gallery", a collection of framed art prints available for borrowing to holders of juvenile cards in Grade 3 and up.

The prints have been chosen to appeal to boys and girls in the elementary grades and the works of period and contemporary artists are represented.

They are available on loan for a two week period, to hang in the child's own room. The time of borrowing may be extended for another two weeks if so desired. A brief account of the artist or painting is attached to the back of the print.

The Mini-Gallery is an experimental project introduced by Mrs. Frances Hines, Supervisor of Children's Services, because of the great interest shown by the children in the month long exhibitions held in the Main Gallery.

Framed prints and original art works have long been available to Adult borrowers and the library is pleased to extend this service to the young people.

Recreation Roundup

DISTRICT I

Forbes Hill had a huge waterballoon fight in which everyone participated. Jane McGuill seemed to be the wettest. Doug Richardson, Mike Lewis, Angela and Paul Jackley, Debbie and John Flate and Suzanne Ellis packed lunches and went to the Trailside Museum. In the arts and crafts department at Stoney Brae, Kathy Thompson is continuing to produce master pieces. On Monday, we had a real football game – we even had uniforms.

At Wollaston a beautiful nature scene was made out of things collected right on the playground. Flower and fern plaques and turtle paper weights were also made. Shea Rink went on their annual trip to the Trailside and were lucky enough to have brave Judy Costello help in the snake demonstration. Shea came out in fourth place in the Junior Olympics with 18 points.

DISTRICT II

Congratulations to District II for its fine showing in the 1970 Junior Olympics. For the first time in many years, District II came out on top with 78 total points. Special congratulations to Montclair playground and its leaders for an excellent team effort in capturing the city title with 28 points. Squantum Playground should also be commended for its second place finish. At Myles Standish more gimp master pieces were made. Boy of the week at Mass Fields is Steve Horne. Squantum and Mass. Fields met on Friday for a joint hike and picnic to Treasure Island and a surprise motor boat ride to the boat house and a visit to Happy Acres.

DISTRICT III

With the approach of the fall football season, football fever has caught on at many of the playgrounds especially Perkins where they have been playing almost every day. LaBrecque has won all the boy categories in District III Junior Olympics. Arts and Crafts and Tennis are still favorites at Heron Road.

DISTRICT IV

One of the favorite activities at Faxon's Parent's night was spray painting murals on the paper covered sidewalks. The best and most creative team was Dolores Connors, Mary Ann Mullin and Ann Fornaro. Johnny Silver put on the play "Madman" at Whitwell St. A special thanks goes to Johnny for a job well done. Merrymount's Parent's Night and cook-out had a good turn-out of parents. Elm Street also had its Parent's Night complete with everything from races to a bike and costume parade. Some expert butterfly stitchers from Pond St. are Tricia Connor, Rhoda Gabriel, Michael Thorley and Cathy Jordan. Outstanding baseball players at Beechwood Knoll are "Joco" Hurley and "Pumpkin" Travers.

DISTRICT V

Beautiful gimp bracelets and key chains were made at Columbia by Charles Celluci, Rita Fabrezio and Mike DiBona. Maureen Cook aided greatly in Arts and Crafts this week by helping teach and start many stitches at Bradford. Claire Oliverio and Don DiCristofaro won the egg throwing contest at Fore River's Parents Night. Pollard's Whist Tournament still has the unbeaten combination of "Mouse" Zanoski and Jimmy Walker, with Tom Ford and Steve Duxbury strong challenges. Kincaide's special event was the Red Elephant Hat in the South Shore Bank Window with thanks to Mrs. Kelly, Maureen, and Mary Jo Campbell who did most of the work on it. At Faxon Park's Parents Night Cheryl Machado, 11, was crowned Miss Faxon Park 1970 by Charles Alongi, Frank Brillo and Barry Welch, of the Recreation Department staff.

DISTRICT VI

Recently Snug Harbor have been the victims of Louise's charcoal pencil. Janet Crowe, Ricky Henderson and Michael Cararelli have all had their portraits done. Kalah, Checkers and 21 are the most popular games at the Harbor View playground. At Quarterdeck's Talent Show, winners were Danny Hayes, Billy Russell and Gail Maskel.

Nine Teams Awarded Trophies By Recreation Department

Nine baseball, basketball and softball teams were awarded trophies in the Quincy Recreation summer program.

The awards were presented by Mayor James R. McIntyre and Miss Katherine G. McCoy, Park and Recreation Board secretary.

Shea Rink Midget Baseball City Champions, with Brian Buckley as leader, included Brian Bertoni, Paul Valantini, Paul Righini, Paul Kelly, Mark Neville, Dave O'Brien, Alan Belyea, Brian Green, Chris Erickson, Pete Ceriani, Ken Portman, Carman Rapucci, Bob Sweeny and Vinny Fraccastori.

Ralph Koelsch, Welcome Young leader, headed the Junior Boys' Baseball City Champions. They included Mark MacGinley, Ron Colan, Beaver Bonoli, Steve McKinnon, Eddie Coutts, Rich Moran, Paul Jackmauch, Jim MacGinley, Paul O'Malley, Billy O'Toole.

Steve Jacub led Montclair to the Junior Boys Basketball City Championships. Players were Steve Martinelli, Bob Coughlin, Gouch Grazier, Tom Wilkinson, Mike Meehan, Tom Callahan, Ed McElaney, Kris Furtney, Ken O'Sullivan and Robert Grazier.

Shea Rink, led by Brian Buckley, took the Senior Boys Basketball Champions. Players were Mike Marvel, Ken Furfari, John Regiannini, Co-Capt. Pete Bellotti, Co-Capt. Steve Mele, Dick Macchi, Robin Carreara Dave Barry, Ken Pike, Joe Lanen and John Orlando.

In girls' events, Atlantic with Paula Weidmann, leader, became Junior Girls Basketball City Champions. The team included Nancy Willard, Mary Quinn, Judy Abbruzzese, Susan Doran, Colleen Campbell, Kathy McSweeney and Jackie Adams.

The Welcome Young team, led by Karen Seghezzi, took the senior girls basketball championships. Team members were Sheila Bouill, Patti Koelsch, Eileen Therisalt, Donna Coutts, Dottie Weisse, Marianne Butts, Diane Larkin, Tina Lindberg, Kathy Livingston and Jane McClean.

Junior girls' softball city champions were from Massachusetts Field, led by Susan Palma. Participants were Ellen Moynihan, Carol Cunniff, Mary Ann O'Sullivan, Nancy Palma, Donna Shaw, Nancy O'Hare, Patricia Linehan, Ann Marie Hagan, Eileen Shaw and Nancy O'Toole.

Atlantic, led by Paula Weidmann, became Senior Girls' softball city champions. On the team were Judy Abbruzzese, Nancy Willard, Denise Bereszniewicz, Colleen Campbell, Gail Sturgis, Jeanne McSweeney, Kathy McSweeney, Mary Barron, Mary Quinn and Susan Doran.

Four Teenagers Having Ball Coaching Farm League Teams

Four West Quincy teenagers have had a ball ever since early spring as coaches for Farm League softball teams at the Curry Field.

Lou Tozzi of 602 Willard St. has been chief coach for the Farm League team for six to eight year old boys.

Coaches for the individual teams were Joe Jansky, John Guglielmi, Paul Zanolli and Andy Sferrezza.

When the regular team for 8 to 12 year olds disbanded for the summer, these teenagers decided they had made such strides in teaching the basic skills of baseball and sportsmanship to the youngsters that they would continue to work with them every Saturday morning through the summer.

Besides, they enjoyed their Saturday morning lessons.

The four coaches have arranged for several games with teams in Quincy having youngsters the same age. With a good part of their teams, they were present when Sam Mele visited Shea Rink in July to give lessons to area youngsters.

Where Did Summer Go?

Quincy, North Squads Report Monday

Where, Oh, where has the summer gone?

The schoolboy football season is just around the corner and Quincy and North Quincy, along with all other schools, will hold their first practice sessions Monday morning.

Hank Conroy will begin his seventh season as Quincy's head coach after enjoying his finest season, last fall since taking over the reins.

The Presidents will report at 8:30 Monday and will hold double sessions all next week.

Conroy announced the squad will work out daily from 8:30 and 10:30 a.m. and from 11:30 to 2 p.m. each day.

Ralph Frazier, starting his second season as North's head coach following a disappointing debut, will also hold double sessions next week.

The Raiders will practice each day from 8:30 to 10:30 and from 12 to 1:30.

North will have to work especially hard as it opens a week earlier than Quincy. The Raiders will host the new Weymouth South team Sept. 19 at Veterans' Memorial Stadium.

Quincy also opens against Weymouth South the following week at Weymouth's Legion Field.

A year ago Quincy had its best season since 1964. It finished 7-1-1 and tied Malden for the Greater Boston League championship with a 6-0-1 league record.

Although he lost many regulars, Conroy will benefit from another powerful sophomore team which went 7-0-0 last year and featured some outstanding running backs.

The Presidents' leader has the same assistants as a year ago, Gene Macomber, Art Mosher, John Bogan and sophomore coach Dave Burke, who has had amazing success with the sophs during the past several years.

Frazier, whose first North team had only a 2-7 record, will be better off than Conroy for returning starters. Last fall Ralph started three juniors in the backfield and used many other underclassmen more or less regularly.

North has a new assistant coach in Tom Fitzgerald, who, like Frazier, is a former Raider star himself. He replaces John Pierce as backfield coach and joins returning assistants Jack Bowes, Bill Pagnano and Ted Sadowski. Dick Meyer is again the ninth grade coach.

Frazier will also inherit some fine players from a strong sophomore team which was 6-2 last year under Sadowski.

Actually the Raider sophs lost only once to a sophomore team, their Quincy rivals. The opening game was played against the Revere junior varsity due to a schedule mixup.

Mae Butler, Mario Serafini Furnace Brook Golf Winners

In the weekly mixed Scotch Foursomes at Furnace Brook Golf Club, Miss Mae Butler and Mario Serafini had low gross score.

Mrs. Anthony Spinello and Lou Cugini were low net; Mrs. John Wilson and Ed O'Neill, second net; Miss Marie Corayer and John Donovan, third net; Mrs. Dennis Morrissey and Dolph Aimola and Mrs. William Rendle, Jr. and Charlie Kusser, tied for fourth net.

Mrs. Adolph Aimola was chairman.

Emil Chiminiello To Enter Bowling Hall Of Fame

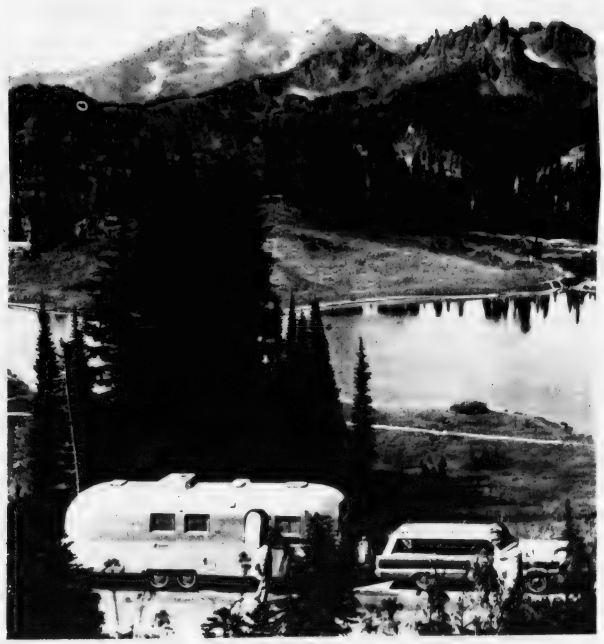
Quincy's Emil F. Chiminiello, world candlepin bowling champion and double record setter in 1948, enters the World Candlepin Bowling Hall of Fame Saturday, at Kennebunkport, Me.

Former Maine champion Ovide J. Caron, will also be honored at the seventh annual Maine Awards - World Bowling Council Hall of Fame Night at Shawmut Inn.

Chiminiello joins in the select Hall his brother, Francis, who died in 1945. One of seven bowling brothers from the Quincy area, Francis was world lane champion in 1940.

More spectacular than Emil's 1947 world title win over West Lynn's Lester [Buster] Perrone were world single and triple string records set Nov. 16, 1948, at Lynn's 20th Century lanes.

Competing for Mike Gangi's 20th Century team against Back Bay in the Lynn Intercity League, Chiminiello crayoned a middle string 202 and a 442 triple. He needed a 10 to top the 35-year-old mark of Harry [King] Cole. He came through with a spare and tacked six pins to it.



Chiminiello's world title and records meant less to him than his bowling benefit shows. He exhibited several times at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bedford, Mass., and rolled title and record successor Don Dwyer, Scituate, in Heart Fund matches.

Classy southpaw Dwyer boosted to 472 Chiminiello's three-string record.

Crowding 60, Chiminiello still cuts a sharp pin figure. He carries a 118 average in the Quincy Elks Bowling League, and recently appeared on the weekly televised bowling show.

Marshfield Fair Attracts 186,200

The 103rd Marshfield Fair attracted 186,200 persons during the eight-day run which closed Sunday.

A new all-time record of $1,145,086 for pari-mutuel handle records was set, according to Eben N. Briggs, president. The old 1969 record was exceeded by $86,530.

Gov. Francis Sargent, heading the list of distinguished visitors to the fair, termed it " definitely one of the finest fairs I have ever seen."

Top spot in the Grange Contest went again to Webster Grange of Marshfield.

Thomas Cook of Whitman defeated numerous contenders in the horseshoe pitching contest.

A further feature was the five and a half hour battle in the horse pulling contest with double the number of teams this year, as well as the largest entry in 4-H animal competition.

Children's Day also saw a tremendous crowd. Earlier in the week, lightning caused the curtailment of racing and did some damage to the main building.

Three On Dean's List.

Three Quincy students have been named to the Dean's list for outstanding scholastic achievement during the second semester at Wentworth Institute, announces Dr. H. Russell Beatty, president.

They are Michael R. Maurano of 77 Viden Rd., a student in Aeronautical and Space Engineering Technology program; John M. O'Brien of 151 Monroe Rd., a student in Civil and Highway Engineering Technology; and Ronald P. Pollara of 76 Plymouth St., a student in Electrical Engineering Technology.

Patrick McCormack Enlists In Army

Patrick J. McCormack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. McCormack, 10 Wadsworth St., North Quincy, has enlisted in the U. S. Army for guaranteed training in the Construction and Utilities field.

In addition, he selected Parachutist training as his second enlistment option.

On The Screen

ANGIE DICKENSON and ROCK HUDSON are the featured stars in ROGER VADIM's first American motion picture, "PRETTY MAIDS ALL IN A ROW"... Also in the cast of this MGM "black comedy" are veteran actors TELLY SAVALAS, RODDY McDOWELL, and KEENAN WYNN... The following could only happen in a small southern town. "MIDNIGHT COWBOY" was recently confiscated by the sheriff of Brownwood, Texas for being "hard-core pornography". Evidently the sheriff was mislead by the title of the film. He more than anything took the title to infer a cowboy serenading his horse under a full moon... And when it turned out to be anything but, well, the sheriff must have been shocked out of his self-righteous britches... For making damned fools out of themselves, those Southern Rednecks are in a class by themselves... PETER USTINOV is busy in Paris putting the final touches on his musical play, "R LOVES J"... RALPH NADER and CHRISTINE JORGENSEN are considered "too" controversial for JOHNNY CARSON's "TONIGHT" gab showcase... Each are on the "don't invite'em list"...

ERNEST BORGNINE and BETTE DAVIS go into production any day now in the motorcycle film, "BUNNY and BILLY"... For this role, BORGNINE was required to learn to ride a motorcycle... The last time these two talents joined forces was in the 1955 picture, "THE CATERED AFFAIR"... WALTER MATTHAU has the lead role in NEIL SIMON's celluloid "PLAZA SUITE"... PETER SELLERS and KIRK DOUGLAS are the other candidates in the running for the remaining two starring roles... ORAL ROBERTS and BILLY GRAHAM will be climbing into the video bigtime this coming fall with "specials" of their own... Evidently these latter day Elmer Gantrys' believe that television will offer them a better and more pursuasive outlet for their "old time religion" spiels... and more financially lucrative I may add... More than likely ROBERTS and GRAHAM took a cue from some of our more affluent, pancaked-imaged politicians who have found the small tube a handy way of beguiling the public...

What with all the reruns on the air, "THE GOLDDIGGERS" has developed into the most refreshing show of the short summer television season... JACK PALANCE turns in one of his better performances to date in the soon-to-be released, "MONTE WALSH"... Starring in the film along with PALANCE are LEE MARVIN and French heart throb JEANNE MOREAU... SIDNEY POITIER fizzled out badly in his latest release, "THEY CALL ME MISTER TIBBS!"... BILL SMITH as a bleach-blonded pyschotic killer, gives one of the most villanous portrayals ever captured on film. You can catch him doing his thing in the ROD TAYLOR starred, "DARKER THAN AMBER"... JACK KLUGMAN and TONY RANDALL are televisions new "ODD COUPLE" due for an ABC fall premiere... As soon as JANE FONDA raps up the filming of the New York based "KLUTE", she'll be hitting the college-circuited protest trail...

The most appealing aspect of "THE PEOPLE NEXT DOOR" is the sterling performance handed in by old pro ELI WALLACH... The rest of the cast are just so-so in a rather hard to believe story... Greek actress KATRINA HELMIS' next assignment is the lead opposite RICHARD HARRIS in the filming of Sophocles' "ANTIGONE". The statuesque Mediterranean beauty has two new films due for international release shortly - "THE DESERTER" and "NATASHA"... Whatever happened to SEAN CONNERY? Since his demise from the James Bond thrillers he hasn't done much film-wise... "2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY", is edging up towards the $15 million mark...

McCarthy, Capp To Appear At Rally Here Sept. 2

John J. McCarthy, Republican candidate for U.S. Senator will appear at a rally in his behalf Sept. 2 at 8 p.m. at the Woodward School auditorium, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy Center.

Al Capp, creator of the comic strip "Li'l Abner" will be a major speaker. Rep. Walter J. Hannon of Quincy will be master of ceremonies.

McCarthy, Commissioner of Administration and Finance under Governor Volpe, is presently operator of a professional management institute in Chatham. He has served in the past as a union steward, and held executive positions with Gimbels Stores and General Electric.

A retired Army Reserve Colonel, McCarthy has two sons, one a We st Point graduate and Viet Nam veteran, and the other an Annapolis graduate and Navy Lieutenant.

McCarthy, an outspoken supporter of President Nixon, says he seeks the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate because:

"The Republican Party badly needs a candidate who will take Teddy Kennedy on - and I mean really take him on, not play polemic pattycake with him," and beacuse of "my deep-rooted conviction that the President of the United States deserves the support of the party faithful in his attempt to extricate our Nation from the Vietnamese war with honor and dignity."

Rally Chairman is Col. Walter C. Fuller, 9 Oakridge Rd. Co-ordinator of the McCarthy Campaign for Quincy is Francis X. McCauley, 240 Manet Ave., and Leslie J. Molyneaux, 42 Pilgrim Rd., is assistant co-ordinator.

Nurse To Find It's A Small World

If Quincy Sun subscriber SP5 Nancy M. McMullin gets around to checking Ward A-3 records at 30th Field Hospital, Augsburg, Germany, her new Army assignment, she's in for a surprise.

She's going to find the name of George L. McMullin, III, her nephew, who was born there some 12 years ago.

George III, known as "Fritzi," is the oldest son of Major and Mrs. George L. McMullin, born while his parents were stationed at Augsburg with the Army.

Working in the obstetrical ward is an old story to Nancy, who was office nurse for Dr. Thaddeus Slomkowski of Quincy before enlisting in the Army three years ago. She was stationed at Fort Lewis, Washington before her recent transfer.

Her brother, Major McMullin, returned last week from Vietnam where he served with the "Green Berets", Special Services Division of the Army training Vietnamese for combat.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McMullin of 52 Gannett Rd., Adams Shore.

Brett Thanked For Assisting Vets

Rep. Joseph E. Brett has received a letter from Charles N. Collatos, Commissioner of Veterans' Services for Massachusetts, thanking him for his interest and consideration of veterans' problems.

"It is satisfying to know that veterans and their families can count on you to obtain and protect the benefits to which they may be entitled," Collatos wrote.

300 Placed In CAMPS Jobs

About 1,200 applicants of all ages registered with the Cooperative Area Manpower Planning System CAMPS, according to Donald H. Strong, executive director of the Council for the Aging and acting chairman of CAMPS.

More than 300 were placed in jobs.

"The college youth who worked on this program were interested and dedicated and made a valuable contribution to your youth," Strong wrote to Mayor James R. McIntyre in thanking him for his help.

David J. Barry Joins Army Signal Corps

David J. Barry, Jr., son of Mrs. Mary Barry, 134 Bates Ave., Quincy, has enlisted for electronics training in the U. S. Army.

David, a recent graduate of Boston Cathedral High School, selected the Fixed Station Technical Controller course conducted at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. Satisfactory completion of the 23 weeks course offers excellent working conditions and promotion opportunities.

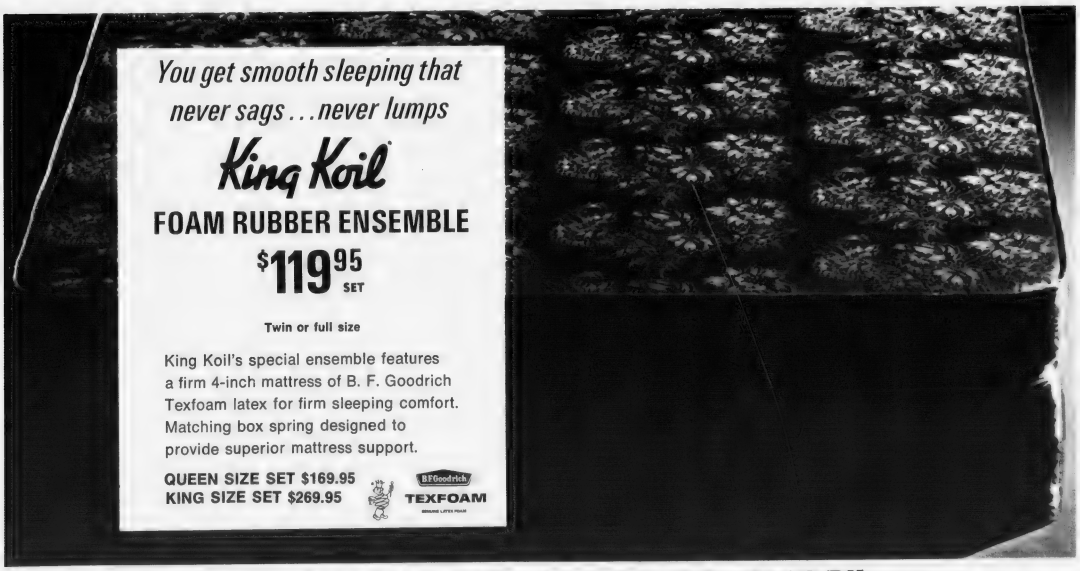
The most revolutionary sleep set in 40 years

King Koil Posture Bond

ORDINARY MATTRESS

For years the accepted way of making a mattress was by setting the springs in rows and wiring them together. These "wired together" springs give an uncomfortable hill and valley support and can squeak and break.



POSTURE BOND MATTRESS

New space age bonding methods eliminates the need for rigid rows and connecting wires. Posture Bond coils are placed in a "honey comb" pattern for better distribution of body support. Each coil responds individually and quietly to body movements.

It's a new experience in firm sleeping comfort. Underneath the beautiful damask cover of King Koil Posture Bond is a spring arrangement never before possible in a mattress and box spring. Independent coils are permanently bonded in a "honeycomb" pattern to give firm, comfortable body support evenly over the entire sleeping surface. Each coil responds individually to each body movement . . . firmly . . . quietly. Extra layers of cushioning materials are added to give you the ultimate in sleeping comfort. Posture Bond also features Flexedge non-sag border supports.

Critical Space Problem

School Enrollment Hits 17,000

Quincy's public schools re-open next Wednesday with a record high 17,000-plus enrollment and a critical classroom space problem.

Enrollment will be "about 200 more" than last year's 16,948, estimates School Supt. Dr. Lawrence Creedon.

This will bring the figure to about 17,150.

The Arthur D. Little study of the city's school facilities in 1966 indicated that Quincy's entire physical school plant was capable of adequately housing only 14,500 students.

It means that the city this fall will have an estimated 2,650 to 2,700 more students than the schools are capable of adequately housing, according to the Little Report findings.

Next Wednesday will mark the first time in the city's history that the public school enrollment has passed the 17,000 figure.

In addition to the record number of students, bells will ring Wednesday for between 850 and 875 classroom teachers including 127 new faces hired this summer.

"The growth is at the high school or secondary school level," Dr. Creedon told the Quincy Sun. "That is where the bulge is at the present time. Intermediate grades of junior high are heavy and they are now leveling off. They may be heavy for another three or four years. This means an increased number at high school.

"Kindergartens probably will be down about 100, an estimate based on spring registrations. "They were down a little bit last year, also."

Usually the increase is determined by families moving into Quincy, Dr. Creedon continues:

"Quincy is attractive to young couples with school age children moving in from South Boston and other areas like that -- looking for moderately priced homes."

"We have increased our elementary staff by about 10 or 12 teachers, the entire teaching staff by 25, working slowly to reduce the ratio of students to teachers and to meet state standards. We are a little high in both areas as against the state evaluation," Dr. Creedon said.

In his 1969 department report, Dr. Creedon declared:

"Looking to the future there are many critical problems facing the Quincy Public Schools. There is a continuing need to make all learning experiences that young people are exposed to as relevant and as individualized as possible.

"There is a corollary need to involve the students themselves as much as possible in the decision making process that ultimately results in the educational program that each one will experience during his 13 years of schooling.

"There is a growing crisis relative to needed school construction. In 1966 the Arthur D. Little report indicated that the entire physical plant of the Quincy Public Schools was capable of adequately housing 14,500 students. By the end of 1969 just under 17,000 students were enrolled."

That would be 2,500 more students than the City's schools are capable of adequately

TOMATO TREE--Antonio Panarelli, 77, of 47 Atherton Street, stands beside a more than six-foot tall tomato "tree", one of 235 in his home garden, and picks some of his two-pound beauties. [Quincy Sun Photo by Don Newell]

On Quincy 'Farm'

'Mr. Green Thumb' Grows 'Em Big

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Would you believe – two-pound tomatoes grown within four blocks of the Quincy Sun office?

A flourishing garden with more than a dozen crops within a half mile of Quincy Square?

Antonio Panarelli, 77 years, his wife and family can point with pride to his 90-foot by 60-foot "farm" at 47 Atherton St.

There are 235 assorted tomato plants the prime crop. At least one is more than six-feet high and the average yield is half a bushel to a plant.

That's not all. There are rows of corn, a potato patch, scallions the size of onions, onions larger than baseballs, green and red peppers, chicory, escarole, Swiss chard, beets, cucumbers, squash, herbs like basil and parsley – and two fruit-bearing fig trees!

Mr. Panarelli retired six years ago after 30 years as a blacksmith and toolmaker at the shipyard.

But he hasn't stopped working. The garden, a hobby which pulled him out of bed at 5 a.m. during his working years, now claims his waking hours full-time.

"He takes care of it like a baby," Mrs. Panarelli claims.

'Tender Loving Care' pays off.

"Three years ago I put in a load of manure. Nothing since. No fertilizers," Mr. Panarelli explained. "I raise the tomatoes from my own seeds - tomatoes dried in the sun. And I weed all the time."

Tomato seeds are planted in March in several large beds near the house, framed in concrete with hinged glass covers. These are raised on warm days, lowered for protection at night and on colder days.

In late May, Mr. Panarelli transfers his now sturdy tomato plants to the garden, bracing them with small stakes. As the plants grow, the stakes are replaced with foot-high sticks, and later

Who Will Succeed Him?

Judge Kenneth Nash Ends 52-Year Jurist Career

Judge Kenneth L. Nash retired this week closing out a distinguished 52-year career as a jurist, and speculation continued to mount as to who will succeed him.

Among those being mentioned for appointment as the next presiding justice of Quincy District Court are:

Dennis F. Ryan, of Wollaston, clerk of the Quincy court for the past 17 years; Atty. Edward H. Libertine of Braintree: Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr., of Quincy, former president of the Quincy Bar Association and Christopher Armstrong, Gov. Sargent's chief legal counsel.

Ryan is a Democrat and the others are Republicans.

Rep. Joseph E. Brett [D-Quincy], disclosed to the Quincy Sun that he has sent a letter to Gov. Sargent urging the appointment of Ryan.

Brett said he has a letter in reply from Sargent in which the Governor said he will give "careful consideration" to Ryan.

"Attorney Ryan has a distinguished career as a member of the bar and I am sure his appointment to fill this vacancy will reflect great credit upon you."

The South Shore Constables Association has also written Sargent recommending the appointment of Ryan.

Political observers think Gov. Sargent will probably not make the appointment until after the Nov. 3 election.

A Weymouth native and life-long resident, Judge Nash had served on the bench 52 years, 37 as presiding justice of Quincy District Court when he hung up his robe Tuesday at age 82.

He was one of the state's most respected and best known jurists.

The esteem in which he was held was evident in 1963 when Gov. Endicott Peabody, a Democrat, appointed Judge Nash, a Republican, as the first chief justice of Massachusetts' 72 district courts.

Judge Nash served three terms as a state representative and two as a senator between 1913 and 1918. In the latter year he was named special justice of the Quincy court by Gov. Samuel McCall at the young age of 30. In 1933 he was named presiding justice by Gov. Joseph B. Ely.

A Brown University and Boston University Law School graduate, he played major league baseball with the Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Cardinals from 1912 to 1914 before starting his political career that led him to becoming one of the State's all time prominent jurists.

Brett To Re-file Flooding Bill

Rep. Joseph E. Brett will file again in the 1981 session of the legislature a bill to alleviate and correct flooding problems in West Quincy, Wollaston and Quincy Center.

Brett expressed disappointment that legislation he filed earlier in the year died in committee during the closing hours of the 1970 legislative session.

Brett said his bill, which called for the appropriation of one million dollars to correct conditions along Furnace Brook and Black's Creek, had been approved by the Committee on Urban Affairs in April, by the House Committee on Ways and Means July 8, and received unanimous approval by the House of Representatives on July 13.

The measure was then referred to the Senate Committee on Ways and Means where it died from inaction as the legislature closed down its session for the current year.

Washington Report:

The Time Has Come For Health Security

By SENATOR EDWARD M. KENNEDY

If one thing is clear in the United States of 1970, it is that health care is the fastest-growing failing business in the nation--a 63 billion dollar industry that fails to meet the need of our people. Today, more than ever before, we are spending more on health care and enjoying it less.

In spite of our vaunted research and technology, unequalled by any other nation in the history of the world, America is an also-ran in the delivery of health care to our people.

We trail 12 other nations in infant mortality, 17 other nations in life expectancy for males, 10 other nations in life expectancy for females.

There is not a person in Massachusetts who has not felt the burden of the soaring cost of medical care. There is not a family in Massachusetts that does not live in fear of sickness and ill health, and the very real prospect of financial ruin because of serious illness.

Our current health crisis cuts across all political, social, economic and geographic lines. It affects rich and poor, black and white, old and young, urban and rural alike.

Last week, to stem the rising tide of deterioration in the quality of our health care, I introduced legislation in the United States Senate to create a Health Security Program, capable of bringing the same high quality health care to every citizen in the nation. The bill will do two things: it will create a system of national health insurance, and it will use the insurance program to bring about major improvements in the organization and delivery of health care.

The United States is the only major industrial nation of the world without a national health service or a system of national health insurance. Some say that national health insurance won't work unless we first have an enormous increase in health manpower and facilities and a revolution in the delivery of health care. I reply that until we begin moving toward national health insurance, neither Congress nor the medical profession will ever take the basic steps that are essential to improve the system.

Without national health insurance to galvanize us into action, we will simply continue to patch the present system beyond any reasonable hope of survival.

The private health insurance industry is failing us. It fails to control costs. It fails to control quality. It provides partial benefits not comprehensive benefits; acute care, not preventive care.

Despite massive sales of health insurance by thousands of private companies competing with each other, health benefits pay only about one third of the total cost of health care, leaving two thirds to be paid out-of-pocket by the patient at the time of illness or as a debt thereafter.

I believe that every citizen has a right to good health care. Our federal, state and local governments have the obligation to guarantee that this right can be exercised in an effective way.

We do not need a "socialized system" in which the government owns and operates the hospitals and employs the doctors. What we do need is a closer working partnership between the public and private sectors, to insure the wisest possible distribution of services, and to achieve the reforms so urgently needed in each of the three basic aspects of our health care system--organization, delivery and financing.

We cannot repeat the mistakes of Medicare and Medicaid. We know that health insurance cannot simply be a financing mechanism. Instead, we must use the insurance program as a catalyst to change the system.

Thomas Paine declared at the founding of the American republic, "Give me a lever, and we shall move the world." I say, give us the lever of national health insurance, and we shall move the medical world and achieve the reforms that are so desperately needed.

Letters to the Editor

Enjoys 'Poet's Corner'

Editor, Quincy Sun:

I have been reading the Quincy Sun and have enjoyed reading the various types of articles and community news. Dr. Knox's articles have taught me a lot about life. I especially enjoy reading the Poet's Corner of the paper. The poems have been so good that I have started a collection of poems.

In the last few issues of the Quincy Sun I have read the poems by Jeanie DiBona of Quincy. I hope she continues to compose much more of her excellent poems in the Quincy Sun.

Many people, I'm sure, enjoy writing poetry as well as reading poetry. Don't you think it would be a good idea to expand the Poet's Corner to a Poet's Page?

I hope you think about the above idea.

STATE OF THE STATE

by Governor Francis W. Sargent

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

In January of this year, addressing the Legislature, I said, "Today's auto insurance system is a failure. I shall work to produce a better system--for this is the year to do something about auto insurance."

I did what I said. The 'no-fault' auto insurance reform bill is now law in the Commonwealth.

I worked with the Legislature to produce this better system. I did not sponsor the plan. I did not attempt to take credit for it. I joined forces with those both Democrat and Republican who sponsored this long overdue reform of our compulsory auto insurance system.

Passage of Chapter 670 of the Acts of 1970, the modified no-fault insurance plan, makes Massachusetts the nation's first testing ground for a revolutionary new concept in automobile coverage.

"Massachusetts has waited nearly 30 years for this better system of auto insurance. . ."

Here are some highlights of the legislation:

- It eliminates the idea that someone must prove someone else was at fault in an accident;
- Permits an injured party to collect from his own insurance company up to $2,000, thus covering most medical expenses and most loss of wages. Most important, to collect without delay;
- Reduction of 15 per cent in present compulsory premium costs;
- A merit-rating system that gives safe drivers discounts on auto insurance.

The advantages in all of this are obvious. Faster settlement of claims. Less red-tape. Less court action. Lower premiums. and reform, in earnest, of this country's most expensive system of compulsory auto insurance. . .

The no-fault plan is now law. But it contained certain extra provisions that caused major insurance companies to announce they could not live with the changed bill, that some would be forced to quit Massachusetts.

They objected to two features of the legislation:

(A) Provision for a 15 per cent reduction of ALL forms of auto insurance, including compulsory;

(B) Provision for indefinite renewal of insurance contracts to any individual regardless of the number of accidents and claims.

I cannot agree with the first objection. Lower rates are long overdue and legislation was submitted by me empowering the Commissioner of Insurance to act to insure continued coverage for all our residents, as well as the power to sustain cuts in premium costs.

The second objection, automatic renewal, is one which I uphold. It is bad legislation. It was why I asked the Legislature to override this provision, excluding only those drivers over 65 years of age who clearly need special protection against refusal to renew.

The future of this reform of compulsory auto insurance remains uncertain in some respects. The insurance companies can make good on their threat to leave the state. But I cannot govern this state merely on the basis of any hope, great or small. I must act. I will act.

If the insurance companies make good on their threats, if they turn their backs on the people of this state, I will call the Massachusetts Legislature back into session.

I have directed the Commissioner of Insurance to develop plans for a State Insurance Fund. Such a Fund would allow drivers to buy adequate insurance to protect themselves and others.

I do not want to take this step. I WILL take that step if it becomes necessary. . .

Massachusetts has waited nearly 30 years for this better system of auto insurance. I will not allow any vested group to stand in the way of securing its benefits. My job is to protect the people of this state. I will continue to do that job.

Main, Branch Libraries Resume Saturday Hours Sept. 12

The Thomas Crane Public Library, including Adams Shore, Atlantic, North Quincy and Wollaston branches, will resume Saturday hours on Sept. 12, announces Director Warren E. Watson.

The Atlantic branch hours will be 1 to 5 p.m., and the main library and larger branches will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays. Saturday hours for the Parkway branch will resume Oct. 3.

The junior library section of the main library will be open until 9 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays beginning Sept. 14.

NAVY'S NEWEST--The amphibious assault support ship USS Portland sails from Quincy Shipbuilding division of General Dynamics for Boston Naval Shipyard where she was turned over to the Navy. The 562-foot Portland, is the first of four in the Navy's new dock landing ship [LSD] class built at Quincy. She is scheduled to join the Atlantic Fleet Amphibious Force.

Transportation Needed For Food Pickups

Again a plea is being made for transportation for Quincy residents eligible to receive food commodities, but unable to pick them up.

Of 2,000 eligible residents, only some 350 are using the service.

Many elderly and disabled persons cannot get to the distribution center at 85 Sumner St. Mothers with large families also find it difficult to pick up food.

Since distribution is limited to only Monday through Thursday of the third full week each month, quantities of food involved are cumbersome. Some residents living nearby cannot carry the load back to their homes.

The hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Sept. 21-24 are the next distribution dates.

Persons willing to provide transportation, either in the morning or afternoon on any of these days, may call the Welfare Office at 25 School St., Tel. 472-6380. Help during any month will be appreciated.

It's 'Crazy Day' Monday For Southwest Quincy

The fourth annual "Crazy Days" of the Southwest Community Council will open with a children's costume parade on Labor Day.

The parade will form at 9:30 a.m. on Roberts St. to march, accompanied by the Morrisette Post color guard and St. Thomas More Drum and Bugle Corps, to Kincaide Park.

The day's activities will include drills by the St. Thomas More Corps, games and contests, refreshments.

Judges will include Mayor James R. McIntyre, Dr. Charles Dierf, Mrs. Marjorie Doolin, Rev. James Kimmell of Trinity Lutheran Church and Mrs. Alice Kowilcik.

A baseball game is scheduled for early afternoon, and there will be a rock group to entertain teenagers.

The Crazy Day Committee includes Ernest E. Falbo, president; Tony Prezioso, John Kelly, Kathy Clarke, Earle MacLeod, Alice Smith, Sam Kelsey, Marion Rooney and Margaret Aristide. Cooperating are the Quincy Police Department, Quincy Park and Recreation Department and the Mayor's office.

Wollaston Garden Club Expands Enviornmental Control Program

The Civic Beautification and Conservation Committee of the Wollaston Garden Club is assisting interested youngsters in becoming acquainted with environmental control and preservation.

Earlier in the spring, a program was introduced to the Wollaston Elementary School and St. Ann's School. Because of the favorable response, this effort will be expanded further during the fall and will be offered to all Quincy's elementary schools.

A film, "Heritage of Splendor", has been made available to the Wollaston Garden Club for the months of October and November and will also be included in the program.

With the assistance of the film on litter, it is hoped that this effort will acquaint youngsters with environmental control and preservation and its application to Quincy.

Ward 2 Candidates Night Sept. 8

A Candidates' Night will be held Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. by the Ward 2 Civic Association at the Fore River clubhouse as a part of its regular meeting.

State and local candidates have been invited to speak.

James W. Lyons, president, will preside.

Brett Seeks Check On Speeders

A periodic check of speeding vehicles on Billings Rd between Parker School and Beach St. is being asked by Rep. Joseph E. Brett.

Brett has written to Police Chief Francis X. Finn at the request of area residents who are "deeply concerned that a tragedy may occur if nothing is done to correct the abuses."

Dr. John Foley Luncheon Guest Of Licensing Board

Dr. John T. Foley was the luncheon guest of the other four members of the Quincy Licensing Board on Tuesday after his final meeting as a member of the board.

Licensing board members include City Clerk John M. Gillis, Fire Chief Edward F. Barry, Police Chief Francis X. Finn and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, treated him to a farewell dinner at the Red Coach Grill in Braintree.

Dr. Foley, a member of the Licensing Board by virtue of his office as City Health Commissioner, will start a sick leave Sept. 7 prior to resigning at the end of the year.

He is being succeeded by Dr. Alfred V. Mahoney.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Difference Between Day, Evening Weddings

Q. What hour of the day determines the difference between a day wedding or an evening wedding?

A. The dividing line between an afternoon wedding and an evening wedding is 6 o'clock. Twelve thirty o'clock is the dividing time for afternoon weddings. Weddings are usually scheduled on the hour or half hour. The most formal hours are decided by your religion and the community you live in.

Q. Who does the bridegroom select for his ushers?

A. There should be one usher for every 50 guests. The best man and ushers are selected from the grooms friends. A brother or at least one close relative of the bride should be included. The bridegroom also appoints the head usher. He is usually a relative of the bride or someone who knows the local guests.

Q. I know the number of ushers selected is determined by the number of guests attending the wedding. How is the number of bridesmaids determined?

A. There is no set rule on this. It depends on the size and type of wedding you plan, and the number of friends and relatives you wish to honor. An even number of bridesmaids plus the honor attendant is ideal. This is not a hard and fast rule. If it means omitting a good friend then by all means have an uneven number. You may have the first girl walk by herself and the remaining girls walk in pairs or if it is a small group have each girl walk alone.

Q. Everyone knows where the mothers sit but grandmothers are never mentioned. Is there a special place for them?

A. With the exception of the bridal couples parents, grandparents are usually the only ones to have reserved seats. The aisle seats of the second row are saved for them. Being the special people they are we suggest they go down the aisle just before the grooms parents. First the grooms grandparents seated on the right and then the brides grandparents seated on the left. Be sure your ushers will recognize them either by meeting them beforehand or by a good description. Of course the grandmothers will be wearing corsages and that immediately designates them as someone special.

Mini...Maxi...Midi! What's the Best Length for You?

Since Paris announced the longuette look for Spring '70, the question in every woman's mind has been "Now what? Should I wear the mini..maxi...or midi length? How do I decide which is the right fashion look for me?"

Helen Wolf, Fashion Coordinator at Popular Club Plan, a 22-year-old mail order retail organization serving more than one million families in the northeast, suggests the answer is a Fall wardrobe of multiple lengths.

"At last women have been given the freedom to choose the fashion look they prefer. Fashion leaders and fashion magazines no longer dictate one fashion length these days. The truth is, all lengths are right for you...it's your choice to make. Some women might choose the midi. Others, the mini. Or the maxi. But most women will find all three lengths equally important for Fall", Mrs. Wolf reports.

"Fashion designers are showing varying lengths in their Fall collections...below...at...and above the knee. Of course, the new fashion message for Fall is the midi length. But short skirts take on interesting new looks for Fall, too. Short skirts are wedded to opaque stockings in the same color family as the skirt. The look is an extended short skirt. Not a midi. Not a mini. It's a whole new look...that's as exciting as the midi is new", she added.

There are a few rules to follow when adding the new midi length to your wardrobe. If you're short, you'll want to wear the midi with a lot of leg showing. Because a long skirt makes short legs appear shorter, a midi dress that buttons down the front, or a front-slit midi skirt will give you the longer look you want. At the same time, it shows more leg...coming and going.

In all midi fashions, the waistline is most important to the longer look, too. It lends a young, girlish touch to an otherwise old, dreary look. [If you have a waist problem, girls, start those side bends right away...the midi is here.]

WHICH ONE FOR YOU? These three lengths are all fashion right. You should select the one to match your mood, your way of life. From the left: Fur collared midi coat heralds the return to elegance. Curly Spanish Lamb gives you a lush look to this classic midi coat. Tunic and dress outfit is a plaid-and-plain interplay coordinating a plaid tunic with solid dress. Checked suit is chic interpretation of a Paris-inspired classic.

Now, let's say you've decided to try the new lengths. What's your best midi fashion buy? The midi skirt. It's a good 'first' fashion, because you'll team the midi skirt with a new blouse or any blouse you already have in your wardrobe...and you've the latest fashion style! You don't have to make a big fashion investment, [like buying a midi dress or suit], to see if the midi length is for you. A midi skirt fits right into your present wardrobe of minis and maxis, too.

"Remember", Mrs. Wolf, adds, "The mini remains with us. And the maxi is still going strong as a romantic look in coats and dresses for at-home or on-the-town. Now the midi is here to put greater 'mixability' into your fashion closet. There's room in your wardrobe for several fashion lengths. Don't be afraid to go where fashion leads. It's the midi look for the '70's. Buy it. Try it. Make it part of your new wardrobe in fashion lengths."

The things that I prize most-
And hold with priceless worth,
Really mean much more to me
Than any treasure on Earth.

Light of the Azure skies,
Comfort of the dewy grass,
Peace of the silent Hills,
Shadows of clouds that pass.

Shelter from the leafy trees,
And the blessing from a shower
That washes down the world
And brings fragrance to a flower.

And best of all as I grow older,
Most precious is the prize -
Of friendships made along the way
And Love from my children I see yes.

Make This Meat Loaf In A Hurry

When your hectic schedule permits little time for meal preparation, get in the swing with a zingy meatloaf. The flavor is reminiscent of the one Mother used to make, but all of the time-consuming steps are eliminated. Use a new preblended seasoning mix made just for meatloaf. Mix, shape and pop in the oven—it really is a short cut.

Short-Cut Meatloaf

1 package Lawry's Meat Loaf Seasoning Mix
1½ cups water
2 pounds ground beef*

Blend Meat Loaf Seasoning Mix with water. Add ground beef. Combine lightly but thoroughly with a fork. Lightly pack into a 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan or shape into a loaf in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a 375°F. oven 1 to 1¼ hours. Allow to stand 10 minutes before slicing.
Makes 6 to 8 servings.

*A combination of beef, pork, pork sausage or veal may be used.

Who is Mowing Your Lawn?

If you received a lawn mower for your anniversary, watch out--it's probably time for you to go on a diet. Nothing less than a new black negligee or a night on the town should be yours for this festive occasion.

Chances are if you are the one who is making the rounds of your lawn, your husband figures a little exercise won't hurt his "little woman."

Sometimes gestures speak far more loudly than words. We won't even mention pictures 'cause who has photos taken when they are overweight. And when the gesture comes in the form of gifts better designed for the boy next door or your teenage son, better take heed and find yourself a realistic eating plan to help you look better and feel better.

And I promise you this--there won't be any lawn mowers in your future when you become a little "little woman."

If you have any questions regarding dieting, or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

HEARTENING STATISTICS

Has the U.S. turned the corner in its fight to prevent early death from heart disease? Yes and no. The American Heart Assoc. reports that the death rate from all cardio-vascular diseases for people under 65 has dropped by 20 percent since 1950.

But the big killer, heart attack, is down only 2.3 percent in the same period. And that decrease is entirely due to a lower death rate in women. A man is more likely to die of a heart attack today than he was 20 years ago.

On the brighter side, the Association reports a huge decrease in the death rate from strokes - [down 35 percent for people under 65] and diseases caused by high blood pressure [down 63 percent].

Cardio-vascular disease still remains our biggest killer by far. Over one million Americans died of it last year.

HELP ME TO HELP YOU!

PAUL T. GALLAGHER

I am officially announcing to the people in WARDS 4, 5 and 6 my candidacy for STATE REPRESENTATIVE. On their behalf, I will represent them to the best of my ability and with their welfare foremost in my mind.

I am a carpenter by trade and I do not deny that I hope my appeal and support shall come from the citizens who are taxed beyond endurance and expected to carry 75% of the unrealistic tax programs of this City and State. Though I dislike labels, I suppose I am a middleclass moderate who knows through experience, like yourselves, what it is like to feel the money pinch and what it is like to have to work two jobs to make ends meet.

I have been campaigning for a year now and honestly feel that I have the support of a great many voters in my area who are ready for a change. Although I have no prior experience in public office, I feel this is to my advantage. My thinking is new, unspoiled by defeat or changed by compromise. In short, I consider myself a maverick because I let no group or organization influence or shape my thinking.

What is needed today is a man not afraid to speak up on all unpopular issues and to stand squarely one way or the other. We live in an age of change in every facet of our lives. We can make it difficult or easy depending on the wisdom of the voters. I have faith in their wisdom and their ability to see through the rhetoric that has dulled the majority of voters to either party.

We cannot look backward. What was done or not done by your past representatives and current representatives has little bearing on my campaign. What it really boils down to is, I can do a better job - I know it, those who know me, know it and in the weeks ahead I hope to convince all the voters personally of this fact. I look forward to the opportunity of meeting as many voters in WARDS 4, 5 and 6 as possible.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Charles H. Wickens

Labor Day will be a day for concern, instead of a time for parades and picnics for many people. Through the years, labor has seen changing times, changing conditions, changing requirements. In primitive days, man's muscles and hand skills spelled labor. The introduction of machinery brought changes. One of the most revolutionary changes came about when Henry Ford set out to put the world on wheels. He virtually did so inmaking morethan 15 million model T's. His change to an assembly line procedure obsoleted skills, but it rolled out a fondly nicknamed Tin Lizzie every minute against previous production time of more than 12 hours per car.

In today's computeration and automation, monster machinery obsoletes more skills, devours more jobs. This is viewed as a dragon of labor evolution, a Frankenstein of man's making which weakens a man's might for the right to work. The Biblical parable of the five talent, two talent and one talent man is beginning to show special significance. It may perhaps provide the only answer to the problem. . .

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Confidence In Counseling'

Twenty-five years ago I was Chaplain for the 509th Composite Group while it was in the last stage of training to drop the atomic bomb on the two Japanese cities. Only the few top officers knew what was going on in the "inner sanctums" but we were told that this was the ultimate weapon which would end the war.

During this last stage of preparation before leaving the States I counseled with many men and their families concerning the impending separation...the hopes and fears they felt...the practical arrangements that needed to be made...their inward brokenness of the indefinable suffering and grief at separation.

One situation involved a key man trained to drop the A-bomb. He was in trouble...involved with another man's wife...and the threat of arrest was being held over his head. I wanted to protect him by reporting the situation to the commanding officer...and avoid further trouble. But I couldn't...my hands were tied. What tied them? The first rule of the counselor: CONFIDENCE. All I knew had come to me in confidence. At last the case broke wide open. The legal officer called me..."Who's side are you on. Chaplain," he accused. I stood my ground. I told him I hold sacred privileged conversations. I could not break that confidence which had been entrusted to me...even though the "government had poured hundreds of thousands of dollars into the training of this man."

This was my Number 1 rule then...it is now...and shall continue to be...CONFIDENCE in counseling is a must. It is so with every counselor worth his salt.

Anonymity in seeing a counselor is important to people. Most people don't want friends and neighbors to know they are having marital trouble. They don't want them to know they are "going for help". Of course, there are some people who like to parade their problems...and bore people with the intimate details of their mal-adjustment. But usually people are sensitive to their failures and want to avoid exposure. Counsels' offices are often located in buildings with other professional people for this reason...so that when they go for help no one knows whether they have a kidney problem...dental problem...legal problem...emotional problem...or marriage problem.

A good counselor keeps their confidence...and protects their anonymity as far as possible. He encourages the patient to talk out the whole story...however frustrating it has been...however shameful it has been...because in so doing the patient feels some relief and his counselor is better able to be helpful if he knows the whole story. You must level with your counselor...for your own sake. If you can't trust him to keep your confidence, you shouldn't go to him in the first place. He won't say..."Your wife tells me thus and so"...nor "Your husband says..." for these are a break of confidence with the other partner. It may make for a slower result...but it insures each person that he/she can say anything without it being revealed.

While increasing numbers of men go to counselors...some still hesitate because they think it unmanly to reveal to anyone...even the professional...that he couldn't handle some problem in his own life. When this happens the situation usually worsens...his wife becomes increasingly unhappy and he does too. More and more quarrels...more and more frustrations...more and more resentments...more and more feelings of unworthiness...more and more loss of love...more and more insecurity as a man/woman. Assurance of confidence is helpful to the person in his decision to seek professional help.

After a while the man may turn to another woman...perhaps with the same unsolved emotional problem...or the woman to another man...or they may turn to drink...or work...or back to a parent. Now their lives are more messed up...there is more they feel like hiding. But hiding will not solve problems.

As with an aching tooth, the sooner one gets to the dentist for correction of the cause the less pain and easier repair. So with the emotions and marital relationship conflict... the sooner corrected the better.

Don't fear exposure...that's the good counselor's first rule: CONFIDENTIAL and understanding concern.

ENC Students Receive $5,050 In Scholarships

Grants totaling $5,050 to four students at Eastern Nazarene College are announced by Dr. Thomas H. Englund, chairman of the scholarship committee and acting chairman of the board of directors for the Evangelical Committee for Urban Ministries in Boston [ECUMB].

This is the first time awards to black students of the Boston area have been made to Eastern Nazarene students, according to Rev. Robert Helfrich, dean of students who was instrumental in securing the funds, made available by ECUMB on a limited basis.

Recipients of the grants are Miss Jossie White, a freshman [$1,000]; Miss Roslyn A. Gibson, a freshman [$1,275]; Miss Jennie Archer, a sophomore [$1,500] and Miss Valdace V. LeVarity, a junior [$1,275].

Funds are to be divided between the fall and spring semesters and the January term.

ON TARGET FOR SURVIVAL, INC.–Mrs. Paul Crossen of 60 Highfield Rd., Merrymount, aims for candles at a carnival held by children in her backyard to benefit Survival, Inc.'s planned drugs treatment center. Lined up are patrons and committee members, Steve Currier and Steve Coleman customers; Neal Sullivan, Judy Cappadona, Noreen Guest and Sue Coleman of the committee; Ellen Coleman and Mary Braman, customers; Sharon O'Leary and Jean Crossen. A check was presented to Joseph Whiteman, Survival, Inc. fund-raising co-chairman, representing $120. in nickels and dimes.

Two Special Events Raise $1,500 For Survival, Inc. Fund

Survival, Inc. will benefit by more than $1,500 from two recent fund-raising events held for its proposed drugs treatment center.

"A Night at the South Shore Music Circus," with Mrs. Anthony Colucci as chairman, netted between $500 and $600 from sale of tickets and donations, reports Mrs. Joseph Whiteman, women's organizer.

"A Night at the Foxboro Racetrack", sponsored by the Cyril P. Morrisette American Legion Post and arranged by Pres Hobson, general manager, may show a profit of more than $1,000.

Races at the track were named by Survival, Inc. members for organizations who are actively supporting the group and its campaign. They are: Wollaston Mothers Club, whose members are working with Mrs. Whiteman; Merrymount Association, where area children held a fund-raising carnival; Altrusa Club, first service club to contribute a $100 donation, The Patriot Ledger, Quincy Sun and WJDA, news media; Rotary Club, "For God and Country" [American Legion motto]; Survival, Inc.; and the Cyril P. Morrisette Post.

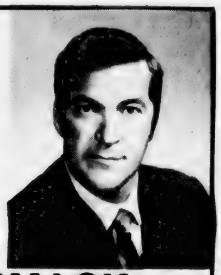
Richard Walsh Receives $500 Scholarship



Richard J. Walsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Walsh of 146 Elmwood Ave., Wollaston, has received a $500 scholarship awarded by the Catholic Association of Foresters, a fraternal organization with social and spiritual programs.

Presentation was made to Richard, an honor student graduating this year from Boston College High School, by Msgr. Harry M. O'Connor, chairman of the scholarship committee. Richard is entering Boston College with a mathematics major in education.

North Quincy Knights Defeat Dorchester

Quincy's 1970 Babe Ruth City Champions, sponsored by North Quincy Knights of Columbus, defeated 4-0 the Boston Park League Tri District of Savin Hill, Dorchester, Sunday at Adams Field, Quincy.

Charlie Smith of the Quincy team pitched seven good innings, striking out nine and allowing only five hits to gain the shutout. Smith was given excellent support in the field by teammates who made two double plays, Smith to Mike MacKenzie to Dan Minton for the first when the Savin Hill boys had three men on base and only one out. The second was from Paul Cunniff to Frank Schular to Andy Wilkinson, with two on and no outs.

Andy Wilkinson made the play of the game cutting off a hit between first and second and making an off balance throw to first for the putout.

Dan Minto was leading batter for the Knights, with a double and single and two runs batted in. Scott Broome, most valuable player for 1970, drove in the other two runs with a single.

John L. McDonnell is manager for the North Quincy Knights of Columbus team and John J. Rabel is coach.

At Quincy

Conroy Greets 120

Quincy High enjoyed its best football season since 1964 and its first undefeated Greater Boston League season a year ago when it tied Malden for the league championship, its first title.

Coach Hank Conroy greeted more than 120 candidates on Monday, including 40 junior high graduates who reported to Sophomore Coach Dave Burke, and he was fairly optimistic despite the loss of several standouts. This is Hank's seventh year as the Presidents' head coach.

Among the large number of candidates [a few more are expected to report next week], were 18 lettermen.

These included Steve McCarthy, who was one of the team's top ground gainers last fall as a sophomore; Rich Menchi, one of the finest ends in the GBL, Billy Maver, another excellent end; Joe Goguen, halfback; Wayne Richards, a fine punter who also ran well; guard Bob Sylva, Bobby Sacchetti, a defensive star; guard Bob Gallo, defensive back John Provost, tackles Rich Conte, Dave Omar and Jim Bucchanari; guard Mike Craig, halfback Bob Bosader, wingback Frank Pellegrini, Bob Tarbox and Dennis Waters.

Another key returnee who would have been a letterman and probably the starting quarterback in 1969 is Steve Sullivan, sidelined last year due to an injury suffered in a pre-season scrimmage.

"We lost a fine quarterback in Kevin Ryan, one of the best in our league, but I feel Sullivan, John Joyce, who played some behind Ryan, and Jim Walker, the sophomore quarterback, can do the job," Conroy said.

"We also lost two fine backs in Paul Picarski and Tom Daley, two outstanding tackles and an excellent center. We need replacements there and our interior line looks like the biggest problem. We shouldn't be hurting too much in the backfield and have a good defensive perimeter back. All in all, the prospects are not too dim despite the loss of some outstanding players."

Quincy doesn't open until Sept. 26 and the first scrimmage won't be held until Saturday, the 12th, against Boston College High.

Conroy's 1969 team finished 7-1-1 and 6-0-1 in the GBL. It capped the fine season with a 53-0 romp over North Quincy on Thanksgiving, the biggest score in the 37-year series.

Ryan Receives Tribute For 'Making Quincy Fun Place'

Quincy Recreation Director William F. Ryan, has received a thank you for "making Quincy such a fun place to live in," in a tribute from the department staff and participants in its recreation programs.

The final edition of "Summer Printings," a weekly newsletter of summer playground news, was dedicated to him for his "15 years of devoted service."

Ryan, recreation director since 1955, was presented in 1968 with a first place award by the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr. Foundation for Quincy's Happy Acres, excelling in day camping for retarded children. The same year, he received the Kiekhaefer mercury gold cup for the city's boating safety program.

A Worcester native, Ryan worked for three summers with the Worcester Parks and Recreation Departments. He served four years in the Navy as athletic specialist for the men's Gene Tunney program in physical conditioning and recreation programs at various Naval Bases.

Ryan received his bachelor's degree in recreation from Springfield College and also attended Springfield College and Boston University graduate schools. He has been president of the Massachusetts Recreation Association and chairman of the New England Advisory Committee of the National Recreation Association. He was recreation director in Dedham for five years before coming to Quincy.

Ryan is a member of the Quincy Lodge of Elks board of directors, and is chairman of its youth scholarship committee.

New Youth Center Opens In Southwest Quincy

A sixth youth center is being added to the Quincy Recreation Department's Pilot Program.

The new center at 303 Water St. in Southwest Quincy opened Tuesday, under the direction of Barry J. Welch, director of Pilot Programs.

Activities and programs at the center are expected to be planned by boys and girls from grades 7 to 12, for whom the center was planned. The initial schedule is from 6 to 10 p.m.

Persons having items that may be used in the center are asked to contact Barry Welch at the Recreation Office, or drop into the center at any time it is open.

Frazier Welcomes 80

Ralph Frazier began his second year as North Quincy High's head football coach Monday when he greeted more than 80 candidates at Cavanagh Stadium.

Ralph expected another 10 or so to report when they returned from basketball schools and vacation.

Frazier had a disappointing debut a year ago as the Raiders had only a 2-7 record but he used many underclassmen and their experience should make the Raiders much stronger this fall.

Among the 80 who reported were 15 lettermen, most of who played both ways last fall.

The lettermen are headed by Tri-Captains Dan Zink, Jim Sarruda and Steve Murray, all of whom played regularly a year ago. Zink is an outstanding two-way end, Murray a fine linebacker and Sarruda, a strong cornerman.

Other lettermen are Center Dave Carter, Tackle John Graceffa, End Dave Mahoney, Halfback Tony Kelly, Fullback John Panarelli, Halfback Lee Davis, Quarterback Paul Lippens, Tackle John Meyer, End Dan Doherty, Tackle Frank MacIsaacs, and Linebacker Kevin Egan and Jim deVarennes, a fine defensive back.

"Steve Tomasetti was my only senior backfield starter last year," Frazier said.

"Lippens developed into a fine quarterback and Kelly and Panarelli were fine running backs. Zink was an excellent end and Meyer was a standout at tackle.

"Our big probelm will be the interior line, as most of the starters graduated. We will have strong backs and fine pass receivers, and Lippens did some fine passing last year. We may have a good passing game this year."

Others who will see considerable action this year, according to Frazier, are guards Jim Ziniti, Dave Hemminway and Billy Morgan; Tackles Kevin Crowley, Leo Papile and Jim Morrissey, guard Doug Morrill, Ends Ken Baker and Jim Driscoll, cornerman Jim Linehan, safety Bill Fong and center Mike Tracey.

North buckled right down to hard work on opening day as it opens on Sept. 19 against the new Weymouth South team, a week earlier than Quincy and most other teams. The first scrimmage is carded for Saturday at Haverhill.

"We have a lot of work ahead of us but I think we should do better than last year," Frazier said. "The boys' attitude is very good."

Varney Returns To Harvard Backfield

North Quincy's Pete Varney, who made his start toward football fame as a hard-running back at North Quincy High and Deerfield Academy, then became an all-East end at Harvard, returns to the backfield this fall, according to Coach John Yovicsin.

Pete is co-captain of the 1970 team.

Pete, 235-pound All-New England and All-Ivy League end the past two seasons, also has been the Crimson's leading pass receiver those two years. He gained nation-wide notoriety two years ago when he made the pass reception for the two-point conversion which capped an unbelievable comeback to tie Yale, 29-29.

Varney was a halfback on the Harvard freshman team and gained 492 yards in 68 carries.

The rugged Varney should put the opposing defenses this fall to a severe test every time he carries the ball.

Power Squadron Free Boating Course Sept. 14

A free boating course by the Quincy Power Squadron will start Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. at Quincy Vocational Technical High School cafeteria.

The course is open to anyone interested in boating, whether or not they own a boat.

The 12-week course covers safety afloat, the marine compass, rules of the road, boating courtesy, small boat handling, aids to navigation, reading and understanding of marine charts, among other subjects.

A most important subject is the plotting and layout of courses on marine charts to enable the students to operate boats with more confidence and increased safety.

All courses are taught by experienced volunteer members of the Quincy Power Squadron. Materials used, if not already owned by students, cost less than 10 dollars.

Further information may be obtained from Charles P. Jones, chairman of piloting, at 479-8166, or Everett F. Besse, public relations officer, at 843-4500.

Furnace Brook Winners

The weekly Scotch four-some at Furnace Brook Golf Club was won by Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Lou Cugini with low gross.

Mrs. Dennis Morrissey and John Donovan had low net, while tied for second net were Mrs. Adolph Aimola and Tony Spinello and Mrs. Joyce Robbins and Dick Harrison.

Mrs. Raymond McPeck and Denny Morrissey, Miss Mae Butler and Quentin McCaffrey, Mrs. Matthew Smith and Ray McPeck tied for third net.

Mrs. Aimola was chairman.

Raiders Seek Quincy Players

The Roxbury Red Raiders of the Senior Park League are looking for additional Quincy members for their 1970 football squad.

Particularly sought are linesmen, although all players are welcome.

The team now numbers 10 to 12 Quincy men. Practice is held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at 7 p.m. at Kincaide Park, South Quincy. Bob Marinelli is coach.

Candidates, 16 years and older, are asked to call Peter McIntyre, secretary, at 288-2677 or 727-2905.

Bob Laing To Be Honored At Testimonial Dinner

Plans for a testimonial dinner honoring Bob Laing, who recently retired after 18 years as North Quincy High hockey coach, will be furthered at a meeting Sept. 10 in Room 117 at North Quincy High school.

The first meeting to map plans for the event was held last week and it is hoped more of Laing's former players will be at the next meeting.

Charley Murphy, who is organizing the group, announced tentative plans are to have the testimonial at Morrisette Legion Post a a date to be decided later.

Further information can be obtained by calling Murphy at 472-5796.

All In A Day Of Belly-Aches

The responsibility afforded in the day of a physician is often over-whelming, even awesome. The apparent equanimity on dispensing advice doesn't really portray the apprehensions in the realizations developing to the part of dispensation. Despite this, doctors live a little longer average life span than the ordinary individual. The emotional rewards of successful handling and solutions in the management of medical problems far outweigh the material gain in the involvement.

Today was met early with a severely ill child whose onset over several days appeared to be the ordinary diarrhea and vomiting, so common today. Yet, the prostration, shock and chemical imbalance required stringent support with stomach drainage, inlying bladder catheter and intravenous correction of the needed bodily fluids, salts and alkali.

When the fever, which reached 105, had subsided with constant application of a special cold water mat and proper antibiotics given in great doses, an operation was performed - deemed absolutely necessary by a team of opinions. What was found, but a ruptured appendix, in this case one lying in the pelvis - a difficult position to have originally diagnosed because the usual signs and symptoms of the expected kind were camouflaged. Drainage was necessary with removal of the stump and we can expect a stormy course. This boy ought to do well with the fluid support, antibiotics, drainage and chemical balance - plus that immeasurable factor - faith.

Next, another abdominal pain in an adolescent girl whose story could strain the ingenuity of all the disciplines - medical, surgical, gynicological, obstetrical and urological. The history, as obtained, left much to question but analysis of each of the above departments revealed the presence of urinary pus. Although the ultimate disease seems to rest in the kidney, it might well have been an appendix, uterine problem or an infectious disease.

A third person, of an age between these other two, enters because of an anemia - deep, severe - associated with fatigue, abdominal pain but no blood in the bowels or vomiting. X-ray showed inflammation of the lower end of the bowel near the appendix - called terminal ileitis. This particular illness will require a long term treatment.

Recently, we had the unusual story of a very ill boy with abdominal distention and the presence of a mass, which we suspected to be an intussusception - a condition in which a bowel enters the bowel above it, very much as if you pulled your hand into your sleeve. One of the diagnostic procedures in this is a barium enema - also considered a treatment because it may push the sucked up bowel out of its sleeve.

To our surprise, we found a hole in the bowel due to the rupture of a Meckel's diverticulum - an evolutionary remnant close to the appendix which contains stomach tissue - as you can realize this out-pocketing is many feet of bowel away from the stomach, Ulcers of the kind older worriers get, can occur here and perforate, causing, as in this case, a tough situation - as luck had it, the child did well.

Belly-aches can also be caused by; Epilepsy - for which a brain wave may be a help in determining. Migraine - a headache transferred to the abdomen; Pinworms - our old friends of the past; Pneumonia - with referred pain to the abdomen; Gall-Bladder Disease - allergies to food; and the most common cause of all - Colic - a pain, yes, but no detectable reason for it. Believe it or not, we had an infant of three months who perforated a stomach ulcer and recovered after surgery.

One of the most important procedures to perform diagnostically, in children with pain - in the abdomen, is an IVP - intravenous pyelogram. The test in which a dye is introduced into a vein - followed by a series of x-rays. The dye is excreted by the kidney and as this takes place the films show the kidney, pelvis and most of the urinary tract, as this dye is being expelled. An old adage - a good percentage of kids with urinary tract disease have had their appendix removed on the suspicion that an appendix existed.

A very popular but unclinical diagnosis is mesenteric adenitis - swollen glands in the abdomen, whose presence often simulate an appendicitis. This is a fooler. Interestingly, in the years past, statistics showed that perhaps 70 per cent of the appendices removed in children had another cause than appendicitis. Revelation of this statistic is no criticism of surgeon because their excellence has reduced mortality in every form of this disease to less than one tenth of one percent.

Tissue clinics in hospitals and peers judging their surgical associates make the local surgeon very cautious, conservative and careful. I salute them for these qualities and their excellence in technique.

It's Back To Class Sept. 9
For All Public School Students

All Quincy public schools reopen Sept. 9.

All students are to report on Wednesday at the various schools, according to Arthur S. Woodward, coordinator of secondary schools.

At elementary schools, daily sessions will be 8:25 to 11:35 a.m. and 12:45 to 3 p.m., except on Tuesdays when there will be a morning session only from 8:25 to 11:45 a.m. Kindergartens are dismissed at 11 a.m.

Special hours for first grade students during the first week, Wednesday through Friday, call for dismissal at 11 a.m. In the second and third week, children will be dismissed at 11 a.m. and return for the afternoon session. The regular schedule will be resumed the fourth week.

Kindergarten conferences will be held Sept. 14-16, with children returning to school on Sept. 17.

Junior high schools open at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday.

At North Quincy High School, grade 9 and all students new to the building are to report to the auditorium at 8 a.m. for an orientation program. Grade 10 students will report to homerooms at 9 a.m., the homeroom lists to be posted in the main library. Grades 11 and 12 will report to the same homerooms as last year.

Grade 10 students at Quincy High School will report to the auditorium at 8 a.m. Grades 11 and 12 will report to their homerooms at 8 a.m.

Quincy Vocational Technical School students in grades 9 and 10 will report to Quincy High School auditorium at 8 a.m. Grades 11 and 12 will report to the high school cafeteria at 8 a.m., and grades 13 and 14 are to report to Quincy Voc-Tech cafeteria at 10 a.m.

It will be a full day for all junior and senior high students, with cafeterias open in those schools.

housing. This year that figure will go to an extimated 2,650 - 2,700.

"At the elementary level, from 1960 to 1969 enrollment increased by 655 students," Dr. Creedon continued in his report.

"Within the 22 elementary schools there are 325 standard classrooms. However, in recent years 14 substandard areas have been pressed into service as classrooms. In several instances the gymnasiums in the newer elementary schools have been taken for classroom space.

"By the middle of the present decade our high school population in grades 9-12, based on current enrollment figures without any consideration of growth, will reach 5,539 students. The 1969 enrollment was 4,997.

"At present both high schools are beyond capacity and there is an undeniable need for major modernization of both high schools and new construction as needed."

Dr. Creedon, in his report, also reflected on the spiraling cost of education:

"With each passing year it becomes increasingly more difficult for home owners and taxpayers to support public education based on the existing practice in Massachusetts of financing public education from the property tax. It should be kept in mind that approximately 85 percent of the budget is paid out in salaries. Ten percent is allocated to maintaining the physical plant, and only five percent for the purchase of critically needed learning materials.

"Since 1965 the school department has received approximately $1 million per year in federal aid. Recent actions by the federal government have resulted in a major cutback in many federal programs and the prospect for the future is that additional cutbacks will be made."

with six-foot poles. Basil takes the place of the fledgling tomato plants in the flats.

As the tomatoes ripen, they are picked for the family, for relatives and friends -- and for canning. With her husband's help, Mrs. Panarelli each year processes some 150 jars of tomatoes, each with its sprig of basil, to add flavor.

Mr. and Mrs. Panarelli, natives of Italy, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in November. Thirty of those years have been at the present address.

In addition to the crops, they have raised five sons and a daughter. Now there are 17 grandchildren.

Project ABLE Begins Second Phase

Quincy's Project ABLE, a vocational curriculum project at Quincy Vocational Technical School, will begin its second phase with the opening of school Sept. 9, announces Joseph S. Nicastro, project coordinator.

The first five-year phase of its development has ended.

Project ABLE will continue in Quincy even though the five-year USOE sponsorship is ended, notes Maurice J. Daly, Quincy's Assistant Superintendent for Vocational Education.

This is unusual since many Federally funded programs cease existence once the government financing stage is terminated, according to Nicastro. Quincy has secured assistance from the state for continuation. The Great Cities Research Council has reached an agreement with Quincy for further development and testing of Project ABLE materials.

Talks are currently being held in Washington, D.C. to determine the source and amount of funds needed for the new project which would involve Quincy with the 21 largest school systems in the country on a coordinated and cooperative research effort.

Last week, School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon met for a final Policy Board meeting with personnel from the American Institutes for Research, Pittsburgh, Pa. Plans were discussed for completion of the initial USOE contract and the successful curriculum effort in which Quincy and American Institutes for Research have been partners since 1964.

At that time, James F. McCormick, Sr., vice-chairman of the Quincy School Committee, presented Dr. Melvin Rudov and Dr. Victor Cieutat from Pittsburgh, and J. William Ullery, AIR resident Project Director, with certificates naming them honorary citizens of Quincy.

Quincy and AIR have collaborated in the past on a number of nationwide research studies, and are working together now on the Project PLAN program.

AIR is designing curriculum materials for use in vocational schools in Brazil and has recommended Quincy as a training site for Brazilian vocational instructors. According to Nicastro, Quincy's coordinator for Project ABLE, the project staff is making preparations for the training of vocational instructors from a number of the Great Cities schools as well as those from Brazil.

"THE GREAT WHITE HOPE" is due for an Oct. 15th World Premiere in New York City, where it won The Pulitzer Prize, New York City Critics Award, and Tony Award as a Broadway stage success... HOWARD SACKLER, who wrote the play, is the screenwriter for the film, with MARTIN RITT directing... JOSEPH STRICK is piecing together a documentary feature-length film based on interviews of the some 70 U. S. soldiers who participated in the alleged My Lai massacre... Working with STRICK on the documentary is RICHARD HAMMER, the New York Times columnist who first brought attention to the "incident" with his best selling book... ROY ROGERS is back in the recording business after a 15 year lapse with the release of his new single, "Money Can't Buy Love" and "You And Me Against The World"... The Capitol record is contemporary in mood, not a western ballad, which should set well with the younger listeners...

Boston's DICK DOHERTY recen[illegible]wo week singing stint at the Copacabana in New York... [illegible]the beginning of something big for the personable Mr. D[illegible]... The Madrid version of "HAIR" was exile[illegible]; the FRANCO government a month or so ago...

Newcomer ZACK NORMAN is getting the star build-up for his first film, "WHICH WAY DO YOU DIG?"... DARRYL F. ZANUCK was awarded The Golden Thistle Award by the Scottish film industry for his acheivements in the motion picture industry... Previous winners have been KING VIDOR, FRED ZINNEMANN, SIR CAROL REED and JOHN GRIERSON... MICHAEL DOUGLAS shows promise of following into the elder KIRK'S super star class in his second film, "ADAM AT 6 A.M."... Picture is due for a Boston fall release...

SUZY CHAFFEE, the former Olympic ski star, is now doing modeling and television work. Miss CHAFFEE has a television ski special coming up in a few months... TONY PERKINS stars in and directs BRUCE JAY FRIEDMAN's new play "STEAMBATH". The former Brookline native has proven himself to be one of the most talented and versatile personalities in show business over the past decade... PERKINS first directing test came a few years ago when he successfully guided the reigns of PETER USTINOV's "THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER and HIS WIFE"... FABIAN FORTE, singing idol of another era, is Pretty Boy Floyd in "A BULLET FOR PRETTY BOY"... The film was shot on locale in Texas, and co-stars JOCELYN LANE as his hijinks partner in crime...

MARCELLO MASTRIOANNI and SOPHIA LOREN are teamed together again in the soon-to-be-released World War II drama, "SUNFLOWER"... HARRY BELAFONTE is a standout in "THE ANGEL LEVINE". With his talent he should be making more films... FRANCOIS TRUFFAUT's "THE WILD CHILD" has been tapped as the opening film of this years New York Film Festival beginning Sept. 10th...

PETER GRAVES, Sunday p.m.'s "MISSION IMPOSSIBLE" hero, is being given top consideration for the role of Robin in the filming of JACQUELINE SUSANN's "LOVE MACHINE"... San Francisco is fast becoming the on-locale film capital of the country. CHARLES EASTMAN's, "THE ALL-AMERICAN BOY", and TOM GRIES' "FOOLS" are currently in production in the hilly city... JON VOIGHT stars in "BOY" as a girl chasing boxer, and JASON ROBARDS and KATHERINE ROSS share top billing in "FOOLS" as partners in a destructive May-December romance...

Workshop Being Held For Junior Counselors

A workshop for junior high guidance counselors in Quincy Public Schools is being held this week.

Current guidance programs will be analyzed, newer trends and programs in guidance reviewed, and future action planned.

Frank Mullen, head counselor at Sterling Junior High School, is workshop chairman. Participating are:

Althea Sawyer, Broad Meadows Junior High School; Relenza Manchester, Quincy Point Junior High School; Mary Catherine Iannoni, Joseph Ryan and Carter Caudle of Central Junior High School; Stephen DelRosso and Laura Asci, Atlantic Junior High School; Dana Smith of Sterling Junior High School; Albert Savitsky and Louise Forsyth of Headquarters Guidance Staff.

Working with the group are Dr. Joel Berg, vice president of Interactive Learning Systems, and Cynthia Ganung, mental health consultant from the South Shore Mental Health Center.

Quincy Bar Assn. To Hold Clambake Sept. 9

The Quincy Bar Association will hold its annual clambake Sept. 9 starting at 2 p.m. at Pappas Picnic Grounds, 167 Common St., Braintree.

Citizens Committee Makes Recommendations

Zoning Study Unveiled Tonight

The recommendations of a 22-member Citizens Advisory Committee based on an in-depth study of proposed zoning changes will be unveiled tonight.

The committee will make its report to Mayor James R. McIntyre and the City Council during a 7:30 p.m. public hearing.

"I am very definitely satisfied with the report," comments Laurence J. Curtin, president of the Quincy Citizens Association which originated the request to Mayor McIntyre for appointment of the Advisory Committee.

"I believe all the other members are, too, becuase it is a majority report. At least a great majority are pleased with the report -- there is no minority report that I know of," Curtin said.

"Every committee can always be prepared for surprises in this day and age, anything can happen, but as far as this committee is concerned, the great majority is very much satisfied with it. They signed the report."

The committee is comprised of representatives of the Quincy Citizens Association [four top officers], St. Moritz Association, Willard School PTA, Cranch School PTA, Presidents-Cranch--Hospital Hills Association, Montclair Men's Club, Montclair PTA, Society for Preservation of Massachusetts Bay Marshlands, Adams Street Association.

Also, Mt. Ararat Association, Wollaston Park Association, Merrymount Association, Houghs Neck Community Council, Rock Island Cove Improvement Association, Baker Beach Association, Adams Shore Improvement Association, John Quincy Adams Club and Ward Two Civic Association.

"All the organizations have been very cooperative," Curtin said. "We have had a sufficient number of meetings to make a very intensive study of the whole matter."

More than 9,000 "S.O.S." circulars have been distributed throughout Quincy urging citizens to attend tonight's public hearing.

"We hope to have a very good attendance, because this is a Citizens Advisory Committee, a committee appointed by the Mayor in response to a petition which was co-signed by members and officers of the organizations," Curtin said.

"We are presenting the whole thing on Thursday night at an open session and public hearing because we hope we are speaking for the general public and the citizens of the city. We can say there will be an intelligent discussion of the whole proposal of the zoning ordnance," Curtin continued. "It was a very dedicated committee, and very much interested."

30 Percent Vote Predicted

City Clerk John M. Gillis expects a 30 per cent voter turnout in Quincy for the Sept. 15 primary election.

If his percentage forecast is correct, it will mean approximately 13,175 of Quincy's 43,911 registered voters will go to the polls.

And, that some 30,736 will stay home.

In 1966, 29.8 per cent of the city's registered voters cast ballots.

Gillis believes a larger percentage of Democrats than Republicans will turn out because of the battles for governor and lieutenant governor nominations state-wide and contests for three local state representatives seats.

For perhaps the first time in history, two Quincy men are on the ballot shooting for the two top spots, state-wide.

Atty. Francis X. Bellotti, former lieutenant governor, is one of four Democrats locked in battle for the gubernatorial nomination.

The others are Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue, the Democratic convention endorsed nominee; Kenneth P. O'Donnell, former aide to President Kennedy and Boston Mayor Kevin H. White.

James S. McCormack, one of five seeking the lieutenant governor nomination, is a former Ward 3 Quincy City Councillor and state senator. He now lives in Arlington.

Other contenders for the lieutenant governor nomination are Sen. Michael S. Dukakis of Brookline, Rocco J. Antonelli of Somerville, John J. Craven, Jr., of Boston and Kathleen T. Ryan Dacey of Milton.

Only fight on the Republican ballot is between Josiah A. Spaulding of Manchester and John J. McCarthy of Chatham for the right to challenge Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in the Nov. 3 final election.

On the local front, the best contest is for state representative in the Third Norfolk District [Wards 4,5,6] where five Democrats seek the two nominations.

The contenders, as they appear on the ballot, are incumbent Joseph E. Brett, newcomer Paul T. Gallagher, John L. Gillis, Dorothy Quinn and Ward 6 City Councillor J. Vincent Smyth, former president of the City Council.

Some political observers wonder if the names of Gillis and Miss Quinn might make the four-way scramble a close one.

City Clerk John M. Gillis and City Councillor John J. Quinn have long been popular vote-getting names in the city.

In the Second Norfolk District, [Wards 2, 3] Rep. Clifford H. Marshall, Jr. is opposed by Louis J. Caruso, city employee, who has made several bids for office. Both are Democrats.

Rep. Arthur H. Tobin, Democrat incumbent, is unopposed in both the primary and final election in the First Norfolk District which comprises Ward 1.

On the Republican side in the Third Norfolk District, incumbent Walter J. Hannon and Jens E. Thornton are unopposed for the two nominations.

At the county level, Dist. Atty. George G. Burke [D-Quincy], Clerk of Courts John P. Concannon [D-Quincy] and County Commissioner Thomas K. McManus [D-Norwood] are already virtually re-elected. They have no opposition in the primary or final election.

Norfolk County Register of Deeds Barry T. Hannon [D-Braintree] and Republican challenger James A. Shannon of Quincy have no primary opposition.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Average Per Student Cost Now Over $679

Most recent figures on the cost per year of educating Quincy's public school students were made in 1968.

Cost per student:
Elementary - $521.
Junior High - $646.
Senior High - $869.

Overall average - $679. per student.

With a 1970-71 figure of roughly 17,100 students, and a school budget of more than $2 million dollars, the cost would be somewhat higher today.

John Quincy Adams 'Returns' To Washington

John Quincy Adams is en route from Quincy to Washington once again.

A handsome marble bust of the Quincy-born sixth president left by truck from historic First Parish Church yesterday for Washington where it will go on exhibit at the Smithsonian Institute for a month.

The bust, made in Italy by noted sculptor Hiram Powers, will be part of an exhibit of his works at the Smithsonian Institute.

City Historian William C. Edwards said it marks the first time the bust has left First Parish Church since it was placed there by his son, Charles Francis Adams in 1854.

The bust is being loaned for the exhibit by the Adams Temple and School Fund which has supervision over it.

Quincy Is Now Democrat Country

Democrats now far outnumber Republicans in Quincy, once a GOP stronghold.

Of the total 43,911 registered voters, 21,089 are Democrats compared to 9,780 Republicans.

Democrats also outnumber Independents who total 13,042.

Women Outnumber Men

In Quincy, the hand that rocks the cradle also have a firm hand on the ballot box.

Female registered voters here outnumber males 23,964 to 19,947.

If the gals voted as a unit, they would decide who will carry the city in the Sept. 15 primary, the Nov. 3 final and next year's city election.

Great Books First Year Group To Meet Sept. 15

For the 18th consecutive year the Thomas Crane Public Library will sponsor a first year Great Books Discussion Group.

The first meeting will be Sept. 15 at 8 p.m. in the conference room of the Adams Shore Branch Library at 519 Sea St.

Mrs. Clifford Hallett, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Park of Quincy will be permanent discussion leaders for the group. Dr. Charles Djerf, former president of Metropolitan Boston Great Books Council and founder of the Great Books program in Quincy, will assist in establishment of the new group and will be an occasional guest leader.

Great Books is an adult liberal education program open without charge to all interested in reading and discussing literature which has influenced modern western civilization.

The Sept. 15 meeting will be an orientation session. Future meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays monthly starting in October. Anyone interested in joining may do so by attending discussions. No educational or financial requirements are necessary.

Further information may be obtained from the Thomas Crane Public Library, or Mrs. Jane Mudge, Great Books Foundation Coordinator at 264 Furnace Brook Parkway.

Eight Scouts Return From New Mexico

Eight West Quincy Boy Scouts from Troop 32 of St. Mary's Church have returned from a trip to the mountains of Philmont Scout Ranch in northeastern New Mexico.

They were members of a troop of 21 boys representing the Boston Council, Boy Scouts of America, led by Eugene Bertoni, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 32.

The Quincy boys are:

Charles Pearson of 54 Ames St., Stephen Rizzi of 1493 Furnace Brook Parkway, Roy Shea, Jr. of 55 Bunker Hill Lane, Mark Reed of 56 Station St., Mark Bertoni of 1072 Furnace Brook Parkway, Richard Prewitt of 99 Robertson St., Phillip Nimeskern, Jr. of 38 Minihan's Lane, and Christopher Orlando of 3 Hopedale St. They all earned and saved their money for the trip.

They trekked for 10 days over 70 miles of mountainous trails at elevations from 6,400 to 11,711 feet above sea level carrying their food, shelter and other necessities on their backs. On the Philmont trails, the Scouts took part in programs which included horseback riding, hunter safety, rock climbing, burro racing, advanced Dutch oven cooking, fishing and fly tying, gold mining and panning -- and had their food supply raided by bears.

The Scouts have earned the Arrowhead Patch for participating in a conservation program, the 50-Miler Award, and the "We All Made It" Placque.

Shirley Erlandson Elected To Credit Union

Mrs. Shirley R. Erlandson of 60 Essex Street, Squantum, has been elected to the board of directors of the BCG Credit Union at Boston Gas.

Mrs. Erlandson, secretary to the director of training at Boston Gas, was named to serve the unexpired term of the late Arthur J. O'Leary of Westwood.

Washington Report:

Back To School On Unsafe Buses

By Senator EDWARD M. KENNEDY

Another school year is starting. In Massachusetts, more than 500,000 children will ride buses to and from school. In the nation, some 19,000,000 students will do the same.

And if last year's statistics are repeated, seventy-five of those students will be killed on their way to and from school and another 4,500 will be injured in 35,000 accidents.

It must be the responsibility of all public officials, all school bus manufacturers and all parents to ensure that every precaution is taken to prevent those deaths and injuries. Yet, despite safety technology that could reduce injuries and deaths, no national standards now exist to mandate those innovations on school buses.

Shocking evidence of the insufficient resources committed by federal transportation officials to school bus safety was underlined recently in a National Transportation Safety Board report.

After studying the crushed and crumpled remains of four school buses, the Safety Board concluded that "inadequate and inefficient" body-joint construction contributed to the injuries and loss of life in the accidents studied. The Safety Board found too few rivets -far less than used on intercity buses--were used on certain school buses.

I have asked the Secretary of Transportation--who has authority to act in this area--to immediately investigate whether all school buses contain this defect and to issue rules to require stronger and safer school bus construction.

Although the nation's school bus manufacturers traditionally have cooperated with efforts to increase school bus safety, the evidence accumulated by the Safety Board clearly shows the need for a much closer review of their construction procedures.

Because of the apparent reluctance of the Department of Transportation to act with dispatch in establishing national standards for school bus manufacturers and for school bus maintenance and operations, I have urged the Secretary to commission the National Academy of Sciences to offer model rules immediately.

The tardiness of the Transportation Department is exemplified by their actions involving seat belts for school bus drivers. The National Safety Council recommended it several years ago; the Department announced an intention to require it three years ago and, finally, in February, it set July 1, 1970 for its date of effectiveness. That date has passed and still there is no rule to require school bus drivers to wear seat belts.

In another case, it took a host of national news stories of brake defects in General Motors Corporation school buses before the Department of Transportation would accede to requests that GMC recall its 1968 and 1969 models for repairs.

The Department must carry out its responsibilities in this area because the crazy-quilt pattern of state regulation is simply not enough to protect the nation's school children.

Twenty-three states do not require more than a single inspection each year. Some of those states have no enforcement procedures when school buses fail safety tests. For that reason, eight months ago, I called for national minimum safety regulations for the operation and maintenance of school buses.

Massachusetts is more fortunate.

The majority of school buses--which fall under the jurisdiction of the Registry of Motor Vehicles--must pass five inspections annually. Those buses that transport students and are supervised by the Department of Public Utilities must pass four inspections a year and be certified as safe.

However, even in Massachusetts, improvements could be made to maximize the safety of schoolbus passengers. Some of the requirements of the Registry are more stringent than those of the Department of Public Utilities. The reverse also is true. Other states also have stricter rules in some areas.

I will recommend a special commission be established to evaluate the differing requirements and arrive at a single set of standards for all buses used in transporting school children which will provide the greatest safety for our school children. I do not think we can do any less.

Three New Faculty Members At Woodward

Three new faculty members join the Woodward School for Girls when it reopens for its 77th year Monday at 8 a.m., announces Mrs. Howard Tattrie, principal.

They include:

Miss Jill Morris, a cum laude graduate of Syracuse University with a master's degree in French from Boston University. She will teach French and Spanish.

Miss Donna Jemella, a graduate of Salem State with a master's degree from Boston College, will teach United States History, anthropology and sociology, and Afro Asian History.

Mrs. David Cubie, who was a part-time teacher of English, is to teach English and French. Her master's degree is from Boston University.

An opening assembly and short periods will comprise Monday's schedule. No lunch will be served.

Regular classes and full-day sessions will begin Tuesday with hot lunches available each day. New students are to report to the library by 7:45 a.m. to receive their schedules.

A TYPICAL SCENE in Quincy this week as school bells ring is enacted at Water and Phipps Sts., South Quincy, where youngsters attending St. John's and Adams Schools cross. Here, Mrs. Josephine Tinney, one of Quincy's 40 traffic supervisors, crosses James Pettinelli, Nancy Wheeler, Maureen McCabe and Christine Sirois.

64 Ninth Graders Attend Voc-Tech

Quincy Vocational Technical School will have 64 ninth grade students this year as a first step toward the goal of a four-year high school.

"We are putting an experimental group of ninth graders in two or three different categories," says Maurice J. Daly, assistant superintendent of Quincy schools in charge of vocational-technical education.

"This is an exploratory program," Daly explained. "Eventually we are committed to operate a four-year high school. This is the first step."

Forty students chosen from Quincy's five junior high schools in all sections of the city will be enrolled in the Metals and Machines Divisions at Voc-Tech. This will include all metal-working processes. The students will be encouraged to select one that they like. If they don't like any, they will be transferred to other groups.

In addition, 24 ninth graders, all from Atlantic Junior High School, will be dispersed among six different divisions in the school, electro-electronics, power mechanics, etc. This is an experiment to determine where they are best suited.

Students enrolled in the various Voc-Tech divisions were selected on recommendations of school counselors, and students' choice, with parents, students and counselors all involved in the decision.

"These are all general students, not with low grades or handicapped in any way," Daly emphasized. "They are students interested in vocational occupations, but not particularly sure of exactly what they want."

"This is in an exploratory nature," Daly continued, "but we hope with this advanced kind of training in ninth grade, their tenth year will be far advanced beyond what we are actually doing now."

The ninth grade training will be at a somewhat lower level than that of students normally entering tenth grade.

"We are not planning on extra teachers," Daly says. "Some extra services will be offered. Most of these will be absorbed in the regular teaching schedule."

While the program was developed under Daly, in charge of all vocational-technical training, it will be carried out under the direction of Laurence H. Babin, Director-Principal of Voc-Tech; Head Counselor Richard H. Haines, the division heads, and teachers.

"We assume and hope that the program will be successful," Daly says. "The School Committee committed itself to four year high schools several years ago. We are really trying to find out what our relationships will be with younger students going into four-year high schools."

Two additional programs added to Voc-Tech curriculum this year with the aid of government grants are the Health Aide program for girls in grades 11 and 12, and Library Aides program.

The Health Aide program is for students interested in becoming assistants in public health offices, doctors' offices, etc., and will include technical terminology, bookkeeping techniques and related subjects.

Library aides who will assist professional librarians, work in public school and industrial libraries, and libraries with data processing systems.

Both of these programs will involve affiliation with professionals outside the public school system in "on-the-job" training experience, under supervision of Voc-Tech instructors.

In still another experiment, 13 students entering tenth grade with mental or physical handicaps will receive special remedial assistance to help them in finding a vocation.

"We anticipate an enrollment of 114 students in the new programs we are offering this year," Daly said.

New Appointments Made

'Listen To Needs Of The Kids' Dr. Creedon Tells Teachers

"Listen" is the key word for Quincy school administrators this year, as it was for the graduating class of 1970, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon told some 100 educators at an Administrative Council meeting at Atlantic Junior High School.

Attending were the main office staff, school principals, assistant principals, department heads, head librarians, head guidance counselors and several project directors.

"While I am not suggesting a theme for this year, if I was I would again go to the high school theme of the graduating class of 1970: 'Listen'," Creedon said. "And suggest that we want to 'Listen' to ourselves, 'Listen' to the research, 'Listen' to our intuition, 'Listen' to tradition, and 'Listen' to the needs and aspirations of the kids."

Creedon noted that 226 teachers or administrators, members of the Quincy public schools' professional staff, worked on various research projects during the summer, or participated in one or more of several summer programs. That is one-fourth of the teaching staff.

Also noted were new appointments in administrative posts, totaling more than 40 in the past two years.

Richard Haines is now head counselor at Quincy Vocational-Technical School.

Arthur Gillis is Coordinator of Library Services; William Piche has been named Assistant Coordinator of Library Services. Lynn Birlem is new Head Librarian of the Bradford Library at Quincy Voc-Tech, and Geraldine DeStein is head librarian at North Quincy High School.

Paul Farrell heads the English Department at North Quincy. He was formerly English Department head at Avon High School.

Gerald Lyons is now head of the math department at North Quincy.

Frank D'Andrea has been promoted to principal and will be assigned to the Cranch and Myles Standish Schools. He was formerly assistant principal at Adams School.

Creedon noted that Quincy is among the six per-cent of communities in Massachusetts where teachers are involved in processes leading up to administrative appointments.

"The goals of our school system are identifiable, they are logical," Creedon said in referring to development of the educational design in Quincy. "They are logical, they are based on solid research; and hopefully, they have the interest of the young people that we work with, as basic, as seed, as the heart and core of the whole business."

In closing, he quoted an article in the May, 1970 American Journal of Nursing, paraphrasing it "the seven rights for education of the seventies": The right student, the right need, the right teacher, the right program of studies, the right learning materials, the right learning rate and style, the right learning environment.

"Most simply stated, 'That's what it is all about,' Creedon said. "The Seven Rights for the Seventies describes very simply and very forcefully what ES '70 is and what the business of public education is all about."

Raytheon Wins $29,426 Contract

A $29,426 government contract for 16,869 electron tubes, to be manufactured in accordance with military specifications, has been awarded Raytheon Company of 465 Centre St., Quincy, by the Defense Supply Agency's Defense Electronics Supply Center in Dayton, Ohio.

The Supply Center procures, manages and supplies common electronic parts used by the armed services and other government agencies.

Hedges Elected To County Board

Sheriff Charles W. Hedges of Dedham, former Quincy resident, has been elected to fill a vacancy on the Norfolk County Retirement Board.

In the election supervised by County Treasurer Raymond C. Warmington and former County Engineer Wallace S. Carson, both of Quincy, Hedges received 841 of the 1,595 votes tabulated.

In second place with 505 votes was John J. Sullivan, Jr. of Quincy, executive secretary in the commissioner's office. Tax Collector Edward F. Berry of Randolph received 186 votes and Engineer George A. Trubiani of Quincy had 63 votes.

The special election was called to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Register of Deeds L. Thomas Shine of Dedham, a board member for many years.

Hedges will serve until Aug. 28, 1973.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Q. Should I wear gloves with my long sleeve wedding gown?

A. Gloves are never worn with a long sleeve wedding gown or with long sleeve bridesmaids gowns. In the case of shorter sleeves there should be an inch to an inch and a half between the bottom of the sleeve and the top of the glove. Be sure to slit the seam of the ring finger and tuck it into the palm of the glove and you're ready to receive the wedding band.

Q. When is the white carpet put into position?

A. The carpet usually starts where the ceremoney is to take place. It is placed in folds by the florist when he delivers the flowers. [If he provides it.] Be sure to measure the church aisle, including the stairs to the altar, to the main door entrance. If the church has one then the custodian will take care of it.

After the bride's mother has been seated and just before the processional is to start two ushers walk down the aisle to where the carpet has been placed, and with their outside hand pick up the corner of the carpet, turn and walk back up the aisle, holding firmly to the carpet corner. Upon reaching the back of the church they pull it tightly to eliminate any wrinkles.

Q. What should I wear for jewelry with my wedding gown?

A. You have not told me what type of neckline your gown has. If it is the victorian style [high collar] no jewelry is worn around the neck. Small pearl or diamond earrings may be worn. With a lowe neckline a string of pearls or a dainty pendant may be worn with matching earrings. Never wear rhinestones or costume jewelry. You must not wear a watch or a bracelet. Your engagement ring is worn on the right hand until after the ceremony. Then it is placed on your left hand over your wedding ring.

Germantown Garden Club Plans Shelf At Library

The Germantown Garden Club will provide books for a gardeners' shelf at the Adams Shore Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library as one of their goals for the 1970-71 season.

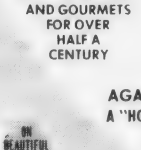
Mrs. Arthur B. Horton, project chairman, asked for contributions of books by members. In addition, books already owned by the club itself will be contributed to the branch library, to be on loan both by members and interested neighborhood gardeners.

Project plans were outlined at the season's first meeting at the Adams Shore Community Church. Mrs. Nancy Alvord, new president, presided.

Mrs. William Huyghe, plant therapy chairman, asked for small plants for patients at Long Island Hospital where she is a Red Cross volunteer on Thursdays weekly.

Tomorrow [Sept. 11] club members will attend a meeting, luncheon and lecture by Dr. Harriet Creighton at Wellesley College, along with a plant show by the Bessie Raymond Buxton Branch of the Begonia Society.

In the first of a series of "Do-It-Yourself" programs, Mrs. Ralph Milliken and Mrs. Horton discussed "Flowers and Plants Mentioned in the Bible," such as saffron, mustard, lilies of the field, millet, etc.



Petunias and marigolds grown from seed were exhibited by Mrs. Samuel Hurshman, while Mrs. Laurence Mattie displayed plants which had made round-trips to Florida with her.

Special guests were Mrs. George J. Howe and Mrs. John L. Mattie. Mrs. Stedman Beckwith and Mrs. Huyghe were hostesses.

A "Horticultural Quiz" is planned for the Oct. 6 meeting when "Fun and Games" is the meeting's theme.

Newly elected officers serving with Mrs. Alvord for 1970- 1971 are Mrs. Charles E. Hodgkins, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Charles G. Johnston, second vice president; Mrs. Paul A. Coletti, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph L. Parker, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Spillane, treasurer; and Mrs. Gerard H. Hansen, auditor.

PENCIL PUNTURES CAN BE FATAL

Pencil punctures frequently occur at schools. Recently, a Wisconsin boy lost the sight of an eye when he bent down to pick up a coin and his face struck a pencil sticking out of a companion's pocket.

Children who fall while they have a pencil in their mouth often require emergency treatment. Usually, these mouth punctures are not too serious. Far more serious, but fortunately rare, are oral injuries involving the soft palate in the region of the tonsils.

According to an AMA report of a study into 25 such cases, resulting in a blood clot in the major throat artery, 25 percent of the patients died and most of the others were left paralyzed on one side.

Parents, remind your children that pencils should not be carried in the mouth or protrude from pockets. When not in use, they should be capped with a plastic shield or carried in a box.

Watching Love Go

By Jeanie DiBona
24 Baxter St. Quincy

Watching as I often do
The sunset in the sky
Telling me that the day is done
And one more love gone by.

Time after time I'd watch the sun
Slowly descending in the sky,
But this time it will not rise for me.
'Cause I had one love gone by.

How wonderful it was to see
The birth of a new and shining day
I never knew the darkness then,
Not since you went away
No more will the sun shine for me.

For all that glitters is past
But I won't forget the love I had
The love I hoped would last.

DASHING—Gaucho pants teamed with black boots and a striped shirt take on an Austrian flavor in this cotton knit outfit by Miss Ingenue. The shirt is styled with a button-down placket and split sides.

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

What are your plans for fall? A new hair-do, a new wardrobe, lots of new activities? Great, but why not a new you too?

Many people gain weight during the summer. It's a lazy time and except for the "beach bunnies" most of us wear loose casual clothes which disguise any bulges we may have acquired. And it's a shock to try on sleek new fashions and find out what ice cream cones or frozen chocolate mousses may have done to your figure. It's too late to say "no thanks" but there's still time to take those excess pounds off.

Of course I am talking about dieting and while nobody diets for the sheer fun of it, there are many foods which are just as delicious, rich tasting and satisfying as fattening goodies are. Eating, you know, is a habit, and with a little will power and a lot of right recipes you can learn to eat and like non-fattening foods.

To get off to a right start, why not try the recipe featured below. It is high in enjoyment and low in calories–an answer to the dieter's dream.

If you have any questions regarding dieting or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

The Lincoln Memorial

By MARGARET DE ANGELO

I doubt that in all the world there stands a more beautiful temple erected in memory of a man than this refined building on the Banks of the Potomac River in Washington - the Lincoln Memorial.

Similar in form to an ancient Greek temple, it was begun on Feb. 12, 1914, and when completed cost two and a half million dollars. It is 202 feet long and 132 feet wide, and the attic is 80 feet from the top of the foundation.

The Lincoln Memorial was built of Colorado marble, Indiana limestone and Massachusetts granite. Just inside the hall, opposite the entrance, is the seated statue of Lincoln, carved out of Georgia marble by Daniel Chester French. On the walls are memorial tablets of Lincoln's second inaugural speech and his famous Gettysburg address, over which are the Guerin murals.

The enclosed hall is surrounded by a colonnade of Doric columns, representing the states of the Union.

Week of Sept. 11 - 18

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - It may be difficult for you to be patient but there is too much opposition right now for success - even though chances look good.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Feeling cheerful, confident, and quite optimistic. You have high hopes for opportunity opening up now but don't be fooled.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - A difficult week for you - opportunities are all around but none seem suited to you. Don't act rashly or on impulse.

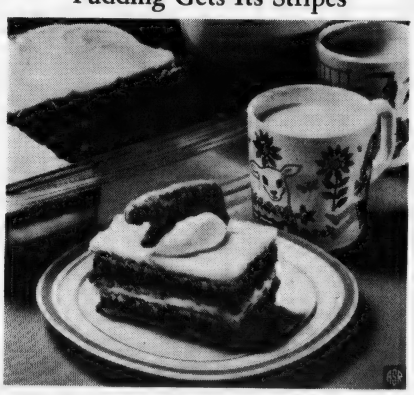
CANCER [June 22-July 22] - You could find your "ideal love" this weekend. Some of you are marrying, some are becoming engaged. Popularity high.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Don't be over-optimistic about opportunities presented now since they are misleading and can put you on the wrong track.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Whatever you undertake now has a sure chance of success. Don't neglect any opportunities this weekend. Keep open mind.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - The new job or promotion offered now, though it seems marvelous, can keep you in the background so think it over carefully.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - An important week for you - raises, promotions, social popularity. Those of you getting married now are very lucky.



SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Opponents are strong right now - it seems everyone wants your job and although you have supporters, it can be difficult.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Important for you to meet new people this weekend as friendships formed now are beneficial to you. Listen to friends.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - The things that seem so wonderful this week will, in reality, cost you money and the freedom that you desire.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - It's time to take a chance; ask for a raise or promotion. The advantage is yours so push your luck as much as possible.

Pudding Gets Its Stripes

When the day is warm, the coolest cook pulls out a pet recipe for an icebox cake, especially when there's a big menagerie to feed. This easy one is made with chocolate and vanilla flavors of Jell-O Instant Pudding. For adults garnish with a nut; for kids use a perky animal-shaped cookie.

Zebra Icebox Cake

1 package (3¾ oz.) vanilla instant pudding
1 package (4⅞ oz.) chocolate instant pudding
2 cups milk
1 envelope whipped topping mix
32 square graham crackers

Prepare vanilla and chocolate instant pudding separately, slowly beating each with 1 cup milk using rotary beater or at lowest speed of electric mixer until well blended—about 2 minutes. Let stand about 5 minutes. Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package; blend half into each of the prepared puddings. Place a layer of graham crackers on the bottom of an 8-inch square pan; spread with half of the chocolate pudding. Repeat, alternating pudding flavors. Chill at least 6 hours. Garnish as desired. Cut into 12 servings.

HOUSE CALL

By Dr. Charles Djerf
Pediatrician

The Virus Season

[Today's column is written by Dr. Robert Mann, an associate of Dr. Charles Djerf]

As the kids go back to school, and the weather gets colder, we fast enter the "flu" or "virus" season.

We will see in our respective offices a large number of individuals who have mild to moderate symptomatology, including fever, running nose, cough, sore throat, and feeling "the blahs".

For some, those symptoms will be of a recurrent nature, and the doctor will be able to say, "I don't know what you have this time either, but whatever it is, you've got it again." Most often, physical exam will reveal nothing more than a mildly red throat.

Many people get quite upset at the idea of spending the time and effort to go see their physician, wait an hour, pay their money, and leave having been told that they have "a virus". This is understandably upsetting. If they understood that all viruses are not alike, and had differences, they would not be so upset.

There are probably hundreds of thousands of varieties of viruses. They are small particles of living protein that are transmitted in many ways, including the cough [droplet spread], bloodstream [needles, like hepatitis] and fecal spread [in the stool, like polio].

Viruses are involved in all sorts of disease, from the common cold, to various types of tumors, and just about everything in between. We most commonly see diseases of the respiratory tract, and gastro-intestinal tract, and even these two areas of disorders can be caused by hundreds of varieties of viruses. So it is not just A virus, but one of many.

To identify that one type of virus, exactly, would be expensive, involving cultures and blood tests, and the usual mildness of the diseases does not warrant these tests. So you will be continually told over the phone that old slogan that "it's probably just a virus".

There is no real treatment for viral infections, with the exception of smallpox. Viral antibiotics are being developed, but none are on the market yet. So most of these diseases just have to run their natural courses, with symptomatic treatment the only help medicine has to offer.

There are virus vaccines against smallpox, polio, measles, german measles and mumps. Otherwise, we don't have much available. Among diseases caused by viruses, in addition to the above mentioned diseases, are chickenpox, mononucleosis, hepatitis, all varieties of colds and upper respiratory infections, encephalitis, gastroenteritis [vomiting and diarrhea], some varieties of ear and throat infections, cold sores, and a number of other disorders.

As mentioned above, there is no known cure for any of these disorders, only prevention. So don't go to your physician and demand penicillin or a "mycin" that has "always worked before" Generally you have spent your money for antibiotics only for peace of mind, as they do nothing to cure the viral disease itself.

The improvement you usually note is due to the natural course of the disease. There ARE indications for antibiotics, and your physician knows these indications, but not for the run of the mill viral sore throat or cold. If you want to spend your money, or bend over for a shot of "good ol'" penicillin" for your viruses, more power to you. Personally, I care neither for the pain nor the expenditure unless really necessary.

And don't keep after your doctor to prescribe antibiotics over the phone. This is like going hunting and shooting at every noise you hear in the woods. You may get your deer, but you have as good a chance of shooting another hunter.

Registration Sept. 14, 16 For High School Equivalency Courses

Registration for adults interested in preparing for the state sponsored high school equivalency examination will be held at Quincy Vocational-Technical School Sept. 14 and Sept. 16 between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. announces Edward T. Hannon, coordinator of Adult Vocational Education Programs.

These classes are for adults who have not completed their high school education and who wish to receive individual assistance from state certified teachers to prepare themselves for the examination.

Adult Basic Education classes are held at Quincy Vocational-Technical School every Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. This program is for area residents who have not continued formal education beyond eighth grade and who wish individual assistance to improve their opportunities, to gain employment, or to upgrade their present employment.

Both of these programs are offered without cost to Quincy residents. Those unable to come to the school on the dates specified, may call 472-3824 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for information.

Golden Bible Class Opens Oct. 11

"The Pioneer Disciples and Peter in Jerusalem" will be the subject for the Bible address of Rev. Donald Strong of Hingham at the 46th annual opening session of the Golden Rule Bible Class of Quincy Oct. 11.

The class will meet in Senior Citizens Hall, 24 High School Ave., next to Christ Church.

Dr. Carl Leander, class director, will announce the year's theme for Bible lectures by special speakers – "The History of the Pioneer Disciples."

Special music will be a trumpeters' duet by Capt. William A. Bessant and John Bessant of the Salvation Army, accompanied by Mrs. Bessant at the piano. Captain Bessant, a native of Canada, recently came to Quincy to succeed Major Walter Douglas as commanding officer. The latter was transferred to Cleveland, Ohio.

Additional music will be by Norma MacLeod, soloist; Anna Hemeon, pianist; and the class quartet. Oliver F. Tatro, Jr. will direct community singing. Rev. Albert E. Bates will conduct the preliminary prayer session.

Perry Wilkie, Bible Secretary, has extended an invitation to all interested persons to attend. Mrs. Catherine Rose is the hostess.

Special guests will be Mayor James R. McIntyre and Arthur Chiampa, chairman of the Senior Citizens Board of Directors.

NEW OFFICERS of the Quincy Salvation Army, Capt. & Mrs. William A. Bessant are natives of Canada, serving most recently at Syracuse, N.Y. They succeed Major and Mrs. Walter Douglas, transferred to Cleveland, Ohio.

Morrisette Post To Dedicate Veterans Memorial Sunday

Sunday at 2 p.m. the Morrisette Legion Post will dedicate a memorial donated to the City for the Veterans Section of Pine Hill Cemetery, Chickatawbut Rd., West Quincy.

This ceremony will also be the formal dedication of the new Veterans Section. Mayor James R. McIntyre will be the principal speaker.

A parade will form at 1 p.m. at the Shea Skating Rink parking lot on Willard St. It will proceed to the cemetery with an escort of Quincy and MDC Police.

In the line of march will be state and city officials, the Morrisette Post band and drill team, members of Morrisette Post with their colors, joined by members and colors of other Norfolk County posts. The George F. Bryan VFW Post and other veterans posts in the city will also take part.

Post Commander Florentino M. Capitelli will be chief of staff; Post Adjutant Paul W. O'Neill parade marshal; and Post Judge Advocate Paul A. M. Hunt master of ceremonies.

Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church, will give the invocation; Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue the dedication prayer; and Rev. James Kimmell, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, the benediction.

In addition to Mayor McIntyre, other speakers will be Commander Camptelli, Gabriel T. Olga, National Vice-Commander of the American Legion.

John Bersani, chairman of the Cemetery Board of Managers, will accept the memorial on behalf of the City and the cemetery board. Cemetery Supt. Anthony Famigletti, has made program arrangements.

Commander Campitelli and City Councillor Albert Barilaro will unveil the memorial. A wreath will be placed by Post Historian Joseph P. Keenan and City Graves Registration Officer Lawrence Carnali.

Anthony Vardaro, Post sergeant-at-arms, will have charge of all color details, and a volley will be fired by the Morrisette Post Drill Team. Musical selections and taps will be by the Morrisette Post Band.

George Swartz To Be Cited At JWV Annual Breakfast

Jewish War Veterans of Quincy will hold their 14th annual Past Commander's Breakfast Oct. 4, at 9:30 a.m. at the Jewish Community Center, 10 Merrymount Rd.

Recognition for all Past Commanders will be made, and Commander George Swartz will be cited for his "devotion and outstanding work."

In addition, the Post will present to "Mr. X" of 1970 [Past Commander David Minkofsky] an award in recognition of his work for the Post through the years. Past Commander Irving Isaacson will make the presentation.

Completing program arrangements are officers Allen A. Kofman, Irving Isaacson, George Swartz, David Gan, Milton Drooker, Louis Simons, Nathan Goldberg, Benjamin Rudner, Joseph Litchman, Joseph LeClair, Ralph Paull and Nathan Feldman.

Holy Communion Service At Trinity Lutheran Sept. 13

Rev. Wilbert Tormala of Ashtabula, Ohio, will officiate at a special Finnish service of Holy Communion Sept. 13 at 8:30 a.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, 65 Roberts St., West Quincy.

Rev. Tormala, a former pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, is now serving at Bethany Lutheran Church in Ashtabula.

Regular Sunday schedules will resume that day with Rev. James Kimmell, pastor, officiating at 10 a.m. worship.

First Baptist Communion, Baptism Sunday

First Baptist Church of Wollaston will have a 9:30 a.m. service of Communion and baptism Sunday.

Rev. Charles L. McEachern will speak on "Unity Begins at Home."

Regular church programs begin Sept. 20 with 9:45 a.m. Church School and morning worship at 11 a.m.

Robert E. Brown is the new minister of music.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'When Death Comes'

A couple of generations ago people were open and realistic about death and hush-hush about sex. In our times people are open and realistic about sex and hush-hush about death. There are four great ventures of life and we need to know everything we can about each since we are all involved in each...birth...vocation...marriage...death. This column is concerned with death...because whether we like it or not every one of us has to live with the fact of death. We make jokes about it..just like we do about sex and babies...about our jobs...about marriage. But no amount of jesting about death changes the fact. There just is no camouflage for death.

The truth is that most people ignore this fact of life until it sneaks up on them. I think a husband and wife do well to talk over their wishes and make plans so that either would be prepared for the untimely death of the other. Too many pretend that "it won't happen to us." But it does.

I want to make four suggestions for facing the reality of death. You and your husband/wife may wish to consider them. First...Call your minister or priest. Whether you know him or not...whether you like him or not...call him when death comes. He's the one man who is especially trained to serve you in this crisis...with no axe to grind...no vested interest...but from his training and experience will be able to guide you in the practical things you will need to do. What is even more important, he will give support and spiritual guidance in this emotional crisis of your loss. You will do well to get acquainted with him beforehand...because you're sure going to need him some day...or some night.

Second...Express your feelings. Shock...grief...guilt...anger...love, hopefully. But don't be afraid of the negative feelings. If they are there by all means let them come out. If you don't and bottle them up...they may cause you great psychological damage. Your grief may be from your sense of loss...or fears of being alone.

You may feel guilty because you mistreated this loved one recently...maybe you secretly wished he were dead. Now he is...now you feel guilty...may even wonder if your wish caused his death...it didn't. Maybe you didn't keep a promise you made.

You may feel angry..."Why me?"..."What right had he leaving me alone with four children to raise"...or "with a floundering business." It is wise to sift out your feelings...try to understand what's behind your feelings...own them whether nice ones or ugly ones...come to terms with your feelings. Your clergyman can help you greatly with them.

Third...Plan the funeral with dignity and modesty. Death is a great leveler. The funeral arrangements will not make the deceased more...nor less than he/she was in life. You cannot make up to him/her any neglect by lavish spending. The difference in money spent on a dignified and modest funeral and the lavish funeral could better be spent for legitimate needs of family or charity. Many people now request no flowers..."in lieu of send contributions to your favorite charity." There is no reason why you have to spend the full insurance policy on the funeral. Avoid sham...pretense...phoniness. It is unbecoming both in life and in death.

Let friends come to visiting hours or the wake. You need to be with people. Don't be upset by anything anyone says...they usually don't know what to say and blunder with such statements as..."He's better off."...or "You're better off." The fact that they are with you is where you derive your comfort...not in what they say. Hopefully some of your friends will visit you after a few days...that's when you need them most.

Most clergymen believe that the casket should be closed before the funeral or memorial service...you've seen the body...you know it is final...you accept it. Now enter into the funeral service prepared to hear the great promises of your religious faith.

Fourth...Go on with life...adjust according to your needs. Make changes slowly and carefully as to selling property...moving...giving up previous patterns of life. Quick decisions may cause later regret. Be with friends...but don't expect them to answer your question "why did it happen?" Through the ages the question of "why?" has been asked to no avail. Some things we have to accept without knowing "why?" Death is one of them...the biggest one.

Don't hide the fact of death from children...answer their questions...but don't tell them that "Aunt Nel has gone away on a long visit." Tell them Aunt Nel died. The truth is less painful than later discovered lies.

Incidently...if you believe in a loving God with whom...somehow...some way...some where we spend eternity...the fact of death is much easier to accept. I do.

FOR YOUR COMMENTS: Call Dr. Knox at 326-5990, or 545-5947, or write him at 628 High Street. Dedham, Mass. 02026

Area Candidates Submit Views On Issues

The Quincy League of Women Voters in cooperation with the Massachusetts League of Women Voters formulated the following primary election questions and compiled the answers by the candidates.

Directing the project by the Quincy League was Mrs. Patricia Toland, Voter Service Chairman. Mrs. David Coletti is president of the Quincy League.

The following answers were provided by Quincy area candidates for state senator and state representative in response to these three questions:

1. Should communities be required to provide low-moderate income housing with state and/or federal aid? Describe.

2. Would you support increases in state-collected taxes for the purpose of increased aid to cities and towns? Please elaborate.

3. Would you support strong state enforcement of penalties and sanctions to control pollution of the environment? Describe.

The candidates, asked to limit their replies to 125 words per question, answered thusly:

State Senator

First Norfolk
[Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook]
James R. McIntyre [D], 82 Kemper St., Quincy, incumbent, running unopposed.

1. Communities should not be required to provide housing, but should be encouraged to do so with both state and federal aid. One presently successful example is the leased housing program administered by the Department of Community Affairs. There has passed the legislature a package of housing bills which would increase the state's contribution to housing, and would give other incentives for the construction and renovation of public housing. I supported all of these measures.

2. The cities and town are in desperate need of increased state and federal financial aid and programs. I would support a state graduated income tax, and a change in the Highway Fund to allow the gas tax to be used for mass transportation to offset the MBTA deficit now funded by the property taxpayer.

3. Yes. There should be strict enforcement of existing regulations against all types of pollution [water, air, land and noise], and the development of more stringent regulations, and encouragement by the state, of strong federal guidelines and controls, and federal financial aid for pollution control.

State Representative

First Norfolk
Quincy [Ward 1]
Arthur H. Tobin [D], 58 Huntly Rd., incumbent, running unopposed.

1. Required by whom? Communities should construct housing which meets the demands of the people residing in the community. Communities should not be dictated to, the decision should be optional.

2. No - because the state keeps the money & does not give the cities and towns enough money - Governor Sargent should not have done away with the local aid fund.

3. I would support enforcement of penalties and sanctions to control pollution of the environment if the violators did not cease after specific warnings, then I would support strong enforcement.

Second Norfolk
Quincy, [Wards 2, 3]
Clifford H. Marshall, [D], 64 Edison St., incumbent.

1. Yes, in Quincy we have been doing a good job for elderly, however, there is a definite need for low-middle income housing for families, however this should not be constructed in large complexes due to Social Problem etc. & prior failures with this past theory.

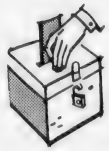
2. The Sales Tax has not done the job. The general public does not want the graduated income tax although it seems to me to be one of the fairest of all. We must tighten up collection of present sales tax collection if possible & I anxiously await the report of the Master Tax Commission.

The Cities & Towns need support & also need to establish rapport with State through Legislators to make sure these needs are known & presented so as to make the Legislature meet these needs in cooperation with local authorities so they can work together to correct them.

3. Yes, as I have in the past. As chairman of City Environmental Controll Committee, I have been very close to this & feel that rhetoric must be replaced with action.

Louis J. Caruso, 83 Water St., did not reply to the questions.

Third Norfolk
Quincy [Wards 4, 5, 6]
Two Seats
Democrat
Joseph E. Brett, 254 Fenno St., incumbent.



1. No...Home rule should prevail, let each community decide for itself. More emphasis should be put on private enterprise...less on public.

2. No...All the examples we have had in recent years of increased state and federal aid to municipalities have seemed to lead to more uncontrolled spending on the local level. The closer government is to the people; the better it will be.

3. I could write a book about this; the same people that pontificate so much about the environment and pollution control are oft-times the worst offenders in the name of "progress". The destruction of our open spaces and waterways by developers and public officials is the prime example of such double-talk.

Paul T. Gallagher, 55 Campbell St.

1. Quincy and every community must live up to their moral obligation of providing low-moderate income housing but so also must our federal government. It can only be a joint effort because of the enormity of the problem. What is actually needed aside from money is the change of procedure for the administration of funds. Right now the whole question of providing low-moderate income housing is very unappetizing to the public due to the peoples fear that their hard-earned money is not being put to the use it was intended. Yes, I would require communities to provide low-moderate income housing with both state and local aid providing however, that the funds be controlled by responsible businessmen within each community.

2. If the federal government would give us back 15% of what each of us is compelled to send to Washington in the course of a year for federal taxes, we wouldn't have to worry about aid to cities and towns. As I have indicated on numerous occasions, this problem is just too darn big to solve with pea-shooter solutions. I could not in good conscience support any measure that would necessitate the increase in our state taxes without careful inquiry and assurances that it would be absolutely beneficial to the cities and towns. I have always enjoyed looking for loopholes.

3. We all do so much talking about environmental pollution where does talking stop and action begin. There has to be urgent legislation passed now - today to curb and bring under control all forms of earth pollution. Everyone of us must then face the fact that industries and the consumer must bear the burden of control. Enforcement of penalties are essential but in the long run each of us, as consumers, will have to assume our share of this situation through price increases of consumer goods and this is only fair. I am tired of talk, I want to do something about this!

John L. Gillis, 122 Taylor St.

1. Where there is a need, communities should be required to provide it. State and Federal aid should be provided when needed.

2. Cities and towns desperately need tax relief. For this purpose I would advocate a constitutional convention to reorder the tax structure, instituting a graduating income tax.

3. Yes. I will support legislation to establish an Environmental Quality Control Council, levy fines against polluters whether individuals or industries, and authorize citizen suits against polluters.

Dorothy Quinn, 3 Dayton St.

1. Where a need is established and government aid or private financing is available, communities should be required to use the resources available to fulfill the need for low-moderate income housing.

2. To alleviate the excessive property tax, I advocate more ...able taxes on income-a graduated income tax, inclusion on the tax base of net rental income, and no exemption of savings, credit or bond interest from reportable on the Massachusetts income tax.

3. Anyone who engages in any action which results in contamination of the environment should pay the complete cost and an additional fine to be used for pollution control. The government should provide low interest loans to anyone unable, as decided by courts, to cover the cost of pollution control without going out of business.

J. Vincent Smyth, 184 Landsdowne St.

1. This should be the option of each individual City or Town according to their needs and availability of land. Cities and towns must now, at their discretion, apply for federal or state aid for housing in this category.

2. Yes. Cities and towns throughout Massachusetts have reached the point when State-aid through a more liberal formula of money should be instituted. More attention should be given to priorities in aiding local governments.

3. Yes. After allowing the factories, manufacturers, automobile industry, commercial airlines and citizens a reasonable length of time to make the necessary adjustments, strong State enforcement and penalties should be adhered to.

Republican
Walter J. Hannon, incumbent, 45 Forbes Hill Rd.

1. I do not feel that a city or town should be required by law to provide low-moderate income housing, but they should be given tax incentives to induce them to build this type of facility because of the great need for such housing. By tax incentives, I mean schools, etc.

2. No, because the answer to the tax problems of the cities and towns lies with the Federal government. The Property Tax can no longer be used as a basis for running cities and towns. There must be direct payments back from the Federal Government to the cities and towns.

3. Yes, I believe in stringent controls. But, on the other hand, we must give Industry time to do the necessary job to stop pollution. It cannot be done overnight, anymore than it was caused by overnight means. I say five [5] years is a reasonable time for Industry to make the necessary changes.

Jens E. Thornton, 14 Orchard St.

1. Yes, except on land which was created by filling flood plains or tideland areas. In such areas, the use of tax money should be prohibited absolutely.

2. Yes, but I would like to see a reduction in the size of our bureaucracy. In particular, I object to adding a new level of bureaucracy to do the work which is now done by elected officials and volunteers such as the League of Women Voters.

3. Yes. For example, the Montclair Marsh in N. Quincy, Mass., was recently filled in violation of local, state and federal laws. Quincy officials ignored repeated complaints. And a local newspaper suppressed opposition which might have stopped the project. Strong, toothful state & federal laws are needed to protect the public from unethical behavior.

County Commissioner

The following answers were provided in response to the two following questions:

1. What changes would you advocate in the structure and financing of county government?

2. What is your opinion regarding a civil service system for county employees?

Thomas K. McManus, 77 Fulton St., Democrat incumbent, running unopposed.

1. Possible a county legislature governed by the state legislators within the county with the three commissioners acting as the executive branch. Additional revenue to be derived either from a county sales tax or the inheritance taxes paid by the county to the state be returned to each county for their operation.

2. I feel that the employees should have civil service protection, however, as long as the system is in study for improvement I would wait until the legislative changes are made on the State level before incorporating them on the County level.

Wards 1, 5 Quincy's Barometer?

Wards 1 and 5 should be the "barometers" for Quincy in the Sept. 15 primary.

Ward 1 has the largest number of registered voters [10,464], most Democrats [4,843], most Independents [3,275] and most male voters, 4,798.

Ward 5, second largest with 10,240 registered voters, has the most Republicans [2,701] and the most female voters, 5,705.

The breakdown by wards:

WARD	MALE	FEMALE	TOTAL	DEM.	REP.	IND.	TOTAL
I	4,798	5,666	10,464	4,843	2,346	3,275	10,464
II	2,133	2,640	4,773	2,668	814	1,291	4,773
III	2,070	2,403	4,473	2,183	1,040	1,150	4,473
IV	2,377	2,773	4,150	2,563	922	1,665	4,150
V	4,535	5,705	10,240	4,758	2,701	2,981	10,240

Register Of Deeds

The following answers were provided by candidates for Norfolk County Register of Deeds in response to the following two questions:

1. What is the most pressing problem of the office to which you seek election, and what solution do you propose for it?

2. Some commissions have recommended shifting county court and correctional functions to the state level. Please give your opinion.

Democrat

Barry T. Hannon, incumbent, 305 West St., Braintree.

1. Since I have been the Register of Deeds in Norfolk County I have devoted all of my efforts toward providing greater and more efficient service to the citizens of Norfolk County. The Registry of Deeds in Dedham continues to enjoy the reputation as the "Finest Registry of Deeds" in the Commonwealth and with the help of a fine devoted staff we will keep it that way.

2. The reorganizations of county government which has been proposed by some would have to be done independently of Registries of Deeds. All of our Registries have the complete records, indexes and microfilms of all properties within their districts since the 1700's. To alter the geographic limits that this Registry serves would produce much confusion, and cause a great expense to our taxpayers.

Republican

James A. Shannon, 22 Endicott St.

1. Some towns in Norfolk County do not have assessors' plans on record at the Registry of Deeds. Some plans which are on record date back twenty-five years. In searching a title much confusion is caused by this condition.

Our Legislature could pass a law compelling the municipalities to keep on record at the Registry of Deeds current assessors' plans.

2. The work release program for House of Correction inmates was pioneered in Norfolk County by Sheriff Hedges and has been extremely successful.

The District Court function on County level has been efficiently handled with the guidance of Chief Justice Kenneth Nash. The Norfolk County Superior Court is an efficient creature of the State. Our Probate Court ranks second to none.

I recommend no changes in Norfolk County.

County

Clerk Of Courts

The same two questions asked the Register of Deeds candidates were asked Norfolk County Clerk of Courts John P. Concannon of 195 Independence Ave., Quincy, Democrat incumbent who is running unopposed.

His answers:

1. Litigants are required to wait an unconscionably long time before they are reached for trial. This is due to the limited number of court rooms available and a shortage of Superior Court judges even if the rooms were available.

Provision should be made in Norfolk County for jury trials of lesser criminal and civil cases in the district courts. Appeals from these cases should go directly to the Supreme Judicial Court.

2. The Superior Court is a state court. Judges are assigned throughout the state by the Chief Justice. The Norfolk Supperior Court Clerk and his staff are county employees working only at Dedham. Making the clerk's office a state office would mean the clerk and his staff would be hired and paid by the state. It has not been shown to my satisfaction that the state is more efficient and economical than county government.

13,042 Independents Can Vote Sept. 15

City Clerk John M. Gillis reminds Quincy's 13,042 independent voters [those not enrolled in either party] that they can vote in the Sept. 15 primary.

Gillis noted that many independents believe they cannot vote in the primary.

"This is not the case," he said.

He stressed that any registered voter may go to the polls on primary day and request a ballot of either party. Whatever party designation he selects will be placed before the name of the voter.

Gillis said that anytime after the primary the voter may have the party designation removed at City Hall.

You Can Still Register For Final Election

Quincy residents unregistered to vote in the Sept. 15 primary may still register to vote in the final election, Nov. 3.

City Clerk John M. Gillis announces that voter registrations will be held at City Hall starting the day after the primary until Oct. 3. On the final day registrations will be open until 10 p.m.

Gillis said residents who have become qualified as to residency and age, and those who were eligible but failed to register before can register in time for the election in November.

$33,210 Wiring In August

City wire inspector William H. Pitts, reports 119 permits were issued in August for wiring costing an estimated $33,210.

A total of 140 inspections were made, with 16 defects noted. There were nine re-inspections and one fire call, he said.

Most State-Wide Action On Democratic Ballot

At the state-wide level on primary day, most of the action will be on the Democratic ballot.

Hardest fought battle pits four contenders against one another for the gubernatorial nomination: Sen. President Maurice A. Donahue, former Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy; Kenneth P. O'Donnell, former aide to President Kennedy and Boston Mayor Kevin White.

The lieutenant governor's race on the Democrat side is also a hot one. In contention are Rep. Michael S. Dukakis of Brookline; Rocco J. Antonelli, Somerville; John J. Craven, Jr., Boston; Kathleen T. Ryan Dacey, Milton and James S. McCormack of Arlington, former Quincy city councillor and state senator.

Unopposed on the Democratic ticket are U. S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn, Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren, Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, Auditor Thaddeus Buczko.

Best Republican fight is between Josiah A. Spaulding of Manchester and John J. McCarthy of Chatham for the U. S. Senator nomination.

Unopposed in the primary are Republican candidates: Gov. Francis W. Sargent, Donald R. Dwight of South Hadley, lieutenant governor; Donald L. Conn of Melrose, attorney general; Mary B. Newman of Cambridge, secretary of state; Frederick D. Hannon of Westwood, treasurer and Frank P. Bucci of Braintree, candidate for state auditor.

'A Wonderful Opportunity'

Affsa Wins Full Scholarship To U. Of Maryland

Paul Affsa, one of the top trackmen and cross country runners in North Quincy High history, has received a full scholarship to the University of Maryland, which annually has one of the outstanding track teams in the nation, running neck and neck with Villanova.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for Paul and I am very happy about it," said Coach Bob Gentry, who had Paul in cross country, winter track and spring track. "It is gratifying to see more and more scholarships for track being offered by the colleges.

"Paul is one of the most versatile trackmen I've worked with and is very coachable. He should do very well in college."

Last fall Affsa lost only one cross country run in the Greater Boston League, that to Bobby Ciano of Quincy.

In winter track he had an outstanding season running the 600, 300, mile, 1000 and relay and also high jumping in the Met League. He won the state Class A 600-yard run at Boston Garden and missed the meet record by just two-tenths of a second. In 1969 he placed third in the state Class B 300.

Paul was selected to run in the 600-yard run in the national schoolboy meet in New York but, despite running one of his best races, ran well behind as some amazing times were set.

This spring he had another outstanding season to spark the Raiders to the GBL championship with an unbeaten record and led local qualifiers for the state class meet at White Stadium.

He won the long jump, 220 and anchored the winning relay team in the final meet of the season against Quincy which decided the title, both teams being unbeaten going into the meet, to complete a brilliant league season

In the class qualifying meet he ran an outstanding 1:58 half mile and qualified in both that event and the long jump for the class meet.

In that meet he placed second in both events and in the state meet he placed fourth, qualifying for the New England meet.

Affsa holds the school long jump record and the course record in cross country.

Conroy Wants Good Look

Quincy, B.C. High In Pre-Season Test

Quincy's football squad, with a goodly number of lettermen, has been coming along well as the Presidents prepare to open defense of their Greater Boston League co-championship.

However, Coach Hank Conroy wants to wait until after Saturday's first outside scrimmage with B. C. High before saying too much about the team's hopes.

"The boys are working hard and the spirit is wonderful," Conroy said. "I think we'll have a team which will again give a good account of itself in our strong league but I'll know much more after our opening scrimmage.

"One thing which pleased me very much was the excellent condition in which the players reported. We must fill some big holes at tackles, center and linebacker but I think we will have the boys to fill them."

The probable starting offensive line has Rich Menci, expected to be one of the best in the state, and Billy Meyer at the ends; Dave Omar and Bob Conti tackles, Bob Gallo and Bob Sylva guards, and Jim Bucchianeri, center.

In the backfield will be Steve Sullivan at quarterback, the sensational Steve McCarthy and Jon Provost, halfbacks, and Wayne Richards fullback.

McCarthy was one of the GBL's fastest and best running backs last year as a sophomore and earned the respect of opposing coaches.

"He has to be the best in the league," said Malden coach Billy Tighe. "He was sensational as a sophomore and should be even better this year."

Battling this group for starting positions are Jim Hanlon and Dave Coull, ends; Bob Guardiano and Bob Volpini, tackles; Mike Craig and Bob Tarbox, guards; Joe Russo, center; Jimmy Walker and John Joyce, quarterback; Joe Goguen, John Alfano and Bobby Malvesti, halfbacks, Dennis Waters and Joe Nicastro, fullbacks.

Others trying to break into the lineup on offense are Backs Frank Pelligrino, Bob Bosader, George Sisti, Rich Gacicia and Frank Petrucci; Guards Paul Fanning, Ron Mastropietro and Dennis Satterthwaite, Center Frank Catrambone and End Paul Sampson.

"We must find some interior linemen and linebackers," Conroy explained. "I tried to get a scrimmage last week but couldn't find anyone willing to meet us. We have a lot of work to do but I think we'll come along."

Shooting For Majors

Quincy Boys Doing Well In Minor League Baseball

A large number of Quincy boys are playing minor league baseball and most of them are showing fine progress in their attempts to move up in pro ball.

Bill Enos of Cohasset, New England supervisor for the Milwaukee Brewers [nee Seattle Pilots], and his favorite "bird dog", Ronnie Frongello, former North Quincy pitching star, have signed many Eastern Mass. players during the past two years and several Quincy players have been included.

"We signed Gary McGrath, a big right-handed pitcher from North Quincy, a year ago and we expect big things from him," Enos said. "Right now his record with Newark, N.Y., of the Class A New York-Pennsylvania League is not impressive but he is coming along and I think he will make it. He is big and strong and throws hard."

Enos is high on Quincy's Dennis Coull, whom he signed while scouting for the Athletics and he is pitching excellent ball for the Athletics' Burlington team of the Class A Midwest League.

"He looks very good and I just wish he was in our system," Bill said. "I consider him one of the best I have signed in this area and the Oakland officials see big things for him."

Enos and Frongello last year shocked those at the draft meetings in New York by making Quincy's John "Biff" Bacher, former Abp. Williams and U. of Connecticut third baseman-outfielder, their first draft choice.

"There were a lot of raised eyebrows when we picked him first as no one had heard of him, but he is a big, strong boy who is now in service but we think he will make it big when he gets out." Enos, now in his 33rd year of pro baseball, said.

"He hits a long ball and has everything to make a fine player. We are eagerly awaiting his discharge from the service."

Enos, who has signed a great many players, five of whom are now in the major leagues and 10 of whom are now playing in the Milwaukee farm system, is not the only scout to sign local players.

The veteran among Quincy minor leaguers is Dick McLaughlin, who has been in pro ball for many years and now is batting .280 playing the outfield for the Dodgers' Spokane team of the Class AAA Pacific Coast League. This is the highest minor league classification.

Dick has been in Triple A ball for several seasons, has always hit well and he has been to spring training with the Dodgers but hasn't been able to quite make the grade in the majors.

The Tigers have an excellent prospect in Art Clifford, Quincy pitcher who did so well with Lakeland of the Florida State League in his pro debut this spring that he was promoted to Rocky Mount of the Class A Carolina League, and last week was jumped to Toledo of the Class AAA of the International League.

Art had a 9-1 record and a fantastic 0.79 earned average in 16 Florida State League games. He proved to Manager Dick Tracewski, former Tiger infielder, that he deserved better than relief duty and started nine games for Lakeland.

Clifford, who served a year in Vietnam, received a valuable pitching tip in 1968 from Johnny Sain, then the Tigers' pitching coach. "I was having trouble that year throwing and Sain straightened me out in five minutes," he said.

"He saw me pitching on the sidelines one day, made a suggestion on how I gripped the ball and that's all there was to it. I didn't forget it when I went to spring training this spring."

Art was drafted by the Army in March of 1968 after Sain had just a brief look at him. This was only a month after he signed a pro contract and reported to spring training.

Detroit officials feel the Quincy hurler has an excellent chance to make it all the way.

One of the more recent Quincy pro signees was Steve Tomasseti, a fine catcher-outfielder for North Quincy High and Quincy Legion, who signed with the Athletics and is now playing the outfield for Coos Bay of the Class A Midwest League.

Steve hasn't played too much but has been coming along and his batting average is starting to climb slowly.

Another of the more recent Quincy draftees, North Quincy's Richie Wanless, is pitching for the Pirates' Gastonia, N.C., team of the Class A Carolina League.

'Coming Along Well'

North Scrimmages Brookline Saturday

North Quincy's football team goes against Brookline Saturday in its second scrimmage of the season and Coach Ralph Frazier and his assistants hope the Raiders do as well as in their first workout last week against Haverhill.

"I was very pleased with that scrimmage," said Frazier, who is beginning his second year as head coach. "The offense worked very well, although we bogged down when within scoring range. We outscored them by two touchdowns but should have scored more. And the defense bottled up Haverhill very well. We are coming along very well."

With the opener against new Weymouth South only a week away, North has a potential starting offensive unit sprinkled with lettermen.

As of the moment the possible starting line has Bob Graham and Dan Zink at end, Frank McIsaac and John Meyer tackles, John Graceffa and Billy Morgan guards and Mike Tracy center.

In the backfield it looks like Paul Lippens at quarterback, Tony Kelley and either Lee Davis or John Linnehan halfbacks and John Panarelli fullback.

There are a lot of other players battling for offensive positions and some of them may work their way into starting jobs.

Among them are Jim Driscoll and Dave Mahoney, ends; Joe Morrisey, Leo Papile and Jim Ziniti, tackles; Dave Hemmingway, guard; Ed Hill, center; Bob McKay, quarterback; Billy Fong, halfback, and Kevin Egan, fullback.

"I have a really fine second set of backs," Frazier said. "Although the second line isn't as strong right now as the backs, it is progressing nicely and we should have good depth. At the start of practice our interior line was the big problem but it is starting to come along.

North has a transfer from Oregon, Brian McCleery, a soccer-style kicker, who has been kicking well in practice and will be used to kick extra points and, if the occasion arises, field goals.

Others being groomed as place kickers are Jerry Marchitelli, Mike Polvere and Steve Murray.

"We are farther along at this point than a year ago and we are happy with the way things are going," the Raider coach added. "I feel we will be ready for our first game but must work hard as we open a week earlier than most other teams."

Hall Succeeds York As X-Country Coach

Tom Hall, successful spring track coach at Quincy High, has been named to succeed George York as the Presidents' cross country coach.

York recently retired after several seasons as harrier mentor.

York had trouble in recent years recruiting cross country runners, although interest did pick up a bit last year. Hall hopes to induce some boys from his outstanding spring team, which lost only the final Greater Boston League meet to North Quincy last spring, to join his harrier squad. Hall will continue as spring track skipper.

Meanwhile, the venerable Bob Gentry continues his triple chores as coach of North Quincy's cross country, winter track and spring track teams.

His 1969 cross country team lost only once in GBL action, his winter trackmen had a winning record in the Met League and the spring team was unbeaten GBL champion.

YMCA's Long Service Club Resumes Meetings Oct. 8

The YMCA's Long Service Club for retired men will resume meetings Oct. 8 at 2 p.m., and will meet each week on Thursday until May 6, 1971. David L. Paton is president.

There will be a weekly film program, along with discussion of subjects pertaining to the elderly. No membership is required and all retired men are welcome.

MGM has put a temorary halt on the future production of any more "youth oriented" films, and has definitely cancelled plans to film ABBIE HOFFMAN's radical best-seller, "REVOLUTION FOR THE HELL OF IT"... The reason? The recent wave of youth cult pictures could just be on the wane as hinted by the low returns pulled in this summer by the MGM releases, "THE STRAWBERRY STATEMENT", "THE MAGIC GARDEN OF STANLEY SWEETHEART", and "THE MOONSHINE WAR"... The supply seems to have exceeded the demand, and the quality of acting, directing, and writing has not lived up to the expectations of the audience... "THE GOLDDIGGERS" looms as formidable shoo-in as a mid-season replacement for the first show that doesn't have it ratings' wise... According to the latest polling of the NIELSEN RATINGS, "THE GOLDDIGGERS" was the highest rated summer series to be aired this past season...

"HELLO DOLLY" became the longest running musical on Broadway Sept. 9, when the DAVID MERRICK bonanza gave its' 2,718th performance... "HELLO DOLLY" shattered the record previously held by "MY FAIR LADY" which had given 2,717 performances... HUGH HEFNER will produce a youth-slanted version of "MACBETH" this coming October in Scotland and Wales. The Shakespeare classic is due for a slight overhauling as both HEFNER and British film critic, KENNETH TYNAN will be doing the scenario... ROMAN POLANSKI will direct the accumulated cast of Macbeth "unknowns"... The "TODAY" show originates live from Canada the NBC fall-premiere week of Sept. 14-18. Telecasts will be primed in from Montreal, Quebec, Toronto and Ottawa, with HUGH DOWNS, BARBARA WALTERS, JOE GARAGIOLA, et al, doing their on-the-scene coverage thing...

The X-rated, "THE ZODIAC COUPLES", can best be summed up as a 77 minute excursion in psychedelic erotica. Glutted trash at its' worse!... Veteran film producer-director HOWARD HAWKS' next motion picture is the JOHN WAYNE-JENNIFER O'NEAL starred "RIO LOBO", a western adventure set in post Civil War Texas... "SOLDIER BLUE" is by far the most brutally realistic anti-war film yet produced. Starring together in "BLUE" are CANDICE BERGEN, who gives one of her most moving and more powerful performances to date, PETER STRAUSS, and DONALD PLEASENCE... California has to be a "breeding ground" for thespian-politico types. Former actress TONI KIMMEL is campaigning against BARRY GOLDWATER JR., for the 27th Congressional District... If she wins, Miss KIMMEL, a Democrat, would be representative of the most populous congressional district in the country...

Has JIMMY DURANTE retired? Hasn't been seen on the telewaves for sometime now... ELVIS PRESLEY recently nixed a lucrative television pact for an even bigger MGM film deal... Whatever became of "MEN FROM UNCLE", ROBERT VAUGHN and DAVID McCALLUM? The big motion picture future of McCALLUM has yet to become a reality, and VAUGHN, with a ph.d. in political science, has yet to take the at one time much-mentioned-plunge into politics... CHERIE LATIMER, former high price fashion model turned actress, makes a rather auspicious, eye catching film debut in "ALEX IN WONDERLAND"... Miss LATIMER not only has her purse stolen by DONALD SUTHERLAND, but her clothes are "heisted" as well... LEE MAJORS and ROBERT CONRAD team together in the upcoming ABC-TV Movie of the Week, "Weekend of Terror"... They portray a pair of not so easy to like kidnappers...

JAMES STEWART's next film, "FOOLS PARADE" will be shot entirely on location in the mountain town of MOUNDSVILLE, West Virginia. The picture is being adapted from a book of the same title written by West Virginia native DAVIS GRUBB... Storyline revolves around three convicts and their misadventures over a troublesome $25,000 check... JERRY LEWIS is scheduled to direct a "Doctors" segment of "THE BOLD ONES". The drama deals with the effects of muscular dystrophy on the young... The NBC-TV drama has special significance for LEWIS since he has been national chairman for the MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY FOUNDATION the past 20 years... CLAIRE BLOOM extends her talents this coming fall in the alternating repertory off-Broadway plays "HEDDA GABLER", and "A DOLL's HOUSE"... Her husband HILLIARD ELKINS is the producer, and he will employ many of the Stratford Company actors in both productions... Both the musical production of "SCROOGE" and its' co-star ALBERT FINNEY should be candidates for the Academy Awards come next April... The unusual and outstanding treatment of this Charles Dickens classic brought to the screen now as a musical make it well worth the price of admission... Co-starring along with FINNEY is SIR ALEC GUINNESS...

Safe Drivers Save School Children's Lives!

'Take Your Time - - Not A Child's Life'

By CAPT. ROY CAVICCHI
HEAD OF QUINCY
TRAFFIC BUREAU

With the advent of school opening it is necessary to remind the motorists of our community of their responsibilities to pedestrian safety.

In our city 22,000 children will be returning to school this month.

Drivers should be cautious as these children are on the move from home to school and back. They will be crossing at crosswalks and under supervision part of the way, but at other times they are on their own and one is liable to dart out onto the street in front of a car when least expected.

As the operator of a car you are controlling a powerful weapon that spells possible harm to them. Have your vehicle under control at all times and be able to stop it when necessary.

Parents have the responsibility to properly instruct their children in the correct manner in which to cross streets. If they do their job properly and the motorist is courteous and alert at all times we should have a safe school year.

Remember, Mr. Motorist, slow down during school crossing hours. Take your time not a child's life.

Keep Your Dog Home

School yards are for school children–not dogs.

Stray dogs wandering around school yards can frighten, bite or hurt children.

The Quincy Police Department reminds owners of dogs that the city has a leash law.

It forbids dogs from roaming the streets free. Violators will be prosecuted, warn police.

School Safety Is Everybody's Business

By GUIDO PETTINELLI
Quincy School Safety Officer

School safety is everyone's responsibility.

Everyone means just that–the children themselves, teachers, parents, police and, perhaps most of all, the motorists.

If everyone cooperates–and thinks safety–we may have an accident free school year in Quincy. That should be a major goal for us all.

We have approximately 22,000 students attending schools within our city from kindergarten to college age and several day nurseries where children are transported.

In Quincy we have 22 public grammar schools, five parochial schools, five junior high schools, two high schools, one vocational-technical school, Quincy Junior College and Eastern Nazarene College.

This means, of course, that during the school year many miles of pedestrian traffic will be traveled by students here. Many of these will be young pupils crossing main streets and busy intersections where the Quincy Police Dept. has 40 women traffic supervisors and eight policemen guarding them.

We also have about 1,000 pupils who, in the course of the year, serve on the School Safety Patrol in assisting the traffic supervisors and policemen.

Youngsters should remember these rules:

- Always walk on the sidewalk
- Cross only at the corner-look both ways before crossing.
- Use the crosswalks whenever possible.
- Do not cross from between parked cars
- When crossing at a traffic light, wait for the light to change and wait for traffic to stop before crossing
- Obey your school traffic supervisor
- Obey your safety patrol
- Watch for turning cars
- Never dart out onto the street
- Walk defensively-be especially alert for careless drivers.

There are also important safety rules for youngsters traveling to and from school by bus. They are:

- Stay quietly in your seat
- Save snacks and homework for later
- Put books & bundles where they can't slide or fall
- Keep arms and legs out of the aisles
- Act as you would in the classroom
- Try not to carry big or heavy things on the bus
- Your head, arms and bundles are safest inside the bus
- Don't talk to the driver except in emergencies
- Get permission to open windows
- When leaving the bus walk, do not run

SCHOOL SAFETY OFFICER Guido Pettinelli begins his periodic rounds of Quincy's elementary schools to discuss safety rules with pupils.

Parents should fulfill their obligations by understanding traffic regulations and have knowledge of the Safety Rules that their children should know. Poor parental example and lack of supervision can defeat the positive efforts of others to provide for a child's safety. The following are some tips that parents should adhere to so that they might contribute somewhat to the safety of our children:

- Set a good example in the presence of your child. When a pedestrian follow the safety rules
- Teach your child the danger of talking or going with strangers
- As an operator of a car, be courteous and observant, especially around school zones be very careful
- Remember to treat other children as you want others to treat your child.

We do not encourage riding bicycles to and from school but there are times when students are allowed to use their bikes. Rules must be followed. They are:

- Bicycle riders must obey traffic rules and regulations - [traffic signs and signals]
- Ride on the right side of the road
- Always ride single file
- Only one on a bike - No riders

Many parents are unaware that their children are not riding their bikes properly and are violating bicycle rules. Parents should know the rules so that they can train their children on the right way to ride their bike. Parents should also see that the bike is inspected so that it is safe to ride.

There are penalties for violators such as.

Those under 18 years of age may have their bicycle impounded for 15 days, be fined $1 or possibly lose their bicycle registration. The important factor is to educate the children to be safe bicycle riders.

Remember that the majority of the times, accidents do not have to happen.

People make them happen through carelessness.

We're Two Years (Three Newspapers) Old Today

The Quincy Sun is two years old today.

The Quincy Sun, a paid circulation publication established in September, 1968 as "Quincy's Own Weekly Newspaper", gave birth to a second year monthly Quincy Weymouth and three pper with a guaranteed 30,000 circulation made its debut Dec. 10, 1969.

The Weymouth Shopper, with a guaranteed circulation of 15,400, made its bow last Aug. 19.

The two shoppers are mailed to 45,400 homes--30,000 in Quincy and 15,400 in Weymouth--reaching approximately 145,000 readers.

The Quincy Sun and The Quincy Shopper are keyed to Quincy news and The Weymouth Shopper to Weymouth news.

Henry W. Bosworth, Jr. is publisher and editor of the three newspapers and James J. Burke, Jr., is advertising director.

The three newspapers are published by The Quincy Sun Publishing Company.

Last November, the Quincy Sun moved from 7 Foster St., to larger quarters at 1601 Hancock St. in downtown Quincy.

In the months ahead, we plan to do some more growing and expanding.

And, as we celebrate our second birthday we want to sincerely thank you--our readers and advertisers--for your support and encouragement.

Without you, none of this could be possible.

Council Zoning Vote May Not Come Until 1971

The final decision on Quincy's proposed new zoning ordinance may not be made until late this year or early 1971.

Councillor Walter J. Hannon, chairman of the City Council's full-membership Ordinance Committee, made this time estimate during a Quincy Sun poll of council reaction to recommendations of the Citizens' Advisory Committee.

Councillors, in general, were favorably impressed by the comprehensive study of proposed new zoning by a 22-member committee comprising representatives of civic groups throughout the city.

The Citizens' Advisory Committee presented its recommendations in a 20-page report delivered at a standing room only public hearing last week at City Hall.

The committee, in conclusion, urged the City Council to take the best of its report and the best of the proposed new zoning ordinance.

"There is a lot of stuff we have to sit down and digest," Hannon declared.

The Ordinance Committee, headed by Hannon and comprising all council members will make the final decision on the proposed rezoning.

"We had hoped to complete our study in 90 days," Hannon said. "We thought we would have the final voting on Dec. 10. Now there may have to be subsequent meetings and it could run into next year.

"The Advisory Committee has made suggestions – they met all during the summer. We have had hearings in different wards. Now we have to sit down and make decisions on what should be done.

"We haven't met to take it apart," City Council President Arthur H. Tobin said. "I think it was a good job, well done, extremely objective. We should congratulate them for their efforts. As far as it affects us, and whether I think it will be accepted by the Council, I have no way of knowing at this time."

"I thank them very much for their cooperation," Tobin continued. "This is good government. I would have to assume by glancing over the report that there are many sections of the rezoning proposal as amended and submitted to us that the Citizens Advisory Committee goes along with. Since the public hearings, the planning board has been amending this right along. There are several amendments in every ward."

Tobin disclosed that Peter MacDonald, who made a two-hour presentation of the Advisory Committee's report, was one of several attorneys who met with the City Councillors during the summer to discuss the proposed rezoning of Quincy.

Others, in addition to City Solicitor Harry Pavan, were School Committeeman Paul C. Kelly, a member of the St. Moritz Association; Attv.

School Department Seeks $240,000 Reimbursement

The Quincy School Department has applied for $240,000 in reimbursement for a number of modernization projects in its older schools.

Since, 1968, according to School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon approximately $600,000 has been used to renovate and modernize several schools within the city.

Substandard basement areas have been converted into classrooms and seldom used auditorium spaces are now library and media centers.

Under recent legislation, many of these projects now qualify for reimbursement from the State.

Saturday, the School Committee will visit eight Quincy schools where major renovations have taken place during the past three years. City Councillors and other city officials have been invited to join them on the tour.

Schools to be visited include Adams, Pollard, Merrymount, Gridley Bryant, Massachusetts Fields and Squantum elementary schools; Quincy High School and Central Junior High School.

Bryan Auxiliary To Present Flag To Library

The George F. Bryan VFW Auxiliary will present an indoor American flag to the new Adams Shore Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library Sept. 26 at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Ruth Perry, patriotism instructor, will make the presentation for the Auxiliary. It will be accepted by Warren Watson, director of libraries, and Mrs. Margaret Ann Myers, branch librarian.

A delegation of Junior Girls sponsored by the Auxiliary is expected to attend. Mayor James R. McIntyre has been invited.

Flu Vaccine Clinic For Residents Oct. 3

An influenza vaccine clinic for all Quincy residents will be held Oct. 3 from 1 to 4 p.m. at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, announces Mayor James R. McIntyre.

This will be the only influenza clinic in 1970.

Both the Mayor and Dr. Alfred Mahoney, acting Health Commissioner urge residents to take advantage of this opportunity to be immunized against influenza.

Fire and police department personnel will have coordinated immunization planned in order to eliminate any duty time to be lost during their immunization period.

Medical teams will be sent to the housing for the elderly, nursing and rest homes, and to shut-ins in their own homes so that Senior Citizens may be immunized.

Burke Demands Removal Of Import Oil Quotas

To ease a predicted oil shortage this winter, Congressman James A. Burke has sent a telegram to George A. Lincoln, director of the office of Emergency Preparedness, insisting on immediate removal of all import quotas on all types of oil from Canada.

"The Administration's justification of such quotas in the name of national security has no basis," Burke telegraphed. "In fact the removal of such quotas would aid national security.

"The shortages of oil facing New England during the coming winter months is unconscionable and I demand that appropriate steps be taken to lift the above named quotas immediately."

Historical Society To Visit Museum Sept. 17

The Quincy Historical Society's opening event will be a special trip to the Kendall Whaling Museum in Sharon Sept. 17.

The trip is open to members only who must make advance reservations.

H. Hobart Holly is again serving as president for the 1970-71 season. William A. O'Connell and Gordon F. Nelson are first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Alfred T. Knapton, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert W. Justic, corresponding secretary; William P. Farrar, treasurer; Mrs. Rudolf O. Oberg, librarian; James R. Cameron, historian; William C. Edwards, honorary historian.

Curators include Mrs. Bradford E. Gale, G. Fred Ashworth, Frank Holzer, Carter Lee, Anthony Losordo, Mrs. W. Robert Kilbourn, Gordon D. Carr, Miss Marion G. Rogers, Robert W. Gardiner, William W. Small, Hall B. Carpenter, Harold S. Crowley, Jr., George R. Horner, Charles H. Kendall and Warren E. Watson.

Charles G. Condos Enters Bowdoin

Charles G Condos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Condos of 59 Merrymount Rd., is one of 67 Massachusetts residents entering Bowdoin College at Brunswick, Me. this month.

The college is Maine's oldest institution of higher learning.

Extra Art Classes For Seniors

An additional art class for Quincy Senior Citizens will be held on Wednesday each week at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Center, 24 High School Ave. The first was yesterday.

The classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. under the direction of Samuel Kadiff, a member of the Quincy Council on Aging's Senior Service Corps. They will be limited to 10 people on a first-come, first-served basis.

The project is being co-sponsored by the Quincy Council on Aging and the Quincy Recreation Department.

Registration may be made at the Council on Aging office, 1120 Hancock St. or by calling 471-1730.

Dr. Hybertson Christians Social Work Chairman

Dr. Larry D. Hybertson, associate professor of history and social welfare at Eastern Nazarene College, has been appointed by the National Association of Christians in Social Work as program chairman of its annual program meeting in Dallas, Texas, May 16-21, 1971.

This is a fellowship of professional social workers organized in 1953, who see the profession and Christianity as necessary adjuncts to one another in alleviating many of the ills of society.

Dr. Hybertson, previously on the faculty of Florida State University and the author of a number of professional papers, is also a Post-Doctoral Fellow at Brandeis University, School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare.

Your Part In Drugs

Much has been written about drugs - observations, opinions, fears, statistics, predictions and suggestions. Perhaps too much has been said - let's act!

Really, though, pushing aside the evoked emotions - let us survey Quincy and our environs. We will present it as Police Chief Frank Finn and Survival appraises it:

Ten years ago, a group of physicians heard the Chief of the Boston Narcotics Bureau discuss the problem of hard drugs in Quincy. As I recall, he knew of one addict then. We were clean!

Three years ago, I am told, there were perhaps six. Yet today the police declare that 200 have been apprehended with "hard" drugs, particularly Heroin.

We won't go deeply into the less habituating "soft" drugs as marijuana or speed [the latter is a mean one because of the erratic behavior while under the influence].

Barbituates are sedative and are habit forming. An overdose of the "down" pill, as these are called, requires a gradual lessening of the drug under treatment. Severe confusion and death can result from improper management.

You might be interested to know that the speed drugs [amphetamines, benzedrine and methadone] often called the "up" pills have only been around about 40 years and the barbituates a little longer. Opium has been known for over 2,500 years and has been a plague when used abnormally. Conversely, what a blessing have been the medicinal values for the alleviation of pain.

The National Institute of Mental Health is hard at work to discover ways of detecting the causes of addiction - the physiologic behavior - cellular phenomena - the psychological character of those habituated, or who might become so.

It is amazing how little importance had been given or how much we knew about addiction. Certainly, the ravages of polio were given more dramatic attention with ultimate success. Yet, the degenerate nature of heroin addiction to the individual and the vast unhappy social consequences, require the entire medical research facilities to study and prevent this malady now!

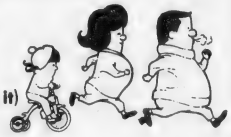
It was interesting to hear the "learned" members of the Hospital Board quote the Blue Cross as not recognizing heroin addiction as a sickness. If there is a soul, and I believe there is and if you can't define or describe it - we still know it is present.

Heroin addicts, like alcoholics, have lost it. The relationship of the soul to conscience and the loss of the latter can be demonstrated. The overpowering hunger for heroin can be assuaged, even by methadone. This drug, if it isn't the answer, still ranks at present, as our best substitute. Clinical observation has shown a return of self pride, identity and social responsibilities with its use. A sort of reviving of the soul, wouldn't you say?

It behooves everybody to look at addicts as sick people - sickness of the psyche and soul, whose appetites exceed reason and who cry for help in their rational moments and who are a consequence of man's material excesses - the weak-willed manifesting the selfishness and greed of society - putting self comfort and material possessions above social consciousness.

War is an evidence of universal materialism. Our religious institutions, while solving local indifferences, add very little to an awareness of one's neighbors pleas for help.

Existentialism has been accused as a universal contributor to youth's unrest. This is probably true, but half-knowledge about this belief with accusation, doesn't remove the attempts of all beliefs to have every man recognize his own family and neighbors as his own responsibility. And until every facet of our society, medicine included, learns of the utter dependency of one and all, we will decline into our shell of complacency, only to have it busted and the fibers of cohesion of family and town, will dissemble.



In brief - addiction is an illness. It cannot be successfully overcome by the patient. It needs concerted treatment. The prognosis for recovery or at least arrest of the dependency is far better than it used to be, thanks to programs we support like Regenesis and Marathon. Everybody must help because in one way or another, everyone is affected.

Addiction is communicable in the sense of degradation. The need for one degenerate to reduce innocent ones to his own level of misery is a part of his illness. He does this by exposure and encouragement of vulnerable children to try and experiment with drugs.

Something as volatile and dangerous and explosive as the drug problem, demands your support to stop it. Survival Incorporated is attempting this. Give us a hand! The education of children to know about drugs, first requires your own realization and participation. More later.

'No Phoniness About Him'

'Sargent's Record My Record' Says Dwight In Quincy Visit

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Confidence in Governor Francis Sargent is the platform of Donald R. Dwight, the 39-year old Commissioner of Administration who was catapulted into becoming his running mate in the November election.

"It took a little adjustment," Dwight said of his selection as lieutenant governor, during a campaign visit to the Quincy Sun. "It was a cold water treatment – like reversing gears at 60 miles per hour. But I have enjoyed campaigning. It is physically tiring but there is the stimulation of meeting people."

Referring to his candidacy, the former newspaper publisher said, "We talked about it a year or so ago. It was my feeling and Sargent agreed that I could serve him best and the state best as Commissioner of Administration. Then when trouble came, he turned to me. It was a very bleak period in our lives, but once the decision was made, I put that behind me and started working hard. I'd hate to go through that period again!"

"I do have a real advantage over the Democrats," Dwight commented. "I know who the Governor is, and I have worked with him for a number of years. We operated as a team. I shall continue in the general decision making with the Governor that I have had in the last 20 months of Sargent's administration.

"Also, he wants me to oversee implementation of the new executive organization. I was chairman of the modernization committee that put the legislation together and proposed it to the General Court. Naturally, he assigned me to go through with it," Dwight said.

"I know I will be comfortable in the lieutenant governorship, adding strength to the administration with my experience," he continued. "Sargent's record is my record, and we are emphasizing the team relationship. There is no significant instance of the Sargent administration that I was not in complete agreement with him."

Speaking of Sargent's impact on the public, Dwight said:

"The real Frank Sargent is the same Frank Sargent that you see on the television screen. He doesn't change. He is very natural, and there is no phoniness about him."

"I found it encouraging that state-wide, the people of all stripes and faiths and opinions like Frank Sargent, and they like the way he handles the Governorship."

Discussing the opposition's chances, Dwight said, "I am not predicting a huge victory for the Sargent-Dwight team. It will get much closer after the Democratic primary, but in general, there is a real respect for Sargent. People respect the job that he has done against difficult odds."

Dwight feels the chance of a Republican majority in the legislature is not "realistic."

"I don't see Republicans taking control of either branches of the legislature," he said. "I think there is a good chance of some balance taking place, particularly in the Senate, but as for getting a majority, that isn't realistic."

Four To Be Cited At HN Oct. 13

Three long-time Houghs Neck residents and a retired school teacher with 43 years at Atherton Hough School will be cited at the Oct. 13 annual Houghs Neck Community Council Honor Awards Banquet and Good Neighbor Night.

Receiving a special citation will be Miss Mary L. Shea, second grade teacher who retired this summer and whose entire teaching career in the Quincy public schools was at Atherton Hough School.

Honored for community service will be Quincy Firefighter George W. Allison of 8 Ratchford Circle, a Houghs Neck resident for more than 40 years.

Allison, a former Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troops 26 and 36, and assistant scoutmaster of troop 6, helped organize the Boys Athletic Association, was a member of the Granite Memorial Committee, has served two terms as Houghs Neck Community Council president and has served either as chairman or assistant since 1958 of Christmas lighting programs for the community.

A graduate of Quincy Trade School, he joined the Quincy Fire Department in 1948, and after a number of years at the Houghs Neck Station, is now stationed in Squantum. He is chairman of Company K in Hingham, a Division of the National Guard, and an executive board member of the Quincy Citizens Association. He has been married 34 years to the former Margaret Leuchte.

Their children are George Allison Jr. and Mrs. Thomas Dwyer [Donna] of Braintree; Barry Allison, USN, of Newport, R.I., and Mrs. Paul Ferne:te [Rosemary] of Dorchester. They have nine grandchildren.

Also receiving a community service citation will be Mrs. Richard F. [Janis] Burton of 92 Turner Street, a Houghs Neck resident for more than 30 years and associated with the Camp Fire Girls Organization, as member and leader, for more than 26 years.

Her mother, Mrs. Vernard Powell, was a Camp Fire Leader, and her daughter, Stephanie Burton [now a student at Massasoit Junior College], progressed through the various ranks from Blue Bird to Horizon Club member with her mother as leader.

Mrs. Burton organized the Wohelo-ettes and Horizon-aires Camp Fire Choruses, and has received the Wohan Award for "outstanding and imaginative leadership" and the Charlotte Joy Farnsworth award for committee work. The Chorus itself received a Parents Magazine award for 500 hours of community service. Mrs. Burton is an executive secretary at College Town in Braintree.

Houghs Neck's "Good Neighbor" of 1970 is Mrs. Dominic Catrambone, the former Marjorie Pawsey, who has lived all her life at 15 Pawsey St., and says she is "just a housewife." She is honored for "continuing acts of good-neighborliness."

Mrs. Catrambone is secretary of the Rock Island Cove Improvement Association, a Houghs Neck Congregational Church deaconness and vice president of the Mothers Club at the church. Her children are Frank Catrambone, a Quincy High School junior; Ann, a sophomore; and Susan, at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

The Honor Awards Committee announcing the selections are Mrs. Dorothy Laing, chairman, Sam Tuttle, Jr., Roland K. Josselyn, Mrs. William Morrill and Mrs. Joseph Moran.

John A. Powers is chairman of the Oct. 13 banquet, with Mrs. Laing assisting. Tickets may be obtained from Houghs Neck Community Council board members and at Pages Pharmacy.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

The Wedding Guests

Todays' column is directed to the guests. Particularly to those whose children have been excluded from the guest list.

The bride's biggest problem is the guest who receives an invitation addressed to husband and wife only and promptly sends back her acceptance for husband, wife and children.

Now, put yourself in the brides' place. She and her family have worked for weeks fitting the guest list to the budget. Many names have been omitted because of lack of space or finances and then the returns start coming in.

Can you imagine her amazement when several of them have added one or two extra guests? Usually children. This could mean an extra two to three hundred dollars. Money that she had planned to buy, perhaps, a refrigerator. Or she takes the alternative and calls the guest and explains the situation. Immediately mama gets indignant and says "If my children aren't welcome then we won't come." Result? The end of a perfect friendship. Realize that nothing personal is intended by the exclusion of your darlings. The bride knows that a wedding is no place for children and therefore has not invited any.

Let me stress the importance again of correctly accepting invitations to a wedding. Only, and I repeat, ONLY those whose name appears on the inner envelope are invited. There are absolutely no replacements or additions by you, the guest.

Only the rude or ignorant change the invitation to their liking. Don't be either one of these...

QUINCY SUN Special Features

Sun Signs
By Regina Russell

Week of Sept. 18 - 25

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Your mind could be working overtime this week on the special problems you encounter at work with machinery breakdown, etc.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Your children's activities can be so confusing at this point you may have to step in and say a few words to them.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Agreements and correspondence need extra care this week - read the fine print twice to be sure you understand; look for mistakes.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Trouble with the car can keep you grounded for a few days and if you do get out, traffic jams may delay you further.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Your budget and income has become so muddled it's time you sat down and straightened it out. Get yourself completely reorganized.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Some of your correspondence has to be done twice because it wasn't right the first time. This time be sure you include the details.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - What you have on your mind now is better left unsaid. Difficult to keep quiet this week but you will cause trouble otherwise.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Double check your reservations and your social calendar as there could easily be a mistake. Leave early to allow for traffic.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Some of you are assuming organization responsibilities, others are simply joining. Career affairs are confusing right now.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Try to hold off on that business trip until after the 21st when transportation should be running smoothly once again.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Your mind can be so full of details by now it's difficult to see things in their proper perspective. Your thoughts clarify soon.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - This is the time your mate would really appreciate some help. The situation has somehow gotten out of control; be understanding.

Button up your overcoat when the wind is free. Take good care of yourself you belong to YOU.

Anybody can belong to somebody else--it's having a sense of your own worth that is truly important. Only you know what you are really like--bearing in mind that we tend to exaggerate our weeknesses to ourselves.

One method of increasing self esteem is to have accomplished a difficult task--like losing weight. But in order to do this you may have to ACT like you really care by taking the time to shop and prepare all the foods you need to insure your success. By the time you are finished you will find you have scored a double victory. You will not only look good, but you will genuinely like yourself for having the self-pride to do those things which were necessary to accomplish your goal.

If you have any questions regarding dieting, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, New York.

Back-To-School Fashions A Family Can Afford

The cost of living continues to rise...and families find money management is more important than ever. Most families follow sensible budgets geared to suit their individual family needs.

Mrs. Alice Williams, Club Director of Popular Club Plan, a 22-year-old mail order retail organization, offers shopping advice for families who face the pressures of back-to-school shopping.

"School doors will soon swing open and parents will send their children back to school in new clothing that is sensible...and serviceable. People want fashions that fit study hour, and classroom activities, as well as walks in the park on a crisp, autumn day.

"Parents must be smart scholars, too, stretching family shopping dollars to meet the rising cost of living," she said. Any good plan takes organization. Here is a money-saving shopping plan that should be applied when shopping for back-to-school fashions.

First on the list of things to do is to set aside an afternoon and examine your children's present clothing.

First, collect the children. Then, collect and examine each piece in their present wardrobe. Third - put each piece on its owner. Summer vacations have a way of adding extra inches to growing children, which means Tommy's pants will be too short this season...and Mary's feet may have grown. If you're lucky, such items may come in handy for whoever is next-in-line.

After all the clothing has been checked, start your shopping list [complete with sizes, and colors that will coordinate with last year's fashion left-overs].

Decide first, what clothing can be repaired, dyed, or altered to last another season. Then, list the new items each child will need for back-to-school. Make up your mind now to plan a wardrobe that includes many different fashion looks for as few dollars as possible. Choose new fashions like a jumper, or tunic pants set to round-out a little girl's wardrobe. These looks can be sporty enough for school, but they will also travel to an afternoon birthday party with the proper accessories.

A VERSATILE back-to-school outfit. This maroon pants set adds four different fashion looks to a little girl's back-to-school wardrobe. It's a classic jumper. It's a tunic pants set. It's a blouse and pants sport ensemble. It's a smashing three piece pants set.

Most shopping lists will probably include new coats [one for play, one for school], suits [sporty and serious], sweaters and blouses [to give a jumper many fashion looks], dresses, pants, jackets, skirts, shirts, shoes...and on and on.

Once you know what it is you need to buy, you're ready to take the second step in your money-saving shopping plan: figuring how much you expect to pay for each item...and then planning it right into your family budget.

You don't have to buy everything on your list at one time...so don't panic at the sight of the total figure. But remember, the children will need many of these items within the next few weeks. You must be prepared to meet these shopping bills as they come up.

Now your list is complete and you are ready to shop. There are two ways you can pay for your children's back-to-school clothing. You can pay cash...or you can charge it. Remember, most time payment plans are monthly programs and you will have to face a bill at the end of the month.

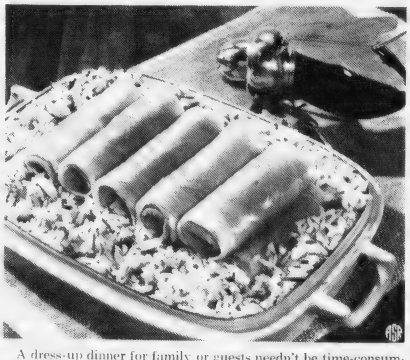
A few companies offer a weekly payment program which fits most naturally into your weekly money plan, if that's the way you budget your money. Regardless of how you budget your money, or how often your husband gets paid [weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly], figuring your money plan on a weekly basis makes it easier to develop your money plan, keep score on it, and stick to it!

Whatever your fashion budget...the following shopping tips can help make your fashion dollars go a lot further: 1. Before you buy, ask yourself if you really need it. 2. Will it be usable for more than one occasion? 3. Beware of fashion fads that will be short-lived. 4. Concentrate on selecting fashion classics that will look good season after season.

Poet's Corner

Autumn

BY
Margaret DeAngelo



September dons her Autumn Cloak
Of yellow, brown and red.
And Maples once of Emerald green
Their leafy shroud will spread.

Playful winds on mischief bent
Will pluck them one by one,
Then sail them slowly down to Earth,
To rest in the hazy sun.

Nature's beauty will brighten the Earth,
Hushed-the bird's musical strains,
The vibrant life of Summer is done,
Frost binds the Earth with silvery chains.

Now, the hilltops all bare and brown,
Prepare for the Winter Scene.
Spring shall call to them in time,
With a brand new gown of green.

A Honey Of A Rice Dish

A dress-up dinner for family or guests needn't be time-consuming, nor costly. Diners around the family table will think you fussed all day over the preparation of honey baked ham served atop a bed of nutted rice.

The convenience ingredient that adds glamour to the dish without too much extra expense is a package of UNCLE BEN'S® Long Grain & Wild Rice. One packet contains the mixture of white and wild rice, the other a select collection of seasonings, spices and herbs. Prepare the specialty rice according to package directions, add coarsely chopped peanuts, then turn into a shallow casserole. Ham slices, brushed with honey, lined atop the rice is the meat of the dish. Use leftover sliced ham if you like, or boiled or canned ham.

Round out the menu with a fresh fruit salad and crumb-topped fresh asparagus or broccoli spears for an easy dress-up dinner that's balanced in flavor and good nutrition.

Nutted Rice And Ham

1 package UNCLE BEN'S® Long Grain & Wild Rice
2½ cups water
½ cup coarsely chopped peanuts
12 baked or boiled ham slices
Honey

Cook contents of rice and seasoning packets with water as directed on package. Add peanuts; mix. Turn into greased shallow 1½-quart baking dish. Brush ham slices with honey; roll each slice and place, seam side down, on rice. Brush tops with honey. Bake 15 minutes at 375 F., or until heated through. Brush again with honey; serve hot. NOTE: Nutted rice may be served as an accompaniment to baked ham or ham slices. Makes 6 servings.

Come Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'A Time For Everything'

President Kennedy had a favorite passage from the Old Testament which I like too. "For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven: A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; a time to love, and a time to hate."

Unfortunately...many people only practice the negatives...die...weep...mourn...refrain...silence...hate. So they are lost when it is time for new life...time to laugh...time to dance...to embrace...to speak...to love.

Take for example...a wife complains to me..."My husband is always so glum...there's never any laughter around the house...he's always worrying...always down...always silent."

Her husband complained that his wife had blamed him so much...had nagged him so much...had hurt him so much that she had destroyed his spirit. "I get along fine at work and in social gatherings...but when she's around I freeze up." She's emasculated him.

So often I've tried to encourage a partner to go right on...to be himself/herself...give no heed to the negative responses given by the partner. But that's really difficult to do. It's time to mourn and time to weep when these negative blows have been dealt to the marriage...one just doesn't feel like laughing nor dancing.

I'm one of those people who believes that romance and expressions of love shouldn't go out of a marriage...that they should become more and more expressive...not forced but natural...not phony but real...because each feels increasing warmth and love toward the partner.

The problem is that so many things mitigate against that positive feeling of attraction...of showing love toward each other. I'm thinking first of general ignorance on the part of both men and women on how to treat each other. Doubts...mistrust...suspicion...dictation...competition kill love. When a partner feels judgment...hears criticism...senses disapproval...it's not exactly the conditions which foster affection...embracing and love-making.

Usually we are hesitant to admit that we are afraid of a husband/wife...and when we discover it...and face up to it...too many over-react to show that they are not afraid...creating a greater gulf between them. "I'll drink if I want to"...said one man..."I'm not afraid of her any more." So now he's overdoing his drinking "just to show her."

What most people need is a good...intensive...frank...instructive course before they get married...and periodically in the marriage...on every aspect of married life...so they can avoid or correct these negative reactions. Without knowledge of how to relate to a man/woman it is difficult to feel warm and loving toward the partner...or like embracing and dancing.

Another factor which works against the easy...comfortable relationship of husband and wife is children. Many wives do not realize that they are allowing the children to become a wall between them and their husbands. Some children are in on everything so that the husband feels he has little time or privacy with his wife without the children. The wife that does this is headed for loneliness...for before long the children are grown and gone and she'll be living with a "stranger"...instead of a husband. Then will be the time to weep.

Many men are so overwhelmed with the responsibilities of business and support for their families...of getting ahead or keeping even with the board that they have no time or incentive to romance their wives. Men are under great pressure. Some wives have great empathy and recognize this burden of their men...are able to understand and feel with them. They are the winners...but some are not. So they mourn and die a little each day.

Someone said recently that laughter is going out of American life. I hope it isn't from yours. What we all need is to create more of the conditions which make more times to laugh...to dance...to embrace...to love.

Zoning Vote May Not Come Until 1971

William Cantalmo from Rockland, representing the Wollaston Hill group; and Richard McCormick, representing several persons in the city; and Tobin himself.

"Everyone had a chance to speak," Tobin said of the rezoning proposal. "No one was shut off. We heard from the Advisory Board, the Quincy Citizens Association, the viewpoint of all the attorneys."

"We welcome the report," he continued, "and thank the Quincy Citizens Association for their leadership and that of all cooperating groups who signed it. This will be of benefit to us because it lets us know how neighborhood groups are thinking. It can't be anything but helpful and extremely beneficial. We are still listening."

"I thought it was very well presented," said Ward 6 Councillor J. Vincent Smyth. "Their recommendations had some good valid points and certainly will, as far as I am concerned, give us some good guide lines when we continue our studies."

"The book was very well put together," he continued. "It was very clear, easy to follow and understand, especially when we had the original textbook to refer to. The presentation by the three speakers was very well done. It showed a lot of thought and work, both verbally and with the textbook."

Ward 2 Councillor Clifford H. Marshall said:

"I haven't read all the report yet. I think there are some good points in it. Some of the recommendations have already been agreed upon.

"I don't know but what there may be some areas for additional hearings, at their request. I think they [Advisory Committee] did a very extensive job and a very good job, and this should make our job a little bit easier."

Both Hannon and Tobin felt that the introduction of the subject of air pollution into the zoning recommendations was "unrealistic." Tobin pointed out that one of his first acts as council president was to name an environmental control committee with Councillor Marshall as chairman, who had been extremely active in stimulating interest among young people.

Roberts St. Center Begins Sessions

The Roberts Street Child Development Center at 65 Roberts St., West Quincy, held its first sessions this week.

Mrs. James Kimmell is director. Four year olds meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 to 11:30 p.m. with Mrs. Weikko Luoma as teacher. Three year olds meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the same hours with Mrs. Phyllis Johnson as teacher.

There are still a few openings available in both age groups, and applications are being accepted now. Further information may be obtained by calling Trinity Lutheran Church at 773-7287.

Funds from the Walk for Development have made this Child Care Center possible.

Advisory Committee's Main Recommendations

The report of the "Advisory Committee", introduced by Laurence J. Curtin, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, and outlined by Atty. Peter MacDonald, proposed a number of ordinance changes. The Committee:

- Opposed conversion of single family homes in residence A to two family homes, as permitted now, because it would cause a "substantial impact" on population, possibly doubling some neighborhood populations, and would "downgrade" existing neighborhoods and ultimately lower property values.
- Called for carefully drafted provisions defining "open area" -- areas devoted to parking, service ways and trash collection, and "green space" or tree plantings.
- Opposed exceptions to height requirements in construction, stressing that "height is height" regardless of different uses, and that the same interference with light and air ventilation results.
- Recommended that under non-conforming use, the cost of restoration in case of necessity be determined by the Inspector of Buildings and not a private builder or engineer.
- Recommended that the owner of a single or two-family house on a non-conforming lot be permitted to rebuild at least a single family house should the existing building be destroyed by catastrophy.
- Recommended that the present three-member Board of Appeals, with three-year rotating terms, be retained, because decisions require a unanimous vote and gives the public more protection without having to go to court.
- Rejected the entire concept of special permits because it "militates against the fundamental purpose of zoning."
- Recommended as an added requirement that the use or structure of a building be in harmony with the existing neighborhood.
- Recommended more precise definitions for "accessory building, or use" "basement", "building line", "floor area, gross", "lodging house", "lot", "lot line", "open space", etc.
- Rejected "entire concept" of Planned Unit Development.
- Rejected any modification of floor area requirements and minimum lot area per dwelling unit.
- Suggested increases in minimum lot requirements in Residence A-1 and A; doubled size for Residence C and Residence D.
- Recommended increased minimum lot frontage to 100 feet for Residence A-1; to 200 feet for Residence C, and 220 feet for Residence D.
- Recommended eight stories as maximum height for Residence D [as opposed to "none"] in proposed ordinance; and four stories for Residence C [as opposed to eight].
- Expressed concern over "lack of depth" in the proposed zoning ordinance provisions for environmental control.

DEPT. OF PUBLIC WORKS

NOTICE OF HEARING ON STATE HIGHWAY LAYOUT

MEDFIELD

"Pursuant to the provisions of Section 5, Chapter 81 of the General Laws, Ter. Ed., as amended, the Department of Public Works will give a public hearing in the Medfield Town Hall on Wednesday, October 28, 1970 at 8:00 P.M. to all persons interested in the reconstruction of a section of Route 27 in Medfield.

The project consists of the relocation and reconstruction of a section of Route 27 from a point on Hospital Road, Route 27, approximately 1600' east of the Charles River extending in a southeasterly direction on new location to a point on the existing Route 27 - State Street approximately 700' southeast of Main Street.

This hearing is to be a design public hearing.

Plans showing the proposed project will be on display on Tuesday, October 27, 1970 from 3:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. and again on Wednesday, October 28, 1970 from 5:00 P.M. until the time of the hearing at 8:00 P.M. all in the Medfield Town Hall. An Engineer will be in attendance during these displays to answer questions regarding the project.

Written views received by the Department subsequent to the date of this notice and up to five (5) days prior to the date of the hearing shall be displayed for public inspection and copying at the times and dates listed above.

Written statements and other exhibits in place of, or in addition to, oral statements at the public hearing regarding the proposed undertaking are to be submitted to Daniel S. Horgan, Chief Engineer, Massachusetts Department of Public Works, 100 Nashua Street, Boston, Massachusetts. Such submission will also be accepted at the hearing. The final date for receipt of these statements and exhibits will be ten (10) days after this public hearing.

The Department's policy for "Relocation Assistance' if required and tentative schedules for right of way acquisition and construction' will be discussed at the hearing."

By order of the Department of Public Works,

Edward F. Doyle
Secretary

LIVING WITH YOUR HEART

Massachusetts Heart Association

[This public service feature will appear monthly in the Quincy Sun in cooperation with the Massachusetts Heart Association]

ALCOHOLISM CAN DAMAGE THE HEART

By Peter M. Yurchak, M.D.
Assistant Physician, Massachusetts General Hospital
Assistant Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School

A chronic alcoholic, with all the problems this term implies, may be inviting still another misfortune, heart disease. The heart has been found to be adversely affected by excessive alcohol in three ways.

While this does not mean that all of the approximately 200,000 chronic alcoholics in Massachusetts will find themselves heart patients, it does mean that many of them will be affected with heart problems. It is not widely recognized that alcohol can affect the heart; it is much better known that alcoholism is responsible for a number of other disease states – psychiatric disorders, for example, or affections of the brain and nerves, or cirrhosis of the liver.

VITAMIN DEFICIENCY

The first way alcoholism affects the heart is that it may lead to malnutrition and deficiency of vitamins, particularly Vitamin B-1. In this disorder, the heart is enlarged and shows evidence of impaired function, although the volume of blood it pumps is above normal. This so-called "high-output heart failure" responds dramatically to the administration of Vitamin B-1, although certain abnormalities may persist. Diagnosis is established by specific blood tests, including one for a blood enzyme called transketolase.

A second way in which alcoholism affects the heart is the production of so-called cardiomyopathy, or "heart muscle disease". In this condition there is enlargement and failure of the heart, together with disturbances of heart rhythm. Examination of hearts showing this disease show degenerative changes, and the special technique of electron microscopy has disclosed abnormal deposits within the heart muscle cells in some instances. Response to ordinary measures of treatment is often disappointing, and maximum improvement depends upon complete abstinence from alcohol.

LIVER-RELATED PROBLEMS

The third way in which alcohol impairs cardiac function is through changes that occur in the circulation as a result of cirrhosis of the liver. A state of heart failure may be produced, and the amount of oxygen carried in arterial blood may be reduced. Since the liver detoxifies alcohol, liver disease increases the direct toxic effect of alcohol on the heart. And since the liver disease itself improves only with abstinence, the heart disease related to it requires the same measure.

Diagnosis of any of these heart diseases and the degree to which alcohol may be involved is often difficult because the patient almost invariably tends to minimize or deny his alcohol consumption. Thus, the relief of symptoms which might come with abstinence is often not achieved by the patient who may continue drinking [and denying it].

In addition, there are individuals with existing coronary disease who endanger themselves unnecessarily by an excessive consumption of alcohol when they are using nitroglycerine for relief of cardiac pain. This combination can result in a dangerous fall in blood pressure.

HEART/ALCOHOL RESEARCH

The exact mechanism by which alcohol produces these changes is uncertain. Many studies are in progress at present – supported by organizations such as the Massachusetts Heart Association – which hope to find answers to these complicated interactions. One such study on patients who consume large quantities of beer and who have a form of severe heart failure which is resistive to therapy suggests that substances present in very small amounts as a consequence of the brewing process may play a role in this type of heart disease. But this is far from certain. Another group of researchers have demonstrated that intravenous injections of alcohol alter metabolism of the heart.

In spite of this intensive study by various researchers, much remains to be learned. Heart disease caused by alcoholism and heart disease aggravated by excessive consumption of alcohol are both serious medical problems which must be given adequate consideration if they are to be solved.

["Living With Your Heart" is a public service of the Massachusetts Heart Association, which can provide further information on the care of the heart.]

IS LSD DANGEROUS ?

LSD, although simple to manufacture, is by 40,000 times, the most powerful of the hallucinogens [mind altering drugs]. A tiny drop, almost invisible to the naked eye, will produce a mild effect in most people.

It is now evident that a single dose of LSD may trigger mental illness in some persons. No one can be sure who will be so affected until it is too late.

Because an LSD user may panic or feel that he can fly, he may try to leap out of a high window and fall to his death. Or he may walk into moving traffic because he thinks he cannot be harmed.

Recently, strong evidence has suggested that LSD may also injure hereditary genes. Unless this is disproven, one must assume that if you try LSD, deformities and other damage to any children you may later have, may result.

Quincy, North Open Soccer Season

The South Shore Soccer Association opens its season Friday and both Quincy and North Quincy will get underway at home.

The Presidents, winners of the Division One title a year ago, host newcomer Franklin at the high school field at the rear of Veterans Memorial Stadium, while the Raiders, who also had an excellent season last fall, entertain Avon at Montclair Field, site of all home games.

The league has expanded with three new entries, Scituate, Franklin and Foxboro. This fall the league will operate in only one division with the first four teams meeting in a playoff series to determine the championship and a berth in the state tournament.

Last year Quincy lost to Duxbury, 3-2, in five overtime periods in the championship playoff game. Duxbury then went all the way to the tourney finals before being nipped by New Bedford.

The other league entries are Hingham, Norwell, South Shore Voc-Tech of Hanover, Sharon and Plymouth-Carver.

Quincy Coach Ron Martin has only five returnees from last year's outstanding team but has several good looking newcomers and feels his club will do well once again.

The lone returnees are Dave D'Olympio, one of the league's best goalies last year; Craig Simpson, an outstanding forward; Gustaf Dano, Paul Ecklund and Al Lavoie.

Making up the rest of the starting club are Brian Feeney, Tom Gibbons, Mike Orlando, Mary O'Toole, Nick Conderlos and Harry Meidinas, who moved to this country from Greece only about a year ago.

"He looks like an excellent prospect and it will be interesting when we meet North Qincy with its great player from Greece, [George] Bourikas," Martin said. "Right now he can't match Bourikas but he is coming along well."

Others sure to see considerable service are twins Bob and Rich Trubiano, Scott Merlis, Mike Prescella, Pete Doucette and Bob Curtis.

Martin had a fine turnout of 40 and has several other hopefuls who are progressing well and will see their share of action.

At North veteran coach George Golding has eight lettermen among his 30 candidates. Although one of his smallest turnouts, the Raiders have experience. Most of the players are seniors and he hopes some of the underclassmen come along to give North a good nucleus next year.

The lettermen include Steve Mullaney, Ron Jackson, Gerry Veronneau, Tim Flynn, Vin Cameron, George McCall, Bourikas, expected to be one of the finest forwards in the league again this year; George Vulgaris and Tom O'Malley.

Golding lost an outstanding goalie in Don Gillilan but Mike Jacques saw some action and he and Steve Little will both see service.

Among the other top candidates are Matthew Rockman, Mike Delaney, Bob Mackey, Steve Lane, Gary and Kevin Veronneau, Gerry's brothers; Paul Furlong and Rich Kelliher.

Others are Chris DeLappe, John Orlando, Mark Chartier, Leonard Kyle, Steve Venezia, Gary Calhoun, Bill Chizzaris, Joe Marks, Don Small and Ken Shurtleff.

"If our starters stay healthy, we should do all right, but we lack depth," the veteran coach said.

Tuesday Quincy will visit South Shore Voc-Tech and North will go to Franklin.

Progress Pleases Conroy

Presidents Scrimmage Arlington Saturday

Quincy's football team, following impressive scrimmages against Boston Tech and Boston College High, faces Arlington Saturday morning and Coach Hank Conroy is pleased with the Presidents' progress as they near the end of preparations for the season's opener Sept. 26 against the new Weymouth South team at Weymouth's Legion Field.

"We did well both on offense and defense against Tech and B. C. High," Conroy said. "The defense allowed only one touchdown on the ground while we scored seven touchdowns against B. C. High and five against Tech. However, B. C. had some top players missing and I'll know a lot more after scrimmages against Brockton [last Tuesday] and Arlington, rated two of the Suburban League powers this year."

Hank and his assistants have been working hard on the defense and their efforts paid off in the first two scrimmages.

The top defensive unit has Rich Menchi and Billy Maver at end, Dave Omar and Bob Conti tackles, Dennis Waters and Jim Bucchianeri middle guards, Bobby Sacchetti, Wayne Richards, Bob Sylva and Bob Gallo linebackers, and Jon Provost and Bobby Malvesti safeties.

Others looking good on defense include Jim Hanlon, Bill Hebert, Joe Russo, Paul Spargo, Dan Spencer, Bob Volpini, Charlie McKay, Steve Laneau, Mike DiGuisto, Bobby McDermott, Dave Lamano, Bobby DiCristofaro, Allen Franzipane, Jeff Hanlon, Dan Pettiti, Dave Infacelli, Mike Sinkola and Frank DiCristofaro.

"Menchi, Maver, Waters, Richards, Provost and Sacchetti were all defensive starters a year ago and several others saw defensive action," Conroy stated. "We have worked hard to find interior linemen and line backers, our major problems, and they seem to be coming along well.

"I think we'll be ready for the season's opener. It will be interesting to see what Weymouth South does this week against North Quincy. Having a game under its belt will give it an advantage over us, but we have the more experience players and will have Weymouth well-scouted."

Quincy To Scout North, Weymouth South Saturday

Quincy's football team opens its season against the new Weymouth South team a week from Saturday at Weymouth and the Presidents will have their opening day foe well-scouted to put it mildly.

South opens its season Saturday against North Quincy at Veterans Memorial Stadium and the entire Quincy coaching staff will be on hand to scout the new team.

"We'll all be there," Coach Hank Conroy said. "This will give us a good chance to scout South, a mystery team to us all."

Season Tickets Available For Games

Season football tickets for Quincy and North games will be offered this year by the Quincy Public Schools, for the first time in its history, announces Carl Leone, coordinator of athletics.

The tickets are good for four home games and set at $5. Individual adult tickets will be sold at each game for $1.50. Each high school has four home games and, therefore, a person buying two tickets for $10. would be able to attend all eight home games, except for Thanksgiving Day.

The tickets are not valid for Thanksgiving Day when separate tickets will be sold.

Season tickets will be sold at the Athletic Office in the School Department Annex.

In Early Grid Opener

North Host To Weymouth South

"We'll be ready."

These three little words reflect the feelings of second-year North Quincy football coach Ralph Frazier as the Raiders end preparations for their season's opener Saturday at 1:30 against the new Weymouth South eleven at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

North starts its season a week ahead of most other schools because it was the only date it could schedule the new Weymouth team.

"We had two fine scrimmages with Haverhill and Brookline and I can promise that we'll be ready," Frazier said. "Our offense clicked well in both scrimmages and the defense did well.

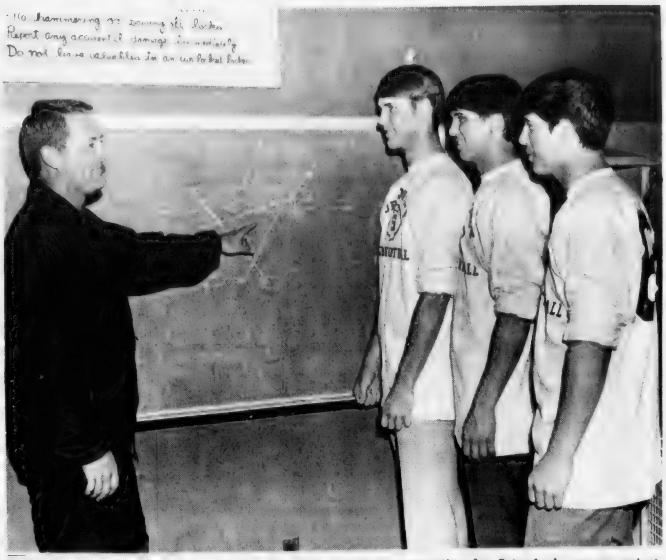
"We made some mistakes but we have worked on them and I think they will be solved before the opening game. I'm very pleased with our progress and we are much farther advanced than we were at this time a year ago."

North's starting offensive team Saturday is sprinkled with veterans. The ends will be Dan Zink [193] and Dave Mahoney [165], tackles John Meyer [205] and Frank McIsaacs [210], guards Bill Morgan [165] and John Graceffa [195] and center Mike Tracy [185].

The veteran backfield will find Paul Lippens [162] at quarterback, Tony Kelly [160] and Lee Davis [155] halfbacks and John Panarelli [210] fullback.

Frazier has an excellent second set of backs who will see plenty of action. This group includes Bob McKay quarterback, Billy Fong and John Linnehan halfbacks and Kevin Egan fullback.

Spelling the starters in the line will be Ends Jim Driscoll and Bob Graham, Tackles Joe Morrissey and Jim Ziniti, Guards Dave Hemmingway and Bill O'Hare and Center Ed Hill.



The North coach, hoping to rebound from a disappointing 2-7 debut last fall, plans to make a lot of changes on defense in order to give the offense some rest. He has used a number of players on defense and is pleased with what he has seen.

Among the top hopes on defense are Ken Baker, Meyer, Leo Papile, Morrisey, Driscoll, Panarelli, Egan, O'Hare, Bill Lacey, Hill, Bruce Carter, Steve Murray, Gerry Marchitelli, McIsaac, Ziniti, Dan Doherty, Mahoney and Ricky Paulsen.

North has some fine place kickers this year who could conceivably try a few field goals if the occasion rises. They include Brian McCleery, a transfer from Oregon who has looked especially good, Marchitelli, Mike Polvere and Murray. When the Raiders score, they undoubtedly will try several conversions by placements.

"I am truly enthused as our first game approaches," Frazier concluded. "The boys really want to play and have fine spirit and determination. I think we will hold our own in our league [Greater Boston League] this season."

WJDA To Broadcast North-Weymouth Game

The North Quincy-Weymouth South grid opener Saturday will be carried live on Quincy radio station WJDA.

Behind the mikes will be Chet Gould, with the play-by-play action, and Dick Wood doing the color.

Broadcast time is 1:30 p.m.

The Quincy station [1300 on the dial] will cover all of the Quincy and North Quincy high games again this season.

Junior Baseball Leagues Schedule Awards Banquets

Quincy Junior Baseball Leagues have scheduled their annual banquets and awards nights at the Fore River Clubhouse on Nevada Rd.

The Babe Ruth Banquet will be held Sept. 24 at 7 p.m., and the Junior League on Oct. 2 at 7 p.m.

Team members, managers and coaches are admitted free; there is a $2.00 charge for others.

Burton Dinner

A friendship dinner for Ron Burton, former Patriot star, will be held at the Monticello Restaurant Sept. 20 at 7 p.m.

Gov. Sargent and Connie Francis will attend. Co-chairmen of the affair are Bob Dee, former Patriot star, and Harry Carlson of Milton.

Sal's All Stars End Season With 3-0 Win Over Marlboro

Sal's All Stars ended its month-long season by winning a Sunday night game 3-0 at Marlboro.

The Quincy team's record was 16 wins, eight losses and one tie. The North Quincy teams record was 11 wins, 11 losses and two ties. The two teams played each other 11 times with Quincy winning five, North winning five and one tied.

Both teams entered the Greater New Bedford Invitational Tournament with 30 teams throughout the state participating. In a double elimination tournament, Quincy won two and lost two while North Quincy won one and lost two.

North Quincy's 5-0 win over Middleboro was a no hitter for pitcher Tim Clifford, who struck out 16 and walked only four. North Quincy's losses were to Bridgewater 6-1 and Quincy 1-0.

Quincy's Steve McKinnon pitched 19 innings in four games without giving up an earned run. He yielded seven hits, walked four and struck out 39.

Quincy's wins were 1-0 over North and 3-2 over Brookline. Losses were to Bridgewater, the tournament winner, with both scores 1-0.

In the season's final game, a team of players from both Quincy and North defeated Marlboro, which had lost only two games in three years.

Leading hitters for Quincy during the season were Steve McKinnon, 537; Eric Carrera, 388; Jim Roberts, 333 and Steve Martinelli, 333. Pitchers were Steve Martinelli, Steve McKinnon, Mike Kelly and Jim Roberts.

North Quincy's top hitters were Dave Perdios, 426; Preston Carroll, 413; Rick Lucier, 375 and Paul Lynch, 355. Pitchers were Preston Carroll, Dave Perdios, Tim Clifford and Paul Lynch.

Other players were Jim McGinley, Tom McBride, Jerry Martin, Kevin Donovan, Paul Messina, Ed McElaney, Paul Coner for Quincy; and Dave DiBona, Dave McLaughlin, Brian Melanson, Andy Gore, Howie Back, Kevin McLaughlin, Chris Morton and Paul Vespaziani for North Quincy.

Members of both teams attended a Red Sox-Detroit game, and will end the season with a Sept. 27 cookout at Pageant Field. In case of rain, it will be held at the Fore River Clubhouse on the same date. Each player will receive a trophy and other awards.

Fall-Winter Fitness Program Opens At YMCA Oct. 10

The Fall-Winter Physical Fitness program of the Quincy YMCA will open Oct. 10 at 2 p.m.

The first of three orientation and testing clinics will be held then for anyone interested in bettering their health and physical fitness.

All enrollees must register at the Quincy YMCA and receive their Fitness Kit which includes all necessary information about the program, and a medical clearance form which must be signed by the enrollee's physician.

Also at the Oct. 10 clinic, each person will be tested for flexibility, strength, heart, blood pressure and body measurements. An outline of the fitness program will be presented.

The class schedule, beginning Oct. 14, calls for classes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7 to 7:45 a.m. and 12:15 to 1 p.m.; and on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 7:45 p.m.

Registrations are limited to 75 at each of the two clinics to be held this year. Early registration is recommended.

30 From Quincy At Basketball School

Thirty boys from Quincy were among the 165 who attended the Larry Siegfried Basketball School which recently ended its annual session at Camp Naticook in Nashua, N.H.

The camp was directed by Joe Amorosino, assistant basketball coach at North Quincy High and physical education instructor at Sterling Junior High.

The boys from Quincy High schools and junior high schools enjoyed a full week of intense basketball instruction by Siegfried and his professional staff which included Alex Hannum, Calvin Murphy, Bailey Howell, Johnny Egan, Jo Jo White and Dave Cowens.

This year for the first time the camp used video taping equipment as every boy had a chance to see himself in game action.

Working as counselors were 20 New England college players including Quincy stars Mike Dunn of B.C., Ed Miller and Paul Fitzpatrick of Boston State, Frank Santoro of Framingham State, Don Constantine of Eastern Nazarene and Dan McKay of Kimball Union Academy.

Most Valuable Player awards went to Dave Nelson and Bob McKay, pro division; Dave Barry, Paul Donoghue, Steve Miller and Mike Kelly, college division, and Steve O'Rourke, prep division.

Kelly was named the best all around player at the camp.

Selected to the all-star team were Nelson, McKay and Reggiannini and playing on division champions were McKay, pro division; Barry, Peter Bellotti, Robin Carrera, Guy Sanderson and Brian Stack, college division.

Siegfried also inaugurated a girls' school this year with Amorosino directing and attending from Quincy were Terry Fitzgerald, Leslie Runge and Jean Bielli. Miss Fitzgerald received an award for playing on the championship team.

Shea Skating Rink To Open Nov. 1

Shea Rink on Willard St., West Quincy, is one of 16 MDC rinks that will open two weeks earlier than usual and remain open two weeks longer, MDC Commissioner John W. Sears announces.

This will provide a month more skating time. The rinks will be open Nov. 1 through March 27.

Organizations, other than schools, desiring rental time for hockey or figure skating sessions should file applications at the MDC Recreation Division office by Oct. 20.

Organizations that had rental time in prior years must also file applications and not assume that they will be given rental time automatically.

Morrisette, Quincy May Be Contenders

Morrisette Legion's baseball team failed to win its seventh Zone 6 championship in nine years this summer as it finished with a 10-8 record.

Quincy's team had a disappointing season with a 6-12 record, losing many low scoring games as the pitching held up well but the hitters failed too many times.

Both coaches, Ray Cattaneo, who made his Morrisette debut this year, and Doug Fleming, who coached Quincy for the third season, have a great deal to look forward to in 1971 and, if all eligible players return, both clubs could well be contenders for the title.

Morrisette's prospects are particularly bright with only outfielder John Stevens and pitcher Bobby Pettinelli leaving the squad because of their ages.

Cattaneo will have an experienced pitching staff with Tony Knasas, Mark Whelton, Len Pepe, Jim Walker, Bob Malvesti and Steve Sullivan all coming back.

"This will give us an outstanding nucleus," Cattaneo said, "Whelton and Walker had proven themselves at Quincy High the past spring and did well for us. Walker, usually a reliever, pitched well in a starting role.

"The big surprise was Knasas, who pitched great ball and also hit well for us. We found out about him a little too late but he should be one of the league's best next year. Pepe, Sullivan and Malvesti all did well."

Starting catcher Dave Nelson will be back as will the entire infield of first baseman Sullivan, also a pitcher and outfielder, second baseman Russ MacDonald, shortstop Pete Lucier and third baseman Kevin Ryan. Reserves Connie Driscoll and Joe Marani also will return.

Two outfield starters, Tom Burke and John Alberti, will be back as will Dominic D'Olimpio, Sullivan, Malvesti and Knasas.

"We felt if we broke even this year, with a young club, we would do well and were pleased to do better than that," Cattaneo, a former Morrisette star himself who spent five years in the Braves farm system, said. "I feel we should do much better next season with such a fine nucleus and other boys coming along."

Fleming loses more players than Cattaneo with Bob Langley, Jim Broderick, Bob Pastor, Norm Walsh, Mike McNally and Ed Monti, all starters, leaving, but he also will have a fine group coming back.

"Two-thirds of our team will be coming back and the only pitcher we lose is Walsh, a fine one from Boston College High," said Fleming. "We lost some tough games this year and things should be looking up for us next season."

Among those coming back will be pitchers Scott Manson, Buddy Crowell, Bobby Brill, Bob Driscoll and Dave Murphy, all of whom showed much promise this season and who should benefit from this year's experience.

Pastor was the starting catcher but Steve Cannon and Ed Panasci saw action and are fine prospects.

Two infield starters, second baseman Tim Flynn and third baseman Jack Flaherty, will again be eligible and Dan O'Malley and Joe Marini saw action both in the infield and outfield.

Dave Drew started in the outfield with O'Malley and Marini having a chance for the other spots in 1971.

"We will be especially strong in pitching but will need help in the infield and outfield," Fleming admitted. "But we have some good boys returning and there are some young players coming along who should help us. I think either Cannon or Panasci can handle the catching duties."

Robert Canter Returning To Huntington School

Robert A. Canter of 20 Joan Drive, Quincy, is returning to the Huntington School in Boston this fall to continue his education.

Huntington, a small, private, college preparatory day-school founded in 1904, specializes in small classes and intensive study programs.

Robert, whose father, Mr. Sidney S. Canter, is a Sales Manager, has elected to include English IV, History of Eastern People, Algebra II and a Government course in his Huntington program.

On The Screen By Vincent Puleo

Newsweek's film editor JOE MORGENSTERN is on an indefinite leave of absence from his job for the express purpose of making a film. MORGENSTERN is writing a screenplay based on the ROBERT HEMENWAY story, "THE GIRL WHO SANG WITH THE BEATLES"... KIRK DOUGLAS' next picture, "GUNFIGHT", was totally underwritten by the Jicarilla Apache tribe. The film also co-stars singer JOHNNY CASH... CHRISTOPHER LEWIS, son of film great LORETTA YOUNG, makes his directorial bow in "ALL THE KIND STRANGERS"... The picture is slated to go into production sometime in October... TONY FRANCIOSA was given his walking papers from Universal TV's "NAME OF THE GAME". ROBERT CULP, of "I SPY" fame, has been mentioned as a possible replacement for FRANCIOSA... German actress ELKE SOMMER is being groomed for a possible television series...

In a recent poll conducted by Seattle Times columnist JOHN HARTL, the STANLEY KUBRICK film "2001" was voted the best motion picture of the decade by film buffs in the Northwest... "DR. STRANGELOVE" was a close runner-up, with "SOUND OF MUSIC" taking third place... VIKKI CARR is one of the few big time singers who has yet to take the plunge into acting...With her talent, looks, and zesty personality, Miss CARR seems a natural for motion pictures... RICHARD BURTON's next film will be the gangster yarn "BURDEN OF PROOF". The production is scheduled to roll before the cameras next month, and will be shot on locale in England...

If you see one movie this year, make sure it's "JOE"... It covers in detail the wide social spectrum of problems that is facing our country today without the prejudiced flim-flam trappings of an "EASY RIDER", "MIDNIGHT COWBOY", or the more current "M*A*S*H"... "JOE" appeals to all age brackets as it deals frankly and honestly, and I may add with no punches pulled, with the diametrically opposed worlds of the hippie, hard hat, and elite super rich... The coarseness and brutality of the persons and the subject matter involved may shake you a bit...but "JOE" is meant to... PETER BOYLE's gripping, earthy portrayal of "JOE" definitely places him in contention with GEORGE C. SCOTT as a potential Academy Award nominee... And NORMAN WEXLER's script is the most artistically flawless since last years, WALDO SALT's "MIDNIGHT COWBOY" .' The screenplay is as topically timely as your evening newspaper - only more truthful...

Russian filmmakers seem to have a yen for making long, drawn out movies. Their latest, "CRIME AND PUNISHMENT", was premiered in Venice, Italy in the seat-squirming time of three hours and 20 minutes... ORSON WELLES was this years recipient of the "Maestro of the Year" award presented at the Venice Film Festival... The former "boy genius" of "CITIZEN KANE" and "MAGNIFICENT AMBERSONS" fame, is also the subject of a filmography now being put together by Australian film critic CHARLES HINGHAM... "MYRA BRECKINRIDGE" is fast becoming the season's financial bust... When and if it creeps up on the "break even point" is anybody's guess... LEE VAN CLEEF has another hit on his hands with "SABATA", the latest and by far the best of the Italian made Westerns...

Newcomer JERRY GROSS shows promise of being heir-apparent to JOSEPH E. LEVINE as America's number one film producer and marketer... The 29-year-old president of Cinemation Industries, Inc., has some 15 films due for release within the next year... Thus far his previous films have all proved successful at the box-office, as his Cinemation revenues are bulging close to the $4 million mark... The MGM blockbuster "BEN HUR" will be televised on CBS sometime in the 1970-71 season... SHIRLEY McLAINE's upcoming television series will be shot entirely on location in England. The first of the 24 planned segments is scheduled to roll before the cameras in February...

Unless Revaluation Amendment Passes

$250 Tax Hike For Home Owner, Tobin Warns

WELL DONE–Honored by the Navy for his role in helping to train and hire sailors returning to civilian life, Howard B. Johnson, president and chairman of the board of the Howard Johnson motel-restaurant chain, accepts a Community Relations Award from Rear Admiral Joseph C. Wylie, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District.

Unless the present law on 100 per cent property valuation is changed, the average Quincy homeowner will face a minimum $250 tax bill hike according to City Council President-Rep. Arthur H. Tobin.

Assessments on commercial and industrial properties were lowered and those on most homes were increased as a result of the Quincy revaluation carried out by a professional firm under the present law, he said.

A proposed amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution which will appear on the Nov. 3 state election ballot would ease the impact on the homeowner, he said.

The amendment would allow communities to value properties in three different categories: industrial, commercial and residential.

The valuations would still be at 100 per cent but would be differentiated between income and non-income properties.

The proposed amendment was co-sponsored by Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre, Reps. Tobin, Joseph E. Brett and Walter J. Hannon.

Quincy, for the past three years, has been able to stall court ordered implementation of 100 per cent valuation.

But, said Tobin, implementation of the 100 per cent valuations is inevitable unless the present law is changed by Constitutional amendment.

"This [implementation] would cause a tremendous financial burden to the home-owners, and even greater financial burden with the high unemployment rate that is hitting municipalities," Tobin declared.

While the present tax rate [$132] in Quincy would probably be cut in half, he said, assessments and tax bills would be increased.

The aged who now receive abatements will encounter tax increase problems, and the disabled veteran with a $2,000 exemption might get financially hurt, he said.

The City ordered implementation of 100 per cent valuation for three years.

"If the amendment passes, communities would still be allowed to grant reasonable allowances and exceptions for senior citizens, widows and disabled veterans, blind and disabled persons, Tobin said.

"We know we can anticipate increases in taxes because of the various city employees with collective bargaining, school teachers, nurses, Fire and Police Associations, and Public Works Department groups," he said.

Tobin recalled appearances by Sen. McIntyre, City Solicitor Harry Pavan and himself at hearings which were successful in leading to the amendment being placed on the ballot.

"Should this amendment be defeated in November," Tobin said, "I think the people can look forward to seeing the courts ruling against us in having revaluation implemented. The Quincy delegation has led the fight for this across the State, and we have been very successful on it."

Mayor McIntyre has held one open meeting to explain this amendment to the public, and is planning a second soon to enlighten property owners of the beneficial aspects of the constitutional amendment.

'It Is Not Second Rate'

Give Voc-Tech. Own Identity, Diploma, Urges McCormick

School Committee Vice-Chairman James F. McCormick, Sr. proposes that Quincy Vocational-Technical School be given its own identity and accredited graduation diploma.

He recommends that it be made a separate four-year high school because it is "large enough and good enough".

He said the school has a reputation for being one of the "best" in the U.S. and that it should not be considered "second rate" by anyone.

The separation move, he said, might also entitle Quincy to additional education funds it now misses.

Voc-Tech students now graduate with Quincy High School classes and the school is often thought of as a "branch" of the latter school.

"Voc-Tech is now large enough to be considered a separate four-year high school and I think it should be," said McCormick who helped spearhead the campaign for construction of the school.

"It is time now that the school definitely be separated from the other schools and with its own accredited high school diploma."

McCormick planned to make his proposal to school committee colleagues last night.

He said the enrollment at Voc-Tech now is approximately 1,000 students. Projected graduation class one or two years from now would number about 350, he said.

The old Quincy Trade School, he noted, was looked upon by many as a "dumping ground" for students who "couldn't make the grade" in high school.

"That is not the case here," he declared. "This is considered to be one of the best vocational-technical schools in the country."

"Voc-Tech should not be considered second rate in the city of Quincy," McCormick said. "Visitors from Japan looked at the school last week. Why did they come? They came to see Voc-Tech because of its fine reputation."

McCormick continued:

"This is the 10th year I have been campaigning for that school," McCormick recalled. "It took from 1960 to 1967 to open the school. I am going on the assumption that it will take at least two years for this separation to happen.

"It takes time for everything, and I believe in starting the thing now, and if we work toward that end it will come to final approval, and it can be worked out. I would like to see it happen.

"The school is big enough,

Going Over FR Bridge? Take Excedrin With You

Quincy motorists face a 40-day Excedrin headache as repairs to Fore River Bridge tie up traffic.

Commuters on Route 3A face daily traffic jams as two lanes of traffic alternate in a plan worked out by the State Department of Public Works.

Two lanes of traffic may proceed northbound only over the bridge 20 hours a day. But Monday through Friday from 3 to 7 p.m., one lane each of southbound and northbound traffic will be permitted. Weekends only northbound traffic may use the bridge.

There will be further delays as ships leave and return to General Dynamics Shipyard under the opened bridge.

During off hours, southbound motorists may detour from Quincy into Weymouth Landing, over Commercial St. to North St. where they will be able to enter Bridge St. [Route 3A].

Use of Route 3 by motorists from Hingham and Cohasset and other towns further south would also alleviate the traffic problem.

Chinch Bug Invades Quincy, They're After Your Lawn

The Chinch Bug has invaded Quincy.

The pesky insect, which feeds on the juice of grass, was discovered in the lawns of the Quincy Police Station and the Quincy Health Center during an inspection of turf areas by Richard J. Koch, Park-Recreation Board executive secretary and Thaddeus J. Kuczewsky, Regional Resource Development Agent.

The bugs have long been a menace to grass on Cape Cod and the Taunton areas.

Adult chinch bugs are about 1/8 inch long, with brownish-black bodies and white wings folded over the back in the form of an X. Birds pecking holes in turf areas are a good indication of chinch bugs.

Chinch bugs are sucking insects which feed on the juice of the grass. First signs of damage resembling drought or sunscald.

The bugs concentrate in small areas, feeding on the grass until it is killed and only weeds and clover remain.

To control them, Cornell University suggests that lawn be watered prior to treatment. Carbaryl [Sevin], Aspon, or Diazinon should be mixed with water in amounts prescribed and applied.

Most pesticides are poisonous, Koch cautions. Directions and safety precautions should be followed.

Chapter 90 Funds To Be Sought For Sea St. Repairs

A request will be made for Chapter 90 funds to repair and resurface portions of Sea St., announces Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham.

Graham and Council President Arthur H. Tobin met with Public Works Commissioner John M. Browne, who agreed the request should be made. This would be financed 25 per cent each by the City and Norfolk County, and 50 per cent by the state.

Browne agreed that his department would fill in potholes in the street.

Health High-Lights

A FATAL KICK

Our young people seem to be Kamikase-prone. I read where the latest kick is the deadly game of inhaling aerosol propellent from spray cans in which various kinds of household products are packaged.

At least 36 deaths have occured in less than two years from this cause. Evidently, it is mistakenly equated with glue sniffing. The latter - although potentially harmful - is not nearly so dangerous as the highly concentrated flourocarbon gas from the spray cans.

Used for the purpose intended, the gas is entirely safe, but inhaling it in a high concentration can be quickly fatal due to the disruption of the normal pumping of the heart.

And it is dangerous to assume immunity because you may have sniffed an aerosol can once and didn't die. Heart fibrillation resulting in death could occur on the first try or the tenth, but the possibility of death is always present.

good enough, used enough, and it is now a four-year school.

"It would not involve any great expenditure of money to change over. And it could very well save the city money. If we can get recognition from the State for Voc-Tech, students in subjects such as data processing could be registered as permanent students instead of part-time for reimbursements."

Asked if he thought students would like the idea, McCormick replied:

"I have the feeling the students would want it this way, although no one has told me. I know if I were a student, I would want it known that I go to Quincy Vocational-Technical High School."

McCormick's plan would place Voc-Tech on an equal basis with Quincy and North.

"It should be a separate school run by itself and not subordinate to any other, as I intended it to be in the first place," he declared.

Taxpayers Assn. 'Pleased' With Zoning Report

The Quincy Taxpayers Association, Inc. is "extremely pleased" with the report submitted by the Mayor's Committee on the proposed zoning ordinance, according to Executive Director Harry E. Roemer.

He added that the Taxpayers Association is in basic agreement that the ordinance is a positive progressive step toward ensuring future growth of the city, and agreed that specific modifications as suggested should be made.

"We consider it both significant and encouraging that citizens organizations representing all segments of the taxpaying community recognized the need for positive action," Roemer declared in a news release.

"Further that they have identified the objectives set forth in this ordinance, i.e.; encouraging and guiding new development; providing maximum protection to existing good development; and correcting low standard buildings where equitable; this as an appropriate vehicle for progress; this subject to the will of the people and their elected representatives."

Sunbeams

Quincy may be in danger of losing one of its ablest department heads.

According to close sources, a national education organization is making overtures to School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

The group, based in Washington, D.C., is looking for an executive secretary.

It has made an offer to Dr. Creedon and has invited him to go down to Washington and "talk it over".

Creedon, according to the sources, has the offer and invitation "under consideration."

FRANK BELLOTTI for Mayor? Well, the Speculation Corps already has that one making the rounds. They think the Quincy Democrat, after a strong but unsuccessful bid for governor, will run for mayor of Quincy next year. They note that the former lieutenant governor came on strong in Quincy, running behind Sen. Maurice Donahue here by only 4,942 to 4,584. Much stronger than he was here when he first ran for governor.

So, the guessing game is already on for next year's city election

WELL, long-hair for teen-age boys apparently is in to stay-for awhile, anyway. Vin Contrino, the South Quincy barber reports, for example, that only a "very few" high school boys bothered with what once was a traditional back-to-school haircut.

"I used to get a lot of them," he says.

He did do a big business, though. Elementary school boys are still getting their hair cut - for awhile, anyway.

FAMOUS NAMES DEPT: Everybody [well just about] knows Presidents John and John Quincy Adams came from Quincy. But do you know, notes Rep. Joseph E. Brett, that there are three Presidential names in Quincy today?

Warren G. Harding lives at 10 Dale Ave., South Quincy., John F. Kennedy at 10 Rustic Place, West Quincy, and Woodrow Wilson at 19 Ardell St., North Quincy.

CITY Councillor J. Vincent Smyth will be doing his part to get out the vote Nov. 3. Smyth, who won one of the two Democratic nominations for state representative in the Third Norfolk District [incumbent Joseph E. Brett got the other], is going to personally visit nursing homes in the city.

Mission: to deliver applications for absentee ballots to patients confined at the nursing homes. He says he will also return the filled out applications to the Election Department at City Hall.

POLITICAL newcomer Paul T. Gallagher who polled 1,256 votes his first time out as a candidate for state representative in Quincy's Third Norfolk District, will throw his support to Rep. Joseph E. Brett in the Nov. 3 election.

Gallagher, incidentally, says he has no thoughts about entering the city political arena next year but will be back as a state contender in 1972.

LOUIS CARUSO may have gone down to defeat again last Tuesday, but he isn't giving up. Caruso, a city cemetery department employee, lost the Democratic nomination for state representative in the Second Norfolk District to incumbent Clifford H. Marshall, as expected.

Caruso, since 1959, has also lost bids for mayor [against Amelio Della Chiesa] and for the Ward 2, Ward 3 and Ward 4 city council seats.

"Next year," he says undaunted, "I'm going to run for the School Committee. And this time I am going to accept help that I have refused in the past."

MILESTONE: Quincy radio station WJDA is now in its 24th year of broadcasting. The station went on the air Sept. 13, 1947 and since then has doubled its facilities.

Remember when some of the so-called experts were saying it couldn't last six months--that Quincy was too close to Boston for a station of its own?

Well, it did last, and Quincy is a better community today for it. Congratulations to Jim Asher [you probably know by now that JDA in station's call sign are Asher's initials] and all of his gang for a job "well done".

Graham Seeks Traffic Guard, 20-Mile Sea St. Speed Limit

A traffic supervisor for a dangerous crossing and a 20-mile per hour speed limit for certain portions of Sea St. are being sought by Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham.

The request for a traffic supervisor for school children crossing Sea St. at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church has been re-submitted to Mayor James R. McIntyre whose approval is needed for its inclusion in the budget.

Graham regards the crossing situation there as "very serious".

A half-dozen pedestrians have been struck in just that area within the last year," he said. "I have been approached by Our Lady of Good Counsel parish council who are very much concerned about it."

The 20-mile per hour speed limit is considered necessary because the unposted present speed limit of 30 miles per hour is largely ignored, with 50 to 60-miles per hour "the only speed for some people," Graham declared.

"We will have to have some legislation next year by the State House before we can come up with a 20-mile per hour zone under home rule," he said. "The State Department will make a survey of Sea St. for traffic conditions."

Graham submitted this resolve at Monday's night Council meeting, for referral to Quincy Traffic Commission for study. He expects to file legislation in November for action by next year's Legislature.

Graham's request for a police officer at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church during both Saturday and Sunday masses, a further safety measure, has already been granted, Capt. Roy Cavicchi, head of the Quincy Police Traffic Bureau and chairman of the Traffic Commission, told Graham that we will assign a police officer there beginning this week.

League Of Women Voters In Registration Drive

The Quincy League of Women Voters is sponsoring a registration drive for voters to be concentrated next week in Ward 3, Precinct 3; Ward 4, Precinct 2; and Ward 1, Precinct 9.

These precincts have had a high percentage of unregistered voters in the past, says Mrs. John Toland, League Voter Service Chairman, working on the drive with Mrs. David Coletti, president.

With the assistance of City Clerk John Gillis and Russell O'Connell, director of the Quincy Community Action Program, a master list of unregistered voters has been compiled. These people will be contacted either personally or by telephone and urged to register. Eight high school students have volunteered to help in the drive.

Gillis, in an attempt to make registration as convenient as possible, has scheduled evening registrations in the two neighborhoods.

Tuesday, Sept. 29, registration will be held at the Southwest Community Center, 372 Granite St. at Brewers Corner, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 30, registration will be held at the Germantown Multi-Service Center, 9 Bicknell St., Germantown, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Student volunteers assisting will include Beth Bagaree, Amy Matthews, Gretchen Drain, Jamie Cutler, Ann Levenson, Marjorie Landa, Emily Gabel and Harriet Blanchard.

Other students from Quincy Junior College, Quincy or North Quincy High Schools who are interested in volunteering their time to help in the drive may call Mr. O'Connell at 471-0796.

The Quincy League of Women Voters is sponsoring this registration drive as part of their Voter Service Activity in 1970, designated "The Year of the Voter."

Unwelcomed Guest

By
Margaret DeAngelo

I heard no knock upon the door-
No footsetp on the stair.
You made no noise and yet-
I knew that you were there.

Why do you come to taunt me,
And always on this day?
You are not welcomed here, my friend;
Oh Birthday, go away.

Ecology

By
Priscilla Laveaga
91 Cross St. Belmont

The time has come for each good man
To mend his childish ways,
And prove himself a worthy host
To all that he surveys;

To value his environment
With deeper, truer heart,
Regretting his improvidence
Toward his Master's Art;

To search anew within his wealth
Of sea and air and sand,
The perfect formula designed
By God's sensitive hand;
But most of all to make it known
Through acts of discipline
How greatly each and every man
Is to his God akin.

Little Wonders

The Singing Tower

By Margaret DeAngelo

On a granite base, 51 feet in width and set on concrete piles sunk 24 feet below the surface of the ground, soars the 205 foot, beautiful "Singing Tower"

Made of pink Georgia marble and tan ocquina stone from Florida, the Singing Tower changes in form by graceful lines at the height of 150 feet until it becomes octagonal. It has eight windows, each 35 feet high that are made of Gothic lace pattern worked in faience, with an elaborately carved crown on top.

The "Singing Tower" was dedicated Feb. 1, 1929 in one of the loveliest parks in all the world, Iron Mountain, Florida. This sandy barren hill near Mountain Lake is at the highest point above sea level in the state. [324 feet].

The "Singing Tower" gets its name from the fact that it houses one of the largest carillons in the world - 61 bells. Edward W. Bok, created The "Singing Tower" and what many people call the "Taj Mahal" of America.

Quick Strudel Filled With Pears

Famous Viennese strudel goes modern with the convenience of canned Bartlett pears and packaged refrigerator rolls. For the filling pear halves are chopped and combined with raisins, nuts and spices.

The pear mixture is spread over the layer of dough made by forming the refrigerator rolls into one sheet. After carefully rolling the strudel to seal in the filling it is baked until golden and crisp.

The natural sweetness and luscious quality of canned Bartlett pears fills the pastry to give it an 'old world' flavor. To top off this feeling slice and serve Pear Strudel with whipped cream and cups of cafe au lait.

Quick Pear Strudel

- 1 (1 lb. 13 oz.) can Bartlett pear halves
- ½ cup raisins
- ⅓ cup chopped nuts
- ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and mace
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 package crescent refrigerator rolls
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted

Drain pear halves and chop fine. Mix with raisins, nuts, spices, lemon peel and sugar. Unroll crescent rolls and lay flat, pinching edges together. Roll on wax paper to a 10x15-inch rectangle. Spread with 1 tablespoon butter. Spoon pear mixture over dough. Carefully roll up with aid of waxed paper. Place seam edge down, on greased cookie tin. Brush with remaining butter. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Week of Sept. 25 - Oct. 2

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - Avoid making changes because things will go awry - but strive hard enough to overcome obstacles, and your reward will be great.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Romantic attachments at this time may be ardent but not lasting. Interviews, signing contracts, will go well this week.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Strength of character will help overcome difficulties or misfortunes that take place now. Review correspondence and soften bluntness.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Avoid domestic changes. Take great pains with correspondence and speech since you could say something you will later regret.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Some minor financial difficulties to overcome. Career restrictions may still hold you down but self expressions brings benefits.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - Listen to the advise of older people and curb the tendency to impatience. Attend to correspondence and get ideas off the ground.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - A change in your mental attitude can be expected now. A new romance or an interest in a new study is possible this week.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Any plans you put into effect now have an excellentt chance of succeeding. Unselfish acts will bring a feeling of well being.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - There is a lot going on behind the scenes. Gossip could cause hasty action, better sit tight and let it blow over.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - There are changes on the employment scene that may have been building for some time. Be sure to take time out for pleasures.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Not a good time for domestic affairs, money losses could upset the budget. This is a time for organizing career affairs.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - If you give expression to your true feelings, you are bound to run into opposition. You can now improve financial position.

On The Screen
By
Vincent Puleo

ROSSANO BRAZZI returns to the screen soon in the Italian-made, "DADDY SAID THE WORLD WAS LOVELY"... Also in the film is newcomer ADRIENNE LA RUSSA... ALBERT T. VIOLA's "INTERPLAY" will be opening shortly at the West End Cinema in Boston for an exclusive New England engagement... This sexploitation film with a twist was showcased earlier in the year to good reviews at both the CANNES and BERLIN Film Festivals... "BLOODY MAMA" just made it into the EDINBURGH Film Festival with an X-rating... The motion picture had to be screened twice to the Censors, as it was refused a certificate by the British Board of Film Censors the first time around... The SHELLEY WINTERS starred gangster picture was considered to be "brutal..primitive..and a waste of time.." by Magistrate GEORGE THEURER of the Edinburgh Film Review Board...

CHARLTON HESTON was renominated president of the Screen Actors Guild for the coming year... The WALTER READE THEATRE chain opened its' 84th house in Dayton, Ohio on Sept. 10th... It is their first theater in Dayton, and also their first in an all Black community... NBC-TV has more than 100 Specials slated to be aired during the 1970-71 season... ABC and CBS have only half as many Specials scheduled for the season so far... Czech film producer ALOIS POLEDNAK was recently arrested on alleged "subversion" charges by his country's secret police... POLEDNAK is being accused of "anti-Socialist" activities during and after the Czechoslovakia freedom uprising of 1968... Sounds like "Z" all over again... MELINA MECOURI's next picture will be as the star of JULES DASSIN's "LILY's STORY"... The action-drama revolves around a military coup d'etat...

GIG YOUNG continues acting in Academy Award winning form in his latest release "LOVERS AND OTHER STRANGERS"... Former middleweight champion BOBO OLSEN plays himself in the JON VOIGHT starrer, "THE ALL-AMERICAN BOY"... The versatile ELAINE MAY is the star, writer, and director of the new Paramount comedy "A NEW LEAF"... Giving her ample support are the solid cast of WALTER MATTHAU, JACK WESTON GEORGE ROSE and JAMES COCO... "A NEW LEAF" marks the film debut of Miss MAY'S new career as a director... According to a recent poll conducted by ACTORS EQUITY, the average yearly income of an actor is a mere $2,500... "LAWRENCE OF ARABIA" is due for a first time around re-release sometime next spring... Singer MEL TORME's new book, "The Other Side of The Rainbow: With Judy Garland on the Dawn Patrol", gives the reader some behind the scenes insight into the life of the late JUDY GARLAND... It will be interesting to see how many of the new can't-miss television shows are still with us by the first of next year...

Did JAMES COBURN lose out as star of the upcoming "THE LOVE MACHINE" because of his ultra "hip" image?... What ROBERT VAUGHN needs at this point in his career is a solid hit under his belt... His most recent effort "THE STATUE", just completed in Italy may do it for him... The JOSEF SHAFTEL directed motion picture includes, besides VAUGHN, former Academy Award winner DAVID NIVEN, and Italian beauty VIRNA LISI... VAUGHN always does his best with talented thespians for support... His last big hit was a co-starring role in the STEVE McQUEEN starred "BULLIT"... They're making westerns all over the world nowadays. Spain, Germany, Italy and now Israel is getting into the act. "MADRON" was filmed entirely on location in the Holy Land... The RICHARD BOONE-LESLIE CARON oater is scheduled for a November release...

MEL BROOKS has just completed a three month stint in YOGOSLAVIA directing his second film "THE TWELVE CHAIRS"... If "TORA TORA TORA" doesn't come up a winner, DARRYL F. ZANUCK and Twentieth Century-Fox are going to be in financial hot water... The World War II spectacular cost a shade under $25 million to complete... ZANUCK and the entire 20th organization are hoping that "TORA" makes it big, as their previous ventures for the first half of the year have put them $16 million in the red... DIRK BOGARDE and SILVANO MANGANO top the cast of LUSCHINO VISCONTI's "DEATH IN VENICE" ... JUDD BERNARD has been tapped by Warner Bros. to produce the mystery-thriller "DUPE NEGATIVE".. Whatever happened to ANN BANCROFT? She hasn't appeared before the cameras since "THE GRADUATE"...

"Did you want double spacing on the carbons too, Mr. Hinkly?"

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

A Few Questions

Q. I am being married in March. Can my bridal party wear velvet?

A. The months for velvet are November, December, January, and February. March would be warm and the bridesmaids could be very uncomfortable.

Q. After the young people make known their intentions of marriage to the parents, who makes the first gesture of friendship?

A. This is up to the grooms' family. The simplest way is to invite the bride's parents to their home and include the future bride and groom. If the distance is too great the grooms' mother writes to the bride and her family telling them how happy they are with the engagement, welcoming the bride into the family and inviting her to spend a few days with them.

Q. I am planning to be married in April. How do I select a color scheme?

A. Choosing a color scheme depends upon your own likes and dislikes. I usually suggest a bride pick her favorite color and work around it. You could have all attendants in the color you favor. Or perhaps the honor attendant in a deeper or contrasting color. For example - If your favorite color is pink then your bridesmaids could wear pink and the maid of honor wear strawberry or for contrast green or lilac in the same tone.

A rainbow wedding is effective. Each girl wears a different pastel color.

Another popular idea, if the gown is two tone, the honor attendant has her colors reversed. Example - Bridesmaids gowns have an aqua bodice and turquoise skirt the maid of honor could wear a turquoise bodice and aqua skirt. Or she could wear a solid color gown in either the aqua or turquoise.

For an Easter wedding yellow and orchid is a good choice. A religious color scheme might appeal to you. Attendants in blue and white for a Blessed Mother wedding. Or a Sacred Heart wedding in which the only color is the large red bouquets carried by attendants attired in white.

Whatever color you decide on be sure it blends with the church and follow through at the reception with linens and table decorations.

Senior Citizens Services Forum Subject Oct. 12

Services available to the elderly in Quincy will be discussed at a White House Forum for Senior Citizens, sponsored by the Council on Aging, to be held at Broad Meadows Junior High School Oct. 12.

Officials of public agencies will describe resources for older people and there will be question and answer periods.

The time will be 10:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. with a lunch break at noon. Free bus service will be provided.

The Forum has two main purposes: [1] To give Quincy seniors all possible information about the activities of local public and private agencies. [2] To identify needs and establish priorities to be reported to the White House Conference on Aging in 1971.

Similar forums will be held in communities throughout the area, to be followed by a regional conference in Quincy in late November.

Senior Citizens of Quincy and surrounding communities are being invited, along with public officials and interested friends. The general public is also invited.

Reservations for the 99 cent lunch are necessary and may be made by phoning or writing the Quincy Council on Aging, 1120 Hancock St., 471-1730.

Come . Let Us Reason Together

By Dr. William F. Knox
Personal Counselor

'Why Kids Go Wrong!

We were at Scituate Harbor...the water was beautiful...many boats were out...others being readied to sail. I stood waiting to launch my 18-foot Lyman...it's a family fun thing. I was talking with a man who owned a 28-foot cabin cruiser...sitting in the slip as though begging to be taken out.

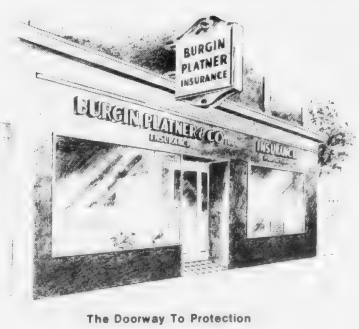
Said he..."I have a 16-year-old boy...I don't know how to reach him...he's running with kids that are on drugs...but I just can't talk with him...where did I go wrong?"

A mother called on the phone..."Dr. Knox...my boy is 15...he's smoking pot...he's insolent to me...he's failing in school...what would you suggest I do to straighten him out?"

A father of a 17-year-old complains that his daughter "didn't try to get a summer job at all...she stays out late and sleeps most of the day. I can't talk to her...I've given her everything...her mother has done everything for her...we don't deserve this...she's breaking our hearts."

On and on it goes...the anxieties of parents reaching out for help...and there are just as many parents worried about their daughters as about sons. What's causing this anxiety among parents...restlessness and resentment among kids?

Firtst...the Vietnam War...not the whole cause...but it's the BIG one. Not only has it turned many fine boys into murderers...it has affected young teen-agers right in our own homes. The kids hate the war...resent their older brothers having to go...the casualties...the waste...all under the guise of patriotism. No wonder the kids are confused...no wonder many do not respect parents...teachers...policemen ...national guardsmen...senators...the President. If violence and hypocracy are sanctioned at the highest level of our government can we expect less at the grassroots?



Second...weak fathers...men who have abdicated their roles as head of the family are cheating their children of guidelines...of stability...responsibility...leadership...virile qualities of manhood...of steel in their backbones. The lack of a strong father influence in the early years produces instability in either a boy or a girl. I know that men are busy making a living...that men get tired and that the trivia of children becomes annoying. The fact remains that weak or alcoholic or absentee fathers do not produce strong stable children...nor strong stable adults when they're grown.

Next in line is the mother who is permissive and indulgent at one time...domineering at another. A kid doesn't know where he stands. He gets everything he wants from mother from snacks to bicycles...to freedom from responsibility. But for thwarting of her personal satisfactions she pounces on him unmercifully. Just watch her with the child at the supermarket. She yells at him...but buys him whatever he wants. And you wonder why "he's insolent to me"...why "he's lazy"...why "I can't reach him"...why "he's failing in school." No guidelines...gets everything he wants...when he wants it...no real discipline. He has no reason to respect this kind of parent.

Finally...I believe that idleness is one of the main reasons why kids go wrong...why they take up drugs...why they are lazy. It's amazing to me how many fathers are working two jobs to make ends meet...and with healthy children at home still have to mow their own yards. A business man told me recently that he had hired boys as custodians of his several small office buildings..."But" said he..."they wouldn't do the work...were lazy...and couldn't take orders." Don't blame the kids...we parents haven't taught them to work. Without chores...without regular responsibilities...without hard things to do...without decisions to make...how can they learn?

I don't have the answers...but I can raise the question: Aren't we getting about what we design in our kids with the senseless immoral war...weak fathers...permissive and domineering mothers...and idleness?

COMMUNAL OUTHOUSES -- These "sanitary" facilities for some 150 residents of Oseola, Ark. [Mississippi County], where RESPECT, Inc. hopes to improve living conditions, tell their own story of the conditions there.

Quincy Based Group

Respect, Inc. Needs Help To Help Arkansas Poor

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Quincy is temporary headquarters for Respect, Inc., a group of five young people hoping to make the Arkansas Delta a better place for those who must live there.

Respect, Inc. comprises Eugene Richards of 56 West Elm Ave., Wollaston, Charles Imhof of Framingham, Cheri and Earl Anthes of Iowa, all former VISTA workers, and Dorrie Lynch of Dorchester, a recent recruit.

Respect, Inc. wants to open a multi-service center in West Memphis, Ark. -- "to distribute food and clothing in the area, and to work on welfare and social security problems," Richards says.

They want to publish a newspaper for the black and poor community, for all those in the East Arkansas Delta.

In the six county area, 60% of the families earn less than $3,000 per year, while 25% earn less than $1,000. There is no news media relating black activities in this area which "is like the Old South," according to Richards.

"We plan a newspaper particularly for black citizens, and will train blacks to run it," he continued. "We are catalysts for action. The people know their problems better than we do and are better equipped to solve problems if given direction."

"We received no support in Arkansas," Richards stated. "It is all white-controlled there and highly segregated. Churches are supporting private schools."

The poor of the Arkansas Delta are victims of the failure of the plantation system, Richards relates. Cotton and soy beans are the principal crops, but with declining cotton prices, there came a push for more efficient operations. Mechanical and chemical farming were instituted, and unemployment rose. Welfare reaches only 14% of the poor population.

Aware of the increasing problems and disturbed by the Office of Economic Opportunity's ineffectiveness through VISTA to help, the four VISTA workers, all in their mid-twenties, resigned to try to find an answer on their own.

RESPECT, Inc. has set up a proposed first year budget of $17,820. This includes office expenses [rent, etc.] of $3,000; staff salaries for four of $7,920 [or $1,980 per person]: car maintenance, $2,000; printing and material costs, $1,000; simple medical supplies, $500; plus contingency fund for direct services to the poor and several initial expenses totaling $2,400.

Respect, Inc. would like to attract young volunteers.

"We want to stir young people to more social action, and less talk," Richards says. "Right now the only thing we can do is make a noise about it. We are the only organization in East Arkansas organized to work. We want to work, but we need funds."

Richards has a number of photographs taken of the areas where he worked. A brochure has been prepared and contributed by a printing firm. And he has a sample issue of "Many Voices," a proposed newspaper serving the Arkansas Delta.

He would like to tell Quincy residents Respect, Inc.'s problems. His telephone number is 773-3603.

The Case For Methadone

Often I hear someone attack the use of Methadone. Without doubt, some criticism and skepticism of it's use is justified.

The attitudes expressed are a result of the articles written by experienced authorities. Most of the persons whom I have heard have never talked or known a heroin addict.

Let us weigh both drugs and see what conclusion you will make:

Heroin is illegal and must be purchased at $10. a "bag" in powder form in a glassene container. The amount of heroin in this area is said to be a 6% mixture. The accuracy of the percentage may vary, and is said in some locales to reach 20%.

It is obvious that the expertise in proportioning is of utmost importance. Witness the overdoses and deaths attributed to this inexaction. Also, remember that very few addicts use as little as one bag. Most of my exposure is with persons using from four to 15 bags a day. An occasional person, taken for what his veracity can be, has taken a "bundle" a day [25 bags], 25 times $10.

Although heroin can be "sniffed" or injected under the skin - most addicted take it intravenously. This procedure requires a ritual of sterilization and preparation - often haphazardly done - thus resulting in abscesses phelbitis [inflamation of veins] and of course, hepatitis. The latter condition results from a contaminated needle previously used by another, or several, persons, one of whom has the disease.

To blithely dismiss the addiction as benign, is not justified. An occasional addict can be a successful professional or business man with a fixed daily need. However, of the 50 I have talked to intimately, only five were working. The others, unemployed, either dropped out of school or had to give up their jobs. The need for multiple fixes could not be maintained in a disciplined program of work or study. The range of ages in my environment has been from 16 to 24, with habits as recent as 3 months to several years. Many had tried to "kick the habit" with temporary success, only to relapse, often with an exaggerated demand for more heroin.

Sexual impotence, desire, or even interest waned in males. Women who have become pregnant face abortion or if successful up to delivery, may have an infant who is addicted and who may suffer withdrawal symptoms.

To earn the $50. a day for heroin, requires some doing, by inexperienced, though not unintelligent, addicts. Some become expert shoplifters and thieves and petty crooks. Forgery is a common art. Prostitution may become a last resort for the younger women. Sooner or later arrest with convictions ensure.

Concede, won't you, that this whole picture is bleak. Especially when one realizes the difficulty an addict has to "kick" the habit by himself. Not a brief agonizing "cold turkey" abruption, but a permanent salvation.

Recall too, that an addict usually is associated with others who encourage continuance of the habit, can't be done in these circles by the weak-willed.

All right, methadone! A legal narcotic - potent and addictive. Prepared and taken as a tablet or which can be crushed and administered with orange or cranberry juice. Given in measured amounts, this tablet can "block" the kick that heroin gives. If the administered dose is large enough and the person takes heroin, as they often do, the "old" sensation seems to have lost its effect. So why return to the expensive heroin?

When methadone has resulted in "blockade", the amount of the drug can be lessened over a period of a few weeks. This is under ideal conditions.

The argument that methadone addiction is hard, if not harder, to kick than heroin, may be true. But many, whom I have seen in my brief exposure, have "fallen" occasionally, and taken a fix. The urge to return to the vein and get that old time feeling, is very great. But weighed against the advantages using methadone, most wish to continue using the latter.

The price of methadone is pennies [versus $50.]. The oral tablet can be taken even at work but usually in two doses a day.

The energetic ones have returned to jobs and even back to school. The physical transformation can be profound. A new verve -- loss of the "glassy" eye, no nodding, neater dress - gone is the uniform of the addict - the unkempt bedraggled, bewhiskered appurtenances.

It isn't all rosy. The average addict I see is benign, thankful, mild in manner and a person very much in need of acceptance by: someone, his family or society.

Methadone is not a solution, it is a temporary respite in the squalor of despondency.

Programs including psychological discussion, encounters to bare the souls, seminars to re-educate. New horizons in work experience. Given a "family" to belong and a tie to peers with the same tribulations. The Marathon program handles this aspect with profound success - but the road is rough with many failures and detours. Fifty per cent make a return to society.

Prisons and federal treatment centers have miserable survival results up to now - about three to five per cent.

Since some persons can never leave the drug scene - methadone as a maintenance under clinical control must be a part of our programming. Even here life is tolerable with existence as a concept not a beleagured drudge.

I am no authority, but if I were to choose between a criticism of methadone as a means or heroin as the end, I vote for methadone until our clinics can restore those who wish, by motivation, to be helped.

Tell me frankly, if you don't try drugs like methadone, aren't you standing still and fostering the illegal - degenerative - intravenous soul destroyer?

23 Practical Nurses Graduate Tonight From Quincy Voc-Tech

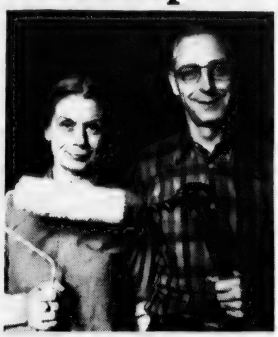
Twenty-three practical nursing students graduate from Quincy Vocational-Technical School in exercises tonight [Thursday] at Broad Meadows Junior High School at 7:30 p.m.

Ernest Kraus, M.S.W., Community Coordinator for the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs, Aging Bureau, will discuss the needs and care of the aged in Quincy.

Miss Lewann Carter, 1970 North Quincy High School graduate, will be soloist accompanied by Mrs. Gale Harrison of the Quincy High School Music Department.

Rev. William R. Krogstad of Christ Church Episcopal will give the invocation and benediction.

The graduates are the first class of students to complete the shortened 12-month experimental curriculum approved by the Massachusetts Board of Registration in Nursing.



Madeline C. Papile, R.N. is the school's director of practical nursing.

The 23 graduates are:

Miss Mary Joan Beagan, Miss Anne E. Brow, Mrs. Sherry W. Cahill,. Miss Kathleen F. Chiminiello, Mrs. Lila M. Chisholm, Miss Jacquelyn R. Cote, Mrs. Janet Demiter, Miss Karen A. Donovan, Miss Rosemarie Gentile, Mrs. Anne L. Grant, Miss Marie E. Hobbs.

Japanese Educators Impressed By Quincy Voc-Tech. School

A Japanese Vocational Training Team visited Quincy Vocational Technical School last week, and they were very much impressed at what they saw.

The four-member team spent a full day at Quincy Voc-Tech as part of a three-months' study tour of U.S. educational facilities.

The team members include Hirokane Momouchi, chief training section of Sapporo General Vocational Training Center in Hokkaido; Shuichi Kuwakado, professor of transportation equipment division of Institute of Vocational Training at Tokyo; and Hirotake Kuroki, chief of training division of Iisuka Advanced Vocational Training Center at Iisuka, Kyushu. Their interpreter-escort was Yoshitaba Yamagami.

Asked to comment on their reactions Director-Principal Laurence H. Babin said:

"They were impressed with the building. They thought it was a very fine building. They particularly enjoyed the efforts of the Culinary Department – they had some rice, a beef-rice dish the students prepared."

"They were very much interested in our programmed learning, Project ABLE's development of individualized learning materials. Quincy has been a leader in developing materials in this area and it [Voc-Tech] is internationally recognized for this. That is why they came here".

"We talked through an interpreter, which was a handicap because they had a lot of questions that they asked. They have many of the same problems in vocational education that we have. They do not have too many undergraduate programs that deal with business and health programs.

"We are endeavoring to develop for grades 9-12 programs for girls. They were very much interested in that and in our health aide program at the 12th grade level. They don't train many girls at all in Japan except for business and health occupations, generally after they have completed the equivalent of our high school."

The Japanese program for vocational education is under their Department of Labor, Babin said, rather than the Education Department. This is a different approach.

"Training is for a specific job, training for specific industries," he continued. "Here we try to give a general education that has many applications."

Because of Voc-Tech's curriculum of the "job family group" approach, there are 255 specific job classifications, and the skills developed may be used in many types of work, Babin said.

"They were very much interested in our programmed learning approach," Babin said, "and to see how we are encouraging individualized approach."

The Japanese team, through visits and conferences at Quincy Vocational Technical School and others throughout the country, is gathering information on administration, developments, financing standards, curricula development, teaching and training methods in vocational education, and related instruction for apprentices.

Welcoming the visitors were Supt. of Schools Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon; Maurice Daly, assistant superintendent in charge of vocational education; and Babin.

Staff members who took part in a discussion with visitors included Michael Golub, assistant director; Frank E. Leporini, and William Yee, supervisors; Richard H. Haines, head counselor; Robert D. Brennan, director of data processing; Mrs. Madeline C. Papile, head of health occupation division; Glen E. Neifing, A.I.R.; and Edward T. Hannon, coordinator of adult education.

Conroy Optimistic But Cautious

Quincy Opens Against Weymouth South

Quincy's football team, co-champion of the Greater Boston League a year ago with its best record since 1964, makes its season's debut Saturday at Weymouth's Legion field in a 1:30 p.m. non-league game against the new Weymouth South team.

And, despite South's 20-0 loss to North Quincy in its bow last week, Quincy Coach Hank Conroy is taking nothing for granted.

"I saw that game as did my assistants and they didn't do as bad as the score indicates," Conroy said. "They have a young team, many of them never played before and they had a lot of bad breaks.

"Joe Kelly is a fine coach and I think they will prove tough for us. Their defense did very well against North, especially in the first half, but their offense didn't click."

The Presidents, with several returnees from last year's strong team, did very well in pre-season scrimmages. They outclassed B. C. High and Boston Tech and did well against two Suburban League powers, Brockton and Arlington.

Both the offense and defense performed well in the scrimmages and the one spot requiring more work was the pass defense.

Expected to start on offense Saturday are Rich Menchi, one of the finest ends in the state, and Billy Maver, another fine veteran, at the ends; Dave Omar and Bob Conti at tackle, Bob Gallo and Bob Sylva at guard and Jim Bucchianeri at center.

Steve Sullivan, who was expected to be the starter last year until sidelined with an injury, will open at quarterback, with the brilliant Steve McCarthy and John Provost at halfback and Wayne Richards at fullback. McCarthy was one of the league's best runners last fall as a sophomore and most coaches see him as the league's best this year.

Behind these starters are Ends Jim Hanlon and Dave Coull, Tackles Bob Guadiano and Bob Volpini, Guards Mike Craig and Bob Tarbox, Center Joe Russo, Quarterbacks Jimmy Walker and John Joyce, Halfbacks Joe Goguen, John Alfano and Bobby Malvesti and Fullbacks Dennis Waters and Joe Nicastro.

Probable defensive starters are Menchi and Maver, ends; Conti and Omar, tackles; Waters and Bucchianeri, middle guards; Provost, Bobby Sacchetti, Richards and Sylva, linebackers; Malvesti and Gallo, safeties.

Others who will play on defense include Hanlon, Dan Spencer, Bill Hebert, Russo, Volpini, Charles McKay, Steve Laneau and Paul Spargo.

"I am satisfied with our progress but I think we will have our hands full with many of the teams in our league," Conroy added. "There isn't going to be a really weak team and we'll have no pushovers.

"However, the boys' attitude is fine and they want to at least equal last year's 7-1-1 record. There is a lot of competition at every position, which I like. We will do all right."

LOOKING AHEAD hopefully to another Greater Boston League championship is Quincy football coach Hank Conroy. The Presidents were impressive in pre-season scrimmages against Brockton, Arlington, Boston Tech and B. C. High and is one of the GBL favorites.

Gentry, Hall Greet Cross-Country Squads

A year ago North Quincy's cross country team lost only one meet and finished second in the Greater Boston League, while Quincy, despite consistently outstanding performances by sophomore Bobby Ciano and Peter Laing, had a poor season.

This fall Bob Gentry's North team is without the brilliant Paul Affsa, beaten only in his final meet by Quincy's Ciano last year, but the veteran coach feels his Raiders will have another good season.

At Quincy Tom Hall, spring track coach, makes his bow as harrier coach, succeeding George York. He has Ciano back and had more than 20 boys turn out, the largest turnout at the school in many years.

"We'll miss Affsa, that's for sure, but Kevin Henry, Jerr Strungis and Richie Yee all scored well last year and probably will be our top three this season," Gentry said. "And there isn't much difference between the other dozen boys on our squad. We'll have good balance and should do well."

The other Raiders include Paul Bonoli, Rich Malloy, Brian Connolly, John Campbell, Rob MacGregor, Dan Coughlin, Tom Gallagher, Steve Della and Pat Noonan.

At Quincy, Hall had induced several of his spring trackmen and some of the winter trackmen to turn out for cross country and he feels the Presidents will make a better showing than they did a year ago.

"We have only one senior, Jim Dubois, but most of the other runners are looking good and are turning in some good times," Hall said. "I was delighted by the large turnout."

Ciano, of course, is the number one runner. He lost only once last year and had fine seasons in winter and spring track.

"His sophomore brother Pete could be one of the season's big surprises and right now is not too far behind Bobby," Hall said.

Joining the brothers and Dubois are Brian Feeney, Paul Wahlberg, Pete Daley, Jim Cyr, Brad Hamilton, Frank Hickey, John Tucker, Bill Kiggen, Chris Toy, Lee Wardle, Mike Gilcoine, Ken Fernald, Mike Cocio, Mark Reed, Stu Finnigan and Paul Moore.

Quincy placed eighth in the recent Northeastern Club meet and Ciano placed third among more than 75 runners.

The GBL season opens today and all meets this fall will be run over the Medford course.

In today's openers Quincy meets Malden, rated by Hall as probably the strongest team in the league, and North faces Everett. Monday Quincy meets Revere and North takes on Somerville.

Quincy, North Win Soccer Openers

Quincy and North soccer teams, both winners in their opening games, are in action today, North hosting Hingham at Montclair Field and Quincy playing at Plymouth.

Tuesday Quincy will be home to Sharon and North plays at South Shore Voc-Tech in Hanover.

Ron Martin's Quincy team, which won the South Shore Association's Division One title a year ago and then lost to Division Two winner Duxbury in six overtime periods, blanked Voc-Tech, 3-0, Tuesday.

Quincy completely dominated play and had 36 shots on the Voc-Tech goalie while Dave D'Olympio had just two saves in Quincy's net.

Al Lavoie and Artie Boyle sparked the Quincy team with Boyle scoring twice, both on passes from Lavoie, who scored the third goal on a free kick.

"We were disappointing and will have to play much better against a much improved Plymouth-Carver team," Martin said.

Quincy's scheduled opener with Franklin last week will be played next Thursday at the Quincy field.

Meanwhile George Golding's North Quincy booters started in impressive style with a 5-0 victory over Avon.

Police To Meet WMEX In Jimmy Fund Game Sept. 29

The Quincy Police Department's softball team will meet the WMEX radio station team in a benefit softball game for the Jimmy Fund Sept. 29 at 8 p.m. at Rotary Field, Coddington St.

Coached by Pete Crispi, police players include Bill Buckley, Richie Crispi, Mike Barry, Dick Laracy, Bob Quintiliani, John Mulligan, Jim Buhl, Gerry D'Arigo, Richie MacDonald and Dick Buckley.

Raiders Seek Second Against Revere

Confident but far from cocky, second-year coach Ralph Frazier and his North Quincy football players seek their second win in a row Saturday when they face Revere in a 1:30 p.m. Greater Boston League opener at Quincy Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Raiders put on a dazzling defensive show last week in spoiling the debut of the new Weymouth South team, 20-0, at the stadium, but Frazier was not pleased with the offense and has been working hard on it this week.

"The defense was exceptional against Weymouth but our offense was not at all sharp, expecially in the first half," Ralph said. "Tony Kelly was superb and Lee Davis also ran well but we must sharpen both our running and passing. Revere was tough last year and will be tough again.

"We were fortunate to open against Weymouth South, playing its first game ever and they had a lot of young players. They have an excellent coach and great guy in Joe Kelly and they will come along. We were lucky to have played them first and the win gave our boys a lot of confidence."

North held the new Weymouth team to a net of 29 yards on the ground and five first downs, one on a penalty. Although South hit on eight of 17 passes they gained only 46 yards.

The Weymouth defense sparkled in the opening half and until the last few minutes of the half North had only one first down, that on an 11-yard scoring pass. North's John Panarelli was forced to kick six times and, despite having one blocked when he fumbled the pass from center, he punted well.

North came back strong in the second half and wound up with 201 net yards on the ground, 12 first downs. Paul Lippens hit on only two of eight passes, but both were for touchdowns. Reserve quarterback Bob McKay filled the air with passes late in the game, completing only one, barely missed on several.

"Our cornermen, Dan Zink and Jimmy Sarruda, and the linebackers, Steve Murray and John Panarelli, were exceptional," Frazier lauded. "John Meyer also was excellent at tackle and Ken Baker played well and dropped their quarterback [Bill Murray] in the end zone for a safety and our first two points.

"Panarelli's punting was very good and another key to the win was our ability to keep them in poor field position, thanks mainly to the punting.

"On offense Kelly was outstanding [155 net yards himself] and Davis also ran very well. The reason they ran so well was the blocking of Panarelli, who continually knocked down their ends and we ran inside those ends. We didn't pass too much and I think Lippens will come along and do some good passing when we need it. All in all I was very satisfied with the opening game and feel we will improve and give everyone a battle."

Kelly, a former Weymouth star himself who took over at the new South high school after four great years at Hanover, was disappointed but not too unhappy.

"You can't expect to get a new team together in just three weeks, especially when many never played before," he said. "We had a lot of sophomores in there and we had a lot of bad breaks. We have a lot of work to do before meeting Quincy this week but I think we will come along."

Late in the opening period Panarelli's punt was downed on the Weymouth one and three plays later Baker broke through and spilled Murray in the end zone for what proved the winning points.

Zink came up with a big pass interception on the Weymouth 13 to set up the Raiders' first touchdown of the year which came on an 11-yard pass from Lippens to end Dave Mahoney.

Late in the half, following a South punt to North's 10, Kelly, on a trap to the left, sped 47 yards to the South 43. On the next play Lippens threw a long pass to Davis which covered 43 yards for a touchdown with just one second left on the clock.

Following both touchdowns Brian McLeery, a transfer from Oregon and a soccer-style kicker, tried the points but missed both. Each was high enough but went just to the left.

North came roaring out in the second half and clicked off four quick first downs to reach South's 14 but here the attack stalled and the visitors took over.

North dominated play for the rest of the third period and the early part of the fourth and tallied their final touchdown on a one-yard plunge by Kelly, who had a 27-yard run to set up the tally.

A few plays later McKay, failing to find a receiver, raced 30 yards for an apparent touchdown only to have a clipping penalty nullify it.

North was hit with five 15-yard penalties, three for holding, to further hamper its offense.

NORTH'S John Panarelli, whose pin-point punting kept Weymouth South in hot water all day, also was a problem to them running as he shows here piling up valuable yardage.

ENC Soccer Team Eyes Better Season Record

Eastern Nazarene College's 1969 soccer team had a 7-6 record as Bob Jack bowed in as the Crusaders' coach and he feels this team should do better this year.

"We should be stronger in every way," he said. "Our main strength will be on defense with all-Colonial Intercollegiate Conference goalie Bill Mauger returning, Jim Patton leading the fullbacks and Bob Mollica [former North Quincy High star] the halfbacks."

Jack feels the offense has been strengthened by the return of Steve Shoff, who was forced to sit out last season. Shoff, who started as a freshman, is a good passer and has a "good strong foot."

Del Bieber and Abel Espada have a year's experience and should be better than last year, when each did an excellent job.

Mollica and Mauger spent the last three weeks in August playing for the All-Conference team in Spain and Portugal.

"We'll have good experience all around," Jack continued. "We have 15 lettermen and with a year's experience they can't help but be better."

ENC plays at New Hampshire College Saturday, will be home to King's on Oct. 3 and the rest of the schedule is as follows:

Oct. 6, at Mass. Maritime; Oct. 10, at Barrington; Oct. 13, at Nasson; Oct. 17, at New England College; Oct. 24, Gordon at home; Oct. 31, Husson at home; Nov. 14, Alumni [homecoming Day]; Oct. 27, at St. Francis, and Nov. 3, Worcester Junior College at home.

'Sighting-In Days' At Braintree Rifle Club

"Sighting-in Days" for hunters will be held at Braintree Rifle and Pistol Club on Oct. 4, 11, 18 and 25 from 1 to 5 p.m., sponsored by the Braintree Rifle and Pistol Club in association with the National Rifle Association.

Hunters wishing to sight-in their rifles on those days will be assisted by expert marksmen, many of them N.R.A. certified instructors. Sighting-in will be conducted on the 100-yard range. The club is on Liberty St., Braintree, near DAV Hall.

The program is under the direction of Chief Range Officer Charles Vlassakis of Quincy. Club officers are Arthur Petterson of Quincy, president; Frederick Bickford of Braintree, vice president; David Petterson of Quincy, secretary; and William O. Celia of Braintree, treasurer.

Bowlers Sought

Houghs Neck Legion Honors Babe Ruth, 'Little' Teams

The Babe Ruth and Little League teams sponsored by the Houghs Neck Legion Post were honored recently at a program at the Post Home.

The Babe Ruth team, coached by Dave MacMillan and Ed Kelley, took the championship for their division, but lost the City championship, two games to one.

Jim Driscoll was awarded trophies for most valuable player and the highest battering average of .469. Jackets were presented to players graduating from the Babe Ruth League. They are, Dave Steen, Pat Cox, Bob Lane and Ken Shurtleff and Driscoll.

The Little League team, with a record of 20 wins and two losses, placed second in its division. Rich Brooks and Francis [Shorty] Donovan were coaches.

Trophies were presented to Mike Kelly with a high batting average of .500. Tim Clifford, who struck out 17 and 18 batters in two games, and 147 out of 180 batters for the season, was named most valuable player.

Plaques were presented to graduating Little League players Tim Clifford, Jack Powers, Mike Kelley, Richie Brooks, Ed Lucier, and Paul Briggette.

The Most Valuable Player memorial plaques are retained in the Legion Hall with the players' names inscribed.

The Houghs Neck Legion Auxiliary provided refreshments.

In the ninth annual Old Timers vs Babe Ruth team, youth prevailed but had to wait until the ninth inning for their final score, 4 to 2.

Old Timers included Bob Driscoll, Ken Shurtleff, Shorty Donovan, Jack Congdon, Joe Steen, Tommy Steen, Paul Hennessey, Tommy Gibbons, Walter [Speed] Butterworth, Bart Gunning, Joe Fratolillo, Billy Dalrymple, Joe Timcoe, Billy Walker, Jim Steen and Joe Mann, with Bobby Baker coaching.

Bowling Little Loop Opens Season Oct. 10

The Quincy Bowling Little Loops' 17th season gets underway Oct. 10 at 9 a.m. at Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome.

The league is open to all boys 11 through 15 years. Those wishing to join are asked to send a postcard to League President Joseph N. Gildea at 45 Division St., North Quincy, 02171. The card should include full name, address, telephone number, and date of birth.

Deadline for registrations is Monday, Oct. 5. The first 80 boys will be accepted.

Sponsors of teams for the 27-week schedule are:

Hennessy Plumbing Supply Co., Rep. Joseph E. Brett, Wollaston Bowladrome, Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre, George F. Bryan Post VFW, Atlantic Fuel Oil Co., Hutchinson Oil Co., Wollaston Lobster Co., Quincy Lodge of Elks, Montclair Men's Club, Local 512, AFL-CIO, United Commercial Travelers, Richard M. Morrissey and Dist. Atty. George G. Burke.

Officers serving with President Gildea are James M. Carey, treasurer; Glen Crowell, Jr., secretary; Max Zides, Stanley Kovalski, Bernard Ennis, Richard Morrissey, John Gundel and Mark Smith, directors.

Rangers End Season With 4-2-8 Record

The Quincy Rangers, one of the youngest teams in the Commonwealth Soccer League, ended their first season Sunday with a 3-3 tie against strong Peabody.

The young Rangers, with several high school players in the lineup, finished with four wins, two ties and eight losses.

Meanwhile General Dynamics, with a slim chance of at least tying for the Commonwealth League title, plays Peabody Sunday at 2:30 at the Quincy High Field. GD has a 9-3 record with two games remaining.

Russ Barry, Tim Vulgaris and Dave Simpson scored the goals in the season's finale for the Rangers.

David D'Olympio, the Rangers' 17-year old goalkeeper, was awarded the Rangers' Most Valuable Player trophy. He had an outstanding season and had more saves than any other goalie in the league.

Also captain and goalie of this year's Quincy High team, Dave was unable to play in the final game due to a rule which prohibits a schoolboy player from playing with an outside team when the school season gets underway.

Receiving honorable mention for the MVP award were halfbacks Barry and Jim McGuire and the team's top scorer, Al Lavoie, another current high school star. Bob Curtis was named the most improved player.

Next spring the Rangers hope to sponsor three junior teams in Quincy which will compete in the Boston Area Youth Soccer League. This will give boys from 10 to 17 a chance to play organized soccer.

The Rangers sponsored one junior team last spring, the Germantown Pirates, who lost only once and tied once in independent circles.

Since this will be the first year for two of the teams, sponsorship will cost about $75 per club. This includes uniforms and referee fees.

Persons interested in coaching or sponsoring a club are asked to contact Peter Gallagher at 925-1807.

Dr. Couture, Dr. Tardanico Attend Chiropractic Convention

Dr. Gary L. Couture of 1354 Hancock St. and Dr. Philip A. Tardanico of 792 Southern Artery, Quincy, attended the annual fall convention of the Massachusetts Chiropractic Society last week at the Sea Crest Hotel in North Falmouth.

Dr. Richard E. Vincent of Beverly, president of the society, presided at the convention.

The members heard an enthusiastic endorsement by Dr. Vincent of the new National Health bill filed by U. S. Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

Dr. Vincent also reported that the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Corporation has to date refused to provide for payment of chiropractic services despite the fact the legislature and Governor Sargent in 1969 authorized such payments.

The 75th anniversary of the profession was observed at a Diamond Jubilee Dinner.

QUINCY POLICE Betterment Association will present an all-star variety show headed by George Jessel Dec. 4 at Quincy High School auditorium with part of the proceeds going to Quincy and North Quincy High School scholarships and to retarded children. Presenting first ticket to Mayor James R. McIntyre is Robert J. Edgar, chairman. At left are Officers Richard Mendall and Carmine D'Ramio.

Broad Meadows Parent Board To Set Up Officers Slate Sept. 28

The Broad Meadows Parent Board will meet Sept. 28 at 7:30 p.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School to set up a slate of candidates from which new board members will be elected at the Oct. 5 "Open House."

Any adult living in the Broad Meadows district is eligible to become a candidate. Those interested in becoming candidates may call Mrs. Julia Morrissey at 472-2522, or may register in person on Monday at the board meeting.

Purpose of the Parent Board is to establish communication between home and school. Board members meet monthly with school personnel. in an advisory capacity to consider topics dealing with school life.

Subjects are those called to the attention of the board by citizens in the Broad Meadows district, and range from curriculum to cafeteria policy.

Last year the Parent Board sponsored a four-meeting series on drugs as an information program.

Rotary Club's Sixth Annual 'Big Band Night' Nov. 6

The sixth annual "Big Band Night", fund-raising event for the Weymouth Rotary Club, will be held at The Surf, Nantasket, on Nov. 6.

Music of the '30's and '40's - Glenn Miller, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Harry James, etc. - will be recreated by the John Savini Orchestra. Tickets will be available by Oct. 12.

All money raised is used by the Rotary Club for scholarships and community philanthropies.

Frank Lagrotteria is Rotary President. George Denison and E. Biden Whitney, co-chairmen of the ways and means committee, are planning the event.

Kelly Heads Advisory Board For Grenham Youth Center

Leo J. Kelly has been elected president of the Adult Advisory Board of the Sgt. Lawrence T. Grenham Youth Center at Houghs Neck.

He succeeds David MacMillan, youth director, who continues as a member of the executive board.

Other officers are William Mitchell, vice president; Mrs. Eleanor LeBel, secretary; and Jack Nigro, treasurer. Mrs. Ruth Barra, David Blowers, and Theodore Johnson are members of the executive board.

A total of $1,145.50 has been raised to date for the Building Fund, according to David Blowers, treasurer.

12 Firefighters Cited For Rescue

Twelve members of the Quincy Fire Department have received commendation from Fire Chief Edward F. Barry for "meritorious action" in rescuing seven members of a construction crew overcome by gases in an underground tunnel at Edison's Edgar power station in North Weymouth.

Firefighters working in the tunnel with Weymouth Fire Chief James Stevens and his men were Lt. William J. Connelly and Lt. Robert J. Bennett; Edwin Curtis, Czesletin Aniolowski, George McCray, Thomas Field, John Cummings and Henry Schaffer.

Working at the top of the shaft in the rescue were Capt. Edward O'Connell, and Firefighters John Ganzel, Richard Kelley and Warren Burrell, chief's aide.

The men were credited, along with Weymouth and Braintree firefighters, with saving the lives of the trapped men.

In addition to the commendations, the men were granted two days off and their acts referred to the Board of Merit.

Gildea To Be Honored

Joseph N. Gildea, vice-president of the New England Joint Board and President of Local 513, Beverage and Production Workers Union, AFL-CIO, will be honored at a testimonial dinner-dance Friday evening at Florian Hall, 55 Hallet St., Dorchester. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the New England Joint Board, R.W.D.S.U., AFL-CIO. Irving J. Rich is president; Edward E. Ryan, secretary-treasurer; and C. Edward McGovern is executive vice-president.

Gildea is a member of the Quincy Park and Recreation Board, active in the Montclair Men's Club and with youth groups, director of the Quincy Bowling Little Loops, and a civic leader in Quincy.

Dist. Atty. Burke's Goal: 'An Unhooked Generation'

Elementary Schools New Drugs Battle Front

KING SIZE--Holding giant replica of a $1,000 check offered by the South Shore National Bank as the prize for the Best Overall Float by a non-profit group in the 1970 Christmas Festival Parade are Winthrop Sargent III, vice-president of the bank, and George C. Fay, general chairman of the South Shore Christmas Festival. With them are Bernard C. Moore, executive secretary Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce; and Richard Venna, in charge of clubs and organizations category for the parade.

Dist. Atty. George G. Burke of Quincy will carry his battle against drugs use into elementary school classrooms.

Noting that the drug situation is "getting worse", Burke has established a new weapon with which to wage his war on narcotics.

It is the newly created "Massachusetts Drug Advisory Council" which he hopes to interest civic-minded groups and individuals in joining to combat the spread of drugs through a new education program aimed at the elementary age level.

He is also seeking federal funds to help finance the program.

The District Attorney said the over-all goal is to bring about "an unhooked generation."

"We are trying to turn people off--get them to join the unhooked generation," he declared.

"The battle against drugs will be along the same lines as those against cigarette smoking," he said. "The Advisory Council will start in elementary schools to educate young people to turn them against drugs."

Burke said drugs use is still on the upswing in Quincy and other Norfolk County communities and that the switch is on from marijuana to hard core stuff.

"I think drugs--especially marijuana--still have a very high usage in Quincy and surrounding communities," he noted. "And now you see a lot of marijuana users turning to hard core drugs.

"There is a great deal more hard core drug usage then there was a few years ago. You see generally an increase in court figures, number of arrests, and so forth--and the type of drugs changing.

"That is primarily one of the reasons why the Massachusetts Drug Advisory Council was formed.

Burke said letters are being sent this week to superintendents of schools in all 28 Norfolk County communities which totally comprise more than 600,000 residents. The letters will inform them of the Advisory Council's plans and goals.

The education program, he said, will be based on the results of a three-months study of school curriculums throughout the U. S. to determine what each state is making available to educators in the fight against drug addiction among young people.

Not only will the educational program provide information on problems created by the use of harmful narcotics, but it will promote use of "alternatives", he said.

"We now find drug usage even as low as the junior high school level," he said. "It is heavier in high school and very heavy in college."

Burke referred to testimony given this week before the Norfolk County grand jury by college students.

S. S. National Bank To Present $1,000 Christmas Float Prize

A $1,000 cash prize will be awarded by the South Shore National Bank for the best overall float in Quincy's Nov. 29 South Shore Christmas Festival Parade, announces George C. Fay, general chairman of the Festival.

The $1,000 prize was suggested by Winthrop Sargent, III, vice-president of South Shore National Bank, to encourage more school, church, and other area clubs and non-profit organizations to enter floats in the annual Christmas festival parade.

This year's parade will again take place on a Sunday. The float theme is "Christmas in Disneyland, A Salute to Walt Disney". Floats can represent any Disney characters, stories, movies, or any aspect of Disneyland Park, Anaheim, Calif.

Richard Venna, Quincy District Court juvenile probation officer and a member of the Festival committee, is special chairman of the clubs and organizations float category.

A special meeting will be held Oct. 17 at 2:30 p.m. in the Quincy Court Juvenile Probation office, to explain the $1,000 prize and other prize categories. Representatives from the Festival Committee will answer questions clubs and organizations may have.

Any school, church, club or organization desiring to enter a float in the parade is asked to call 479-1111 or write Bernard C. Moore, Festival coordinator and executive secretary of the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce at 36 Miller Stile Rd., Quincy, 02169.

No duplications of float themes or stories will be permitted. A master list of floats entered will be kept by Moore, and a particular Disney story or subject can be reserved on a first notification basis by calling him.

Saturday D-Day For Registering To Vote

Saturday is D-Day [Deadline Day] for registering to vote in the Nov. 3 state election.

If you are not registered by then, you can't vote. Someone else will decide who will be your governor, U. S. Senator, local representative, etc.

At the Sept. 15 primary, Quincy had 43,911 registered voters of which 21,089 were Democrats, 13,042 Independents and 9,780 Republicans.

During special registration sessions since, the city has picked up an additional 160 voters, according to City Clerk John M. Gillis.

On Saturday, City Hall will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. for the final registration session.

If you don't register by then, don't complain about who is elected or not elected on Nov. 3.

500-Name Petition Opposes Edgar Station Fuel Variance

An anti-pollution petition signed by 500 Quincy Point residents was presented at a State House hearing Tuesday opposing a fuel oil burning variance for Boston Edison's Edgar Station in North Weymouth.

The petition was presented by Francis P. J. DiCesare of 90 Arnold St., during a public hearing by the State Department of Public Health boards.

DiCesare, a nuclear engineer, is an independent candidate for state representative in Quincy's Second Norfolk District which comprises Wards 2 and 3.

The 500 signatures, he said, were gathered in a three-day period.

The petition urged that the Edison Company be denied a year's variance to burn residual oil before beginning use of 2.2 per cent sulphur oil now required by law.

The objection, DiCesare said, was to the pollution of air by the Edgar Station which affects Quincy Point.

After hearing statements by Boston Edison spokesmen, several legislators and DiCesare, the group recessed and later

Pupils Want To Write To Quincy Servicemen

Miss Elaine Kasper, a student teacher at N. S. Hunting School, has asked the help of the Quincy Sun in securing names of Quincy servicemen who might like to receive some mail from youngsters.

An assistant to Miss Diane Willard, fifth grade teacher, Miss Kasper is leading the 27 pupils in a study of "Prejudice and World Peace".

She learned they were interested in writing to servicemen, especially those from Quincy serving overseas in Vietnam.

Names and addresses may be sent to the Quincy Sun office at 1601 Hancock St., or to Miss Kasper of 29 Babcock St., Quincy.

500-Name Petition Opposes Fuel Variance returned with a unanimous decision denying the Boston Edison Company's request for a variance and stating that enforcement of the law would begin Oct. 1 [today].

DiCesare, declared at the hearing:

"Ward II falls within a one mile radius of the Edgar Station. When the winds are blowing in the east southeast, east, and east northeasterly direction, the plumes frequently downwash into the Ward II area, the greatest concentrations occuring within an 800 yard radius of the Edgar Station.

"The nearest sulphur dioxide monitoring station is located on the roof of the Quincy Health Center over a mile and a half away. Therefore it is impossible to know the exact concentration of sulphur dioxide in the Quincy Point area.

"The reasons for the downwash condition is attributable to insufficient stack height and inadequate exit velocities.

"According to the Air Quality Act of 1967 individuals close to a given source of pollution must be assured where feasible, of an ambient air-quality equivalent to that set for the entire region.

"The people of this region have the right to breathe air of a quality set down under the 'Regulations for the Control of Air Pollution in the Metropolitan Boston Air Pollution Control District'.

"Because of this, I feel it is imperative that the State Department of Public Health will take an affirmative stand and thus turn down Boston Edison's appeal for a variance in regards to the Edgar Station."

According to DiCesare, following the decision on Tuesday, the State Department of Public Health will make its official ruling within a month.

1000 Southern Artery Seeking Beginner's Oil Painting Teacher

A volunteer teacher is being sought for a Beginners' Oil Painting class at Senior Citizens Center, 1000 Southern Artery, for the many prospective oil painters there.

Persons interested may call Mrs. Blanche E. Wellman, program coordinator at the Senior Citizens Center, at 471-1000.

Mrs. Eleanor McCarthy, a member of the Quincy Art Association, teaches a weekly advanced oil painting class at the Center.

Burke Seeks Unhooked Generation

"One girl," he said, "testified to her mind there was 100 per cent usage of marijuana at her college. Of course, we realize that is not true, but it was in her mind. It is a very great danger.

"Those who testified before the grand jury are very bright, intelligent students. The shame of it is that they don't realize the great change in personality when they turn to drugs and its long term effects. One time usage doesn't bother them too much. They judge everything on a very short time usage."

Burke said he has applied for federal funds to further drug education.

If approved, he said, Survival, Inc., Quincy's professional group trying to set up a rehabilitation center and program, would share in the funds.

"They are directly tied in with this grant. I welcome them."

A charter, incorporating the "Massachusetts Drug Advisory Council" as a non-profit, charitable organization, has been received by Burke from Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren.

Burke, who applied for the charter will be honorary chairman of the group.

Peter C. Carr, president, is head of the drug education program in Burke's office. Edward J. Carney, treasurer, and John J. McDougall, clerk, are also assigned to drug education in his office.

Burke said as other citizens join and become active in the Advisory Council, they will "hold office, take over the attack and foster ideals of the Council."

Burke said he hopes through the news media and the 10 to 15 lectures given each week by representatives from his office to build up membership in the Council.

"We are interested in any help we can receive from any source," he said. "We invite residents and organizations to join with us in meeting and defeating this drug crisis."

Sunbeams

State House observers think Mayor-Sen. James R. McIntyre may have a good shot at the Senate presidency next year--or at a major Senate post.

Since going to the Senate in 1965, McIntyre has made a reputation for himself as being one of that branch's "ablest legislators".

He has headed a number of major committees, including the joint Committee on transportation.

McIntyre, of course, played a prominent role in Sen. President Maurice Donahue's bid for Governor--both on the floor at the Democratic convention and in the primary election.

He and Donahue have been close personal friends. And Donahue, who is stepping out of the Senate, would like to see McIntyre his successor. No doubt he will do some "campaigning" for him, now.

The Cowardly murder of Brighton Patrolman Walter Schroeder stunned Quincy School Committeeman Paul C. Kelly.

"We grew up together and went to school together in Brighton," notes Kelly. "He was a great guy. And he was a cop's cop.

"I feel a real personal loss."

LOCAL friends of a state-wide noted former political figure are saddened by his serious illness.

POLITICAL HEADQUARTERS in Quincy seems to be virtually a thing of the past. The only candidate we know of with a headquarters here is Rep. Michael Dukakis, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. His quarters are on Temple St., just off Quincy Sq.

IF YOU'RE PUSHING--or have already passed 40--you probably were [still are] a Glenn Miller fan. Miller, of course, was lost in a flight over the English channel during World War II, but his music still lives on.

The current Glen Miller band, directed by Buddy DeFranco, made a recent local appearance. DeFranco noted that the band had recently returned from an overseas tour. And what do you think is the most requested Glenn Miller arrangement over there? "Tuxedo Junction". [Personally, we liked most of his numbers but our favorite is his theme, "Moonlight Serenade"--one of the prettiest ever done.]

WELL, there are 10 candidates who can say they topped Ted Kennedy in Quincy.

A study of the primary election results here shows that Sen. Edward M. Kennedy polled 10,321 votes but ran behind:

Congressman James A. Burke [11,484], Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn [11,241], State Sen. James R. McIntyre [11,227], Dist. Atty. George G. Burke [11,150], State Auditor Thaddeus Buczko [10,936], Treasurer Robert Q. Crane [10,717], Register of Deeds Barry T. Hannon [10,715], Clerk of Courts John P. Concannon [10,715], Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren [10,605] and County Commissioner Thomas K. McManus [10,495].

All of them--like Kennedy--were running unopposed on the Democratic primary ballot.

HERE'S ONE to think about, via "The Insider", published by inmates at the Norfolk County House of Correction:

Wrote 'Old Cape Cod'

Milton Yakus - A Man Of Talent Who Can't Sit Still

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

MILTON YAKUS

The lyrics to "Old Cape Cod" recorded by Patti Page are just the words of a song to composer Milton Yakus of 1385 Quincy Shore Drive, a man who "can't relax."

"Cape Cod is a favorite place of mine, too," the businessman-writer-fisherman-lawyer said. "However, the lyrics for this I rewrote from a very long poem brought in to me by Claire Rothrack. I added some new words to the end, wrote the melody and part of the lyrics. It was a long, long poem and I cut it down."

"It sold at least five million records – all over the world," Yakus admitted. "I wrote another song with Patti Page, too, at Ace Recording Studios – 'Go On With the Wedding' – also a hit."

That was back in 1958.

Eight years later, 48 years old and the owner of Ace Recording Studios in Boston, Yakus decided that business was not enough. He went back to school, to the New England School of Law [formerly Portia].

"I studied at night," he explained. "I went to Suffolk Law School when I was a kid. I always regretted that I never finished it, so I decided to go back. I dropped out in 1940 originally – didn't know whether I wanted to be a writer. I wrote for radio dramatic shows."

Yakus said he thought he might set some kind of an example for his three sons. The oldest, had moved to New York where he is a recording engineer. The second son was a Worcester Junior College student, and Quincy Sun newsboy Joseph Yakus, was at Merrymount School.

"I was studying like a fool, though, and they were watching TV," he admitted. "It was relaxation for me. I enjoyed every minute of it. I wasn't as sharp as the younger people, but I understood more because of my business background. They absorbed faster. I graduated this spring with a 78 average at 52 years of age."

Today Milton Yakus, lawyer, has an office in Lynn as well as in Quincy. He specializes in copyright law, as well as general law.

He had family support along the way. "My wife was right with me," he said. "When I got home at 10 or 10:30 at night she would have my supper ready for me. Everybody cooperated very nicely, although they suffered when I couldn't take them out."

Yakus hasn't stopped any of his other activities.

"Last summer I wrote a TV series which I am trying to peddle," he relates. "I can't just sit and watch TV. I can't take a vacation, either, because I can't stop thinking. I have got to have a project. Even on our 31-foot sport fisherman's boat, my mind is going all the time. I am more relaxed working than I am in just sitting around doing nothing. I try to keep occupied."

He does.

Council On Aging Seeks 'Dean Of Residents'

How many consecutive years have you lived in Quincy?

This is the question the Quincy Council on Aging is asking the city's residents to determine who is Quincy's "Dean of Residents."

A contest to find the answer is being held by the Council on Aging in conjunction with the annual Harvest Dinner and Ball to be held Oct. 23 at the Quincy Armory. The man and woman who have lived the most consecutive years in Quincy will be special guests at the Harvest Dinner.

The contest, now in effect, will close Oct. 16. The winners will be notified by the Council on Aging Office. Those wishing to enter the contest may call the Council on Aging Office at 1120 Hancock St. Further information can be obtained from Mrs. Marion Andrews, assistant to the director.

Tickets for the event are available at the Council Office. The dinner and ball are being sponsored by the Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens and the Quincy Council on Aging. Arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. William Wolf, Federation president and Mrs. Andrews.

A social hour will be held at 6 p.m. followed by the dinner at 6:30 p.m. and dancing from 8 p.m. until midnight. Special prizes will be awarded during the evening.

FR Bridge Traffic Improves, New Problem On Expressway

Traffic problems eased somewhat this week at Fore River Bridge when two lanes, alternating north and southbound traffic, were opened from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. by the Department of Public Works.

However, from 9 p.m. until 9 a.m., only northbound traffic is permitted over the bridge, during repairs. And in West Quincy a new headache may throb today.

With resurfacing of the Southeast Expressway from Willard St., West Quincy to the Braintree town line which began yesterday, additional problems face the southbound commuter. Northbound traffic is not affected.

WANTED: 10 'Deserving' Families With Youngsters

Ten "deserving" Quincy families with young children are being sought by Atty. Stephen T. Keefe, Jr.

Keefe is trustee of a trust established several years ago by the late Agnes V. Philben of Quincy. The trust provides for the payment of $50. each to 10 Quincy families with young children at Christmas time for the purchase of Christmas presents.

He asks that information be given to him before Nov. 1. Needed are the names of all family members, address, ages of the children and a summary upon which a selection can be based.

Over 6,000 Expected To Receive Flu Vaccine At Saturday Clinic

Dr. Alfred Mahoney, acting Health Commissioner, expects between 6,000 and 8,000 Quincy residents to receive flu vaccine at a free mass clinic Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Kennedy Health Center.

Last year more than 5,000 received immunization.

Dr. Mahoney urges all residents, particularly adults, to take advantage of the clinic because the State Department of Health has issued a warning that this winter Massachusetts can expect an increase in flu cases.

They are not saying that it will be of "epidemic" proportions, but there will be an increase, he said.

Open House Monday At Broad Meadows Junior

"Open House", a chance for parents to follow a typical day's program at Broad Meadows Junior High School, will be held Monday starting at 7:30 p.m.

Parents are to report directly to their child's homeroom for their schedules. Teachers in abbreviated 10-minute classes will review briefly the goals of each course.

There will also be an opportunity to vote for 1970-71 Parent Board members from each of Broad Meadows' five elementary school districts. The purpose of the Board will be reviewed, and there will be refreshments at the close of the program.

MARIJUANA AND THE LAW

Millions of dollars are being spent on research to get the facts about marijuana - its sale, use and physical and psychological effects on users. But there's one known fact you should be aware of now. Possession of marijuana is a felony. The Federal penalty for possessing the drug is 2 - 10 years imprisonment and a possible fine of up to $20,000. If a person over 18 sells to a minor under 18, he is subject to the same fine and 10 - 40 years in prison for the first offense, with no suspension of sentence, probation or parole.

Don't treat the legal penalties for using "pot" lightly. Conviction - even with a suspended sentence - can, in some states, prevent you from getting a driver's license, furthering your education, landing a government job, or working in a profession. In other words, your future could go up in smoke. Is it worth the risk?

S. S. Emmanuel Club Opens 12th Season On Oct. 8

The South Shore Emmanuel Club will open its 12th season with a literary review Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Milton Women's Club.

Dr. P. Albert Duhamel, Philomatheia Professor of English at Boston College and Literary Editor of the Boston Herald-Traveler, will discuss this year's leading contenders for the Pulitzer Prize in fiction and why many readers are "turned off" by current novels. Dr. Duhamel is chairman of this year's jury which will select the award winner next spring.

Mrs. William Melley and Mrs. Paul Clausen are co-chairmen for the evening.

The year's schedule, announced by Mrs. John Nee of Quincy, club president, calls for a November display of holiday decorations for the home by Ruth Geller of the Cohasset Basket Shop, and a December dinner dance.

Emmanuel Professor Philip Cash will discuss national politics at an afternoon lecture in January. February's meeting will feature an evening of heritage cooking with Jeanne Ambuter. In March, members will attend an ecumenical service at Temple Beth El, Quincy. A tour of Brockton Art Center is planned for April, and a closing reception and presentation of a scholarship in May.

Serving with Mrs. Nee this year are Mrs. John Bagnall, vice president; Mrs. Paul Mulkern, treasurer; Mrs. Alan McKinnon, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas Hayes, publicity; and Miss Sybil Turner, chairman of condolences.

St. Ann's To Sponsor New Senior Citizens Club

An organizational meeting for a new Senior Citizens Club will be held at St. Ann's Youth Center, St. Ann's Rd., Wollaston, Oct. 5.

The new non-sectarian club will be open to any person 60 years or over residing in Wollaston.

The new club, to be sponsored by St. Ann's Church of Wollaston, is being formed under the direction of the Quincy Council on Aging. Arrangements are being made by Mrs. John Gallahue, a member of St. Ann's Parish Council and Mrs. Marion Andrews of the Quincy Council on Aging staff.

A social hour will precede the 2 p.m. business meeting at 1:30 p.m. The new group will automatically become the newest addition to the 12-club membership Quincy Federation of Senior Citizens, which was formed by the Quincy Council on Aging.

St. Ann's Senior Citizen Club will be the fifth club to be formed within the city by the Council on Aging, three of which have formed in the past nine-month period.

Clarence L. Edwards, a member of the Quincy Senior Citizen Service Corps, will present slides of senior citizens activities within the city at the organizational meeting. Further information may be obtained from the Council on Aging Office.

At Long Last, Teal Pond Will Become Teal Field

Plans to convert Teal Pond in North Quincy into a much-needed physical education and recreational facility revealed last December in the Quincy Sun, have finally reached reality.

It was announced first in the Sun that a drive was underway following a meeting of North Quincy residents. The North Quincy Boosters Club initiated the campaign.

Following that meeting things moved and during the summer the area, across the street from the high school and considered a health menace for a great many years, was finally filled.

It will soon become Teal Field for North Quincy athletic teams, not only the high school teams which need the facility badly, but for all boys and girls of North Quincy.

Last week the City Council transferred 3.5 acres of land from the city to the school department which just about assures the high school teams of using the field next summer, although Public Works Commissioner John M. Browne said it may be necessary to fill some more in the spring.

In addition to the Boosters Club and other interested North residents, Ward 5 City Councilor Walter J. Hannon and the John J. Duane Construction Co. were in on the groundwork.

The Duane firm, which specializes in demolition work and needs disposal areas, provided a couple of hundred truckloads of clean, heavy fill.

Hannon, who wanted to get rid of the eyesore, initiated the project and coordinated the efforts of Duane and the Boosters with the city public works department.

If the filling had been done as recommended by one Boston engineering firm in 1950, it would have cost the city more than $160,000 for sand and gravel fill. But, as Hannon pointed out, it didn't cost a dime this way.

"Politically, it took guts for Walter to get involved in the project," Browne said. "The whole thing could have backfired if a lot of junk had been taken in there or if the area was treated as a dump."

Browne said he believes the brickbats and rubble dumped by Duane have been heavy enough to compress the peat and fill the ground permanently. The area had been filled in twice before, the last time back in the 1930's.

"This won't solve all our problems but we need the area badly and it will put us a bit closer to Quincy High in regard to athletic facilities," said Ralph Frazier, physical education director and football coach at North Quincy High.

"They have excellent facilities up there with three gyms, tennis courts, a practice area right behind the school and a soccer field behind Veterans Memorial Stadium. We are far behind them but this area will help us immensely."

Ralph feels the area can be used for such "lifetime" sports as golf, tennis, probably swimming and other sports.

"We not only lack adequate outdoor facilities but are overcrowded for indoor sports with only one gym and a small body mechanics room.

"We can use the new area for physical education purposes until Thanksgiving, then open again in the spring. It will greatly alleviate the crowded conditions at the high school."

The North football and track teams practice at Cavanagh stadium, the soccer team at Montclair field, site of home games, and the baseball team at Welcome Young Field and Montclair and, sometimes, other fields.

"I think it is necessary to have a field where all teams can work out near the school," Frazier added.

"We certainly appreciate the efforts of Walter Hannon, Councillor Vin Smyth also worked on the project as did Ken Rickson, our coordinator of physical education, Mr. Browne and our Engineer Henry Nilsen. The Boosters Club really got the drive going and many others helped out."

Quincy, North Soccer Teams 'Zero Kids'

The Quincy and North Quincy soccer teams not only are unbeaten and untied after three games but are unscored upon.

Tuesday Ron Martin's Quincy booters, Division One champs in the South Shore Association a year ago, blanked Sharon, 4-0, while George Golding's North team shut out South Shore Voc-Tech, 6-0.

Art Boyle, a junior who didn't play last year, scored three goals for Quincy with Harry Meidinas, who came to this country from Greece a year ago, having the other goal. Al Lavoie had two assists and Nick Conderolos one.

"Our offense has kept us up there by keeping the ball in the opposition's zone most of the time," Martin said. "As a result, Dave D'Olympio has had less than 20 saves in three games. Artie Boyle has played fine ball and has developed into one of our finest forwards. The defense also has played fine ball."

George Bourikas, another boy from Greece who is one of the finest players in the league, added two goals for North Quincy, despite a broken arm, while Vin Cameron, Tim Flynn, Mike Delaney and Bill Chaggaris scored one each.

Cameron, Steve Lane, Steve Mullaney and Bud Wilson each had an assist.

"Tom O'Malley has been doing a terrific job at center halfback and Ron Jackson is doing well at center forward," Golding said. "All our forwards have been playing well and the defense is strong. I used three goalies, senior Mike Jacques, junior Steve Little and sophomore Jamey Daley in goal against Voc-Tech. Jacques went all the way in our first two games."

In its previous game Quincy defeated Plymouth-Carver, 3-0, with Lavoie scoring twice and Meidinas once and each of them had an assist.

North edged Hingham, 2-0, with Bourikas and Cameron scoring the goals.

Today Quincy is home to Franklin, Monday North plays at Franklin, Tuesday Scituate is at North Quincy and Duxbury at Quincy and next Thursday North hosts Plymouth-Carver and Quincy goes to Avon.

ENC Soccer Team On Scoring Rampage

The Eastern Nazarene College soccer team has been going on a scoring rampage this year with 27 goals in four games which include three easy wins and a 1-1 tie with Southeastern Mass. University, the Colonial Conference's defending champion.

The Crusaders' latest win was a 9-3 romp Saturday over New Hampshire College.

ENC Saturday will be host to King's College of Briar Cliff Manor, a team never beaten by the Wollaston school.

Steve Shoff, 5-8, 165-pound center forward, and Abel Espada, inside left, had two goals apiece against New Hampshire. North Quincy's Bob Mollica, Del Bieber, Don Kauffman, Ed Gardner and Keith Swain had the other goals.

In its opener ENC blanked Merrimack College, 5-0, as it outshot the losers, 60-9.

Next came a 12-1 breeze over Roger Williams College of Bristol, R.I., as the Crusaders outshot the opposition, 50-23.

Shoff broke several school records as he scored six goals against Williams for most goals in a game. He also scored the most points in two games, 20. In those two games he had eight goals and 14 assists.

Gardner had two goals each of those two games and Espada had a goal and two assists against Merrimack and two goals and two assists against Williams.

"We are a greatly improved club," Coach Bob Jack said. "A big reason for this improvement has been the play of halfback Doug Sorenson, who was second string goalie at the season's start but now is a starting halfback. Dean Stinson and Shoff have been really outstanding this season."

North Harriers Seek No. 3, Quincy Chases Second Win

North Quincy's cross country team, loser of only one Greater Boston League meet a year ago, will go for its third victory in a row Monday when it meets Revere at Medford.

On the same day, Quincy, with a 1-1 record, will face Somerville over the same course.

Bob Gentry's North harriers defeated Somerville, 26-29, Monday for win number two as Capt. Kevin Henry and Jeff Strungis placed one-two. Other Raider scorers were Matt Clancy, sixth; Richie Yee, eighth and Dick Malloy, ninth.

In their opener the Raiders had topped Everett, 25-30, as Henry again won, edging Everett's Pat Dougherty. Strungis was third, Yee fifth, Paul Bonoli sixth and Frank Webb 10th.

Meanwhile, Quincy's T. ..l Hall picked up his first win as a cross country coach Monday when the Presidents evened their record with a 28-32 win over Revere.

Junior Bobby Ciano, who had broken a league record in his opening meet, won his second in a row in 12:40, with teammates Jim Dubois, Peter Ciano, Bob's younger brother; Brian Feeney and Paul Whalberg placing fourth through seventh.

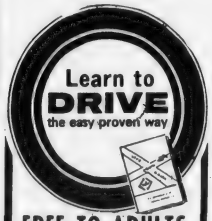
Although Quincy had dropped its opener to Malden, 24-35, Ciano, who a year ago lost only once and handed North Quincy's Paul Affsa his only defeat in the final meet of the year, set a league mark as he covered the 2.4-mile Medford course in 12:29, seven seconds better than the old mark shared by him and Medford's Bob Murphy. Bobby's sophomore brother, Peter, placed second.

Laing To Be Honored Nov. 4

Bob Laing, former North Quincy High School hockey coach, will be honored at a friendship dinner Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. at Morrisette Legion Post, Miller St., West Quincy.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Margaret Colleran, 75 Clement Terrace, Montclair, 471-0055; Mrs. Beverly Reinhardt of 128 Sagamore St., North Quincy, 773-2959; William Gardner of 41 Deerfield St., Squantum, 471-3698; Mrs. Audrey Hayes of 181 Taylor St., Wollaston, 472-3243; Miss Katherine McCoy, Dean of Girls at North Quincy High School; and Charles Murphy, custodian.

Quincy Youth Hockey Benefit Dance Oct. 10



A benefit dance sponsored by the Quincy Youth Hockey Program, now in its sixth year, will take place Oct. 10 from 8:30 to 12:30 p.m. at Fore River Clubhouse. Music will be by Bill Reeve's Orchestra.

Proceeds will benefit the more than 300 Quincy youths now participating in the program, to help "keep Quincy youths off the streets and on the ice."

Tickets may be obtained from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzpatrick of 19 Appleton St., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reinhardt of 128 Sagamore St., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Previte of 26 Samoset Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watts of 55 Thornton St.

Revere Tie Disappointing

Raiders Host Weymouth North Saturday

North Quincy's football team, still unbeaten but extremely disappointed following a 6-6 tie with Revere in its Greater Boston League opener, takes on Weymouth North Saturday at 1:30 at Veterans Memorial Stadium and hopes to do as well as it did in its season's opener two weeks ago against the new Weymouth South team.

In that game Ralph Frazier's Raiders won, 20-0, and will be a slim favorite over the Weymouth North eleven. Weymouth dropped its first two games to Lowell, 14-0, and Brookline, 34-13, but looked good in spots, especially against Lowell, rated one of the best in the state.

"I am terribly disappointed in the Revere tie, because I honestly feel we had the better team," said Frazier, North's second-year coach. "Our defense was superb as Revere scored on a 49-yard run and never threatened again. And our offense did well, moving the ball but we fumbled on their three-yard line and gave up the ball another time on their 20.

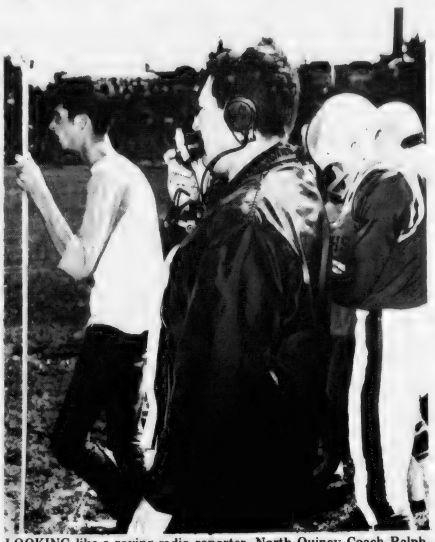
"I suppose a tie is better than a loss, but we should have won that game. I expect a lot of trouble from Weymouth North because it now has two games under its belt and is bound to be improved. They looked awfully good against Lowell."

North pulled out the tie with just 50 seconds left in the game. The defense forced a fumble on the Revere 20 and Tony Kelly, again the workhorse on offense, capped the drive by going across from the one. Brian McCleery, a transfer from Oregon, tried to kick the winning point but it was blocked.

North almost pulled out a win in the final seconds as a long pass just missed connections.

"I suppose some people will criticize me for having McCleery try a kick after he missed twice against Weymouth, but I'd do it again in the same situation," Frazier pointed out. "Our line broke down and the kick was blocked, so it wasn't Brian's fault. Against Weymouth both his kicks were high enough but went just to the left. He is a good kicker and I'll continue to us him on conversions."

Frazier had praise again for Kelly and Lee Davis. Kelly carried 27 times for an average of nearly five yards a carry. He gained more than 150 yards against Weymouth and carried more than 50 times in the two games.



"Kelly has been outstanding and I haven't had Davis do much running so far, but if they begin to key on Kelly, Lee will get his chance and he is also an excellent ball carrier," the North Coach said. "Davis played both ways against Revere and did a real good job."

Frazier called Jimmy Sarruda "spectacular" on defense and also lauded John Panarelli, Steve Murray, Dan Zink and Jim deVerennes, who was used in several different spots on defense.

Revere's touchdown on Mike Sokolowski's 49-yard run came midway in the second period.

North took the second half kickoff and drove from its 40 to the Revere three where it fumbled and the Patriots recovered.

"The boys didn't give up and I'm proud of the way they bounced back," Frazier concluded. "I'm convinced we are going to win some more games and give our fans something to cheer about."

Varney, Kelley, Vena In Harvard - NU Action

There was considerable Quincy interest in last Saturday's Harvard-Northeastern football game won by Harvard, 28-7, in the first meeting ever between the two schools.

Peter Varney, an all-East end last fall but shifted to the backfield this fall, scored one of the Crimson touchdowns and, although held to 13 yards rushing by the stubborn Northeastern defense, he promises to be a big gainer in the Ivy League this year.

Ed Vena, another Quincyite who, like Varney, attended Deerfield Academy after high school, saw some action at guard for Harvard. He is only a sophomore.

Quincy's Dennis Kelley set up the lone Northeastern touchdown with a spectacular 88-yard kickoff return to the Harvard five.

'Blind Partners' Winners At Furnace Brook

Winners in the "Blind Partners - Least Putts" ladies' weekly tournament at Furnace Brook Golf Club are announced by Mrs. Anthony Spinello, chairman.

Mrs. Joseph DiFederico and Mrs. Adolph Aimola had low gross; Mrs. Michael Fallon and Miss Marie Corayer, low net; Mrs. Felix O'Connor and Mrs. William Rendle, Jr.

Tied for third net were Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Alan Bartlett, Mrs. George Doherty and Mrs. Spinello, Mrs. Richard Hoag and Mrs. Paul O'Leary.

Mrs. Michael Fallon with 12, had the least putts; Mrs. Richard Hoag and Mrs. George Doherty tied for second place with 13 each.

PRETTY ROOTERS -- North Quincy cheerleaders make a pretty lineup. Kneeling are Sharon Adams, Betty Ardolini, head cheerleader Christine Guest, Debbie McNeice and Barbara Hale. In second row are Arlene Boyd, Stephanie Wallace and Cheryl Smith. Third row are Ann Carr, Jeanne McGregor, Margaret Cuddy [Miss Yakoo], Patsy Morahan and Diane Jennings.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

Q. We have received a wedding invitation to a wedding out of state. We know the parents slightly and the bridal couple not at all. Must we send a gift although we are unable to attend?

A. A gift is sent if you accept the invitation. It is not necessary to send one if you refuse. In your case, where you know the parents only slightly, the answer would be no. If you were close to either the bride, groom, or family then you would probably want to send them a gift.

A gift may also be sent if an invitation is not received to the wedding or reception. In some cases circumstances may call for a small or family wedding. This could be for financial reasons, personal reasons, or perhaps second marriages where good taste is considered. If you are close to either the bride or groom then as a mark of friendship you would want to send them a present. A gift sent from the heart and not because you received an invitation is far more valued by the bridal couple then the most expensive gift received because of an invitation issued.

Never feel you must match your gift to the couples financial circumstances. Keep within your budget. Use your imagination. Gift shops and antique shops often have unusual items for a small amount.

Gifts of money or bonds are usually presented in both names the day of the wedding. If sent before the wedding then, like other gifts, it would be in the brides name only.

Gifts that are sent after the wedding would, of course, be sent in both names. If they are monogrammed then the grooms initials are used. Even though you know only the groom the gift is sent to the bride at her home.

Be sure to enclose your card with a short line wishing them happiness. This is written at the top of the card. These cards are removed when the gifts are displayed. Checks, money and bonds are recorded on cards. They would read "BOND, $100.00" or "CHECK $100.00" etc. without the donor's name.

Gifts received at the reception are never opened at the reception. This avoids misplacing the cards, breakage in transporting them again and hurt feelings on the part of guests who have already sent their gifts to the brides home.

Ramsden To Speak At Quincy Federation Tea

George Ramsden, Jr. executive director, will discuss the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy Monday at a program of the Quincy Federation of Women's Organizations at the YMCA.

A President's Tea with reception and social hour will take place at 1 p.m., with a business meeting and program scheduled for 1:45 p.m. Mrs. Richard D. Schiavo will preside.

Mr. Ramsden is a graduate of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy and Springfield College. Following military service in World War II, he became youth and program secretary for the Brockton YMCA, becoming associate executive director in 1967 before coming to Quincy in 1969 as executive director. He is married and has four children.

Among the presidents expected at the tea are:

Mrs. Anthony Losordo of the Quincy Women's Club; Mrs. Schiavo of the Wollaston Women's Club; Mrs. Charles Knowles of the Wollaston Women's Club Juniors; Mrs. Harriet Esterbrook of Atlantic Memorial Church Women's Union.

Mrs. William Tobin of the Montclair Women's Club, Mrs. William C. Edwards of the Needlework Guild of America, Quincy Chapter; Mrs. Jacob Karp of Quincy Hospital Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Harold Thornley of St. Mary's Guild at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church.

Also attending will be Mrs. Edwin Allen, representing the South Shore Council of Camp Fire Girls; Mrs. Harry Maki of Trinity Lutheran Church; Mrs. Charles Collins of Wollaston Congregational Church Women's Union with Mrs. William J. Longridge, co-president.

On exhibit will be arts and crafts of the YMCA.

Hostesses will be the executive board and committee members of the Quincy Federation of Women's Organizations.

LaLeche League Chapter To Meet Oct. 6

The Quincy Chapter of LaLeche League will meet Oct. 6 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ronald Johnson of 28 Hilltop St., where all fall meetings are to be held.

The topic is "The Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Baby," with Mrs. Donald A. Wilkinson of 17 Dale Ave., as moderator. Interested women are invited.

Mr., Mrs. Della Chiesa Parents Of Son

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Della Chiesa of 258 Union St., Hanover are parents of a son, Ronaldo Vincent Della Chiesa, born Sept. 18 at St. Margaret's Hospital Dorchester.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Della Chiesa of 95 High St., Quincy, and Mrs. Geraldine Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz.

The baby is also the grandnephew of former Quincy Mayor and State Rep. Amelio Della Chiesa, now a resident of Pembroke.

50th ANNIVERSARY--Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Cairns of 75 Virginia Rd., Merrymount, noted their 50th anniversary at an open house, given by their neighbors.

Rosh Hashanah Services Mark Year 5731 For Jewish Faith

Rosh Hashanah services marking the beginning of the New Year 5731 for those of Jewish faith opened last evening in the three Congregations of Quincy.

The observance continues today and Friday with traditional rituals.

At Congregation Adas Shalom, 435 Adams St., today's 9 a.m. service will include a sermon by Rabbi Samuel Perlman on the topic, "Determining Our Destiny" while tomorrow's 9 a.m. sermon will be "Commitment and Fulfillment". Mincha and Maariv will be at 6:30 p.m. each day.

Services at Temple Beth El, 1001 Hancock St., begin today and Friday at 8:30 a.m., with the blowing of the shofar at 10:30 a.m. Rabbi David J. Jacobs will speak today on "Separation for Freedom", and tomorrow his topic is "Two Faces of Salvation". Minchah-Arvit is at 6 p.m. daily.

Five-hour services at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., begin today and Friday at 8 a.m., with the sounding of the shofar at 11 a.m. following the sermon. Rabbi Jacob Mann is speaking today on "Togetherness", and his topic Friday is "Then and Today".

Next week on Friday the observance of Yom Kippur will be held.

'Talk Back' Service Sunday At United First Parish Church

Robert Offenbach of 780 Willard St., West Quincy, a member of the governing board of United First Parish Church [Unitarian] will preach Sunday at a 10:45 a.m. "talk-back" service.

Rev. Bradford E. Gale, D.D., minister, will officiate at the service and then will be a lay member of the parish for the remainder of the service.

Mr. Offenbach, a management consultant, was an official delegate from the Quincy church to the national assembly of Unitarian Universalist Churches of the United States and Canada at Seattle in July. In his sermon, "Crisis As Opportunity," he will comment on major decisions influencing the denomination made by the 1,000 delegates.

Following the sermon there will be an informal fellowship hour at which the congregation will have a chance to question the preacher. Mrs. Donald K. Mackay and Mrs. Offenbach, also delegates to the Seattle convention, will comment.

Mrs. William C. Edwards and Mrs. Allen P. Miller will be hostesses at the fellowship hour and sermon "talk-back".

Lutheran Church Of Good Shepherd Installs Education Officers

Officers of Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd parish auxilliaries and staff of the Christian Education program were installed Sunday by Rev. Gary C. Santmire, pastor.

Mrs. Raymond B. Richards heads the Lutheran Church Women for 1970-71. Mrs. Matti Walman is vice president; Mrs. Richard Stewart, secretary; and Mrs. John Graham, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lloyd are presidents of the Marcos Couples Club; Mr. and Mrs. Gareth Linder, vice presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Berlin, secretaries; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snyder, treasurers.

The Sunday Church School staff includes Clifford Cox, Mrs. Marcia Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. Gareth Linder, Miss Joan Linder, Mrs. Virginia Mirick, and David Nelson. Weekday catechetics classes will be taught by Miss Donna Bingham and Miss Patricia Krieger as well as Rev. Santmire.

Soviet Economy, Politics UN Council Subject Oct. 8

"Economic Problems and Soviet Politics" will be the subject of Professor Joseph Berliner of Brandeis University Oct. 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the parish hall of First United Parish Church, Quincy Square.

This is the first in a current series of free public World Affairs Lectures sponsored by the United Nations Council of the South Shore.

Dr. Berliner, an economist and professor at Brandeis, has travelled and studied in Russia. He has written two books on the Soviet Union, "Factory and Manager in the USSR" and "Soviet Foreign Aid," as well as articles for professional journals. A question period will follow his talk.

Dr. Paul Gossard, former superintendent of Quincy Public Schools, will preside.

Reservations for the catered dinner preceding the lecture may be made with Miss Lena Foster of 17 Overlook Rd., Mrs. Viola Ellis of 10 Terne Rd., or Miss Vera Call of 1000 Southern Artery.

A limited number of dinner tickets at reduced rates are available for college students and juniors and seniors in high schools.

Christ Church Women's Guild Opens Fall Season

The Women's Guild of Christ Church opens its fall season today [Thursday] with a 12:30 p.m. coffee hour for members and friends.

A "Musical Afternoon" with Harriet Bonish will follow at 2 p.m.

Red Cross Bloodmobile To Visit First Presbyterian Church

Mrs. Michael F. Fallon, Volunteer Blood Donor Chairman for the Greater Quincy Red Cross, announces that the bloodmobile will visit First United Presbyterian Church, 270 Franklin St., South Quincy Oct. 1.

Hours for donating will be from 12:45 to 6:30 p.m.

Appointments may be made by calling the Greater Quincy Red Cross at 472-2700.

Blood must be made available at all times and this can only be done through the efforts of blood donors, Mrs. Fallon said.

Mrs. Donald Dixon To Take Part In Goodwill Program

Mrs. Donald T. Dixon of Wollaston, an officer of the Woman's Auxiliary to Morgan Memorial, will take part in the annual fall program which opens Friday at Goodwill Industries headquarters, Boston.

The program opens with a 1:30 p.m. coffee hour and social, with a guided tour of the six-story plant to follow.

'The Insensitive Man'

Articles and books are legion which deal with the neurotic woman...the frigid woman...the inadequate woman...the myth of motherhood...all of which suggest directly or indirectly that the problem in most marriages is the wife who doesn't know how to be a woman. About 60% don't. But there is just as large a per cent of husbands that don't know how to be men. That's what this article is about.

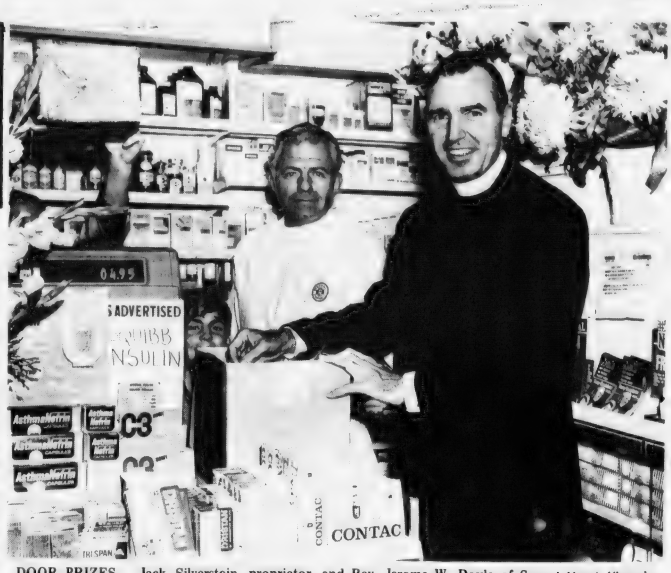
One woman read that fine book "The Power of Sexual Surrender" by Marie Robinson which really helps wives to be fulfilled women and wrote me..."It's all very fine and I agree with all she says...but how can a woman be free...loving...warm...the help-mate...put her man first...if he absolutely won't let her...if he is insensitive to her every gesture of love?"

The answer is simple...she can't. My heart goes out to the warm women who are still trying to relate fully to the cold husband machine.

A large per cent of men are conditioned not to feel...not to be sensitive...not to show little indications of thoughtfulness. From the time he is a little boy with a "hurt" on the living room floor he's told..."Don't cry...be a big man." On the football field in High School, if he's hurt, he's bounced up and down on the frozen ground and walked around draped over the shoulders of teammates...and amidst cheers from the sidelines...in spite of the hurt he's back into the game. When through school he's out in the business jungle where again showing feelings and sensitivity can lead only to failure. Is it any wonder that large numbers of men find it difficult to meet the demands of a warm...affectionate wife for expressions of love and tenderness...when his whole life has been conditioned not to feel?

If a wife reaches a point where she can no longer tolerate a husband's silence...uncooperativeness...coldness...dullness... insensitivity...she has but two alternatives: 1. to demand change in her husband...or 2. to terminate the relationship. As one wife put it..."I can no more continue to live without warmth and love from my man than I can continue to live without food." When love is dammed up in its normal acceptable expressions it is probably going to break out in unacceptable ways...emotional sickness...or the outside "affair" which usually is unsatisfying and frustrating.

Insensitive men have found that avoiding involvement with their wives and children is less painful than involvement...that merely to provide financial security but to keep the relationship at a shallow level without feeling is the more comfortable posture. So they are oblivious to the little gestures of love and respect of a wife...to the little successes of the daughter and son...to their need of praise and recognition...and the need for getting close physically and emotionally.



Not until some crisis occurs will such a man open his eyes...look at himself and what he's doing to himself and family...a crisis like a boy caught in a drug raid...or his daughter becoming pregnant...or his wife going to an attorney to bring a divorce action...or some other kind of upset of his cold...impassioned pattern of life. The nagging and bugging of many frustrated wives does little good...it usually takes a traumatic approach to awaken the insensitive man.

What can a man do when he realizes he has this problem? Hopefully it will not be too late...that the spark hasn't completely been crushed from the warm heart of his loving wife. His first step...is to want to change. He has the power of mind over emotions..just as he has the power of mind over his muscles. But he must be willing to direct his feelings with his mind...as he directs his work interests...his sports interests...his money interests...or his own body satisfactions.

Secondly...he will need to learn the elementary rudiments of sensitivity...of compassion...of affection...the things that make a wife feel loved...wanted...warm and womanly. Helping to carry the dinner dishes to the kitchen...the brief phone call at the noon hour "just thinking of you"...the greeting card when it isn't even a birthday...the little word of praise. Thoughtfulness to a wife and to children is born in the mind...and issues through feelings.

The newspaper can be an escape from sensitive involvement...so can TV...so can work...so can drink. Sensitivity isn't just a feminine virtue...it's a human virtue. You're as poor as a church mouse if you don't have it.

VIET NAM HEROES--Rear Admiral Joseph C. Wylie, USN, commandant First Naval District, presents Bronze Star Medal with Combat "V" for action while a boat captain in South Vietnam to Boatswain's Mate First Class William C. Patterson of 454 South St., Quincy. Lt. William B. James [center] of Braintree and Chief Signalman Albert P. Vitanovac of Bethlehem, Pa., received the Navy Achievement Medal. At left is Capt. Martin Zenni of Fall River, commanding officer of the Quincy-built USS Portland to which the trio have been assigned.

USS Portland To Join Fleet Oct. 3

The Quincy-built USS Portland [LSD-37], named in honor of Portland, Ore. and Portland, Me., will be commissioned into the U.S. Navy at 11:15 a.m. Oct. 3, at Pier 11 of the Boston Naval Shipyard, Charlestown.

General Leonard F. Chapman, Jr., Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, will be principal speaker at the commissioning ceremony. Rear Admiral Joseph C. Wylie, USN, Commandant of the First Naval District will place the dock landing vessel in commission and Captain Martin "M" Zenni, USN, of Fall River, will take command of the ship and her crew of 20 officers and 285 enlisted men.

The first Portland, a heavy cruiser built at Quincy, and named in honor of Portland, Me., was commissioned in February 1933 at the Boston Naval Shipyard. During World War II the vessel's crew and officers earned the Navy Unit Commendation for extraordinary heroism during the naval battle of Guadalcanal and 16 battle stars for participation in other naval engagements. The cruiser was decommissioned in July 1946 at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

The present Portland was built at the Quincy division of General Dynamics, and was christened Dec. 20, 1969 by Mrs. Emily Chapman, wife of the Marine Corps commandant.

The Portland is the first of four ships in the Navy's new dock landing ship [LSD] class to be built at the Quincy yard.

The new ship is designed to carry heavy landing craft, combat vehicles and a limited number of troops and to discharge them rapidly from her decks during amphibious assaults.

A unique feature of the Portland and her sister ships is a floodable well deck, similar to a drydock, which will permit small craft to sail into and from her interior for cargo handling and repair purposes. Full-load displacement of the Portland is 13,650 tons.

351 Southwest Youngsters In Camping Programs

Camping opportunities were provided this summer for 351 children of the South-West Quincy and Germantown areas, thanks to Campership Committees.

Community representatives of the two areas started in April to set up committees to raise a goal of $4,500, to enable some 250 children to attend camp.

Local groups aided the drive by organizing cake and ice cream sales. Clubs, businesses and social groups were solicited for donations, and donations cans were placed in key locations throughout Quincy.

As a result, $5,537.86 was raised, enabling 351 children, more than 100 over than anticipated, to attend a summer camping program.

Five QEA Officers Attend Conference

Five officers of the Quincy Education Association attended the annual Leadership Conference of the Massachusetts Teachers Association held recently in Newton. The theme was "Leadership for Changing Times".

QEA President Robert Garner noted: "The Leadership Conference is a workshop to provide the teacher with an opportunity to learn more about the professional organization and ways to assist in the improvement of the public school system."

He reported that Governor Francis Sargent, a guest speaker, said he was "heartily in favor" of a bill requiring school lunch programs, a subject discussed recently at meetings of the Quincy School Committee.

Other QEA officers attending were Mrs. Louise V. Schofield, vice president; Mrs. Susan A. Green, secretary; Mrs. Alma P. Ries, treasurer; and Trenton N. Karalekas, recently appointed salary chairman of the 700-member Quincy group.

Vietnam Veteran To Speak At Atherton Hough PTA Meeting

Frank Moran, recently discharged Army veteran, will speak at the season's first meeting of the Atherton Hough PTA on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Moran, who served with the medical corps, will describe some of his experiences in Vietnam.

The 1970-71 PTA officers are Mrs. Charles Shea, president; Joseph Amyouny, vice president; Mrs. Barbara Lynch, secretary; Joseph Heirty, treasurer.

Arthur Giordani is program chairman; Mrs. Theodore Colligan and Mrs. John Magee, ways and means chairmen; Mrs. William O'Connor and Mrs. Frank Sines, hospitality; Mrs. Pamela Craig, room mothers.

After Weymouth South Tuneup

Quincy Opens Title Defense At Revere

Quincy's football team, co-champion of the Greater Boston League a year ago, was a pre-season favorite to take top honors this fall and the Presidents certainly looked the part in their opening game last week.

Hank Conroy's club, sprinkled with veterans and several graduates of an unbeaten sophomore club, opens its league season Saturday at Revere [1:30 kickoff] and the Patriots can't be too happy after what Quincy did to the new Weymouth South eleven last Saturday.

The Presidents scored early and often in parading to a 66-14 win over the Wildcats and Conroy used 46 men in the process.

"I used 46 players and the second and third stringers played most of the second and fourth periods," Conroy said. "Four of our 10 touchdowns were scored by the reserves."

Quincy had so many standouts it is difficult to list them all. Spearheading the attack were Steve McCarthy, one of the league's better runners last year as a sophomore and even better this year, and John Provost, rated by Conroy as one of the school's most natural athletes. Each scored two touchdowns, having a long scoring run apiece.

"McCarthy is certainly one of the best runners in our league and Provost is just a natural athlete," Hank said. "I think if he wanted to play basketball or hockey he could be a starter in either. The same thing goes with baseball, track, soccer and any sport you can mention. He is just terrific."

Steve Sullivan, who probably would have been the Presidents' starting quarterback last fall until sidelined for the year by an injury, had a good day as he hit on seven of 12 passes for more than 200 yards, threw two touchdown passes and scored once himself on a sneak.

The Quincy powerhouse gained more than 380 yards on the ground to go with its fine passing attack. Weymouth was held to 180 yards on the ground but quarterback Bill Murray passed for 268 yards including both South touchdowns.

The new Weymouth team, beaten two weeks ago by North Quincy, 20-0, fumbled six times and Quincy recovered five of them.

Quincy's outstanding player on defense was Dennis Waters, who had the most tackles of any player. He also scored one of the touchdowns.

Quincy has five captains this this year, Provost, Wayne Richards, Bob Sylva, Billy Maver and Rich Menchi. All performed well in the romp.

Richards, who suffered an injured knee, had a 40-yard run and kicked two extra points. Menchi and Maver excelled at end, Sylva in the line and Provost and Richards in the backfield.

The starting center was sophomore Ron Smith, who earned the job during the final week of practice as he continued to show steady improvement, and he did an excellent job in his varsity debut.

Quincy's scoring parade went as follows:

McCarthy, 55-yard run.
Provost, 17-yard run.
Sullivan, one-yard sneak.
McCarthy, 12-yard run. [Richards kicked the point.]
Provost, 61-yard run.
Maver, 27-yard pass from Sullivan.
Bobby Malvesti, 39-yard run. [Richards kicked the point.]
Jim Hanlon, 33-yard pass from Sullivan. Malvesti rushed the points.
Bobby McDermott, 83-yard pass play from Sullivan. Sullivan rushed points.
Waters, one-yard run.

Greater Boston League teams are hereby given fair warning. Watch Quincy!

Quincy Looks Like Grid Powerhouse

In its last two games, Coach Hank Conroy's Quincy team has played the role of a powerhouse - scoring a total of 119 points.

In the season windup last year, the Presidents mauled arch rival North Quincy 53-0 the biggest score in the 38-year series.

In the season opener last week, Quincy crushed the new Weymouth South team 66-14.

Sophs Off To Good Start

Dave Burke's Quincy sophs, who have lost only once in the past four years, started off with an 18-6 win Monday over the new Weymouth South team.

Paul Creedon, son of School Supt. Lawrence Creedon, threw a touchdown pass to Bob Spillane, while Duke Whitney and John Ford scored the other Quincy touchdowns.

Quincy Friday hosts Rockland sophomores at Faxon Field.

Ted Sadowski's North sophs who lost only to Quincy and the Revere junior varsity last year, defeated Hingham, 22-14, Tuesday.

The first Raider score on a six-yard run by Ken Perrin and Bobby Morton passed to Jack Pomarole for the points.

Pomarole scored the second touchdown and Chuck deVarennes scored the third and also rushed the final two points.

Memo on Moving

by Alice Bowman

Worried about how a move during September or October will affect your child and his school performance?

Well, you needn't worry a bit. In fact, such a move may be a good thing.

"Moving during the school year, rather than during the summer, may make it easier for a child to make friends," Dr. Donald Brieland, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago, told a recent symposium on "The Effects of Change of Environment on the Child." The symposium was co-sponsored by Loyola University of Chicago and Allied Van Lines.

Dr. Brieland added: "School is the best place to meet many people, to select and be selected."

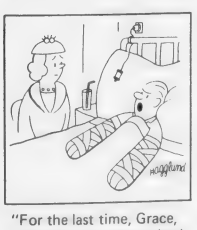
Another participant, Dr. Ralph Oiemann of the Educational Research Council of America, Cleveland, said: "The number of moves did not appear to affect academic achievement."

The child guidance and psychology experts who took part in the symposium had some hints for making a move easier for a child. Dr. Frances Dwyer, a psychologist in private practice in Syracuse, N.Y., said: "The participation of the child in the move is tremendously important."

Dr. Brieland added: "A child should be fully informed as a change becomes likely . . . he should be prepared for what to expect next . . . if the child develops enthusiasm, rather than reluctance, the move should be easier."

Poet's Corner

Road Of Life



By Margaret DeAngelo
29 Delford St., Quincy

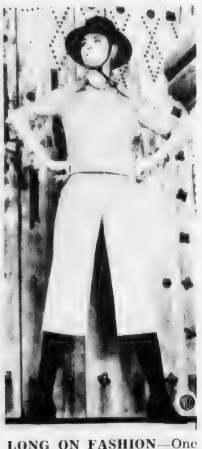
The road of life cannot be found
On any maps or charts.
They're winding lanes of memories;
From a spot within our hearts.

Sometimes the road is paved with smiles
And sometimes wet with tears.
We walk in sunshine and the rain,
As we go through the years.

They say that we should try to take
The bitter with the sweet,
For it's the wrong made into right
That makes our life complete.

So any effort made today
To shoulder every load -
Is like a gentle hand that helps
To guide us down life's road.

"For the last time, Grace, I will not try to sign a check with my toes!"



TWO HEMS FOR HER—Designer Joanna Nelson of California solves the hemline dilemma in this handsome ensemble of super wide wale cotton corduroy. A shapely frog-buttoned coat in the new longer length tops a sleeveless dress with an above-the-knee hemline.

MINI SPLENDORED—Want to have your mini and wear it two ways? Arpeja of California shows how: wear it as stylish topping for a softly shaped pantsuit of authentic-looking cotton suede. Or, if you're short-sighted, leave off the pants and wear it as a mini tunic dress.

SKIRT THE ISSUE—A coed's way with the midi: choose a style that buttons down the front but leave it unbuttoned halfway to show a flash of legs. In step with fall's layered look, Miss Pat's cotton knit outfit includes a V-necked vest topping a long-sleeved shirt.

LONG ON FASHION—One way to ease into fashion's new longer length: wear gauchos—the mid-calf pants that are a divided skirt and vice versa. White Stag does them in ribless cotton corduroy, with matching button-front vest. A gaucho-inspired hat and black boots complete the look.

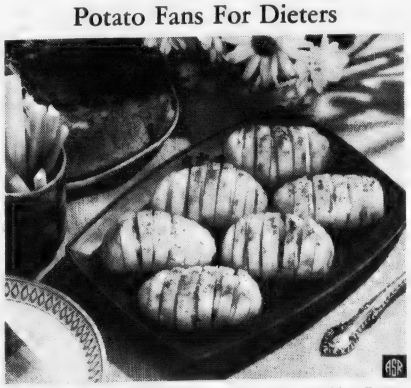
Fashion Lets You Skirt Issue Of Hemlines

If you want to skirt the issue of hemlines in your fall wardrobe, 1970 fashions allow ample room for fence-straddling.

One great compromise of the season, for example, combines a wide wale cotton corduroy coat in the new longer length with a matching mini-skirted dress.

Another look that encompasses the long and short of it is the pantsuit that melds a mini-length tunic with long flare-legged pants. The mini-inclined can also wear the tunic separately as a dress.

A subtle way to ease into the longer mood of fashion 1970 is via the gaucho. Borrowed from the Argentine cowboy, the mid-calf gauchos are the pants that are a divided skirt . . . and vice versa. Either way you look at it, the gaucho is clearly one of fall's most popular styles.



Still another approach that offers the best of the two fashion looks is the button-front midi-skirt. The young have come up with a way to bridge the polarization in hemlines: they bring the midi and the mini together by simply buttoning their skirts only half-way down . . . thus insuring mini exposure with midi style.

Whether you're an out-and-out advocate of the midi or a diehard for the mini, fall 1970 is the season to experiment with fashion . . . put things together . . . and discover what's best for you. More than just a new length, fall offers a look that's soft, easy, and slender.

California designers express the fashion message in soft cotton suedes, buckskins, knits, ribbed and ribless corduroys, and velveteens that take to the supple shaping so vital to the new look.

When it comes to planning your own wardrobe for fall, you may not want to be the first in your crowd to come out in a midi . . . but on the other hand, make sure you're not the last to lay the mini aside.

Potato Fans For Dieters

Counting calories? Then take a look at these golden Potato Fans. An ideal mate for leg of lamb or roast beef, each serving adds only 125 calories to the menu.

To create the fanned effect, the potatoes are partially slashed and filled with onion slices. Then a coating of low-calorie salad dressing and bread crumbs is added, turning to a golden crispness during baking.

Include potatoes often in your diet menu. They're a bargain in nutrition and a saving in calories.

Calorie-Trimmed Potato Fans

6 small potatoes (3½ oz. each)
2 small onions, cut into thin slices
⅓ cup low-calorie salad dressing, Italian or French
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs, seasoned

Peel potatoes. Make vertical slashes ¼ inch apart to within ¼ inch of bottom of each potato. Insert onion slices in slashes. Coat well with dressing and sprinkle with crumbs. Bake, covered, at 425 degrees for 45 minutes. Uncover and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer. Baste frequently with dressing. Makes 6 servings. Approximately 125 calories per serving.

Week of Oct. 2 - Oct. 9

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - A change involving someone close could take you by surprise. Your artistic ability and mental energy can be put to work now.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - The hemmed-in feeling you have should evaporate for this week. Be assertive, reliable, tactful, and things will go your way.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - You will have to use patience and discretion to keep the peace. Avoid any rash actions you will have to apologize for later.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - This is the time to ask favors of those in authority. Your ideas will be accepted by people who count so speak out now.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - An opportunity to supplement your income involves short trips or intellectual pursuit but don't expect everything to run smoothly.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - It's time to take your mind off yourself and look over the budget. Turn your energy towards making gains through mental pursuits.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - If your birthday is this week, do not neglect opportunities that are coming your way. It's a good time to seek favors.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Be careful not to misplace your sympathies now, as your feelings could be hurt by someone you consider to be a friend.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - This week gives a lift to those who are working toward a goal. Someone behind the scenes working to help your career.

CAPRICORN [Dec. 22-Jan. 19] - Friends will give you their cooperation so act upon your ideas this week. Good time to solidify your financial position.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - Friendships formed now will be pleasant as well as lasting. Lessons should have been learned from past experience about finances.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Opportunities are beginning to open up for you this year. You should be ready to make your move by next month.

ENGAGED--The engagement of Miss Cynthia M. DiTullio to Gary R. Christmas is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. DiTullio of 225 Wilson Ave. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Christmas of 145 Beale St. Both are North Quincy School graduates. Miss DiTullio is a student at Quincy City Hospital School of Nursing, while Mr. Christmas is employed by New England Telephone Co. An Aug. 7, 1971 wedding is planned.

Mr., Mrs. Edward Marden Honored On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Marden, Sr. of 79 Forest Ave., West Quincy, were honored Friday at a surprise 25th wedding anniversary party at Cain's Restaurant, with more than 50 guests attending.

Hosts were the couple's children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Budrick [the former Carole Marden], of 152 Willard St., Miss Wendy K. Marden, Edward A. Marden, Jr., and Miss Merri Anne Marden, all at home, assisted by Mrs. Ruby Greenough, Mrs. Marden's aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Marden, married Sept. 25, 1945 in Quincy, renewed their wedding vows in East Congregational Church, East Milton, with Rev. Malcolm E. Washburn officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Marden were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. LeClair of 70 Lawn Ave., Quincy.

Mrs. Marden, the former June Tite, and her husband were class sweethearts of the 1944 Quincy High School graduating class. Both have lived in Quincy since childhood. Mr. Marden is a self-employed painting contractor, a member of Milton Masonic Lodge, Milton Mosaic Club, Guy A. Ham Chapter of Eastern Star, Taleb Grotto of Quincy and the Norfolk County Sheriff's Association.

Mrs. Marden is a member of Milton Mosaic Club Auxiliary and Guy A. Ham Chapter, Eastern Star.

Wollaston Women's Club Juniors To Sponsor Lectures On Antiques

A series of lectures on antiques will be sponsored by the Wollaston Woman's Club Juniors on Tuesdays, Oct. 6, 13 and 20 at 8 p.m., at the Milton Elks Lodge, 577 Adams St., East Milton Square.

Milton Babcock, national authority on Early American Antiques, will conduct a course on "Antiques and How to Know Them."

The lectures are open to the public, and free appraisals will be available. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at discount for the series of three lectures.

Quincy Educaters To Take Part In N.E. Guidance Conference Oct. 4-6

Programs and activities of the Quincy Public School Guidance Department which help children to make the transition from elementary to junior high school will be a feature of the program of the New England Personnel and Guidance Conference to be held at the Mount Washington Hotel, Bretton Woods, N.H. Oct. 4-5-6.

Members of the Quincy panel participating include:

Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, Director of Pupil Personnel Services; Miss Althea P. Sawyer, Head Counselor at Broad Meadows Junior High School; Miss M. Ena Fredette, Counselor at Snug Harbor School; and Miss Louise B. Forsyth, Headquarters Guidance Staff in charge of guidance information services.

Original overhead transparencies and tape recordings will be features of the presentation. The Quincy program has many unique features and school systems from throughout Massachusetts have sought information about the transitional activities.

Miss Forsyth is also serving as a co-chairman of a workshop being developed for presidents and presidents-elect of state school counselor associations in the six New England states and in New York and Pennsylvania. She is a member of the Committee on State Divisions of the American School Counselor Association and is Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts School Counselors Association.

Thomas Lloyd CD Coordinator

Thomas W. Lloyd of 31 Division St., North Quincy, has been appointed Industrial Civil Defense Coordinator by Quincy CD Director Edward H. Roberts.

Lloyd, a member of the Quincy Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire Department more than 12 years, is general superintendent of Boston Gear Works, Inc.

"Mr. Lloyd brings to the Civil Defense Agency of Quincy many years of supervisory experience in industry," Director Roberts said in announcing the appointment.

On The Screen
By
Vincent Puleo

Chief Justice ELIJAH ADLOW of the Boston municipal court still insists that the stage show "HAIR" is "nothing but a third-rate play that couldn't survive without its lewdness...

Screen Gems' "THE FEMINIST AND THE FUZZ" is the first film of its' kind to deal with the Women's Liberation Movement. Directed by JERRY PARIS, this comedy stars JOANNE WORLEY, JULIE NEWMAR and BARBARA EDEN... The picture is slated as an ABC "Movie of the Week", and will be broadcast sometime this fall...

LOWELL THOMAS, the man who made LAWRENCE of ARABIA famous, is this years recipient of PULSE's "Man of the Year" award... The internationally renowned author, explorer, and broadcaster will receive the PULSE award in New York on Oct. 21 in recognition of his "unique contributions to the broadcast industry and to the world community"... CBS-TV has purchased the rights to tele-showcase the film version of RODGER and HAMMERSTEIN's "OKLAHOMA" on Thanksgiving Day. The holiday special will be broadcast Nov. 26th, from 8 to 11 p.m.... Thespian CHRIS JONES, in conjunction with STUART COHEN and RUDOLPH ALTOBELLI, has formed his own independent production company called appropriately enough, Christopher Productions... JONES' next film, the ROBERT MITCHUM co-starred "RYAN's DAUGHTER", will be released shortly... Soviet Minister of Culture EKATERINA FURTSOVA, was given a special "private screening" of the made-in-Russia "WATERLOO" by host DINO De LAURENTIIS at the latters retreat in Dinocitta outside Rome... The motion picture stars ROD STEIGER in the role of Napoleon, and has a cast which includes several of Russia's top name actors...

TRACY REED and SCOEY MITCHELL are refreshing additions to the television scene as stars of ABC's "BAREFOOT IN THE PARK"... GEORGE SEGAL tries his hand at comedy in the CARL REINER directed "WHERE's POPPA?"... Starring along with SEGAL is Quincy's RUTH GORDON... MARY PICKFORD's entire collection of 50 personal films are on display at the American Film Institute collection at the Library of Congress... The United States Supreme Court makes its' final decision on the obscenity convictions of "I AM CURIOUS YELLOW" this fall... Whatever decision the higher Court arrives at will definitely have a profound affect on the future course of American filmmaking... MICKEY ROONEY stars shortly in the Broadway musical "W.C.", a play based on the life of the late great W.C. FIELDS... THE MARLBORO MAN of cigarette commercial fame, has a brief role in the upcoming "THE ALL-AMERICAN BOY"... Vancouver, British Columbia has been earmarked for the filming of no less than seven motion pictures between now and June of 1970... Director ROBERT ALTMAN is due there in November to start the shooting of "THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WAGER"...

Going back a few years, famed director RICHARD BROOKS first assignment behind the cameras, was as the director of the CARY GRANT starred "CRISIS" made in 1950 for MGM... His latest outing "THE HAPPY ENDING" includes a stellar cast of his wife JEAN SIMMONS, LLOYD BRIDGES and the 1960 Best Supporting Actress of the Year SHIRLEY JONES... "ENDING" is scheduled for an early winter release... Whatever became of CARA WILLIAMS? She hasn't been too active since 1958 when she was one of the contenders for Best Supportin Actress of the Year... Miss WILLIAMS received that nod for her brilliant performance in the TONY CURTIS-SIDNEY POITIER starred "THE DEFIANT ONES"... Sportscaster FRANK GIFFORD is also in the running for the lead role in the forthcoming "THE LOVE MACHINE"... When is GRAYSON HALL of "THE NIGHT OF THE IGUANA" fame going to make another film?... LAURENCE HARVEY returns to the screen after a three year hiatus in the soon-to-be released "WUSA"... In this one HARVEY portrays a disenchanted minister who is caught up in a vortex of reactionary plot and assassination with a New Orleans Mardi Gras backdrop...

Lts. Laracy, Lynch At Command Training Institute

Quincy Police Lts. Frederick J. Laracy and Lt. Walter J. Lynch began classes Sept. 14 at the 31st session of the Command Training Institute for police officers at Babson College.

Classes sponsored by the New England Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc. will continue for the current group of 31 registrants until Oct. 2.

SHIPYARD MECHANICS

How Come You're Not With Your Background, At QUINCY?

Because if you've got what it takes to build a space-age ship, we've got what it takes in wages and benefits. We're paying new, top rates -- part of our 5-year "best ever" contract.

And there's more. Benefits like fully paid medical insurance. Benefits like building the ships of the future where you don't have the same, dull, day-in, day-out boredom. Where new problems come up every day...and you'll be expected to help solve them. Improving. Using your head. Making suggestions. [And those suggestions pay off big when they're adopted. Our people cashed in thousands last year!]

You'll be working with the most modern equipment, too. Automatic welding equipment. Modular construction techniques for shipfitting. You'll be at the top of your trade.

To GEORGE E. FRYER, THE COUNTY BANK N.A., THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BOSTON, ELIZABETH S. FRYER and to all persons entitled to the benefit of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended GREETING: THE QUINCY CO-OPERATIVE BANK Claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property situated in Quincy, County of Norfolk, given by George E. Fryer to Quincy Co-operative Bank dated August 3, 1965 and recorded in Norfolk County Registry of Deeds Book 4279 Page 59, has filed with said court a bill in equity for authority to foreclose said mortgage in the manner following: by entry to foreclose and by exercise of power of sale set forth in said mortgage.

If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended, and you object to such foreclosure, you or your attorney should file a written appearance and answer in said court at Dedham on or before October 29, 1970 or you may be forever barred from claiming that such foreclosure is invalid under said act.

Witness, G. JOSEPH TAURO, Esquire, Chief Justice of our Superior Court, the 18th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventy.

Quincy Police In Tribute To Slain Boston Officer

A 25-member Quincy police delegation paid solemn tribute Monday to slain Brighton Patrolman Walter A. Schroeder.

The Quincy group, members of the Quincy Police Relief Association and the Quincy Police Betterment Association, marched in the funeral procession and attended the solemn high Mass of Requiem at the Church of St. Columbkille.

More than 2,000 police officers participated in the tribute to the 42-year-old father of nine who was shot to death during a holdup at the State Street Bank and Trust Co., Brighton branch.

The Quincy delegation was led by William O'Donnell and Carmen DiRamio, presidents of the two police associations.

WELL DONE--Dominic Palma, shoe repairer for 52 years at 64 Billings Rd., Norfolk Downs, received from Rep. Joseph E. Brett an official citation of congratulations from the House of Representatives upon his retirement.

Koch Spearheading Voter Drive

Richard J. Koch is spearheading a last week stepped up voter registration drive in behalf of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and the Quincy Democratic City Committee.

More than 6,000 telephone calls have already been made in a 10-day period, Koch estimated. And approximately 8,000 simulated telegrams have been sent to unregistered voters.

"As a followup to the telegrams, calls are being made once again in an effort to register as many as possible before the Oct. 3 deadline," Koch said. "We hope to register from 1,500 to 2,000 new voters.

Every effort is being made by every political group as well as the Quincy League of Women Voters to involve as many voters as possible."

"John Gillis and the City Clerk's office have been more than cooperative in these efforts."

On Oct. 3, [Saturday] there will be special registrations at City Hall from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Those needing transportation may call Koch at 472-1599.

Koch pointed out that the revaluation amendment is an important issue on the Nov. 3 ballot.

"Many home owners who do not register by Oct. 3, will be unable to vote on this question which is an issue close to their pocketbooks as it will have a great bearing on the tax rate in the future," Koch said. "Whether they do believe in it or do not believe in it, they should be in a position to express themselves on the ballot."

"Regardless of whether or not they are interested in a particular candidate, this issue is a very personal thing when it affects the real estate tax," he declared.

Tobin Commends Zoning Advisory, Conservation Committee Projects

City Council President Arthur H. Tobin has written Laurence J. Curtin, chairman of the Advisory Committee on zoning, noting its "long hours, hard work and dedication in cooperatin with the City Council in making the City of Quincy a better place to live."

He has written also to Mrs. Frank Yeomans, chairman of the city's Conservation Committee, commenting on the cleaning of the Black's Creek area.

"This is a tremendous civic undertaking," Tobin wrote, "which has saved the City a considerable amount of money."

The City Council is planning to present Certificates of Appreciation to the individual members of each committee, and to those assisting in the programs.

Staff changes at the Thomas Crane Public Library and its branches are announced by Warren E. Watson, director of libraries, and Francis D. Hackett, chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Margaret-Anne Myers has been appointed librarian of the Adams Shore Branch. She holds a bachelor's degree in English and History from the University of Western Ontario, and a master of library science degree from Syracuse University.

Before coming to Quincy, she was branch librarian in the San Diego County Library System, and served as children's librarian in California and Ohio.

Other staff members at Adams Shore are reference librarian Miss Betty Santangelo, with degrees from Wayne State University and the University of Michigan; Mrs. Blanche Eckert, former Snug Harbor Branch librarian, as Children's librarian; and Mrs. Sara Penella, senior assistant, a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College and with experience in Dallas and at Harvard College Library.

Mrs. Agnes Ford is the new librarian at Wollaston Branch, replacing Mrs. Natalie Hewitt. Mrs. Ford, formerly senior assistant at the branch, was for many years an assistant at the Boston Public Library. She attended Northeastern University School of Law.

Mrs. Carolyn Flynn, a part time assistant with experience in public libraries at Winchester and New Bedford, replaces Mrs. Ford as the senior assistant at Wollaston.

Miss Marion Wilson, with a degree in library education from State University of New York at Genesee and a former school librarian in Rochester, N.Y., is now acting children's librarian, u transfer from North Quincy Branch.

Recent appointments at the main library are Mrs. Patricia Anderson, a Boston University graduate, as regional reference librarian; and Mrs. Judith Andrews, a Mount Holyoke graduate, as senior assistant. Both are students at Simmons College School of Library Science.

• Poll Tax Confusion, T

Many Do Not Vote Because 'It Makes No Difference'

A good many Quincy residents don't vote because they feel it "makes no difference".

And others are still unregistered because they think the poll tax, abolished in 1963, is still in effect.

These discoveries came to light during the recent voter registration drive of the Quincy League of Women Voters concentrated in three low-registration precincts, reports Mrs. David Coletti, president and Mrs. John Toland, League Voter Service Chairman.

More than 1,100 residents in Ward 3, Precinct 3; Ward 4, Precinct 2 and Ward 1, Precinct 9 were contacted before two special evening registrations.

Of these, only 74 actually did enroll during evening registations- 46 at the Southwest Community Center at Brewers Corner and 28 in Germantown.

The evening sessions were coordinated by City Clerk John M. Gillis and his staff.

The League carried out the voter drive in conjunction with the Quincy Community Action Organization.

Assisting were students from Quincy Junior College, Central Junior High and North Quincy High Schools.

The Central and North Quincy students compiled a list of unregistered residents in the three wards and the Junior College students personally called on them, informing them of the evening registrations and voting requirements.

Russell O'Connell of the Quincy Community Action Organization, said the students discovered many of the residents had been dropped from the voting list for non-payment of the poll tax and were unaware the poll tax had since been abolished.

A large percentage expressed belief that "registering to vote was not worth the effort since they felt that voting made no difference."

Others who were carried on city records as unregistered had moved, were deceased, or are aliens, it was learned.

Mrs. Coletti and Mrs. Toland expressed appreciation to the students for the work in their drive and praised their efforts to work "within the system".

'I Would Stand Aside If Council Would Work With Survival, Inc.'

Djerf Seeks Drugs Fight Unity

By RUTH WAINWRIGHT

Dr. Charles Djerf, "tired but not discouraged" today appealed for community unity in establishing a drugs center and comprehensive program to fight the narcotics problem in Quincy.

He offered to step aside as head of the Survival, Inc. movement if that was a way to have the City Council join forces with that group, in bringing about the center and program.

"This city still needs this program and the Council should not hold anything against the program because of me," he told the Quincy Sun. "I don't want to hurt anyone."

He expressed hope that Marathon House–the planned rehabilitation center–could still be located in Germantown "but we will have to wait and see what develops."

Dr. Djerf's comments came on the heels of criticism leveled at him at Monday night's City Council meeting by Ward 1 Councillor Edward S. Graham.

Graham charged Djerf with "impugning the integrity" of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers, the City Council and particularly Graham, in earlier statements.

Graham took sharp issue with "public statements made by Dr. Djerf throughout the city".

He said Dr. Djerf had called the Hospital Board of Managers "cowards" for not allowing the use of Faxon House on hospital grounds for a detoxification center for the program.

Graham also said that Dr. Djerf had claimed that opposition to locating a rehabilitation center in Germantown was a matter of "lack of vision by politicians",

"I think the City Council disturbance was a natural reaction to my speeches," Dr. Djerf said. "I don't hold any particular antipathy toward them. It is just unfortunate that we should be dividing our forces to solve a problem with not too successful results. It is just that thisisn't helping anyone."

Dr. Djerf said that signs and posters on the wall and literature found at the 44 Faxon Ave. drop-in center was there prior to starting the clinic. They were probably put there, he said, by those who were helping to clean up the building before the clinic was set up.

"This City still needs this program and the Council should not hold anything against the program because of me," Dr. Djerf said. "I don't want to hurt anyone."

"I am tired because of all the things I am trying to do, but I

"100 YEARS OF SCOUTING"--Sixty-three year old twins, Buell and John Fuller, are congratulated on 50 years each with the Boy Scout organization by Scoutmaster Henry Leschernier of Troop 27 at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy. Sumner Morse, District Scout executive, and Dr. Bradford Gale, minister of First Parish Church, and master of ceremonies, add their approval.

Fuller Twins Represent A Century Of Good Deeds

John and Buell Fuller of 28 Glover Ave., North Quincy, 63-year old twins associated with the Boy Scout organization since age 13, have a century of good deeds.

The brothers, with 50 years service each, were honored Saturday at a testimonial dinner at Sacred Heart Hall. Attending were some 300 friends and men associated with them during the years.

The twins now join a group of 164 men across the nation active in the Boy Scout movement for 50 or more years.

The Fuller Twins are Eagle Scouts and recipients of the Silver Beaver Award, highest honor awarded by a local Boy Scout Council. That evening Ralph Darian, former Scout Executive of the Greater Boston Council and now Region 2 executive, presented to each a special commendation by the Chief Scout Executive of BSA and President of the National Council.

The men were praised especially for their work during the past six years with two groups of exceptional boys in Boy Scout and Explorer troops.

A stone and plaque for land given by the Fuller twins at Camp Massasoit on Cape Cod in memory of their mother, was presented by friends in Scouting.

Among dignitaries attending were Mayor James R. McIntyre and Wesley Wright, former Quincy Scout Executive who is now a member of the National staff.

Drugs Education For 3, 4 Year-Olds?

At what age should a youngster be told about the harm of drugs use

In last week's Quincy Sun, Dist. Atty. George G. Burke disclosed plans for a drugs education program in the elementary schools.

Dr. Charles Djerf, Quincy pediatrician, believes the education should start even earlier--at the pre-school level

Speaking at a meeting of the United Church Women of Quincy at Wollaston Congregational Church, the day after the Quincy Sun article appeared, Dr. Djerf declared:

"Education is one main source of preventing drug addiction. I would like to see this in pre-school curriculum, perhaps in the pre-school classes in the new school Rev. [James] Kimmell has started at 65 Roberts St."

Dr. Djerf referred to the classes for three and four-year olds conducted weekday mornings at Trinity Lutheran Church West Quincy.

A Chance, Not A Handout

This is National Employ the Handicapped Week.

To some--maybe many--it is just another one of those gimmick weeks. Like National Teabag or Pickle Week or Help Your Wife Carry Out The Trash Week.

This, however, is not one of those kind of weeks. It's a serious--and important one.

It is a week to focus attention on the handicapped. Not on their plight - but their accomplishments. And a week for employers to do something to help the handicapped help themselves.

They don't want pity. They want to work. They want to earn their own pay. They're not looking for handouts.

Placing handicapped workers in suitable jobs by selective placement is a day to day function of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security.

Or, as Director Herman V. LaMark puts it: "Our job is to batter down the barrier of disability that separates the handicapped from the working world by matching their abilities to the physical and mental demands of the jobs."

As we observe National Employ the Handicapped Week, [Oct. 4 - 10] we become more aware of the disabled workers who have found their places as self-sustaining members of our labor force. The contributions of these men and women to their communities, to their families, and to their own self esteem are inestimable.

During the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1970, the Massachusetts State Employment Offices placed a total of 5,289 handicapped persons in jobs covering a wide range of occupations.

The placement statistics are impressive, but, much more impressive are the performance records of the handicapped themselves. Despite their disabilities they had adapted themselves to competitive living. Their courage and determination have convinced most employers of the sound business value of hiring handicapped workers based on records of productivity, reliability and loyalty.

That is what National Employ the Handicapped Week is all about - to make us aware that handicapped workers have demonstrated they can hold just about any job if they are given a chance.

That's what they want - a chance.

Djerf Seeks Drugs Battle Unity

am not discouraged," he added. "I am going to still try to do something for the City of Quincy. We will have to change our plans as we go along, certainly, but the idea of the comprehensive program will not be altered, that is, a comprehensive drug program. We may have to adjust its operation, but we still hope to give the City of Quincy a good program.

"I still hope to establish a center. Quincy has to have it. We still intend to do the best we can to set it up."

"The problem still exists. We still hope to do the best we can to solve it. The City Council should not take it out on our program. I still hope they will all cooperate to make this a community effort.

"We still would like to go to Germantown, but we will have to wait and see how things develop. It isn't nice to go into a place where there is so much opposition, but we will get the same reaction in other places. It's a matter of emotion."

"We would still like to have Snug Harbor, but we will have to wait and see what develops. We are working on alternatives all the time. The City is not aware of the severity of its problem. If it were, it would not allow this kind of thing to take place." The City would be supporting its Chief of Police, one of the foremost leaders in this type of thing. You cannot solve this with Police force alone.

"If we were able to stop the flow of Heroin now, there is still a two years' supply available in this country. Police enforcement or trying to find the pusher is a job that you probably need the U. S. Army to combat. Wait until you see what comes back from Vietnam. That is the worst addiction that we have seen."

Referring to the charge that he is profiting from the venture, Dr. Djerf said, "I am donating 44 Faxon Ave. to the cause. It could be rented for $400 a month, and I am donating it. There is no profit involved."

Dr. Djerf, who recommends use of Methadone as a substitute for heroin, claims that drug stores are closing down on giving out the drug.

Jack Silverstein of Naborhood Pharmacy, who said he agrees with Dr. Djerf in use of Methadone, pointed out that federal law approves the filling of Methadone prescriptions only for withdrawal from narcotics. However, Massachusetts law does not approve of it for any purpose, and the state law supercedes the Federal law.

The state law is in the process of being changed, Silverstein said.

"The druggists want to help, and it is really a shame that we cannot help now, but we must conform to these rulings," he said.

Dr. Djerf urged continued effort on the part of the whole City including the City Council, asking them to join forces in support of the program, "even if it means my disappearing from the whole program. I would stand aside if I thought the Council would work with Survival, Inc.," he said.

At the City Council meeting, which Dr. Djerf did not attend, Councillor Graham asked suspension of regular business while he "set the record straight" with regard to charges made by Dr. Djerf.

Dr. Djerf, he said, had claimed previously that the Hospital Board of Managers through refusal to permit use of Faxon House as a detoxification center had sabotaged the work of Survival, Inc. Graham quoted Djerf as saying, that opposition to use of a Germantown nursing home for long-term rehabilitation program for addicts was being "sabotaged" by Graham, who had hired a lawyer to represent him and the Germantown community.

Graham said of the City Council, "It was this original body which first came to the aid of Survival, Inc. by a unanimous vote when we approved $25,000 for medical treatment of Quincy residents."

In return, the Council expected to be kept informed of developments, Graham said, but had had to read in the newspapers of what was happening. Dr. Djerf, he claimed, had not informed the President of the Council or any member of the Council what programs, plans or ideas he had.

The wishes of Germantown people, Graham said, were completely ignored when the site of a local nursing home was chosen for Marathon House.

"The location in Germantown is opposed by an overwhelming majority of its residents," Graham claimed. He said 317 residents had registered opposition. He cited a Sept. 23 meeting attended by 153 persons at which only seven present were in favor of the Germantown location, with 146 opposed.

Graham noted that letters had been received from associations in the area opposing the site, and quoted a letter from Rev. John J. Dacey of St. Boniface Church stating, "It is not responsible to establish an institution for such people in a community like ours."

Graham claimed also that the City of Quincy would lose money in taxes should Survival, Inc. obtain the Germantown nursing home for use as Marathon House, should it use Faxon House [refused by the Hospital Board of Managers], and 44 Faxon Rd., the drop-in center, as all were being operated by a non-profit, charitable organization.

To support his charges, Graham questioned four witnesses:

- Harlan L. Paine, Jr., director of Quincy City Hospital, who replied that the Board of Managers and not the City Council was responsible for refusal of Faxon House to Survival, Inc., and this was due to plans for possible expansion of the hospital.
- Police Lt. David Rowell, identified as working with narcotics and as president of the Norfolk County Narcotics Enforcement Association, who said that Methadone is not used in federal hospitals. Asked if his bureau could have used the $25,000 voted to Survival, Inc., he said, "Yes".
- Police Sgt. Dennis Cronin, described conditions when called to the drop-in center, writing on walls "Kill the Pig", "Remember Kent State", and revolutionary literature.
- Patrolamn Hugo Cardarelli confirmed Cronin's statements.
- In closing, Graham called upon the directors of Survival, Inc., to "reflect and reorganize."

LSD AND BIRTH DEFECTS

Can LSD cause birth defects? Researchers have reported fetal damage when LSD was given to pregnant rats and mice. Others have described human birth defects in newborns whose mothers had taken LSD.

Several scientists have reported that LSD causes chromisomal damage or changes when added to a tissue culture of white blood cells which could cause abnormalities in the offsprings of LSD users.

At the other end of the research spectrum, Dr. Allen Katzenberg of Southwestern Foundation for Research and Education, estimated that "LSD has caused more genetic damage to the human race than the atomic bomb."

Until further research throws more light on the question, medical authorities warn that the drug is a definite genetic risk and strongly advise women of child-bearing age not to use it.

Petition Drive Readied For HN Youth Center

FLAG PRESENTATION--Mrs. Margaret-Anne Myers, [fourth left] Adams Shore branch librarian, accepts from the George F. Bryan VFW Auxiliary for the new branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library, a book presented by Mrs. Arndt; a desk set by Miss Debra Farmer of the Junior Auxiliary, and a flag by Mrs. Ruth Perry, patriotism instructor. Shown also are Mayor James R. McIntyre and Warren Watson, Director of Libraries.

A petition drive seeking a permanent youth center at Houghs Neck gets underway this weekend.

Mayor James R. McIntyre has asked for a definite indication from residents before seeking use of interest from the Ervant Serposs Fund to finance the project.

"What we have in mind is a 'mini-medical' center," Leo Kelly, president of the Grenham Youth Center explained. "This would include the present Serposs clinic which serves all ages, and 'preventive medicine' in the form of a youth center."

The planned center has received the endorsement of the Houghs Neck Community Council executive board, whose members will work with other volunteers in the community in distributing petitions.

"The Houghs Neck Community Council executive board endorsed unanimously the concept of a youth center and clinic as well as the location under consideration," Council President Robert F. Denvir, Jr., said.

Petitions are to be placed in all Houghs Neck business establishments and a neighborhood canvass by volunteers is planned.

Ward 2 Civic Assn. To Issue 1,000 Bags For Leaves

The Ward 2 Civic Association is doing its part to combat litter in Quincy.

The association will distribute 1,000 plastic bags to be used for collecting leaves, announces President James Lyons.

The association will distribute the bags free at its meeting next Tuesday night at the Fore River Clubhouse, Nevada Rd.

A representative from Survival, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the meeting.

State Street Bank Pays City $117,621 Tax Bill

Full payment of $117,621.69 for their 1970 property tax has been received by Mayor James R. McIntyre from the State Street South.

In a letter, John N. Dwyer, vice president, noted that the payment was "in response to your recent request that taxpayers assist the City of Quincy in avoiding unnecessary borrowing by paying their 1970 real estate taxes as early as possible."

18 Youngsters Turn Movie Makers At North Quincy Library Branch

Eighteen youngsters, members of the summer reading program at the Thomas Crane Public Library, North Quincy branch, completed a film "America, Your Land and Mine", which had its premiere recently at the library.

The children chose their favorite event in U. S. history, made their own scenery and costumes, and helped with the filming.

Movie makers included Laurie and Billy Allen, Nancy Berberan, Christine Burns, Nancy Doherty, Beth and Mary Dowling, Maureen Flynn, Donna Hickey, Jackie Hoffman, Arleen and Maureen King, Nancy Maloney, Larry Ouelette, Vincent and Danny Todd, Kevin Worley and Carol Zarkzewski.

The film project was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Raux, children's librarian, and Miss Louise Dinegan, branch librarian.

Among those attending the movie and a reception were parents and friends of children who made the film. Special guests were Rev. Jerome Doyle of Sacred Heart parish; Miss Dorothy Newton, assistant librarian; Mrs. Frances Hines, supervisor of children's work; and Miss Pamela Roberts, children's librarian.

The vacation reading program was supervised by Miss Edith Des Roches, Miss Kathleen Sommers and Miss Barbara Kreckie.

Fire Dept.'s 'Miss Quincy' A Real Tall Beauty

The city's newest "Miss Quincy" is a real tall beauty.

She's the Fire Department's new 100-foot aerial ladder truck [Ladder One] which captured the hearts of firefighters and fire buffs at Boston's annual Fire Prevention Week parade Sunday.

Ladder One was awarded a trophy for being "the best looking" modern aerial ladder truck in the parade.

The $76,000 piece of apparatus, built by Maxim Motor Co., Middleboro recently replaced the former 30-year-old Ladder One at Central Headquarters.

The proud crew that piloted the new Ladder One through Boston's narrow streets over the parade route were Lt. John Mahoney, officer-in-charge, and Firefighters John C. Murphy, driver; John Dwyer, tillerman and Henry Lynch.

Here Comes The Bride

By Mabelle

A Broken Engagement

Occasionally I am asked the proper procedure in case of a broken engagement.

If the engagement is broken before the invitations are issued to the wedding then it is necessary to tell only your very close friends and relatives. If it occurs after the wedding invitations are issued then every guest must be notified either by telephone, letter, or telegram. In either case all gifts must be returned by the girl, including the engagement ring.

What do you do when there is a death in the family after the invitations have been mailed?

Certainly no bride would want to go through an elaborate wedding and reception shortly after the death of either her folks or the groom's. If they still want to be married on the same day then it is confined to family only. If it is decided to postpone the wedding then the invitations must be recalled. The guests are notified by wire or telephone. This can be accomplished by giving your guest list to a friend and having her make up a team to make the necessary calls. A new wedding date does not have to be mentioned. If she does decide to be married on the same day and keep it strictly family then she may wear her bridal gown and have one attendant only, ushers would be unnecessary.

To those who have accepted a formal invitation to a wedding reception and then find it impossible to go, you must send a formal regret. You certainly may not back out because a more attractive invitation arrives after you've made your acceptance. Illness or a death in the family are the only acceptable excuses. It is hardly fair to the bride's family to accept and then not show up since they have to pay for all reservations made and this could run in to quite a sum of money.

TELLING IT LIKE IT IS--Dr. Charles Djerf discusses teenage problems and Survival, Inc. as an Opportunity, Unlimited panel member for United Church Women of Quincy at Wollaston Congregational Church. With him are Mrs. Fabian Wells, speaking on "the child"; Mrs. Calvin Black moderator; Mrs. Joseph MacRitchie who discussed the Senior Citizen; and Mrs. David Mitchell, an average mother and church member.

Church Women United Hear Of Opportunities For Service

Opportunities for service to children through senior citizens were outlined in a panel discussion for Church Women United of Quincy Friday at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Some 60 women representing the different Quincy churches attended.

Mrs. Fabian Wells of Wollaston Baptist Church described experiences with choirs of four to six-year old children, Tuesday church school classes for youngsters from six to 12 years; day care centers; and a Vacation Bible School in which youngsters from three churches combined for study. Each of these projects provided opportunities for service by adult volunteers, she said.

Mrs. Joseph MacRitchie of First Church of Squantum listed apartment homes for the "modern, mature person, our Senior Citizen." She spoke of opportunities to help residents at 1000 Southern Artery, the new Wollaston Baptist Apartment House, the Victor E. Sawyer Project, and in nursing homes.

There are 1,163 persons receiving Old Age Assistance in Quincy, Mrs. MacRitchie said. Many of them require help in transportin surplus food to their homes.

Dr. Charles Djerf, speaking of teenage problems, with drugs, noted, "It takes some time to become an alcoholic – only six shots to become hooked on heroin."

Five years ago there was not more than one addict in the city, he said. Last year 200 were arrested in Quincy, and Massachusetts today has more than 20,000 drug dependent people, he said.

He listed the progression from glue-sniffing, to marijuana, to "speed", and then to heroin.

A "hot line" is now in operation, Dr. Djerf said, with a telephone at 44 Faxon Ave. manned by former addicts who attempt to help those who call.

To the question, "What can I do to help?" Dr. Djerf replied, "I don't know. That is a question you have to answer yourself."

Mrs. David Mitchell, representing an average mother and church member, listed affects she felt morally, as a taxpayer, and as the mother of young children.

Mrs. Calvin Black was moderator for the panel. The program was arranged by Mrs. Frank Bartlett, chairman of the leadership training committee, with displays by Mrs. Arthur Ferguson.

Mrs. John Smith presided at the morning business meeting. Devotions were led by Rev. Lloyd F. Martin, minister of Wollaston Congregational Church.

The Daily Double

(My True Experience)

By Micky Rizzo
87 Sumner St., Quincy

I went to the horse races
The Daily Double for to play,
I'd make loads of money
To take a trip some day.
To win they said I must
Bet some money on a "Nag",
And in my mind I imagined,
It was probably in the "bag".

I put some cash on number four
And some on number three,
I sat there in a trance
Hoping they would win for me.

The horses sure looked great
I was in my glee,
The Jockeys sat there straight
The Daily Double they would win for me.

The horses at the starting post
Were prancing all around,
Waiting for the signal
And for the "finishing line" they're bound.
Finally they were ready
The race began to start
I bit my nails and chewed my hands
To the pounding of my heart.

The crowd got up and yelled
"Come on, hurry come in,"
I stood there with my fingers crossed
Amid the noise and din.
The horses ran and ran
It seemed ages to me,
When to my great dismay I found
The winning numbers were five and three.

No more races will I play
I'm so much the wiser now,
I'll not go again on any day
I'll stay away, and how.
My pockets feel so empty
Those darn horses, I will not thank,
And the money that I have
I'll put it in the bank.

TERRIFIC TERRY — Cotton terry has emerged from the towel and bathrobe category into a fashion fabric. Here it turns up in a smashing hostess dress with bright orange bodice topping a multi-colored striped skirt. The outfit is by Art-Rich of New York, with fabric by Cannon Mills.

Pre-Schoolers Learn From Clothes

FASHION CAN BE EDUCATING—Toddlers learn while they dress in these cotton corduroy outfits with sturdy zippers and fat rings for easy manipulation. Up and down arrows show the youngster which way to pull. Shoe lace closings on the pockets teach bow-tying and colorful embroidery on the shirt sleeve acquaints pre-schoolers with basic shapes. Designed by Ruth Scharf for Educational Clothes, Ltd.

If you were told as a child to "put on your thinking cap," you may have wondered where to find one.

Now, thanks to a new concept in children's clothes, the advice isn't as far-fetched as it may seem. Instead of thinking caps, today's pre-schoolers can wear clothes aimed at stimulating their thought processes.

Called "educational clothes," they're designed to instruct as well as adorn.

Through the use of appliques, prints, and embroideries, the new clothes teach a child how to recognize colors, shapes, numbers, and signs. Easy-to-manipulate fasteners help him learn how to tie a bow, close buttons and snaps, zip zippers, and completely dress himself.

Back-to-pre-school collections focus on cotton corduroys with the idea of making the youngster comfortable while he learns.

Typical are boys' zip-front coveralls with big zipper rings and arrows indicating up and down. Shoe lace closings on the pocket help little fingers master the art of tying a bow. Completing the outfit is a cotton knit shirt with a sleeve embroidered with a triangle, circle, and rectangle to teach basic shapes.

NEAT — Pre-schoolers can learn to dress themselves in clothes that button and zip. The little boy's shortall in geometric-printed cotton corduroy zips up the front and has a belt that buttons on either side. The girl's matching A-line skimmer buttons at the shoulders and belt. In both toddler and regular sizes, they're by Ruth Scharf.

'Cookbooks, New Recipes' Oct. 14 Subjects At Library

"Cookbooks and new recipes" will be the topic discussed at the Oct. 14 program for the homemaker at the Adams Shore Branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Mrs. Margaret-Anne Myers, librarian, will conduct the hour-long program which begins at 10 a.m.

Parents are invited to attend the program, the second in a new series, while four-year old children attend a pre-school hour conducted by Mrs. Blanche Eckert, children's librarian. Registration should be made in advance as the group is limited to 25 children.

Other programs for the month are "Hobby books for adults and children" on Oct. 21; "It's party time", Oct. 28; "Ideas and gifts to make for the holidays", Nov. 4; and "Table settings for the holidays and holiday recipes", Nov. 18.

The series will continue through the winter.

"How come you know so much about sin?"

It's In To Be Thin

By Lois L. Lindauer

Director, The Diet Workshop

It is five years ago this month that I launched the crusade to help people lose weight in the way I thought most sensible and most satisfying.

Many battles have been fought. And they have not all been won. It is not easy to fight, perhaps, a lifetime habit, or a persuasive compulsion and there are many warriors who fall before the war is won.

But they don't have to stay down. Once knocked out doesn't mean that you can't stage a comeback. Stage a reconnaissance to check to see what courses are open to you now. Maybe there is something new. Maybe this is the time. It's never too late. Start today. If I can help you in any way, please write to me. I always have time to try to help.

If you have any questions regarding dieting or wish a copy of our free fish folder, please write me in care of the Quincy Sun or at 28 Merrick Avenue, Merrick, N.Y.

Week of Oct. 9 - Oct. 16

ARIES [Mar. 21-Apr. 19] - You may not agree with some ideas your partner is presenting. A wait and see policy might be best on your part.

TAURUS [Apr. 20-May 20] - Working in group activities helps to overcome feelings of frustration. Putting practical ideas to work helps income.

GEMINI [May 21-June 21] - Too many outside activities could stir up domestic resentment. An abrupt change in opinions leaves others bewildered.

CANCER [June 22-July 22] - Neighborhood organizational activities will give personal satisfaction. Strangers you meet will impress and influence you.

LEO [July 23-Aug. 22] - Good time to impress others with your ingenuity. Group gatherings cause domestic friction but bring personal satisfaction.

VIRGO [Aug. 23-Sept. 22] - A reversal of opinion may cause you to become involved with organizations. Too many short trips could shorten your temper.

LIBRA [Sept. 23-Oct. 22] - Volunteering your services at this time brings personal satisfaction. Affairs requiring mental creativeness go well this week.

SCORPIO [Oct. 23-Nov. 21] - Examine your relationship to society this week and you may realize there is more to life than what you are doing.

SAGITTARIUS [Nov. 22-Dec. 21] - Friends may come up with an unusual plan or idea to aid you, so listen to advice now and put it into action later.

AQUARIUS [Jan. 20-Feb. 18] - You can come up with some good ideas this week to be implemented later. For now, be satisfied that you have the idea.

PISCES [Feb. 19-Mar. 20] - Dare to be original this week. Question your own condition or situation and then find the means to change things if necessary.

Saturday Reservations Deadline For HN Community Awards Banquet

Saturday is the deadline for reservations to the annual honors banquet of the Houghs Neck Community Council.

The event will take place Oct. 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall with Arnold Beresen as master of ceremonies.

Houghs Neck residents to be honored are Mrs. Richard F. Burton of 92 Turner St. and Quincy Firefighter George Allison of 8 Ratchford Circle, for community service; Mrs. Dominic Catrambone of 15 Pawsey St., as a "Good Neighbor"; and Miss Mary L. Shea, retired teacher at Atherton Hough School who will receive a special citation for her years of service.

John B. Powers and Mrs. Dorothy Laing are co-chairmen. Tickets may be obtained at Pages Pharmacy, from Robert F. Denvir, Jr., council president; Gerard Keefe, Mrs. Leo Kelly, Mrs. Holly Blanchard, David Finlay, Samuel Tuttle, Jr., Mrs. Robert Kamb, John Nigro.

William Mitchell, Jr., John Urbanus, Mr. and Mrs. Francis X. McCauley, Mrs. William Jacques, Howard Back, Fred Kussman, Thomas Hurlebaus, Walter Wise, Mrs. Elaine Bergstrom, Mrs. Edward Radcliffe and Bernard Tobin.

Mrs. Louise V. Schofield Named To MTA Committee

Mrs. Louise V. Schofield, vice president of the Quincy Education Association, has been named to the Massachusetts Teachers Association committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards [TEPS]. She is the only South Shore educator on the committee.

Mrs. Schofield teaches mathematics and algebra at Quincy Point Junior High School.

Purpose of the committee, according to Mrs. Schofield, is to set up teacher standards, review teacher requirements, provide accreditation of teacher educational institutions, develop suggested programs through study and research designed to improve teacher education.

University Teaching Directors Guests Today Of Quincy Schools

Directors of student teaching from Boston University, Bridgewater State, Eastern Nazarene College and University of Massachusetts at Boston are guests today [Thursday] of the Quincy public schools.

The meeting is the first in a series initiated by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon to introduce directors of student teaching from area colleges to Quincy schools.

William L. Phinney, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of instruction, is serving as host.

Purpose of the program, Dr. Creedon noted, is to acquaint directors of student teaching with the educational offerings of the Quincy public schools so that they have a better understanding of what is being attempted and can use this information when making requests for the assignment of student teachers.

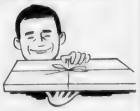
Other Boston area universities will be invited to similar meetings later in the season.

Carol Munson Enrolled At Lafayette

Carol Munson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Munson of 54 Andrews Rd., Wollaston, is among the 147 women enrolled for the first time at 138-year old Lafayette College at Easton, Pa.

The college's first women students will live at the New Freshman Dormitory on campus. With the new men students, there will be 515 freshmen and 49 transfers enrolled at the College.

The College has instituted a new curriculum which for the first time gives students in the Bachelor of Arts program complete freedom in dealing with their basic requirements.



The two-year experiment calls for faculty advisers to recommend to students certain broad study commitments, but allows the student to depart from those recommendations if he has sound, positive reasons for his decision.

K. Of C. Program On WJDA To Highlight Columbus Day Observance

The city of Quincy Columbus Day observance Oct. 12 will be highlighted by a special program featuring three students representing Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree, North Quincy High and Quincy High.

The program will be a half hour broadcast beginning at 12:15 p.m. on station WJDA under the sponsorship of Ave Maria, North Quincy and Quincy Councils, Knights of Columbus, in cooperation with the students and faculty at the three high schools and the Quincy School Department.

The three students who have been selected to participate in this special program are: David Skinner, 15 Elmlawn Rd, Braintree, Archbishop Williams; Richard Kalish, 19 Faxon Rd, North Quincy High; and John Montilio, 289 Franklin St., Quincy High.

Each student will make a five minute presentation dealing with some phase of the life of Christopher Columbus, his voyages or the reasons why Columbus Day should be observed as full legal national holiday. By an act of Congress Columbus Day will become a full legal national holiday in all 50 states beginning October 1971.

Other participants will be the Grand Knights of the three K of C Councils: Charles Graham, North Quincy; Timothy Donovan, Ave Maria and Vincent Cristiani of Quincy.

The master of ceremonies will be John Noonan, chairman of the Columbus Day Committee and member of Quincy Council.

Student participation was arranged through Sr. Evelyn Crump, principal at Archbishop Williams; John Walsh, principal, North Quincy High and Lloyd Creighton, principal, Quincy High.

Yom Kippur Services Begin Friday
